FOR FRIENDS AND ALUMNI OF NORTHWEST COLLEGE • SUMMER 2001

The SMTs are on the road again...

The Summer Ministry Teams (SMTs) are a major outreach by Northwest College students. This year, four teams are on the road again:

Announcing Christ Through Skits (A.C.T.S.) is a comedy/drama team that will travel to Wyoming, Colorado, Oregon, and Washington.

Hope To Others (H2O) is a comedy/drama team that will travel to Southern Idaho, Montana, Alaska, and Washington.

Clay is a comedy/drama team that will travel throughout the Northwest District and Southern Idaho and also spend a few weeks at camps in Arizona.

Peanut Butter 'N Jesus (PB'NJ) ministers to children pre-school through 8th grade. They will travel to Vacation Bible Schools, camps for abused kids, and family camps.

Climb Every Mountain

By Dr. Don Argue
PRESIDENT

Anybody who knows anything about the Argue's knows that Pat and I love the mountains. When we speak of the "holy land" we aren't speaking of the Middle East... we're talking about Banff and the Canadian Rockies.

It's a funny thing about mountains... it often seems that the tallest mountains are those just in front of you. It's only after you scale the mountains closest to you that you can then see the range of taller mountains that lie beyond.

In some ways I feel like I'm on top of a mountain, looking ahead to taller mountains that lie ahead. We've certainly scaled some great mountains at Northwest College, but our new "view" just reveals more mountains to climb.

With steady growth – in both enrollment and program offerings – we have exhausted every square inch of available space in our present buildings. We must build in order to accommodate our anticipated growth.

Northwest College has been working with local government authorities now for several years with the goal of securing an approved Master Plan that would allow us to grow. This Master Plan was approved last year.

We have received many of the approvals we need, and today there are seven building projects in various stages of production. Many are merely plans, but some are already well underway and even nearing completion.

In the coming weeks, the first residents of our new duplexes will move in.

These duplexes will provide convenient, affordable housing, especially for new staff and faculty in transition to Northwest College.

This may not seem like a significant occasion... but it really is. These seven units are the first buildings constructed under the college's new Master Plan.

After we replace a maintenance building that was lost to a fire over a year ago, we plan to begin work on over 30 additional apartments just east of our current married student housing. These apartments could be ready by the fall of 2002.

FOUR MAJOR PROJECTS

The College Board and Campus Planning Commission have identified four major building projects that serve as the priority projects of our seven-year, comprehensive funding campaign, which we have entitled Northwest Partners.

Once completed, these buildings will enable us to increase the enrollment of our residential program by 50%. The buildings will also enable us to increase our evening and public service offerings.

The first of these projects is the Academic Center. A faculty task force has submitted a plan that would provide for a three-story, 60,000 square-foot building on the property between the Ness Academic Center and the Hurst Library. The facility will include:

- School of Nursing
- Natural Sciences
- Business
- Adult Degree Completion (LEAP)

We plan to begin construction of the Academic Center in 2002. It will be followed by a Recreation Center (2003), Student Center (2004) and Chapel (2005).

With the Master Plan approved, the duplexes nearing completion, and these other projects underway, I feel like we're standing on top of a respectable mountain after a good climb. But there are still mountains—some steeper and taller—ahead. We still have significant regulatory hurdles to clear. And, we have a lot of money to raise.

We've been operating under this statement:

*Without a plan... it's not a vision,
it's only a fantasy.*

*Without partners... it's not a goal,
it's just a dream.*

We have a good plan. We have great partners. Alumni, friends, churches and foundations are already joining us as partners in this project. In the months and years ahead, I'm confident that the Lord will greatly increase the number of our partners. I'm looking forward to partnering with you as we climb the mountains ahead.

Masters Degree Program Approved

Officials from the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges (NASC), the regional accreditation authority, have notified President Don Argue that Northwest College is now approved to offer a masters degree. The College will admit the first students into the Master of Arts in Counseling Psychology degree program this fall.

"This is another giant step forward for Northwest College," says Dr. Argue. "This approval acknowledges the high quality of our academic program at the College. It also prepares the way for additional masters degree programs in the future."

Members of Northwest's faculty and administration have been working on providing a graduate degree for the past several years.

Once they established that a counseling degree would provide the best opportunity for the inaugural masters program, work progressed on tooling-out the specifics of the degree.

Dr. William Herkelrath led the work of clearing the regulatory hurdles for the program and will serve as the program's director.

"NASC approval was the final step after a great deal of hard work," says Dr. Marshall Flowers, Senior Vice President.

"The Masters of Arts in Counseling Psychology program places significant emphasis on the College's purpose to graduate culturally knowledgeable, sensitive counselors in an evangelical Christian context and environment," he adds.

MISSIONARY IN RESIDENCE

I felt a call to missions while I was still in high school. I came to Northwest College in 1971 and pursued a double major in Pastoral Theology and Missions – I had decided I was going to be well-prepared! My wife Debbie and our daughters left for Latin America in 1982. We have been in Panama and Costa Rica ever since. This past school year, I returned to Northwest College as the Missionary in Residence. It's been a very positive time, teaching from a basis of 18 years of knowledge and experience in missions. It is incredibly rewarding to be able to influence lives for the kingdom.

Graduation 2001

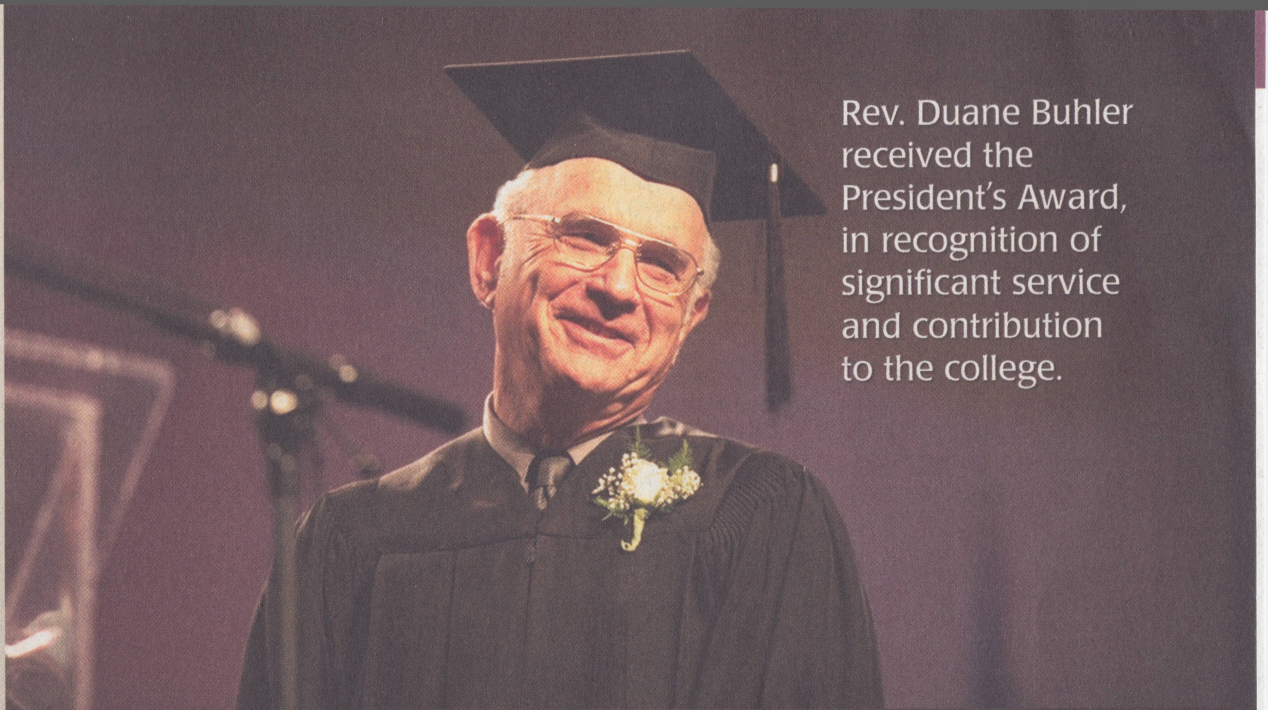

Mario White was one of 223 students who received diplomas from President Don Argue at the 65th Commencement of Northwest College, held Saturday, May 5.

Kimberly Ebe, Mary Jammerman, and Minda Hardymon were among the 66 who earned their degrees through LEAP - Leadership Education for Adult Professionals.

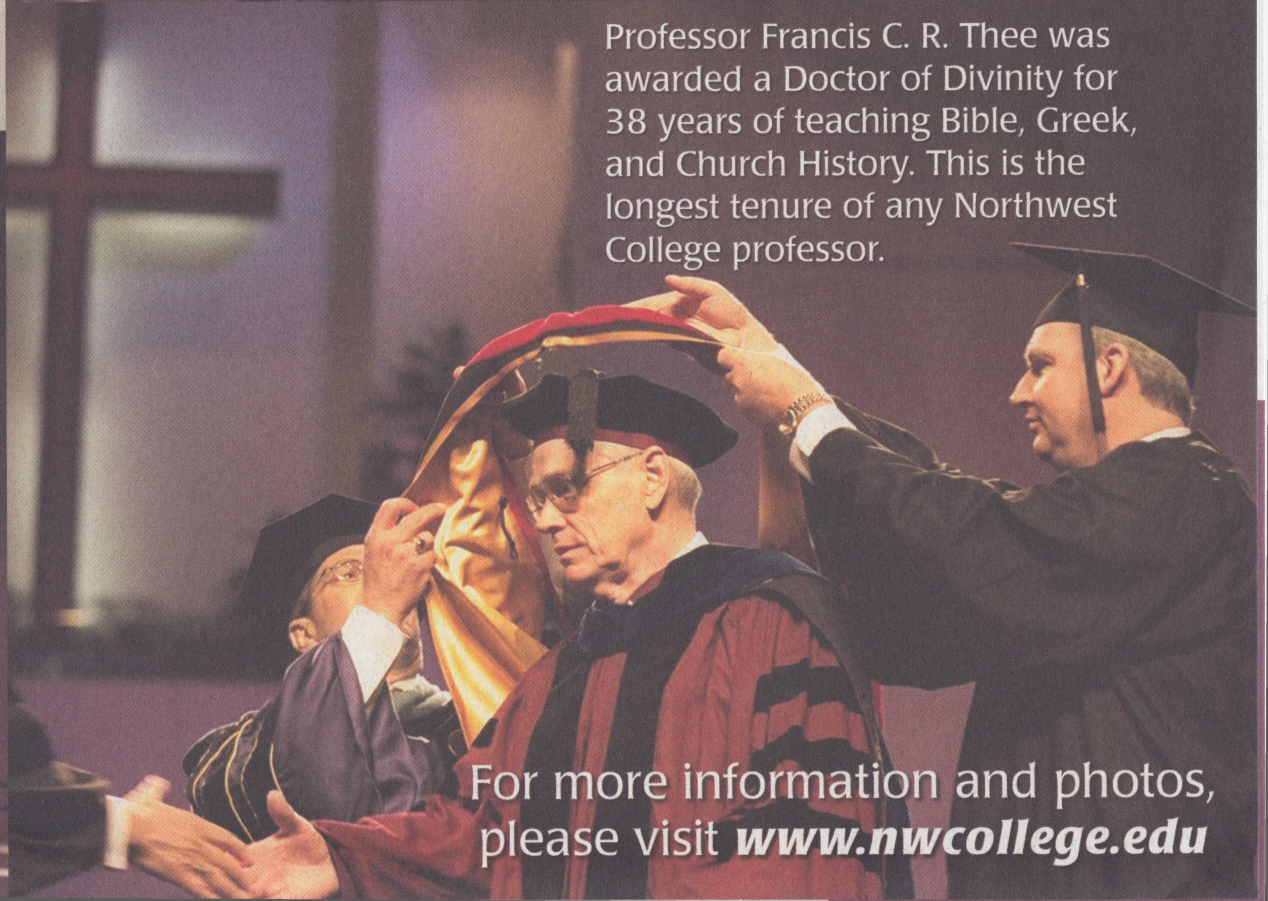

Heather King graduated Magna Cum Laude and earned the Sigma Chi Pi award. On July 27 she will wed 2000 graduate Peter Blue!

Rev. Duane Buhler received the President's Award, in recognition of significant service and contribution to the college.

Rev. Bill Owen, Instructor of Music, led the Congregational Hymn.

Professor Francis C. R. Thee was awarded a Doctor of Divinity for 38 years of teaching Bible, Greek, and Church History. This is the longest tenure of any Northwest College professor.

Alumni Ambassadors CONNECTING COLLEGE & CHURCH

This program is dedicated to having an alumnus in each of our supporting churches, to act as a liaison with Northwest College. These ambassadors are primary contacts regarding our current activities, mission, and goals. Also, they will officially represent the college on the Assemblies of God College Commitment Day.

If you are interested in being an Alumni Ambassador, or would like to nominate someone to the post, visit our web site for more information: www.nwcollege.edu.

Prayer Network EPHESIANS 6:18

The Scripture encourages us to continually supporting each other in prayer. This is why we have started the Northwest College Prayer Network. As soon as a prayer request is submitted to this office, it is immediately passed onto our network coordinator, Thora Jean Bulger. She informs our team captains, and soon there are hundreds of us praying together!

To submit a prayer request, call Christian Lindbeck at 425.889.5206, or visit our web site: www.nwcollege.edu. If you are interested in becoming a Prayer Network member, you can also do so online.

John Fox ALUMNI ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT

I believe Northwest College is a great place. It put so much into me, and opened so many doors.

Northwest College is responsible for preparing our leaders for the future! And we must be responsible for helping.

My number one goal is to help increase scholarships for students at the college. Next to praying, helping financially is the most important thing we alumni can do.

She graduated from Central Washington University with her teaching credentials and was hired mid-year as a reading teacher and librarian at Kirkwood Elementary in Toppenish. She hopes to take more linguistic classes during the third quarter this year.

Peter ('98) and Stacy (Hart) Degon ('99) are living in Olympia, WA. Peter is the youth pastor at Faith Assembly of Lacey. Stacy is the purchasing agent for a medical company. (They still play Ultimate Frisbee together, even though they are no longer students at NC.)

Larra Gonzales ('99) is a third grade teacher in Benicia, CA. She is also leading the college group at Oak Park Christian Center in Pleasant Hill, CA.

Cross Country / Track & Field at National Levels in 2000-2001

DV HURST LIBRARY, NORTHWEST UNIVERSITY

30579003222640

The Northwest College Men's and Women's Cross Country and Track & Field teams continue their march to national prominence. At both the NCCAA level (National Christian College Athletic Association) and the larger and more competitive NAIA level (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics) NC athletes made people take notice this year.

In Cross Country this fall, NC Women celebrated the first Cascade Conference Championship in our history, while the men finished third (which ties men's soccer for second highest Conference finish ever).

The women went on to finish third in the NCCAA National Championships – only two points from first – and fifth at the very tough NAIA National Championships.

The men finished 7th at the NCCAA National Championships.

Five women achieved All-Cascade Conference First-Team Honors, led by freshman Danyel Longmire, who won the Cascade Conference individual title and added All-American honors at both the NCCAA and the NAIA National meets.

Like Danyel, sophomore Phil Olson led the men's team by winning the Cascade Conference individual title and achieving NCCAA and NAIA All-American honors.

This spring, Track & Field had its best season in the history of the sport at Northwest College. The men's and women's teams both finished 4th in the Cascade Conference, the best track finishes ever.

Korinda Godwin, Phil Olson, Danyel Longmire, Crystal Evans, Kim Stone, Rusty McCrea, and Coach Bill Taylor.

Phil Olson won the 5000m, Dylan Morss won the 110m High Hurdles, and Rusty McCrea won the 800m and 3000m Steeplechase. The women's 4x800m relay of Danyel Longmire, Crystal Evans, Korinda Godwin and Sarah Becker won the Cascade Conference Championship and set a new record in the event. Kim Stone added a conference championship in the women's 3000m, while Danyel Longmire achieved victory in the women's 5000m.

In all, nine NC athletes achieved Cascade Conference Championship honors in seven events.

Eight Northwest College athletes qualified for the NAIA National Track & Field Championships in 2001, by far the most NC has ever sent to that prestigious meet.

Rusty McCrea led the way for the men, finishing 8th in the 3000m Steeplechase... our highest finish ever at the NAIA National Championship level. Phil Olson also competed for the men, finishing 10th in the 10,000m and 12th in the 5,000m.

For the women, Danyel Longmire was 7th in the nation at 3000m... the highest finish ever for NC Track. The Women's 4x800m relay of Korinda Godwin, Carina Bartlett, Crystal Evans and Sarah Becker finished an incredible 8th in the nation after dropping almost 15 seconds off the school record. Other qualifiers included Korinda Godwin (10th 1500m), Crystal Evans (9th 3000m, 13th 1500m), Kim Stone (13th 3000m, 14th 5000m) and Sarah Becker (22nd 1500m).
