From the President

As one travels and surveys the "literature" appetites of the American on the go, the Genesis indictment, "every imagination of the thoughts of the heart was only evil continually," presses for awareness. It is underscored again and again. The reading habits of millions of Americans raise the question, "Has there been a complete throwback?"

Without doubt evil imagination leads to evil action and invites divine retribution! And Jesus made it clear that just the evil thoughts, themselves, are condemned!

But the imagination of man holds even greater power for good and prospect for divine blessing. What is imagination but vision in action? Imagination is the power of becoming!

Jesus set Peter's imagination to working and released power in him—"Thou shalt be!" Likewise to Nathaniel He said, "Thou shalt see greater things!" And to Paul he showed "... what great things he must suffer ..." This became the illuminating light and the standard of self-measurement for Paul. Redeemed human imagination is a power for the Kingdom—heavenly inspired vision in action.

Such imagination needs beginnings; and the Word gives these. Such imagination needs goals; and the Word gives these. Such imagination needs guidelines; and the Word gives these. But the redeemed man, himself, must do the imagining, must release his vision and this while responding to the divine callings.

Since the great flood there never has been a time when young men needed to "see visions" and let their imaginations work on them like today! A school of the Word and of the Spirit is the place for this great power to begin its work.

The Spirit of iniquity is at work in the world and is inspiring the imaginations of the masses of youth to evil!

Let the Living Word and the Holy Spirit live and work in the hearts of Christian youth. Let the light of heavenly vision, the fire of imagination, burn. Let this power be released in their lives to work for Christ's Kingdom.

To this task Northwest College is committed.

Oregon Pastor To Be Campus Speaker

The Reverend Murray McLees, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church of Eugene, Oregon will be the Spring Quarter Spiritual Emphasis Week speaker at the College, April 8-12, College President D. V. Hurst announced recently.

The Reverend Mr. McLees, who pastors one of the Oregon District's largest Assemblies of God churches, originated in Rawlins, Wyoming and pursued medical training at the University of Wyoming before enrolling in Central Bible College to train for the ministry. After his theological training in Springfield, Mo., he returned to his home town of Rawlins to pioneer the Assemblies of God Church there. During his Wyoming pastorate he served as District Youth president of the Wyoming District and as Prison Chaplain of the Wyoming State Penitentiary.

In connection with his present pastorate in Eugene, he puts on a weekly telecast called "The Pastor's Study" over the facilities of ABC affiliate station KEZI-TV, which covers a listening area of 300,000 persons, it was said.

The Reverend McLees will speak twice daily to the College student-body—once during the morning chapel hour at 9:40 a.m. and each evening at 7:30 p.m. The services are open to the general public.

Rev. Murray McLees

MATCHING GIFTS RECEIVED

Northwest College Director of Development, H. W. Crowder, revealed recently the receipt of matching funds gifts from two members of the Northwest College Lay Council and their respective employers. One was from Mr. Jess Youngquist and the Scott Paper Company in Everett, and the other was from Mr. Alfred Hayes of Goldendale, Washington, and the General Electric Corporation.

Mr. Crowder pointed out that eight-two firms, having operations in the Pacific Northwest, offer matching gifts to colleges when their employees give gifts to colleges of their choice. A complete list of such firms can be obtained from the Director of Development's office upon request.

Andrew Nelli to Address Lay Council

Mr. Andrew E. Nelli, vice president and treasurer of the General Milk Company, the International Division of the Carnation Company based in Los Angeles, will be one of the two speakers who will address the Northwest College Lay Council at its fourth annual meeting on the campus, April 12-13. Preceding Mr. Nelli as a Council speaker will be the Reverend Murray McLees, well-known pastor of the Eugene, Oregon First Assembly of God Church, who will be on campus as the College's Spring Quarter Spiritual Emphasis Week speaker. The Lay Council will join the student body at the concluding service of the Emphasis Week which will also be the initial event on the Council's two-day schedule at the campus.

Coming as the featured speaker for the Lay Council, Mr. Nelli's business insight and experience stem from his work in the financial affairs of the company he serves, including its operating subsidiaries and affiliated companies around the world. His business responsibilities require him to travel extensively abroad, and he annually visits countries in which the company has operations.

Mr. Nelli is a member of the National Foreign Trade Council, the Western International Trade Group and is chairman of the Regional Expansion Council in Los Angeles. In his global travels he visits many countries to determine investment climate and business possibilities and works in close contact with financial institutions and U.S. Government officials. A Certified Public Accountant, he was trained at Fordham University, (B.S.); Columbia University (M.A.) and Harvard University (A.M.A.).

In the field of church and missionary work Mr. Nelli serves as a chairman of the Board of Directors of the Far East Broadcasting Company, an interdenominational missionary broadcasting enterprise, which blankets the Orient with Christian Gospel broadcasting. He is also active in the work of the Assemblies of God denomination. The Reverend Dr. Thomas F. Zimmerman, General Superintendent of the General Council of the Church acclaimed his church work as service "with distinction in many key roles in the work of the Assemblies of God," including his present post as chairman of the General Council Finance Committee and as a member of the denomination's special committee on evangelism known as "Advance." In a written statement, Dr. Zimmerman also paid him high commendation for exemplary personal Christian character and spiritual leadership.

Giving leadership to the 175-member Lay Council of business and professional men from throughout the Pacific Northwest and Alaska is Yakima business man, Mr. Donald Skidmore. College President D. V. Hurst indicated that the Council's work and recommendations have been of invaluable assistance to the College Board of Directors and

C.A. DIRECTOR TO SPEAK ON PRESSURES ON YOUTH

The Reverend Ward Tanneberg, Northwest District Youth Director, will address high school seniors and campus visitors on a contemporary youth theme, "World—Get off my Back" at the Campus Day at the College April 5, it was announced recently. In his message the Reverend Mr. Tanneberg will deal with the pressures young people are facing today in making the major decisions of their lives. He will also touch on the means of grace available to Christian young people.

Directing the Campus Day activities at the college will be Jack V. Rozell, Dean of Students. He reports that campus guests will register in the lounge of Beatty Hall and will then be conducted by student guides on tours of the campus. An opportunity to visit some classes will be given. High point in the day's events will be a special chapel service featuring the College Music Department and the message by Reverend Tanneberg.

An Informatorium directed by the College's Dean of Education, Frank B. Rice, will be designed to present information about available programs at the college and other academic matters. Special presentations by the Associated Student Body will be made, which will include the traditional evening Singspiration service in the college chapel. The schedule will again be designed for early afternoon departure for those needing to drive distances to get back to their homes, it was noted.

The Committee is preparing for another record turn-out for the occasion and has already received word that some young people from as far away as Montana are planning to come.

to the Administration of the College. A schedule of committee work, plenary sessions, report-drafting, devotionals and fellowship is currently in the detailed planning stage, Council Secretary H. W. Crowder indicated.

$102,000 Approved In Student Aid

Northwest College Business Manager, Owen S. Hodges, recently announced that preliminary approval has been given to the college's application for government student-aid funds totaling $102,000 for the coming school year. The monies will be used to fund three current student aid programs in which the college participates and which are administered by the college under provisions of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Office of Economic Opportunity. About one-third of the expected allocation will provide low-interest, long-term student loans through the National Defense Student Loan Program, and about one-half of the allocation will fund what is known as the Work-study Program, to provide educationally-oriented on-campus employment for students attending the College from low-income families. The remaining part of the allocation will fund Economic Opportunity Grants to needy students with recognized ability to succeed, it was said.

The business office indicated that the college also participates in the United Student Air Program, a private loan fund, jointly sponsored by the college and participating banks. This program provides loans for educational purposes and is administered through local banks through the country.

Featuring the Faculty

One of the newest and rapidly-growing departments of instruction on the campus of Northwest College is in business—now in its second year. Serving as instructor in the department is Miss Esther Dine of Wheatridge, Colorado. Hailing from a family of one brother and four sisters, Miss Dine received her education up through high school in Colorado and then enrolled in Evangel College in Springfield, Mo., in 1959, where she majored in Business Education. While in college she was given several honors, including the Student National Education Association Phi Beta Lambda Club Scholarship award in 1961-62, and the Wall Street Journal Award in 1963. She also served as Associated Student Body Treasurer at the College in 1962-63. She graduated from Evangel with her Bachelor of Business Administration degree in 1963.

In her church life, Miss Dine has actively

Magazine Features N.C.

Northwest College was featured in February 18 issue of the Seattle Times Sunday magazine, Charmed Land, in a two-page spread entitled, "A College of Miracles." Written by Times writer, Mr. Larry Rumley, the feature included photos of College President D. V. Hurst, the sanctuary of the college chapel and a panorama of the campus. The article tells with some fascinating side lights the story of the college, including some of the personalities associated with the history and present administration of the college; its program and student enrollment; and most significantly, something of its miraculous development in answer to prayer.

Epitomizing the story which the article tells is Mr. Rumley's introductory statement: "A lot of hard work, earnest prayer and an occasional 'miracle' have helped establish Northwest College of the Assemblies of God as a school of growing significance in the Greater Seattle area."

Northwest's Choirs Tour

The Ladies' Ensemble, Yvonne Mitchell, Director

The King's Choralons, Dorothy Amundson, Director

The King's Choralons, a 30-voice, concert choir and a seven-voice Ladies' Choral Ensemble from Northwest College are currently on tour in the Pacific Northwest and Rocky Mountain regions, the Public Relations Department at the College announced.

The Choralons' repertoire will feature two "Sermons in Song" arranged by the director, Miss Dorothy Amundson: one entitled, "His Truth Is Marching On," and the other, "When He Shall Come." Professor Amundson indicated that in addition to these two Sermons, they will feature an informal "Musical package" utilizing contemporary music build around the Billy Graham film theme, "The Restless Ones."

The Ladies' Ensemble's repertoire will include a variety of Gospel music and Negro spirituals, Director Yvonne Mitchell indicated. Soloists are Miss Trudy Wellman, sophomore student from Reedsport, Oregon, and Miss Lynette Riffe, freshman student from Alvester, South Dakota.

You are invited to hear these groups when they are in your area. Their itineraries are as follows:

N.C. Missionaries on the move include the Larry Howells, who are preparing for their first term in Indonesia; the Paul Chastagners, home on furlough in Oregon, preparing to return to Upper Volta, Africa. Lillian Bach completes her work for B.A. degree at N.C. in March. Congratulations, Lillian! She will be returning to Nigeria. The T. O. Johnstons, who are headquartering in Texas are itinerating in the N.W. District and expect to change fields from Bolivia to Mexico for their next term.

Speaking of missionaries, here is an excerpt from the Harold Matsons in Brazil, where exciting things happen: "One night a man drew a knife and chased a fellow across the front of the platform." (The congregation evacuated.) From Japan . . . Akiei Ito writes, "My schedule is full from Sunday to Saturday, from morning till late at night (usually till midnight)."

After three years at Northern Baptist Seminary near Chicago and after serving a "two point charge" (2 Baptist churches) in Iowa, Gilbert La France, his wife and family of four children are back in Seattle. Gilbert writes that they are building a home here and hope soon to enter another form of ministry. Dale and Rita (Parker) Lidstrom are in Okinawa. Dale is serving in the U.S. Army there, and Rita is teaching in the Okinawa Christian School. "I have been working in their special Basic English program," she writes. Jack O'Brien is youth minister in Bethany Temple in Everett. Claire Richards is new pastor at Cheney Community Church near Spokane. Willamae (Renfrow) King is completing her work in education at Walla Walla College, where her husband and she are assistant pastors at the First Assembly of God Church.

Dr. C. E. Butterfield Speaks to ASB

Dr. C. E. Butterfield, President Emeritus of Northwest College addressed the student body at the College on February 8 and left the same day for Europe to fulfill a six-weeks' schedule of speaking engagements in Scandinavia. This was the second time for Dr. Butterfield to address the students since he retired from the presidency of the college in June of 1966.

Dr. Butterfield recounted briefly his activities since then—mostly in fulfillment of two trips abroad—one which took him and Mrs. Butterfield around the world, and the other which took him to Europe and the Middle East last fall. He stated that these trips have taken him to several "iron curtain" countries and twice to Israel, where he conferred with some of the Israeli leaders. He explained that his conference with Israeli officials was in the interests of clarifying his own thinking on biblical prophetic themes. Dr. Butterfield also indicated that he had received a very warm welcome from Christians whom he had met in the Communist countries, and that he has sought to encourage them amidst the difficult political circumstances in which they live. He added that he hopes to visit all of the Communist countries, including Russia, while there is still opportunity to do so.
