HOMECOMING QUEEN MARGARET & HER COURT

From The President

D. V. Hurst

Why should a bright young high school senior looking for a college think about Northwest? What are its distinctives? Why attend here?

Northwest is thoroughly Christian—and not just in name! He is honored always! In all the getting of knowledge, learning to know Him personally is most important.

The Holy Spirit is honored and sought. Northwest is a school of the Spirit!

The Bible is the core of the curriculum at Northwest. It is the textbook. There are more courses in Bible and Theology than any others—all others! And the Bible is believed, too, as the inerrant word of God.

Northwest has quality! It is accredited professionally by the Bible College association. Regionally, it holds Candidate status for accreditation. The association recommends that all colleges and universities receive Northwest College credits in transfer.

Northwest has a sound educational concept. It provides a general education base (Junior College programs) with intense Bible and Theology studies resting on that base (Bible College programs). One can attend two years at NC and then make a vocational choice. Work taken at NC can be transferred and built upon in further education.

NC seeks to develop the whole student intellectually, culturally, socially, physically, professionally, and spiritually.

Northwest has you—the student—in mind, always! Here you are not a computer number; you are a person! The college is small enough to give you personal attention yet large enough to give you a high quality education.

Youth oriented activities abound—social, cultural, athletic, Christian service, worship, and evangelism.

The faculty is dedicated to the welfare of the student. They are at NC for that reason. They challenge young minds to think and grow!

And, oh yes, sharp Christian youth attend NC—over six hundred each year.

You can be one of them next year! There's a place in NC for you.

SIXTH ANNUAL LAY COUNCIL TO HEAR CALIFORNIA PASTOR

The executive committee of the Northwest College Lay Council announced recently that the Reverend Kenneth E. Schmidt will be the featured speaker at the Council's annual meeting on April 17-18. The Reverend Schmidt, who is a popular Bible Conference minister, was Spiritual Emphasis Week speaker at the college during the autumn quarter. He presently serves as pastor of the First Assembly of God in Santa Cruz, California. Reverend Schmidt's travels have taken him to over 40 countries around the world where he has ministered to U.S. military personnel, teachers, and missionaries.

Two special events are slated for the Council's sixth annual gathering. These include the dedication of the new fountain, recently installed near the Learning Center building, and the unveiling of NC's Master Plan of campus development recently adopted by the College Board of Directors. The Council has actively participated in both projects. Council members secured funds for the design and construction of the "Reaching Arms" fountain and presented it as a gift to the College. The council received a preliminary report on the Master Plan in its last annual meeting and launched a Master Plan Partners funding program at that time. The Master Plan will be unveiled and presented publicly for the first time during the April Council.

One of the social highlights for the men will be the annual 18-hole Lay Council golf tournament. All interested participants are to meet at the Juanita Golf Club (north from downtown on Market Street) in Kirkland, on April 17. Tee-off times will begin at 9 a.m.

Ladies in attendance will enjoy several activities as well as their annual business session.

1. Alumni president Walter Buck congratulates Margaret Rueck, junior from Portland, Oregon, on her selection as 1970 Homecoming Queen. Former queen Leanna King presented her with traditional single red rose.
2. The Ambassadors Trio regrouped for some nostalgic numbers. Ray Sparre, Jerry Snyder, Elvin Huston and Sue (Fusch) Sawyer made up this popular group of days gone by.
3. Pastor Elwood Irby of Milwaukée, Oregon, (class of '52) was the speaker of the day.
4. The college cafeteria was well-filled for a delightful meal and lots of informal fellowship with former classmates and friends.
5. Pastor Eugene Born of Everett, received the Alumnus of the Year Award (ministry category) from Alumni vice-president Allen Baunsgard. Mr. Paul Gray, of Tacoma, was the recipient of the Alumnus of the Year Award (laity category). (He was not able to be in attendance.)
6. Students and alumni joined together at the close of the homecoming game to sing the alma mater. A fitting conclusion to a delightful day.

RESIDENCE HALL NAMED BY DIRECTORS

The new residence hall, recently completed, was named by the board of directors in their January meeting. The name chosen is Frank Gray Hall. It is designed to be a memorial to one of the great pioneers of Pentecost in the Pacific Northwest.

Reverend Gray gave his life in ministry in the Northwest. He was the first district superintendent of the Northwest District of the Assemblies of God. At that time the district included Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Western Montana and Alaska. This same area now is divided into several districts and comprises much of the region supporting Northwest College.

Reverend Gray also served as a chairman of the college board of directors during the early years of NC's history. His influence has left a significant impression with regard to the ongoing of the institution, according to President D. V. Hurst.

Reverend Gray's son, Paul, is presently serving as the chairman of NC's board of directors.

WHO'S WHO ON NC'S CAMPUS?

If you are one of those people who become easily confused when trying to tell the difference between someone and his or her twin, you may enjoy a very confused year at Northwest. We have four sets of twins attending NC.

Our sophomore twins, Birdie and Bonnie Ballenger from Kalispell, Montana, are fraternal twins, as are the others. Bonnie is the older by seven minutes. Being so much taller than her sister, Bonnie is rarely confused with Birdie except in school pictures. They dressed alike when they were small and still do at times.

Bev and Betty Belau, freshmen from Medford, Oregon, dressed alike until they were in the seventh grade. Bev is older than Betty by two hours. In the third grade, Bev was ill on the day of pictures so the photographer took two poses of Betty and made do with the extra picture.

Adele Waag is older than her sister Aline, by four minutes. Their hometown is Poulsbo, Washington. In school, because they dressed alike until they came to college, the teachers got them confused. In the biology class in high school, the teacher took an entire class period to figure out which girl was which because they had switched desks. They are part of NC's yell team this year and are still difficult to tell apart.

Bob and Rich Philp, freshmen, are fraternal twins too. Their parents are pastoring the Glad Tidings Assembly of God in Tacoma, Washington. The fellows dressed alike when they never had any real problem with people mistaking one of them for the other.

For the most part, all of them feel that, though it is fun to be twins, they don't want to lose their identity as individuals. To be considered one half of "the twins" can get frustrating at times. But being a twin is something special which none of them would trade for anything.

Mrs. Mollie Perks, former Dean of Women at the College, sustained injuries in an automobile accident near Everett on February 1. Her condition was reported as serious with some broken bones. Let us uphold her in prayer.

Sharon Harrison, a missionary to Brazil, is serving as secretary for Good News Crusades, a literature outreach program of the Foreign Missions Department in Springfield. In a recent business trip to Washington D.C., H. W. Crowder, director of development for the College, met several alumni and shared in an alumni reunion of sorts. They included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coffing, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Freitas, and Mr. and Mrs. (Nee: Linda Kuch) Richard Dymond. All, in one way or another, are in government service.

Robert and Mrs. (Nee: Shirley Detling) Files are pastoring the Lansdowne Assembly of God Church in Baltimore, Maryland. They pioneered this church six years ago. A picturesque white church with steeple matching the configuration of the nearby Cascades is to be found in the little town of Snoqualmie, Washington, where another NC alumni couple give pastoral leadership. They are John and Mrs. Wilkie. Five miles down valley, Owen Wilkie is pioneering another Assemblies of God church, with a congregation of about equal size to that in Snoqualmie. The "younger generation" of NC grads still show something of the "pioneering spirit" that has characterized the college's graduates and former students.

From Waldo and Kay Nicodemus in Veracruz, Mexico, comes "hello! and help!" Help is needed in the form of benches for their first new pioneer mission church since arriving!

Another pioneer venture was announced recently by Wayne Coggins. It is called Teenonymous—a youth outreach to help "alienated youth" so numerous in middle class American suburbia. This project is taking shape in nearby Redmond.

Pictured in the recent issue of LINK, newsletter of the NSSA, was Sherman Williams, pastor, Redwood Chapel, Castro Valley, California. He is a member of the Board of the NSSA, an international Sunday School Association.

Auctioneer of the College's annual missionary benefit Box Social was Pastor Darrell Morgan of Lynwood. Proceeds went to the David Harrisons who are preparing to leave for Brazil. There they will work with the Elvin Erwins in a location only four degrees from the Equator.

We have received word that Ed Rippe was recently married to the former Suzanne Lester of Indianole, Wash., a Washington University alumnus. The Rippes are living in Dallas Texas, where Ed is teaching. Lloyd Bice is completing work at Western Washington State College in Bellingham. He has been pastoring at Maple Falls Assembly of God since graduation from Northwest College in 1967. Among other NC grads achieving advanced degrees is Ray Beardsley who completed his masters program at Arizona State University.

MEMORIAL FUND ESTABLISHED FOR DR. NESS

The family of the late Dr. Henry H. Ness announced the formation of a memorial fund which will go to Northwest College in memory of Dr. Ness. The use to which the fund will be put will be determined by the family together with the College. It was reported that friends of the family and members of the college alumni have inquired concerning the fund which was initially announced at Seattle's Calvary Temple during Dr. Ness' funeral. Donations to the fund may be sent to the Dr. Henry H. Ness Memorial Fund, Northwest College, P.O. Box 579, Kirkland, Washington 98033.

NC GRAD RECEIVES DEAN'S CUP AT WHITWORTH COLLEGE

The Reverend Lowell Wood, Northwest College graduate of 1962 was awarded the Dean's Cup during mid-year graduation ceremonies at Whitworth College on February 8. Among other factors upon which the award was based was Mr. Wood's rank at the top of his graduating class and his achievement of Summa Cum Laude on his cumulative work in the College. Mr. Wood's field of study was Sociology. His field of study at Northwest College was Theology. He indicates that he is presently pursuing a Master's Degree in Religion from Whitworth College.

The Reverend Wood serves as pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church in Spokane.
