Dr. D.V. Hurst

From The President

Pot'pour'ri (a mixture)

I have several things to share with you this month. No better way than Potpourri.

* * * * *

In a letter I just receives from Bob Hoskins, President of Life Publishers International, he said:

"We believe missionaries for the future are attending our Assemblies of God colleges now and thus your efforts in the training of lives for future ministry will contribute at some future point to this vast literature outreach."

I believe that! In fact, that's why I'm involved in Northwest College today!

I can look back and recall facing men and women in my classes in days gone by who are now District Superintendents (like Richard Dartch of Illinois, and S. H. Peterson of South Dakota), District Secretaries (like Omar Kallevig of Wisconsin), Evangelists (like Joe Johnson, who we have had at NC as a Spiritual Emphasis week speaker and who is coming again next year, and Evangelist-Writer Doug Weed), Missionaries (like Pat D'anadio in Alaska and Monroe and Betty Grams of Pace), and pastors and youth workers by the scores.

Yes, they have been there in training in my classes and are now out there serving and they are here in training now, getting ready for the days just ahead.

I wonder how many of our over 1,200 missionaries scattered around the world trained in Assemblies of God colleges. Most of them I'm sure!

* * * * *

We just closed a fine missions emphasis week with Bwana Tembo, missionary Morris Plotts, who has watched three quarters of a century go by and who spent over the last third of his life in missions.

What a remarkable man! What an impression he made on the students. A humble . . . deeply spiritual . . . committed . . . selfless . . . and driven man! Driven by Divine purpose! "A spiritual missionary statesman," said Owen Hodges, our business manager.

He spoke not in black and white, but technicolor; not in two dimensions — length and breadth — but three — length, breadth and depth — and a fourth — Spirit! How he made his message live!

All students will remember I.R.C. pertaining to following God; Intimation . . . Revelation . . . Confirmation.

It will be a week long remembered, and eternity will bear results.

Enrollment for the winter quarter is better. We registered exactly the same as fall quarter, at 761. This is better than projections would have suggested so we're thankful! And encouraged!

And especially so because the enrollment of men is strong, almost equal to last year — the all time high!

* * * * *

But Operation HELP must move forward to a successful conclusion if we are to go through the year in the black!

The goal is $150,000 by June 30, 1982. We stand at approximately half way in cash and pledges.

We need:

Five churches or individuals who will give $5,000 each.

Ten churches or individuals who will give $2,000 each.

One hundred five churches or individuals who will give $1,000 each.

We must subsidize each student an additional $200 this school year. It can be said that we have done the equivalent of $100 for each one so far. Thank God!

Can you, my friend, consider at least subsidizing one student at $200 by June 30? If so, let me know. I will be thrilled to hear from you!

* * * * *

One thing more!

The next issue of the Northwesterner will be greatly different. It will be a special student recruitment issue, designed to tell the prospective student all about NC. It will be just the right tool in your hands to give to a high school senior or newly-committed-to-Christ young person and encourage him to attend Northwest.

I know you will want to help us that way. You, too, can be involved in training young people for missions, for pastoral ministries, for youth . . . music . . . or Christian Education ministries.

The first step is to get them into training, to get them started.

Let's join hands . . . you and me . . . and get them into Northwest and started on their way to full-time service for our Lord!

WINTER QUARTER SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS

Chapel Lines by Morris Plotts

"Among God's people, there is always the danger of the pendulum swinging too far. On the left ditch, you have formalism and on the right ditch, fanaticism. Stay in the middle of the road."

"ERA, said one Arkansas hillbilly, stands for Eve Ruined Adam."

"He that believeth will not make haste! God has lived forever and will live forever. He is not in a hurry."

"Missions begins at your fingertips."

"Speaking of Jesus taking His disciples apart after their first missionary journey (Mark 6) He said, 'Come apart . . . or fall apart!'"

"I've not finished paying on the debt I owe, a debt that started 59 years ago, when as a 17 year old teenager in Nebraska I heard about Jesus and accepted Him. That's why I'm a missionary to Africa; I'm paying on the debt."

The above scene shows veteran Assemblies of God missionary, the Reverend Maurice Plotts in interview with NC Dean of Admission, Amos D. Millard, during the College's winter quarter Missionary Emphasis week on campus. He reports that it is "harvestime" in Kenya, East Africa, and cautions that the church must not let Africa slip through its fingers as happened with China and then with Japan, earlier in this century.

The successful missionary approach in Africa today is premised on a spirit of "brotherhood" between missionaries and nationals rather than the "old paternalism," of earlier years, he said. Rev. Plotts stated that one of the promising new enterprises in East Africa is the newly-founded East Africa School of Theology for the training of national leaders and pastors.

WINTER ENROLLMENT: 761

KIRKLAND, WASH. — A resurgent trend was observed in winter quarter enrollment figures just released by the Registrar's office at Northwest College. The winter quarter enrollment total of 761 students is the exact same number equaling the college's fall quarter enrollment of 761 students and is within 5% of last year's enrollment figure. It represents the third highest winter enrollment in the school's history.

Other figures coming out of the winter quarter enrollment shows that almost 90% of the students are full-time and that the full-time equivalency on total enrollment is 95% of the total enrollment. Full-time equivalency represents the number of full-time students plus full-time equivalency on the credit hours carried by part-time students.

The survey also shows that Bible College students make up almost two-thirds of the enrollment on campus. Freshman and Sophomores make up about two-thirds of the total enrollment. However, out of the graduations from the Junior College, more than one-half return and continue their studies in the Bible College division, it was noted.

A strong 56% of the enrollment favors men students, enrollment figures reveal — probably due to the Bible College focus of the college. However, it is noted that an increasing number of placement opportunities are development for women graduates, particularly in the fields of Early Childhood education and business skills.

ATTENTION SENIORS

NC offers a discount to all senior citizens. Why not consider continuing your education by registering for any one of the numerous courses offered. Evening classes are also offered for out students' convenience. Consider this possibility and write the College for more information about this program.

SPECIAL SUMMER SESSIONS SET

Plans were announced recently for the 1982 summer session at Northwest College scheduled for June 2 - July 2.

The session will run for four weeks and will offer a variety of selected courses in Biblical Studies, Christian Education, Pastoral Studies and Counseling.

A special one-week seminar on "Writing for Church Publications" will bring to the campus a well-known publications journalist, the Reverend Richard Champion, Managing Editor of the Pentecostal Evangel. The "Evangel" is the official church organ of the Assemblies of God denomination and is one of the largest religious publications in the country. The seminar will deal with such matters as the basic principles of communication, how to get articles published, improving writing style, using journalism in the church and using journalism as an outreach. The seminar is viewed as being highly relevant to the work of the church in a media-impacted age and will be open to pastors and laymen, as well as students at the College.

Pre-registration for the seminar, or for any course to be offered in the session, may be made by letter or by telephone to the Registrar's office at the College (P.O. Box 579, Kirkland, WA 98033, (206) 822-8266).

OPERATION TURKEY

The following excerpts are what Michael Longanecker shared about his experience with Operation Turkey:

"Thanksgiving is traditionally a time for families to reunite for a day or two if possible and to recount the many blessings with which they have been endowed during the past year. This past Thanksgiving, two of my friends and I broke with tradition . . .

"We left from school on the eve of Thanksgiving and arrived in Kamiah, Idaho, about 1:00 a.m. that morning . . . We awoke to the smell of roasting turkey and pumpkin pie. We mostly just relaxed and got to know Pastor Shipley and his family on Thanksgiving Day . . . His church is a home missions project in the midst of being built and they are almost ready to move in . . . The next two days were spent working on the church . . . Sunday morning, the pastor turned the worship service over to us and then we climbed back in the van and made our way back to school. Though none of us would want to spend all of our holidays away from our families, we felt this time it was worth the sacrifice, which turned out to be more of a blessing than we could have imagined."

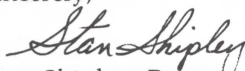

The following letter of thanks was received at NC expressing appreciation for the ministry of these young men:

Dear Northwest College,

Thanks so much for sending the "Project Turkey" team to Kamiah this last week. The three young men were a great help to us, they helped with our new building project by putting in insulation and miscellaneous work. Also, they had a big part in Sunday morning worship service. Mike Borkan led in singing, Steve Dill took the prayer requests and Mike Longanecker presented the morning's sermon; they also shared in the teen Sunday School class.

We enjoyed their fellowship in our home and benefited from the work they did. Thanks again, for sending these young people our way. Praise God for "Operation Turkey."

Sincerely,

Stan Shipley, Pastor
Clearwater Valley A/G
Kamiah, Idaho

Assistant Superintendent of the NW District, Rev. Eugene Born, echoed the words of Pastor Shipley. He stated that the effect of "Operation Turkey" is not only a blessing to the pastors and congregations, but also to those young people who participate.

Alumni Banquet Plans Come Together

The annual Alumni Banquet to be held at NC on Friday, May 28, 1982, at 7:15 p.m. is going to be exciting. Why? Because YOU, the decade graduating class members are going to have a big part in the events. Have you contacted your decade leader? Do it today!

Students Share the Values of Internship

NC is keenly interested in the development of the total person. This cannot be achieved in the classroom alone. To encourage the practical application of techniques learned in the classroom setting, students are encouraged, and required in most four-year programs, to intern in a local church. The following are comments shared by three students who interned during their summer vacation.

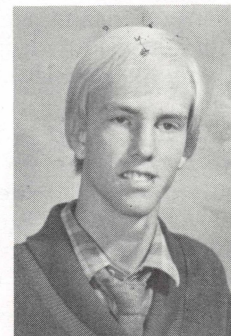

Shirley Thompson

"I participated in two internship experiences and both were unique. The first one was at First Assembly of God in Walla Walla, Washington where I worked primarily with the children's pastor, but also got to work with the senior pastor, the youth pastor and the visitation pastor. My second internship was in Skagway, Alaska, where I worked primarily with the children and then helped with the youth."

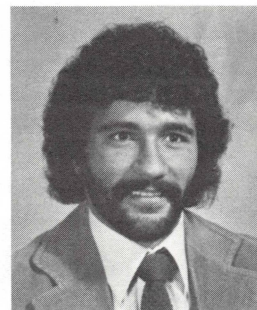

"The ministry isn't easy, it takes a lot of energy . . . For my life, I believe that I need to do whatever the Lord puts before me with all my might and to make sure that my strength comes from Him. AMEN!"

"I interned in Spokane at the First Assembly of God church during the summer of '81 . . . I cannot begin to describe or explain the benefits that I received from this practical experience in ministry . . . I learned much of the mechanics and the actual how-to's and what-to's of youth ministry, of which I could not have learned in a classroom setting. It is my firm conviction that no ministerial student should be without internship experience in his or her own respective field of training during their process of formal schooling."

Tim Johnson

"I spent 10 weeks on my internship at Westgate Chapel, from June 14 to August 22, 1981. I would spend a minimum of 12 hours a week working with the youth pastor . . . Some of the highlights included going with the youth choir down to Oregon and California on a singing tour, being co-recreation director for Senior High camp, working on several young peoples' parties, and starting a new ministry called Teen Discipleship . . . As part of the staff in the role of an intern, I went through many struggles and I saw how important good strong leadership is in a church. The Lord sent me to Westgate to experience things that I would never have faced anywhere else, and I know that I have learned from them.

STAFF FEATURE

"They, Too, Minister"

by Owen S. Hodges

God not only calls and anoints men for public ministry but He calls men to serve Him with their talents in very practical and necessary ways - gifted men are God's gift to His work.

"I have called . . . and filled him with the Spirit of God, in wisdom, in understanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanship, to devise cunning works, to work in gold and in silver and in brass and in cutting of stone to set them and carving of timber — to work all manner of workmanship." Exodus 31:2-5

Being the Business Manager, I am proud of and thankful for the campus maintenance staff. Good men . . . gifted men . . . dedicated men . . . spiritual men — now giving of themselves every day to make the work at NC "go."

Orville "Matt" Mathison (his wife Virginia serves as Resident Dean in the girls' residence hall) has a background of wide experience prior to joining the NC staff three years ago. An ordained minister, "Matt" has ministered in Alaska and Hawaii, as well as in the states, with a wide range of experience in building, electrical, plumbing and general carpentry. He serves as Director of Plant Maintenance.

Bill Flisram — Plant Technician — serves also in the area of maintenance. He came to NC approximately seventeen years ago after retiring from the Navy shipyards in Banger, Washington, as a pipe fitter. For many years, he was "Mr. Maintenance" and served the entire campus along in all areas of maintenance. His wife, Mary, was Resident Dean in the girls' residence hall until retiring three years ago. Bill, in his earlier days, was active in his church, in Sunday School, choir, etc. His retirement years have been busy — eight to twelve hours a day, six days a week — yet he is happy serving God at NC! His knowledge of the plant makes his presence and experience invaluable.

Murray Kemper (his wife Shirley cooks in the Cafeteria) is Plant Engineer. The Kempers came from Utah where they pioneered and ministered for fifteen years, establishing a congregation and building a church in the Mormon stronghold of Santa Quin, Utah. He supported himself as an employee of the Public Utilities Company and has been using this experience to serve Northwest College for the past two years.

Supervisor of Grounds — Dan Paulsson (wife Alta) was raised in Eastern Washington and exposed to the rigors of ranching. Here is a man with a gentle spirit but a very energetic body. He works to care for the grounds (landscaping, mowing, pruning, watering, etc.) as well as the roads and parking areas. This, together with the maintenance of vehicles — six traveling vans, three maintenance vans, five grounds pickups, tractors, mowers, etc. — gives opportunity for lots of practical ministry.

Jim Wilson — Supervisor of Custodial Services (his wife, Faye, is Resident Counselor in the girls' residence hall) also served as a minister in Montana where he pastored in two churches over nineteen years. Jim has a variety of talents and abilities. The coordination and assignment of the custodial duties and monitoring the student personnel is a sizable challenge. Seventeen buildings and twenty-six floors require his attention.

The entire custodial crew is student personnel with one exception, Leonard Haarstad (his wife, Clara, was a cook's helper in the Cafeteria). A retired laborer, Leonard works part-time to assist in the custodial services. He is a happy, willing-spirited man who enjoys and who believes "an hour's pay deserves an hour's work" — and practices it! He makes the load lighter at NC with his dependable, willing, happy manner in the area of custodial services.

Earl Cowley — Campus Carpenter (wife, Mary, is a secretary at the District Office) came to NC from Ephrata, Washington, where they pastored for sixteen years. Being a craftsman par excellence, his assignments include: construction of cabinetry, tables and new facilities.

These men labor with a sense of mission and dedication that goes far beyond the call of duty. They have a job . . . a big one . . . but more than a job — a ministry. They serve God at Northwest College with their talents so that others can train for a ministry.

"Helping To Build Ministries"

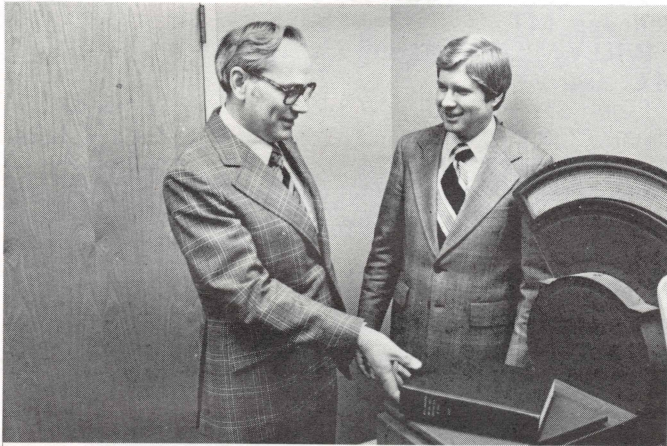

THEE DISSERTATION ACCEPTED FOR PUBLICATION

by Frank B. Rice

The value of Dr. Francis Thee's doctoral dissertation to the academic community recently received further certification, when it was accepted for publication by J.C.B. Mo (Paul Siebeck) — a German publishing house dating back to 1802. Publication is to be from typescript as part of a hermeneutical-theological series which has reference use in university departments of religion or ancient history. Date of publication is expected to be sometime this year.

Dr. Thee has been a member of NC's Bible college faculty since 1963. The dissertation, entitled Julius Africanus and the Early Christian View of Magic, was written as part of the requirements for his Ph.D degree awarded by the University of Chicago in 1980. Julius Africanus was one of the early church fathers — the only layman among them — who lived in the second and third centuries.

The value to his own teaching, Dr. Thee believes, was not only in giving him a better understanding of Africanus and his views, but also in providing him an acquaintance with all the early church fathers. It is to be hoped that Thee's students appreciate the scholarship of their teacher. It seems likely that the exercise has given Dr. Thee more sympathy for the students' task in learning as well.

Dr. Francis Thee and Dr. Frank Rice
