A large, gnarled tree with yellow blossoms stands in a field of dandelions. The tree's trunk is thick and dark, with several large, spreading branches. The leaves are green, and the blossoms are bright yellow. In the background, there is a house and a utility pole. The sky is blue with some light clouds.

PRESIDENT D.V. HURST

The “high calling of God in Christ Jesus” is God’s message to all men. He beckons them to Him desiring to restore them to perfect relationship to Himself, a place of full acceptance “in the beloved.” The ultimate, full purposes and plans of God in calling men, however, have not “entered into (our) hearts.” His ways are far above our ways. But the “hope of His calling,” to which the redeemed are begotten, abounds with suggestion of the highest possible good God has planned for His own. The divine calling truly is a high calling!

Within this call to salvation is the divine call to minister as a part of the Body of Christ “according to the grace given.” For not only are all called unto God but all are called to minister before Him in love. While some are specially chosen and set apart for particular tasks according to the will of God, all are made co-laborers and spiritual servants in the divine work. No one who responds to the “high calling” is excluded from the privilege and responsibility of spiritual service or ministry. Each must, therefore, relate his total life to his personal calling in Christ Jesus.

To provide opportunity for youth to discover their ministry under God and to place themselves available to preach the Gospel if it be His will and then to receive the grace of the Spirit and to develop in their ministry within the framework of sound scholarship and spiritual excellence is the central purpose of Northwest College. To work with the “effectual working of His power” toward the goals of His calling for these youth is the supreme task of Northwest College.

VARIEGATION

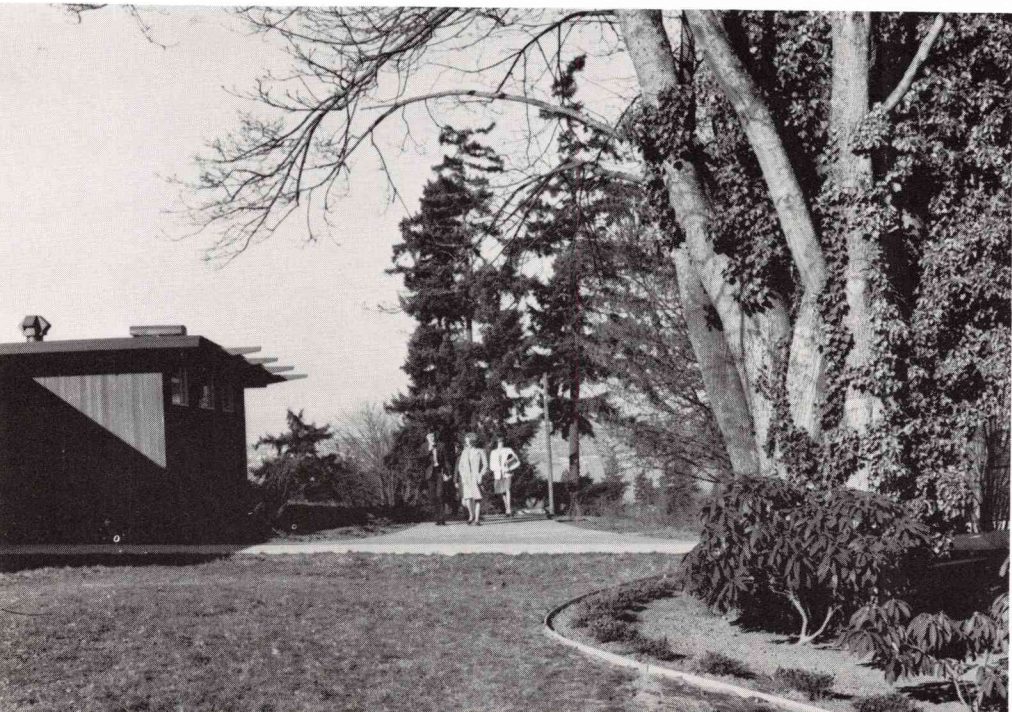

CHAPEL

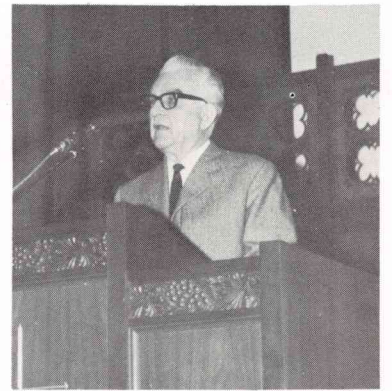

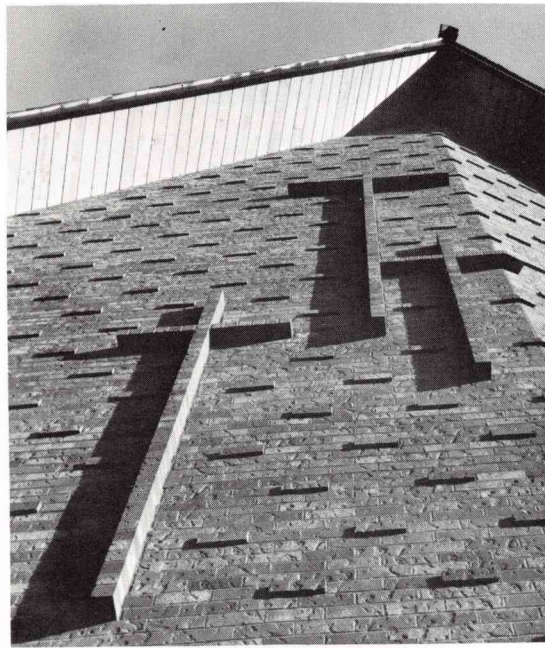

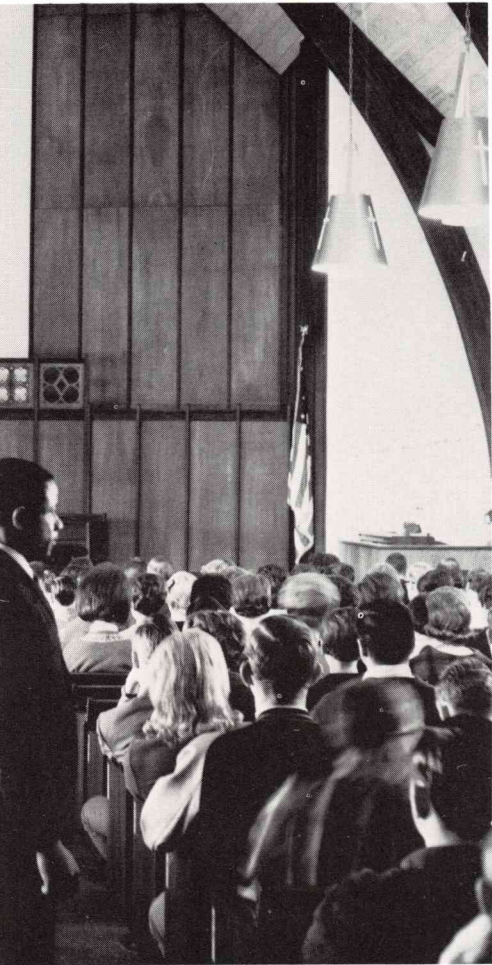

The chapel hour is chartered as one of worship with fellow students, offering the student body needed spiritual momentum. The Lord has miraculously answered requests of many students as faith has been exercised through earnest, intercessory prayer. And for others, it has been an hour of decision. Students have come to Northwest to learn more about Him and this is partially being fulfilled during pauses of quiet respite, using this hour to worship Him.

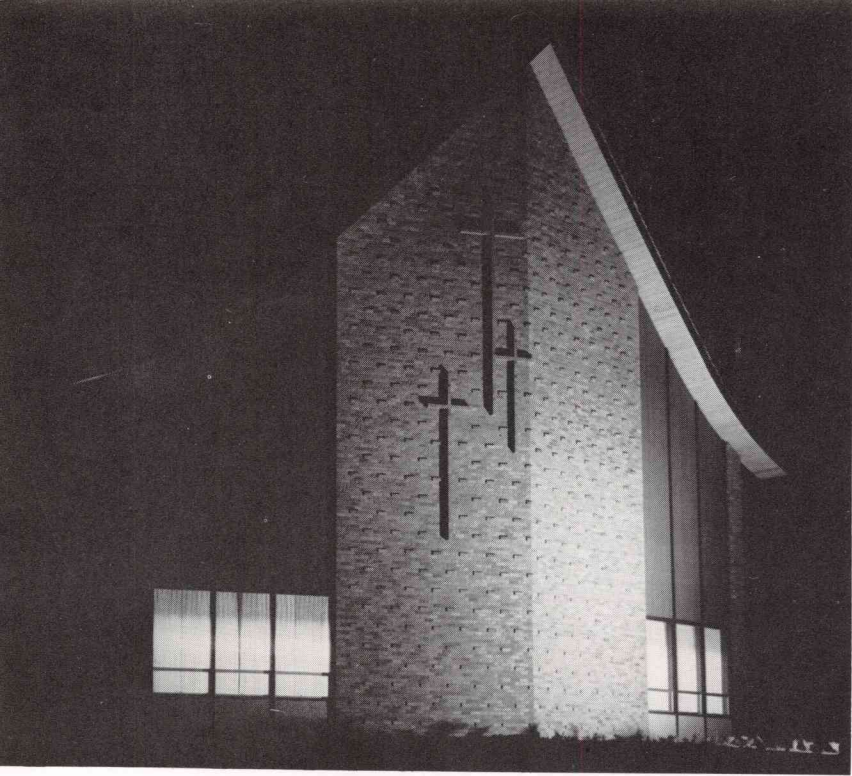

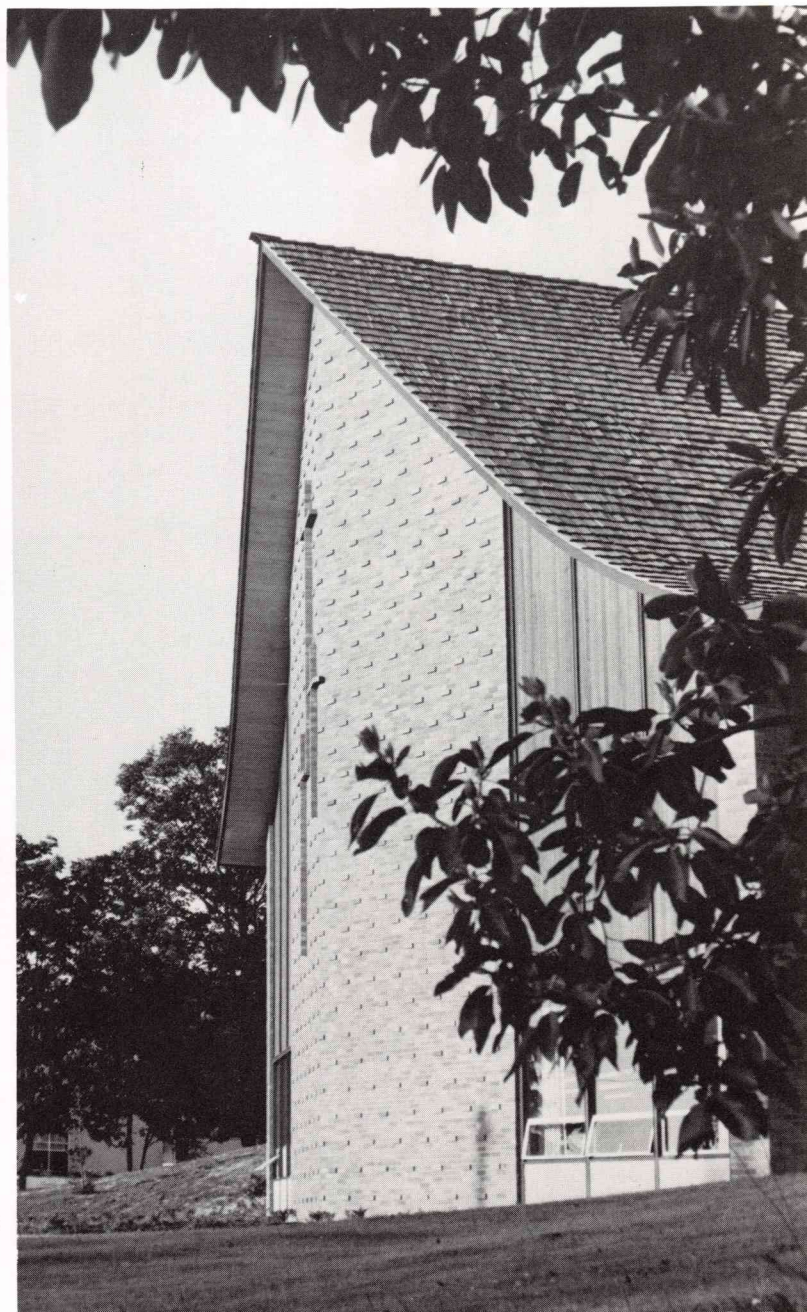

JOE JOHNSON,
Fall Spiritual Emphasis

E. L. PHILLIPS, Winter Spiritual Emphasis

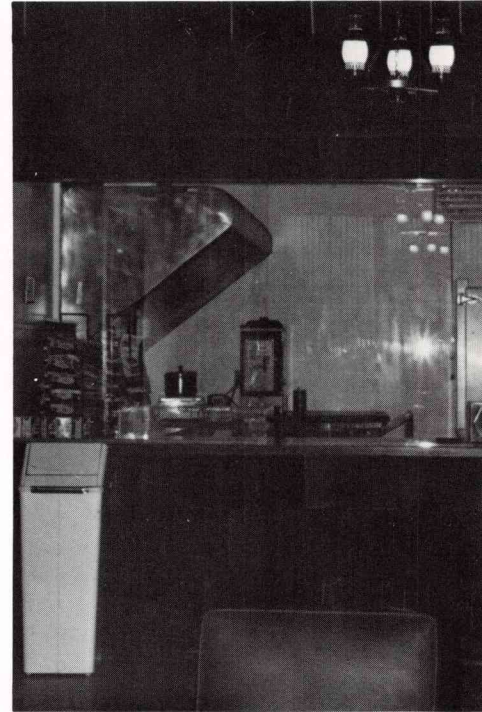

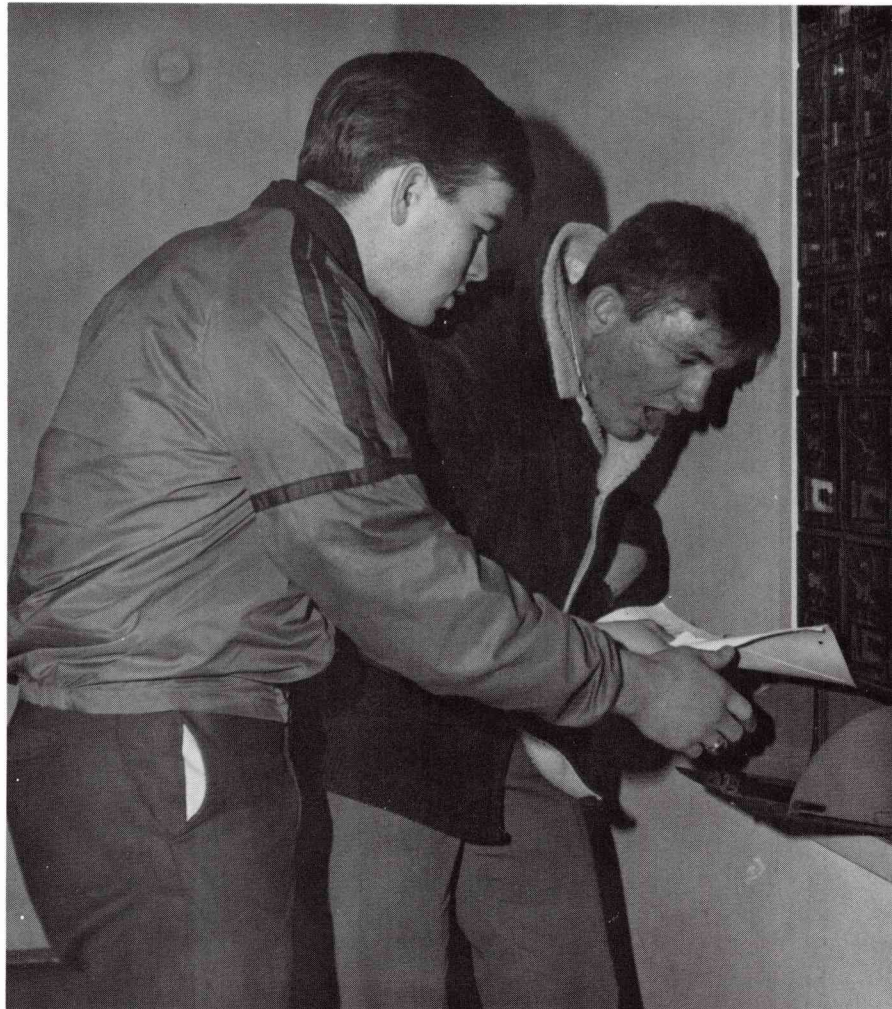

STUDENT UNION BUILDING

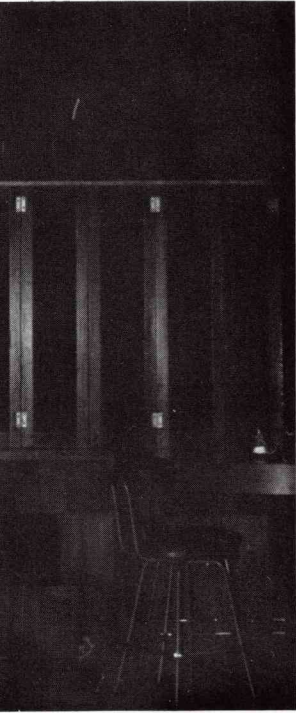

Balancing our campus with an atmosphere of needed relaxation is our Student Union Building, commonly known as the SUB. The prayer chapel and newly remodeled "Snack Shack" are key instruments in adding variety to the social structure of our campus life. The book store provides inspiring, best-selling books, and mail keeps us in touch with events of home. The SUB, at the center of our campus, is frequently filled with students.

Assisting the progressive growth of the student body, the library undergoes many changes to more efficiently meet the demands of the student curriculum. New listening booths provide the privacy of individual study and the opportunity for use of audio aids. Also, a variety of resource material is being added to better enable the student to fulfill his academic requirements.

FABRICATION

ASSOCIATED STUDENT BODY

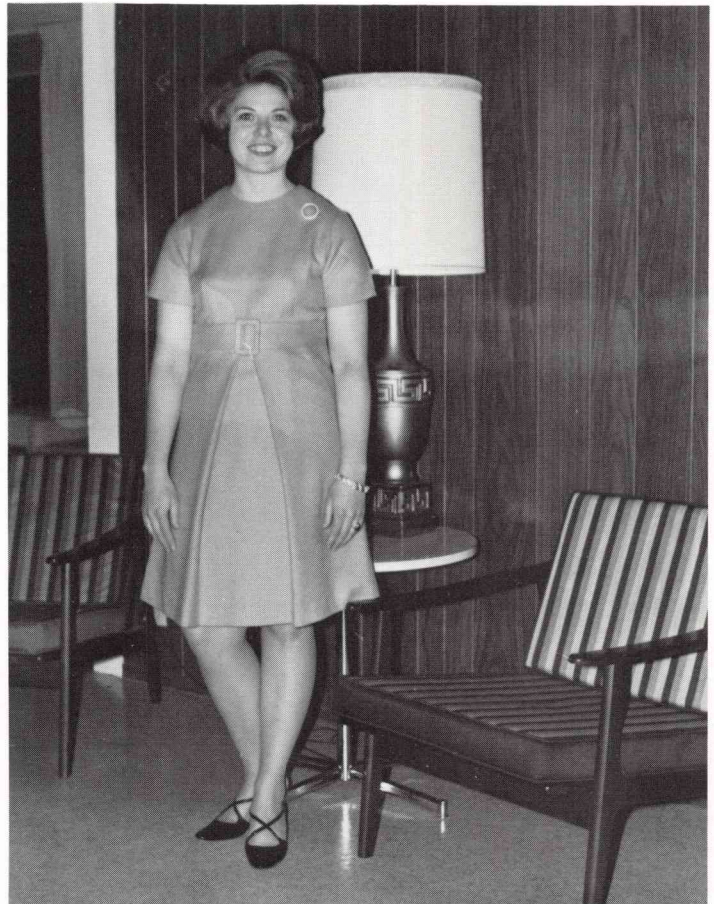

Leon Moore, Vice-President

Jerry Snyder, President

Gayle Greenland, Secretary

Contained within our student body are powerful and dynamic resources of potential energy for Jesus Christ. These energies can be useful, however, only as they are inspired and channeled by Spirit-filled leaders. Northwest College fulfills its purpose as it produces men and women of mature Christian character and ideals. This, in part, is accomplished by our leaders who provide the example and project the challenge.

Student Council

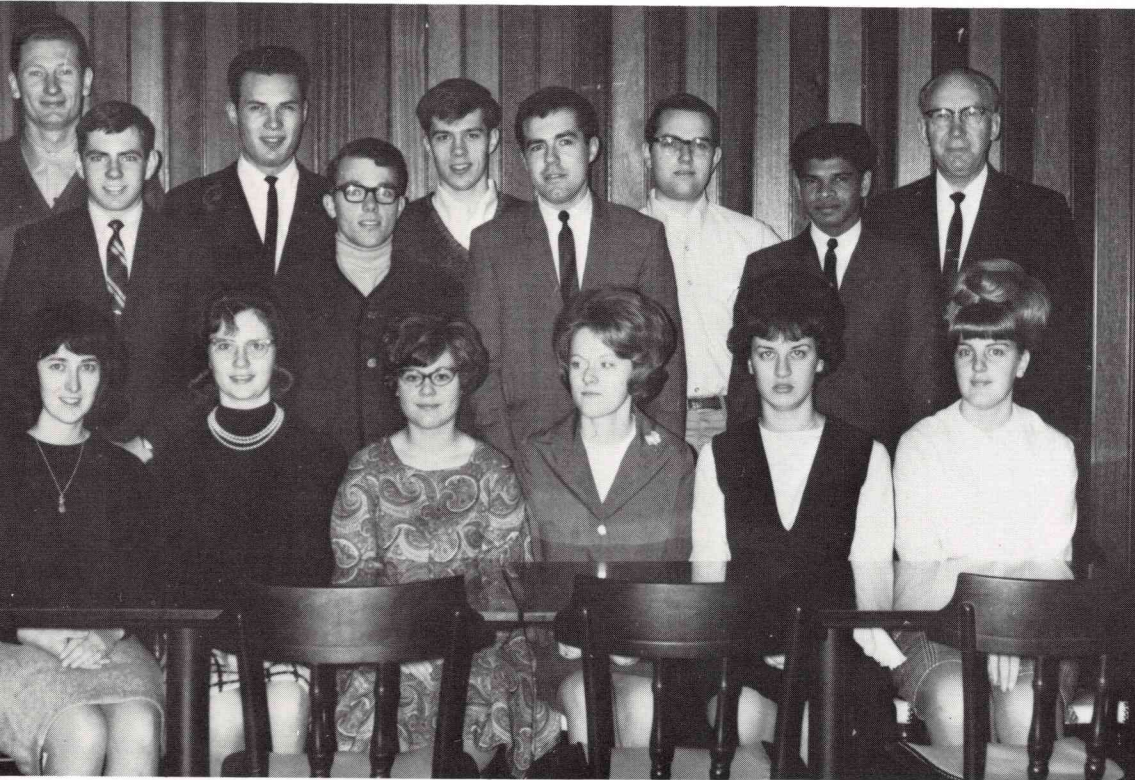

Mohan Maharaj, President

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Ric Kellogg, Vice-President

Missionary Council

Aiming to supply missionaries with needed materials and finances as well as emphasizing the importance of our commission to go into the world with the Gospel, the Missionary Society makes strides in procuring an enthusiastic attitude in the lives of students. Projects are conducted, many in foreign lands, under the support and sponsorship of our society, enabling the Gospel to be furthered in many areas where it previously had little opportunity.

Jan Eldred, Secretary

EUROPEAN-NEAR EAST: Ron Jantz, Vice-President; Evelyn Smith, Secretary; Dan Wilsey, President.

“One of the projects instituted by the European-Near East band was to channel their offerings toward purchasing desks for a Bible school in Holland. However, material assistance is not the principal objective; for this band realizes that though these lands are civilized, they remain lost without Christ. It feels that the best way to pray intelligently for spiritual needs is to become more closely involved with others.”

FAR EAST: Cherry Laws, Vice-President; Henry Green, President; Patricia Haines, Secretary.

“Missionaries are finding themselves in a climate of turmoil and unrest while telling the people of the Far East of Jesus Christ. They are working to win souls before it is too late, desperately needing prayer and support. Communicating with these missionaries and becoming aware of their needs has supplied momentum for the Far East band in their effort to lift our missionaries before the Lord.”

AFRICAN: Doug Kiesz, President; Carol Cook, Secretary; Pierre Selstad, Vice-President.

“Africa has long been called the ‘dark continent,’ shrouded by mystery and undeveloped culture. Knowing that light dispels darkness, the African band attempts to administer the light of the Gospel to this needy continent by prayer and financial support to many of this land’s missionaries.”

HOMELAND: Dan Miller, Vice-President; Rita Royall, Secretary; Paul Henderson, President.

“To reach America for Christ is the primary purpose of the Homeland band. The various ‘emphasis groups’ have chosen areas of local need — including work in pioneer churches, ministry to servicemen, and work with American Indians. Prayer is combined with action, making the Homeland band an integral part of the Missionary Society.”

LATIN AMERICAN: Bob Fox, President; Muriel Hanson, Secretary; Ken Peterson, Vice-President.

“Acquainting the student with various aspects of missionary work and aiding in leading him to a concern for the work of missions are the Latin America band’s purposes. Interest is stimulated by personal correspondence with field missionaries, visits of those on furlough, and specific band projects directed toward supplementing existing needs.

KING'S CHORALONS

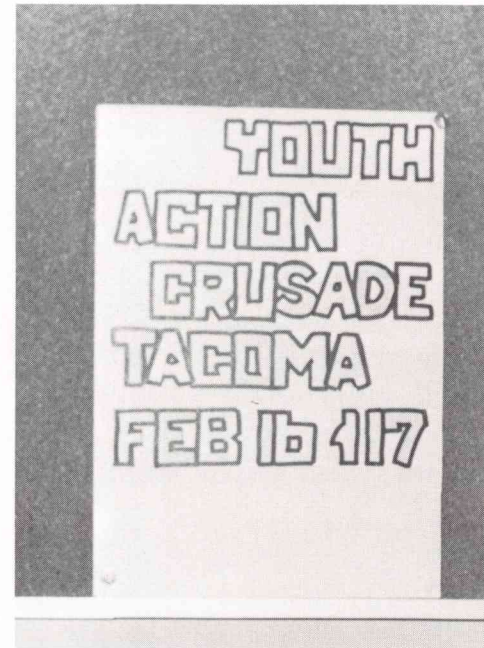

Musical talents dedicated and woven to produce a rich inspiring voice of ministry is certainly what streams from the King's Choralons, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Amundsen. Presenting Jesus Christ through music in local churches and on tour is a marvelous privilege; one which offers rewards as they witness lives being transformed by Him.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

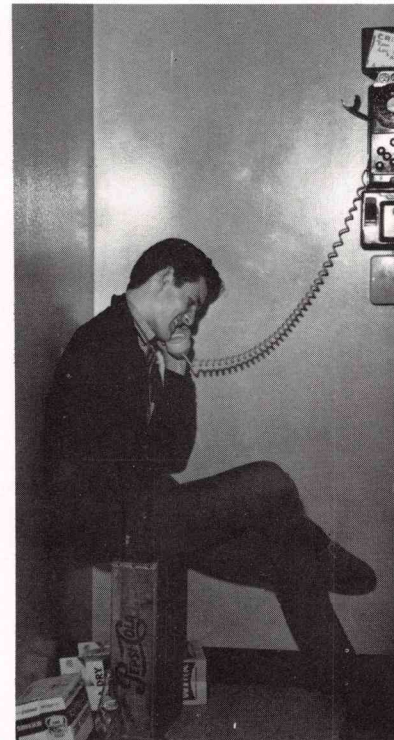

The AWS provides a unique opportunity for the spiritual and social fellowship among the coeds. Weekly devotionals, a pivotal point of dorm activities, provide a variety of speakers, subjects and expressions of worship. Each quarter the association sponsors a major social event while placing emphasis on aiding social, mental, and spiritual growth while at Northwest.

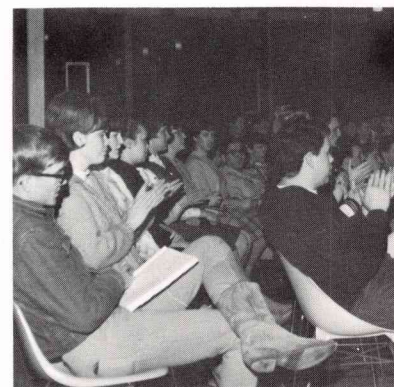

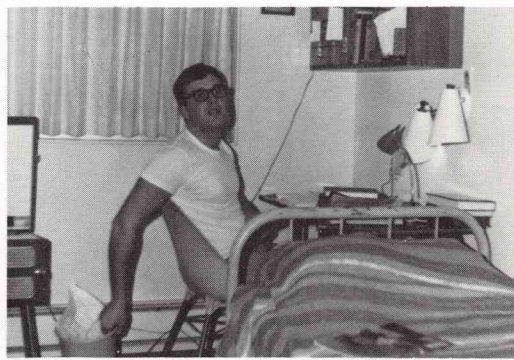

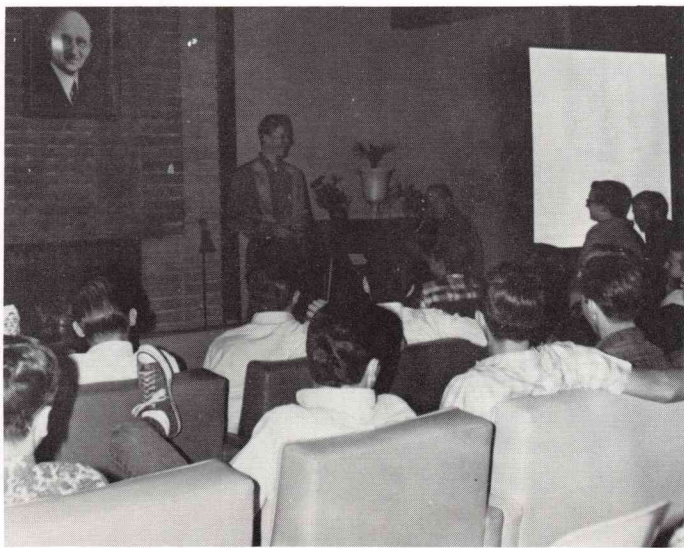

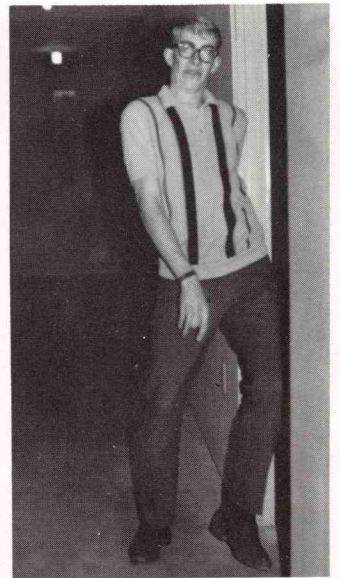

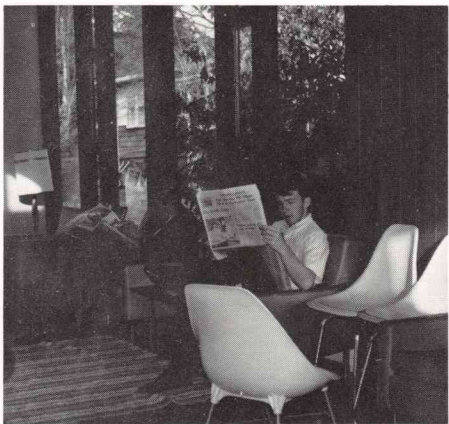

ASSOCIATED MEN STUDENTS

A better system of communal living in C. C. Beatty Hall is constructed by the efforts of the AMS. The dorm council, comprised of upperclassmen, is chosen by the association members. Practical Christianity is being exercised through a more personal communication; not with Him only, but between the occupants of the residence.

KNCC

The ministry of KNCC on campus is only one of the avenues used to "Keep Northwest Christ Centered." This program has not been initiated for listening enjoyment alone, but as a means of training men in broadcasting as well. Participants receive a general knowledge of equipment operation while acquiring needed practical experience in radio work.

CO-WEDS

The principal aim of the Co-Weds is to renew old associations and build new friendships among the wives of married students. During their monthly meetings, leadership training is emphasized. Participation in discussions with wives of pastors and missionaries is also a part of their program that gives them a broader insight into their future work.

The ladies of the staff, faculty, and administration have shared their time and talents toward the campus students throughout this year. They have assumed and fulfilled many responsibilities such as providing first aid kits, decorating the cafeteria each month, and sponsoring the "pantry" for married students.
