THE CHALLENGE

Conquerors! Into our minds flashes a picture of knights in gleaming armor, with swords in hand, riding forth to victory. This picture is indeed a true representation of the conqueror, but it does not speak of momentary attainment. Years must be spent in preparation before the once unskilled beginner may emerge bearing the emblem of knighthood.

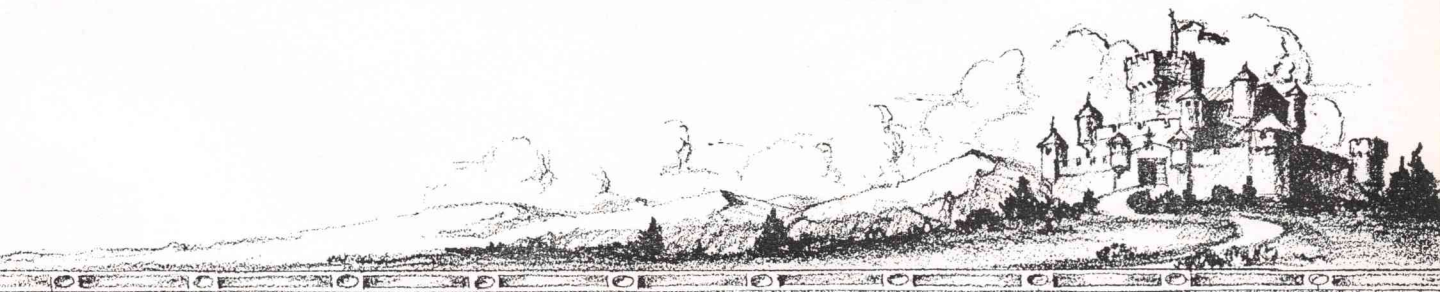

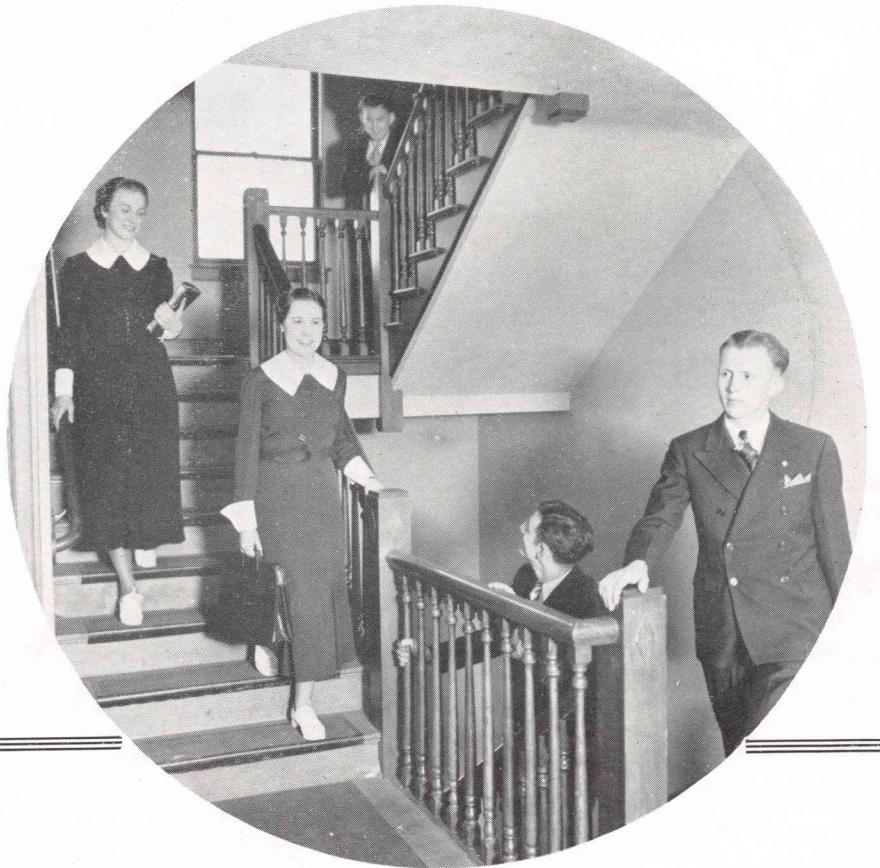

Taking the story of such preparation step by step as an appropriate background, we offer to you the story of the preparation of lives for a far greater warfare.

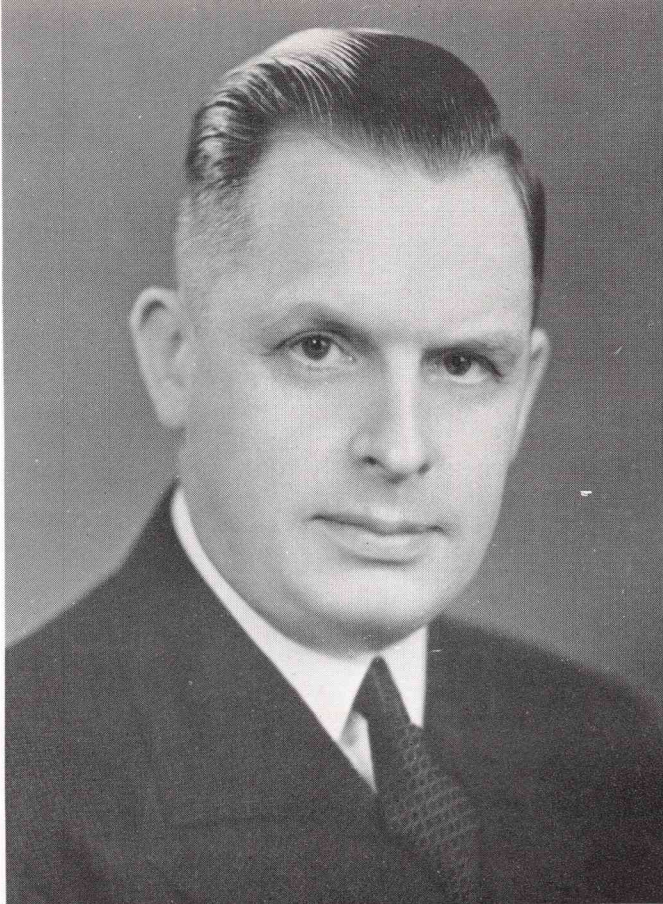

Our theme presents a challenge. Will you accept it? Then arise, O Christian warrior, raise the banner high, and go forward in the name of our heavenly King—a conqueror for Christ!

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

"Giving no offence in any thing, that the ministry be not blamed."—II Corinthians 6:3.

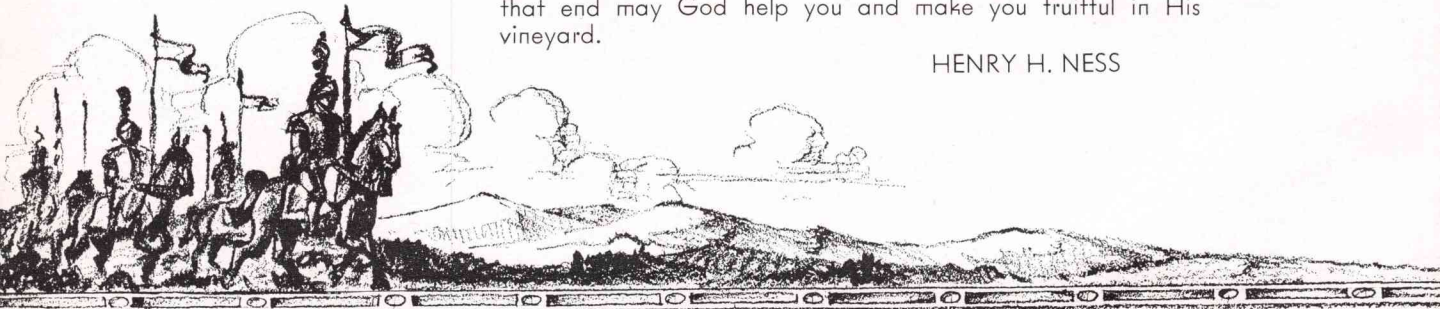

The most essential part of our ministry is not the presenting of masterly sermons or the persuasive expounding of Bible truths, but rather the manifesting of these Bible truths in our lives. A person may be a brilliant preacher, but, if he fails to live what he preaches, his whole ministry becomes a reproach and a stumbling block.

Throughout Paul's epistles, he reminded the believers not only of the things he had preached to them but also of the life he had lived among them. To the Corinthians he wrote, "Receive us; we have wronged no man, we have corrupted no man, we have defrauded no man." To the Philippians the admonition was, "Brethren, be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as ye have us for an example." He reminded the Thessalonians, "Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily and justly and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe." Then again to the Corinthians he wrote, "Giving no offence in any thing, that the ministry be not blamed."

Misbehavior in the life of a minister may undo the result of years of labors and the fruit of multitudes of sermons.

May God bless you, "Conquerors." Do not endeavor to conquer by the excellency of sermons only, but conquer by a life that is completely conquered by the conquering Christ. To that end may God help you and make you fruitful in His vineyard.

HENRY H. NESS

BIOGRAPHY OF OUR PRINCIPAL REV. HENRY H. NESS

August 6, 1894 was a day of rejoicing in a certain home nestled in the shadow of the king's palace in Oslo, Norway, as Hans Nielsen Ness and Dora Ness welcomed the birth of a son, the first of five children. Henry Ness was not born heir to earthly millions, but his spiritual heritage was rich. Godly Pentecostal parents had dedicated their child to the Lord even before birth and were determined to bring him up "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

As a boy, he regularly attended the Philadelphia Church in Oslo, of which T. B. Barratt was, and still is, the pastor. Our Principal retains vivid memories of the great revival and outpouring of the Spirit which swept Norway in 1906.

Boyhood days quickly passed, and in the autumn of 1911 an enthusiastic youth left the shores of Norway to seek his fortune in the promised land of gold and silver. Upon arrival in this country, he made his way to Chicago and began a career in the drug business. His next abode was in Minneapolis, Minnesota, where he operated his own drug store in the commercial center of town. Soon after arriving in that city he met a young lady of Danish birth, who became his wife on the eighth day of April, 1919.

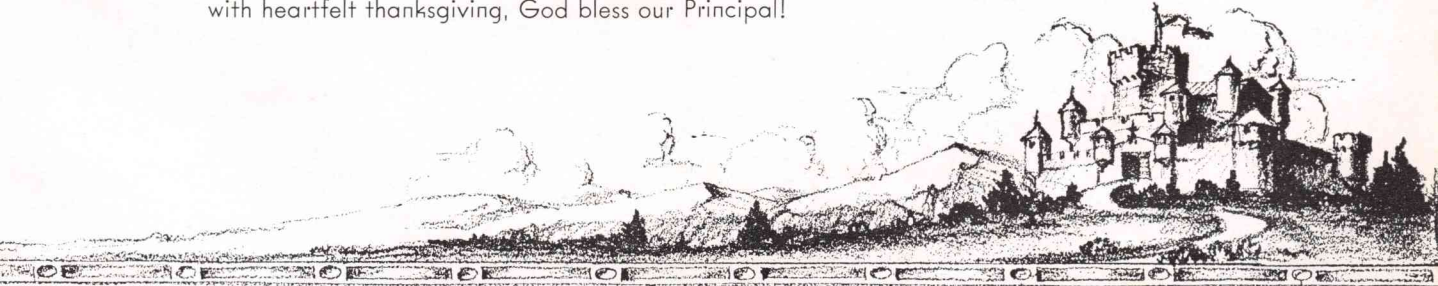

Brother Ness finally sold his business interest and accepted a position in the service station department of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. He rapidly advanced until he became leading man on the sales force, with prospect of promotion to a high official position with the company. It seemed that the success of which he had dreamed was nearing realization.

It was at this time in the life of our Principal that God began to deal with him. One Sunday night his wife was saved at a revival service. Two weeks later he knelt in his own home, definitely consecrating his heart and life to the Lord. The change was radical. The call of God came. Brother Ness resigned his splendid and remunerative position to accept a call to a small, dilapidated church in northern Minnesota at a salary of less than ten dollars a week. God's seal upon his ministry was evidenced by revivals which resulted in several places.

Our Principal went to Fargo, North Dakota, in April, 1926, and there pioneered a Gospel work. Within a few years a beautiful tabernacle was built which seated one thousand people. In addition to pastoral work, Brother Ness was active as an officer in the Assemblies of God, serving for years as general presbyter, district presbyter, and a member of the board of directors of the North Central Bible Institute in Minneapolis. For a time he labored as assistant superintendent of the North Central District.

In the latter part of 1933, Brother Ness accepted a call to be pastor of Hollywood Temple in Seattle. The Lord has blessed his ministry here, and a twenty-five thousand dollar addition to the building has been necessitated to accommodate the increasing membership. Recently another church has been purchased in the north end of Seattle, which will be conducted as a branch of Hollywood Temple.

The Reverend Mr. Ness became principal of the Northwest Bible Institute when it was opened on October 1, 1934. The Institute has made remarkable progress. It began the first year with eighteen students and is closing the fourth year with an enrollment of two hundred and thirty-six. In addition to his administrative, teaching, and disciplinary contributions, our Principal's spirituality has greatly influenced the School. He has been at the helm through stormy seas and fair weather and has been enabled by God's grace to guide the ship steadily forward. What further should we add, except to say with heartfelt thanksgiving, God bless our Principal!

If the curtains of time were drawn back from the historic past, permitting a glimpse into the life surrounding a medieval castle, perhaps a scene such as this would first greet our eyes:

In the gateway of the castle stands a nobleman, experienced, mature, and highly esteemed—the lord of the estate. Coming toward him, timidly, yet with steady step and expectant air, is a youth. The lad has left his own home to take up residence within the castle and receive from the nobleman instruction in the intricacies of knighthood.

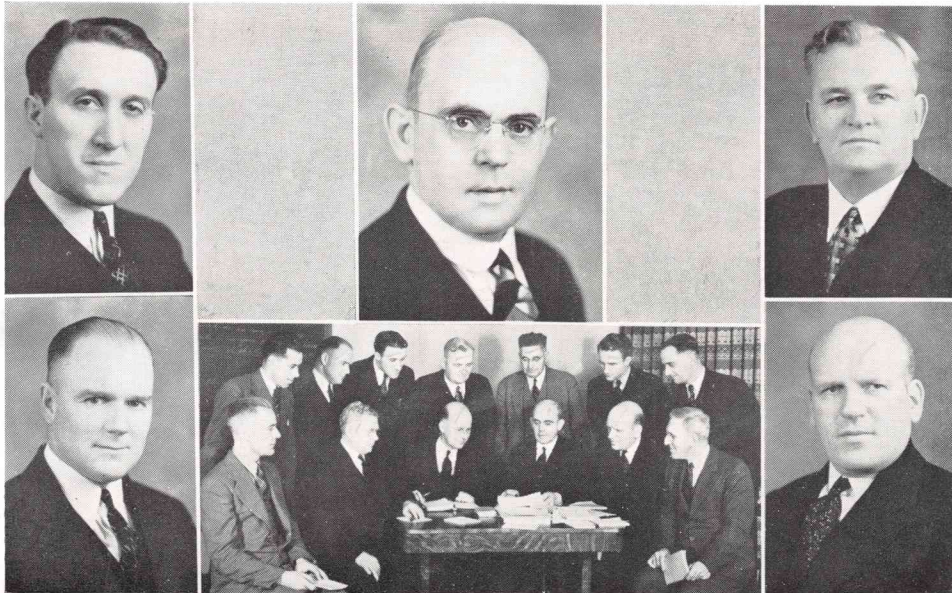

How symbolic of the youth of N. B. I. who are venturing forth into training for a spiritual warfare! Home and loved ones are left behind as they take up their abode for three short years within the portals of N. B. I. Daily these young soldiers are receiving from a group of godly and respected men instruction and training that will better fit them for a life in the service of the King.

"For by wise counsel thou shalt make thy war: and in multitude of counsellors there is safety."

—Proverbs 24:6.

OUR IDEAL FOR THE CONQUERORS

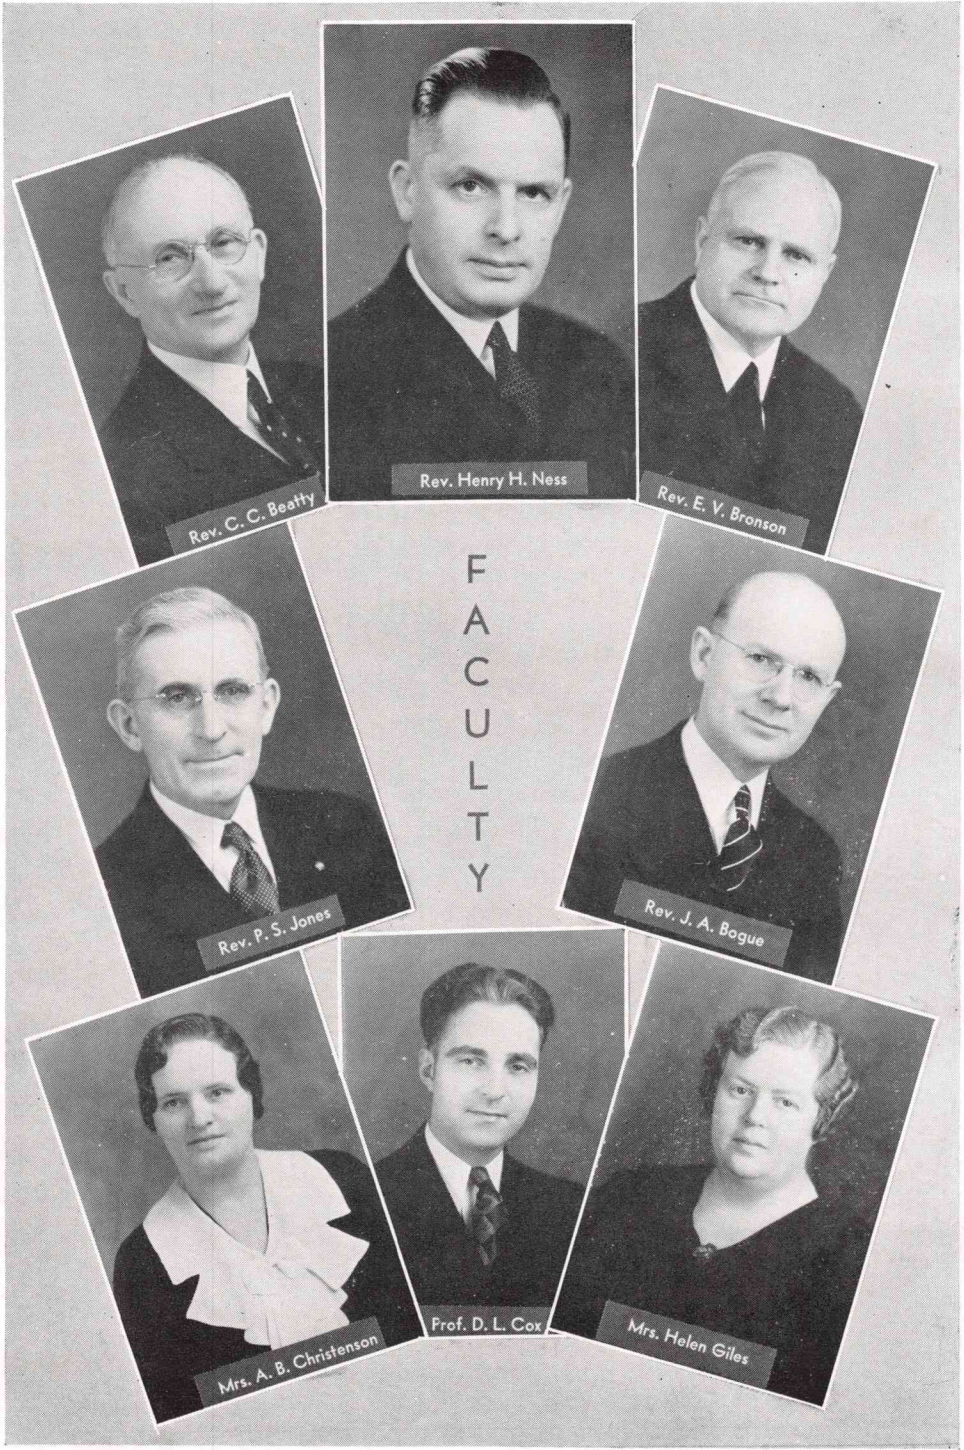

"Whereto we have already attained, let us walk
by the same rule, let us mind the same thing."
—Philippians 3:16.

You have been victorious in many previous battles along life's pathway, yet much ground lies ahead for you to possess. Your future victories will be dependent upon your keeping God and His will first in everything.

Spiritual attainment that will endure must be acquired on Scriptural grounds and preserved by a close adherence to the Word of God as instructor and guide.

We are expecting that you will be men and women with well disciplined lives, filled with the Holy Ghost and wisdom, zealous for the work of the Lord, and faithful to the end—"The Conquerors."

As the wheel of N.B.I. revolves in daily routine, we do not forget the hub of its activities, the office. If the hub ceased to revolve, the wheel would no longer turn.

The office is our metropolitan center, our source of supply, our retreat in perplexity. Day after day an efficient staff ministers cheerfully and patiently to the numerous and varying wants of a steady stream of students. This is not a spectacular ministry, yet we remember the teaching of our Lord that true greatness is found in serving.

JESUS—CONQUEROR OVER SIN, DISEASE AND DEMONS

Rev. E. V. Bronson

Conqueror over Sin. The Old Testament revealed that Christ was coming as conqueror over sin, which had entered the world through Satan's deceiving Adam and Eve. Man needed a Saviour, and one was promised. The Seed of the woman was to bruise the serpent's head, but, in so doing, He would be bruised. This promise was fulfilled when Christ died on the Cross. There Satan received his deathblow, for Jesus came that He might destroy the works of the devil.

When Christ said, "It is finished," the whole plan of salvation was fulfilled; nothing was lacking and nothing could be added. He who knew no sin was made to be sin for us. Christ not only conquered sin in a general sense, but He also conquered it in the individual life. Although helpless in ourselves, we are more than conquerors in His name and through His power. He delivers us from the guilt and the dominion of sin.

Conqueror over Sickness and Disease. Sickness and disease came into the world as the result of sin; therefore, the atonement for sin also includes healing for our bodies. Jesus healed all that were sick that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah, the prophet, "Himself took our infirmities and bare our sicknesses." Christ never failed in any instance, for He healed "all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people."

Jesus conferred this same power upon others also. He called unto Him the twelve apostles and gave them power "to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease." Later the seventy disciples were sent forth with authority to heal the sick. As they went, preaching everywhere, the Lord worked with them and confirmed the Word with signs following. The book of Acts is a record of signs, wonders, and mighty deeds wrought by believers in the name of Jesus. The Lord did not confine this power to the apostolic age; He still empowers believers. "These signs" still follow them that believe.

Conqueror over Demons. Jesus "cast out the spirits with His word"; demons were forced to obey His will. At His command, the man in the synagogue was delivered, the epileptic boy was restored, and the Gadarene demoniac was loosed. Recognizing the Lord's power, unclean spirits pleaded with Him not to command them to go into the abyss nor to torment them before the time.

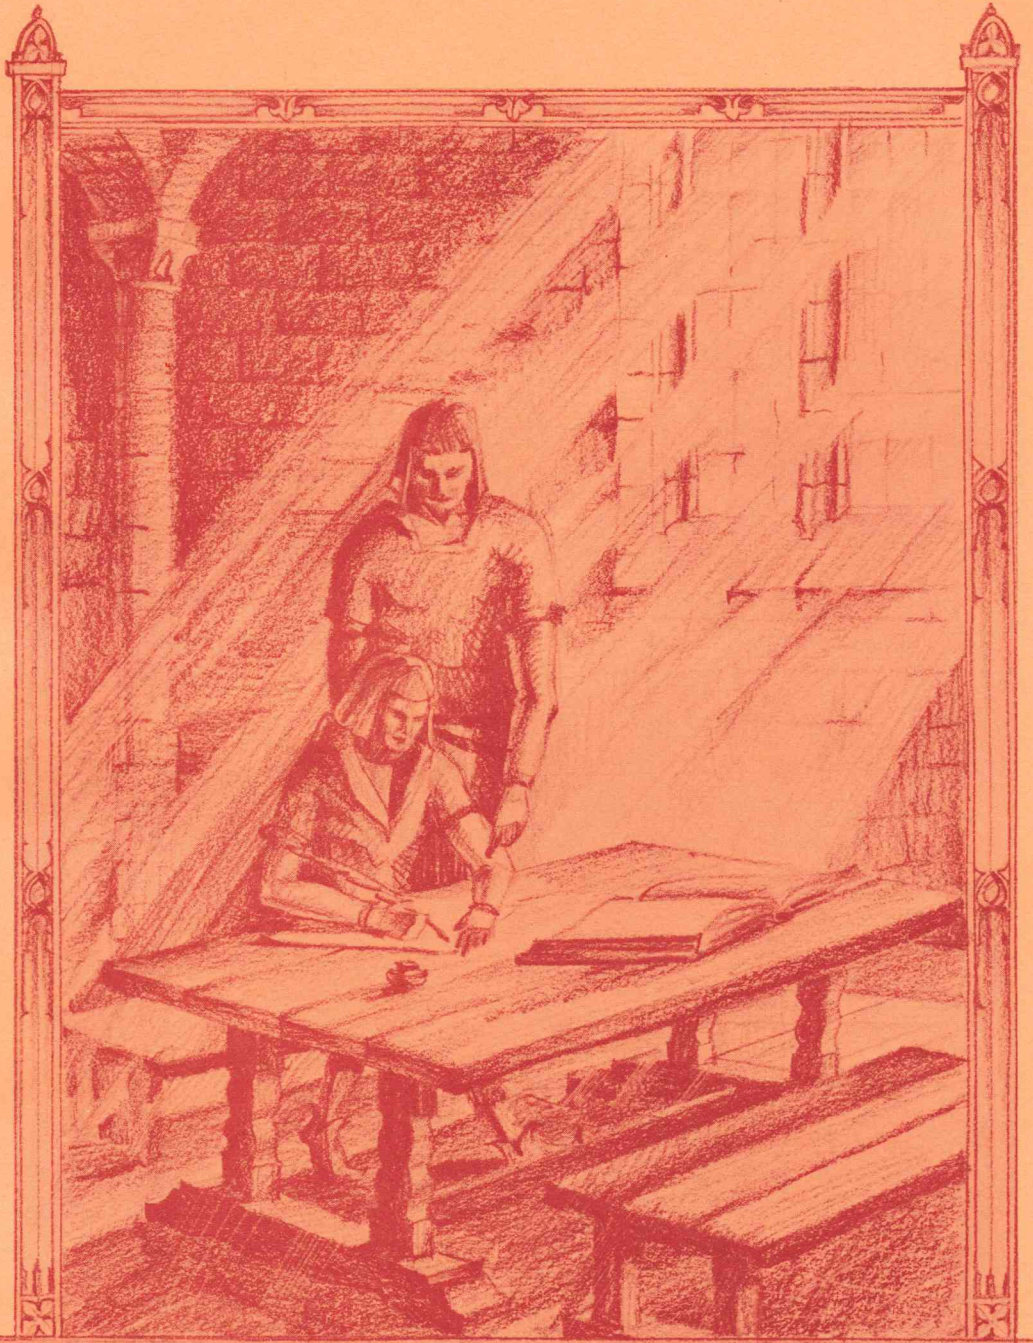

Jesus, the Captain of our salvation, has never lost a battle, and as we follow Him, the mighty Conqueror, we too shall overcome.

Time marches on. Lessons must be learned and practical experience gained as the page continues to dwell in the castle of the nobleman. Often he may be seen, with pen in hand, working on his lessons. Standing near, with intent interest and careful concern, is the lord of the castle. Because of his knowledge and experience, this nobleman is able adequately to prepare the lad for future unknown encounters.

As the years pass and the page becomes more experienced, he is advanced to the position of squire, but there is still much to be accomplished before he reaches the goal of his ambition—knighthood.

Today, as yesterday, time marches on. Lessons must be learned and practical experience gained. Within the classrooms of N.B.I. groups of students bend over their books and apply themselves to diligent study. They are learning how effectively to wield the sword of the Spirit and to use the weapons which are "not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds."

"Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."—II Timothy 2:15.

CLASSES

Our Principal welcomes a new student.

FRESHMAN CLASS

RETROSPECTION

"Let us all bow our heads, close our eyes, and just count our blessings for a few minutes."

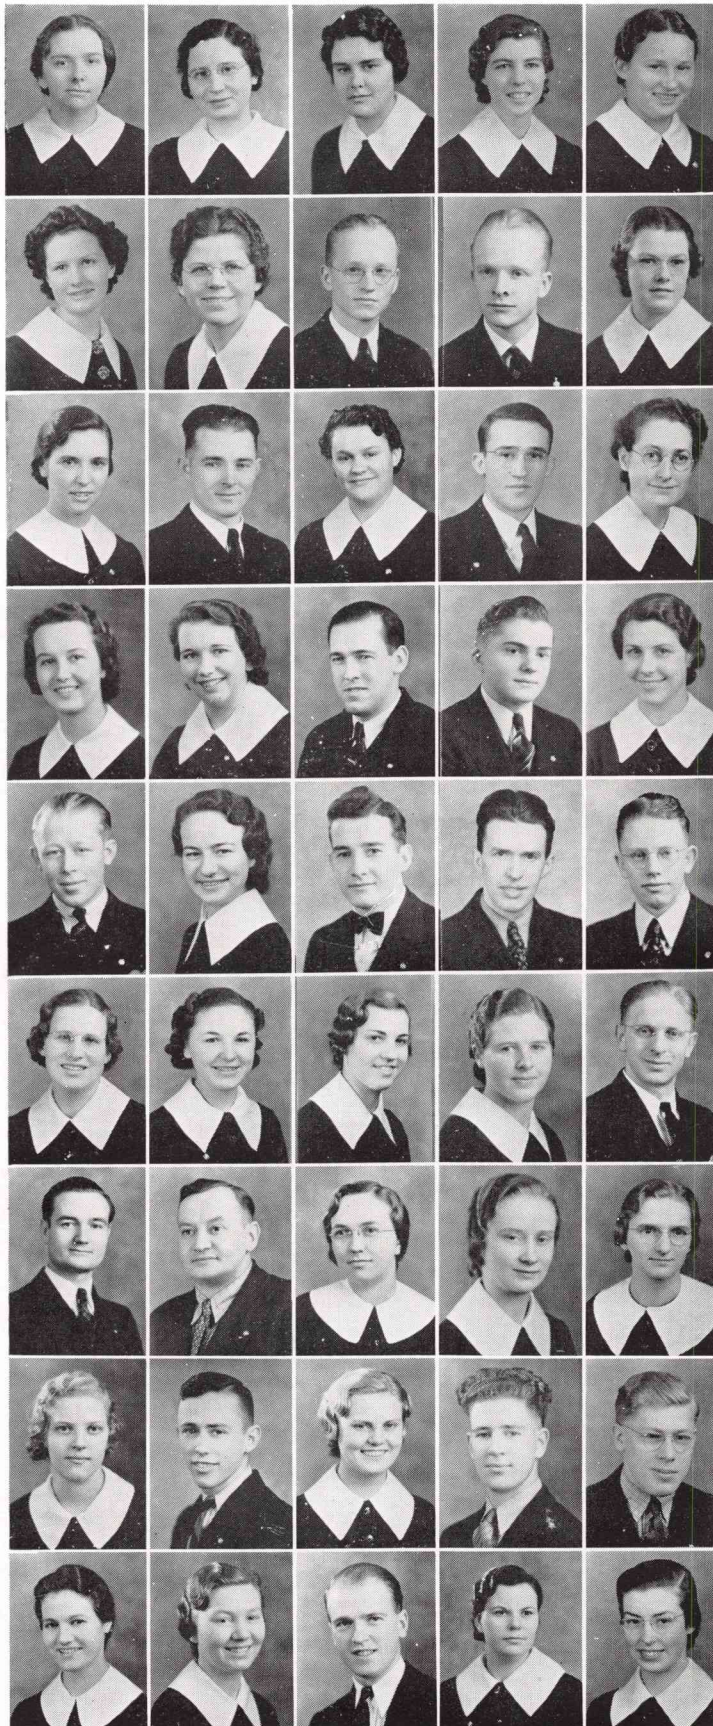

It is the first period of the morning in the freshman room, and Brother Beatty is opening the class in his favorite way. Notebooks cease to rustle. We bow our heads. What pictures pass in panoramic view before our minds' eyes, as we hastily peek into our various pasts!

One sees a long, happy childhood in a Christian home. To another is visioned a turbulent adolescence when everything went wrong. Some of us look back on lives where God was not known, yet now we see His hand guiding us through it all to a glorious conversion. To others comes the memory of years that seemed interminable—years we longed to spend in Bible School. Some of us see God's guidance through a summer spent harvesting fruit, working in canneries, nursing, life-guarding, doing daily vacation Bible School work, keeping house, and working in libraries, factories, and offices.

Into many minds come recollections of crises. We almost feel again the blind sense of seeking a way out. It seemed that God was millions of miles away and we could not find Him. Then comes the memory of God's silent, understanding, compassionate working for us. We see the crises unravel, and we whisper, "Oh, God is good!"

Our moment of quietness is over. Each of us feels anew God's great love in directing our lives and leading us to N.B.I. In the words of the Psalmist we can say, "The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage. I will bless the Lord, who hath given me counsel."

TO THE SENIORS

(A Dedication from the Junior Class)

A year ago with tenderest farewell,
'Twas you who watched the "Pioneers" depart;
Today we fill your place, 'tis you who go,
And as you leave, we pray with all our heart:

God send you to the whitened harvest fields,
God bless you in all places, large and small;
When difficulties rise, may He impart
Courage and strength to triumph over all.

By holy, godly, separated lives,
May you the listless, lukewarm hearts inspire;
May they be quickened by your zeal and love,
And feel again that Pentecostal fire.

May many a weary, aching heart find rest,
Because by you love's sacrifice was made;
May many a tarnished life shine clear again,
Because you stopped a little while, and prayed.

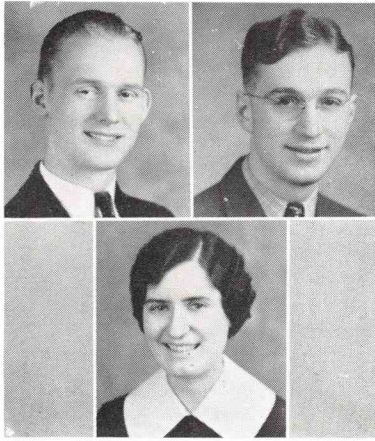

God give you grace in every time of need,
For with temptations you will surely meet;
If popularity by chance be yours,
May you keep ever humble at His feet.

God keep you pure, unspotted from the world,
"No compromise," may this your watchword be;
Selfish ambitions trampled in the dust,
Living for Christ, souls, and eternity!

God keep you in the center of His will,
And make of you a channel of His grace;
Then when the battle's o'er, the victory won,
May you with joy behold your Saviour's face.

'Twill not be long before the trumpet sounds.
While for that grand reunion we must wait,
Again we pray, "In Jesus' name, God bless
The Graduating Class of '38."

INTROSPECTION

The freshman looks backward, the freshness of the call of God behind him; the senior looks forward, the excitement of the future ahead—but what of the junior? To us the past is dim, the future distant. It seems natural that our thoughts turn inward.

As a junior class we have spent two years together within the walls of N.B.I. During this time hours of fellowship have been enjoyed and ties of friendship formed. We have noticed in one another's lives the development of Christian character, an outcome of growth "in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ." There have been times of earnest study as we struggled together over difficult problems. There have been seasons of refreshing when student and teacher alike set aside classes and united heart and voice in a paean of praise heavenward. There have been hours of stress when we were privileged to bear "one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ." We have rejoiced together in victories, and encouraged each other in defeat. By God's grace our mistakes become steppingstones to success.

As the year draws to a close, we thank God for all it has held, in blessing and in trial, in knowledge acquired and experience gained. We have tasted the peaceful joy of being in the center of God's will, and nothing less will satisfy. Individually and unitedly we pray, "May our ears be constantly tuned to the voice of God and our footsteps guided in the way everlasting."

PROSPECTION

Today the prospector's eye is bright and his heart leaps with anticipation, courage, and adventure, for news has come that is destined to reshape his life. Gold has been discovered along the streams back in the hills. Those who bring this news say that real nuggets are found near the source of a deposit, and that smaller accumulations and gold dust are driven farther down stream by the force of the current. Only the strong may go in search of gold, for the journey is long and dangerous, and many hardships may be encountered.

Immediately the prospector joins the throng of determined men who push on to a new frontier, where some are rewarded with great success, others make only their "stakes," and yet others meet failure and defeat.

Today news has come to the "Conquerors of 1938" that many precious souls can be saved if someone will but go. Many lost souls are far away, even in foreign lands; others are near at hand; but each is worth more than the whole world in the Master's sight. Only the strong may go, for the way may be hard. Unless the goal is reached, the journey is unrewarded, but Jesus gives sufficient power to all who will trust. There is no defeat in Him.

Each graduate will have an opportunity to labor in some phase of the Master's service. Some will be led to real "nuggets," young people with rich possibilities for God; others will seek for the "dust" which time has driven farther down the stream of life—yet all are precious in His sight.

We must not, can not, fail nor turn back if we closely follow the Saviour. He has gone the way before us to "seek and to save that which was lost." How great will be our eternal happiness with a lasting treasure in Glory, for heavenly gold can not canker, nor can thieves break through and steal.

JESUS CONQUERS THE ELEMENTS

Rev. J. A. Bogue

The book of Genesis is a history, an epitome of divine revelation, and not a treatise on any scientific question or a philosophy of human existence. It emphatically is a narrative, authentic and most instructive to mankind. It does not present man with a geological, a botanical, or an astronomical account of how the world came into existence, but it simply asserts, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth" (Genesis 1:1). If we read Colossians 1:16, we learn that Christ was the Master who performed the marvelous task. It was He who conquered the unruly mass (Genesis 1:2) by causing the Spirit to move thereon until it took a definite form. He conquered chaos by compelling everything to go to its proper place. He took the unorganized elements in His fists (Proverbs 30:4) and made the most wonderful and accurate system known to man by causing both celestial and terrestrial bodies to move in their proper orbits.

Millenniums later this Creator looked down from the battlements of Heaven and viewed the miserable estate of man. He took upon Himself the form of man and came to earth to show His conquering power. He performed numberless miracles and wonders, but one of the most astonishing is recorded in Mark 4:35-41, where we find Him asleep in the boat that was filling with water on the stormy sea. He was awakened by His disciples who saw nothing but death before them. The Conqueror of the elements calmly arose and rebuked the wind, and to the raging sea He said, "Peace, be still." His words were not those of a man, but of a conqueror. At once there was a great calm, and fear gripped His fellow-travelers, who asked, "What manner of man is this, that even the wind and the sea obey him?"

In recent years the Conqueror has displayed His power to His believing children by overruling the laws of nature. A few years ago a cyclone was utterly destroying everything in its pathway. Some Christian young people gathered in a certain building, together with a number of unsaved. As the cyclone approached, destroying everything in its wake, the Christians fell on their knees, despite the jeers of the unsaved, and besought Jesus Christ to save them and the building for His glory. Everything around the building was wrecked, and even parts of the concrete sidewalk were torn up, but not a window was broken or a shingle touched on the building which contained the praying people.

The Conqueror has subdued fire, sent rain when all things pointed to the contrary, checked pestilence on crops, and given His children perfect harvests, while unbelieving neighbors' crops were totally ruined. "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever" (Hebrews 13:8).

When this world has served its purpose, the conquering Christ shall destroy the present heaven and earth, and behold, He shall bring forth a new heaven and a new earth. When this takes place, His children who love Him will share His glory forever. All hail the conquering Christ!

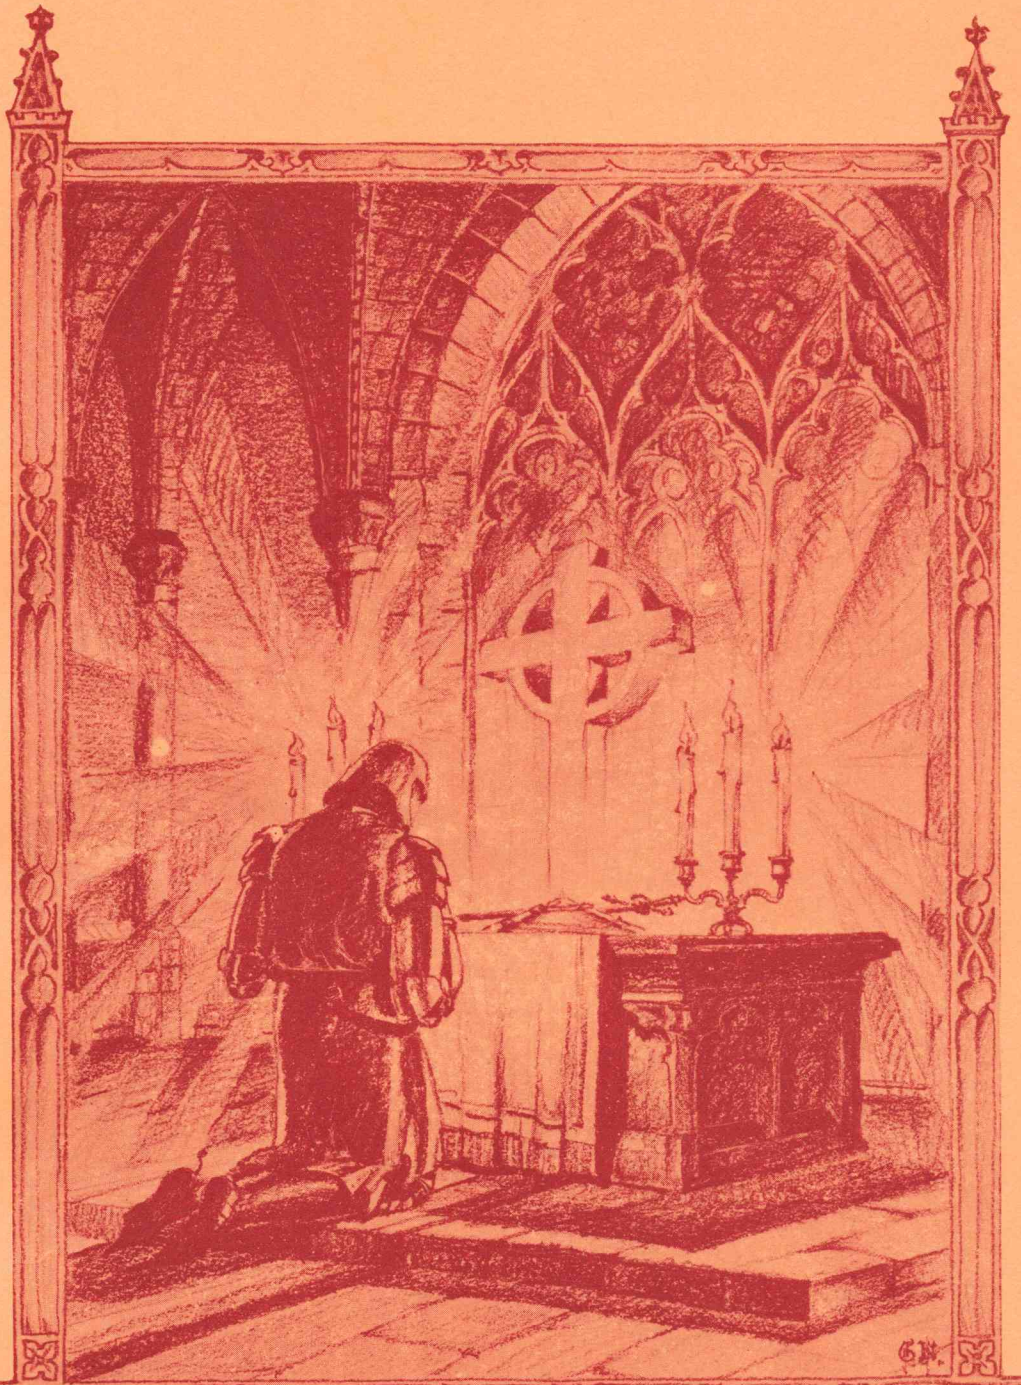

Life for the squire has been interesting; his activities have varied. Many have been the skirmishes and battles through which he has passed, but before knighthood can be attained there is one final preparation—the vigil.

Earthly achievements are set aside as the squire enters the chapel and humbly bows his knee to wait upon the eternal God. This ceremony of fasting and prayer comprises a most essential part in his equipment for knighthood.

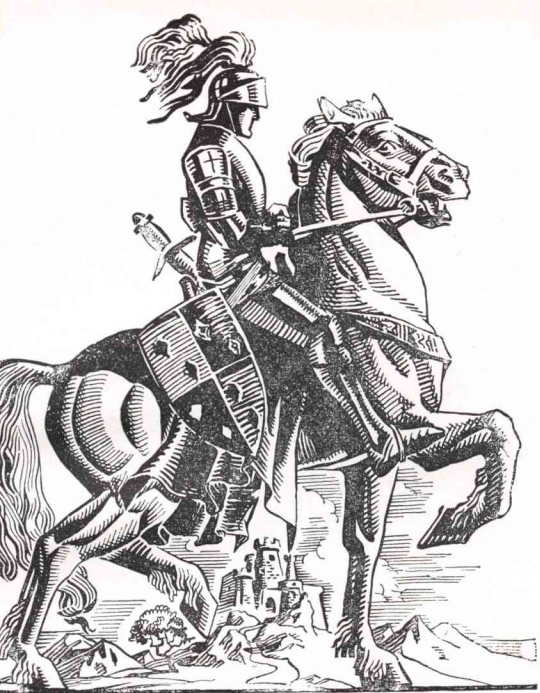

There is a place of vigil at N.B.I.—the prayer room. Here students are constantly on their knees before God, and it is here that they receive strength to go forth into the battle. Prayer is the background and foundation for each activity.

As the time of knighting is drawing near, the seniors of N.B.I. continue their vigil before the everlasting God, seeking enduement of His power and guidance by His counsel.

"But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength."
—Isaiah 40:31.

"The entrance of thy words giveth light."—Psalms 119:130.

As students of N.B.I., we vividly remember the entrance of the Word into our hearts, dispelling the darkness of sin. We gratefully recognize the enlightening power of the Word in our lives, broadening our spiritual vision. We humbly acknowledge the guidance of the Word, ever a lamp unto our feet and a light unto our path. Truly we have been led in the ways of light.

In startling contrast comes the vision of millions of souls still dwelling in darkness, millions that have not beheld even the faintest flicker of light. Then we remember that the Lord's commission, "Go ye," included "every creature." Does it seem strange that we should feel the burden and responsibility to do our part in bringing them the light of the glorious Gospel?

Many of our number already have received the call of God for service in foreign lands. These are days of preparation, but not of idleness, for the burden of our hearts here finds outlet in missionary activity. We have opportunity to gain information concerning the various fields, to do our part financially, and to help in other practical ways. These phases of our work are necessary, but the most vital part is prayer—the power that moves things for God and moves our own hearts Godward. As we continue to pray and work together, the missionary vision of N.B.I. is ever increasing.

The coming of our Saviour draws very near. There is much to be done. Therefore, we labor with all our strength to speed forth to the souls that walk in darkness the message of Jesus, the Light of the world.

The Challenge to Conquer

The challenge! This, the title to our foreword, was not a careless or meaningless choice. To every child of God comes a challenge—the challenge to conquer.

Above us towers the mountain peak, a lone and lofty sentinel, protruding its snowy whiteness into the azure blue of the heavens. The path ahead is steep and rugged. We plod upward, footsore and weary. The way grows harder and the pace slackens. Reason says turn back, give up. Give up? How can we give up when the mountain still towers above, silently challenging us to scale its rocky fastnesses and to hold aloft the flag of the conqueror!

A few short months ago the Annual Staff stood facing a mountain peak—not a very high one, it is true, but one that must be scaled. Sometimes the path was steep. Sometimes the fog rolled in, obliterating the trail and dampening our very brows with its moisture. Putting our best efforts into the climb and trusting in the leadership of our unfailing Guide, we finally emerge through the fog and stand upon the summit. The book has been published.

"Conquerors of 1938," ahead of you lies a far greater mountain peak, that of successful Christian service. The knowledge and experience gained during the past three years will prove invaluable. Although untrodden the path, there is One who "knoweth the way that you take." He is able to bring you upward through every trial and difficulty, in deed as in name "Conquerors for Christ."

Fellow students who will remain at N.B.I., before you lies another day at school—just a day at school, but it may mean a climb to victory or a downward path to defeat. There will be studies to master, temptations to overcome, character to build. Remember that an overcoming life is but a succession of days of victory.

Fellow Christians, before us looms a mountain of gloom and fear, sorrow and despair; it is a world in need. Dangers lurk in the way; treacherous are the crags of sin; yet the need impels us to ascend, penetrating through the darkness with a message of salvation and light.

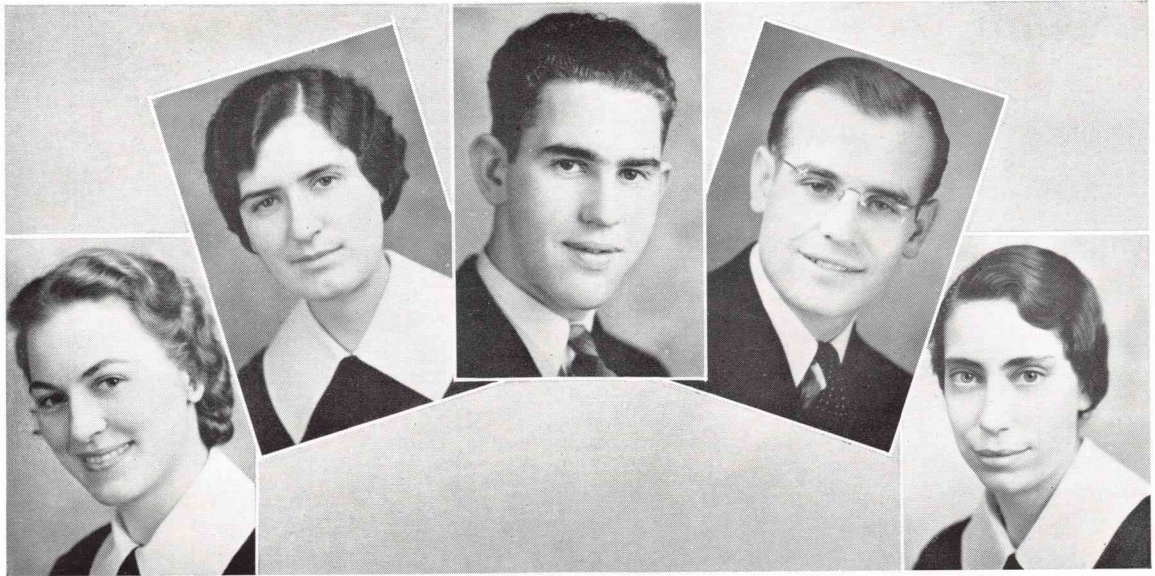

Friends outside of Christ, facing you is another mountain.

"There is a green hill far away,
Without a city wall,
Where the dear Lord was crucified,
Who died to save us all."

It is the hill called Calvary, and it holds the supreme challenge to mankind—the challenge of the Cross.

Christ gave His all for you! Will you give your all to Him?

PIONEER—CONQUEROR

As the Conqueror waits in readiness to start on its journey, we pause for a moment to contemplate its worthy predecessor of 1937. The Pioneer, first yearbook of N.B.I., lived true to its name, and, with God's blessing, it has blazed the trail. Could the book return and give to us its own travelogue, surely we should listen to an account of wonderful and varying experiences!

Twelve hundred copies of the Annual were sent abroad throughout the District and to lands afar. Through its message of salvation, souls were touched and brought to decision for Christ; through its inspiration young people caught the vision and today are enrolled as students of N.B.I. Missionaries nobly holding the fort on the far-flung battle lines were blessed and encouraged by the prospect of reinforcements.

Recollection of the past is enjoyable, but its inspiration is directed toward the future. We are mindful that our part is to keep the trail blazed and to go forward into new fields.

While our ideal for the Conqueror has been the highest from a literary and informative standpoint, we have looked beyond to the "things which are not seen," desiring above all that the book, through the quickening power of the Spirit, may be to each reader a messenger of God for His eternal realm. Only as this is accomplished shall we consider our task well done.

Three Separate Staffs Publish N.B.I. Magazine During Year

Pictured below, in the order of their appointment, are the magazine staffs for the school year 1937-38. Many hours of hard work have been required to produce each issue of the publication, but reports from the public indicate commendable results. This success has been made possible through the help of God and cooperative efforts of students. Magazines were published November, 1937; March, 1938, and May, 1938.

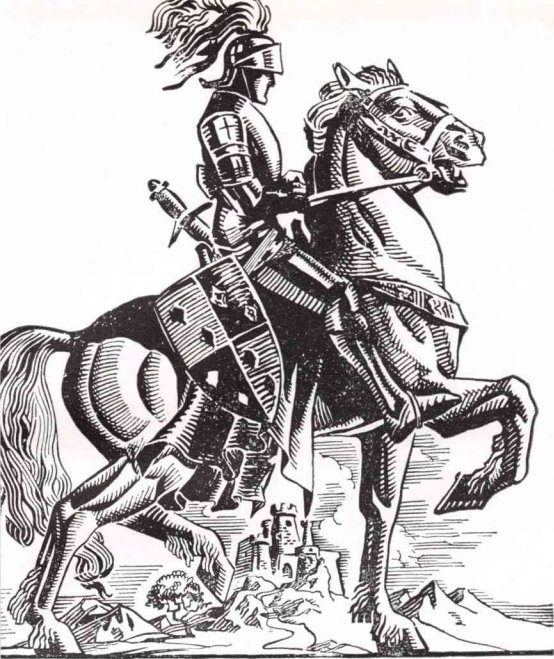

Students' Magazine Provides Good Journalistic Training

"Work on the N.B.I. Students' Magazine provides a splendid course in literary training," say former staff members as they recount the benefits of their labors. "In addition to discovering our literary abilities and weaknesses, we also learn how to cooperate better with people."

These statements express the sentiments of students who, starting as novices, have received valuable journalistic training through N.B.I. magazine publication. They go on to explain that it has taught them in a special sense punctuation, sentence structure, and a more effective use of the English language.

A maximum number are privileged to enjoy this experience, as an entirely new staff is appointed for each issue of the magazine. According to Principal Ness, the appointing of new staffs not only gives opportunity to a larger number, but it also distributes the burden of responsibility.

In the opinion of the students, one great advantage of the magazine training is that it prepares them for future church publication work. Above all, students are thankful for opportunity thus to serve the Lord and to be a blessing to others.

MUSICAL GROUPS

While the choir and orchestra afford the major musical activities at N.B.I., students have formed a variety of smaller groups, both vocal and instrumental. A representation of these is pictured on the preceding and ensuing pages.

The benefit of this music teamwork is twofold. First, it is an avenue of blessing to those contacted in assignment activities. Second, it is a store of blessing to the students themselves. Many who would be timid about launching out alone feel the "safety in numbers" and are encouraged to venture forth with others in the development of talents. In this way musical ability often is discovered which later will prove useful in the Lord's service.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Prof. Delbert L. Cox, B.A., M.A.

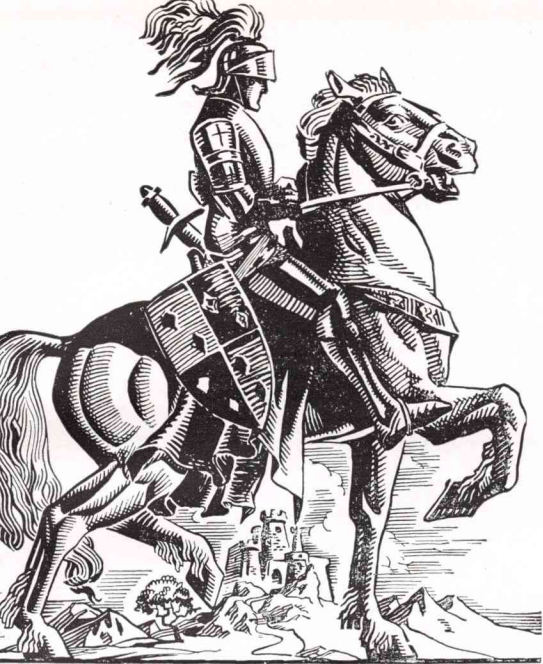

The Music Department of the Northwest Bible Institute is focusing its entire attention on the practical musical development of the student body. Within the past four years we have noticed a distinct growth in the understanding of music and its important place in religious activities. Along with this growth has come a desire to qualify for these activities.

All students are required to take a three-year course which stresses fundamentals of music, conducting, hymn-composition, and part-singing.

In addition to regular classes, the Music Department offers special opportunity for the orchestra and choir. During the orchestra period students work on orchestrations to develop skill and accuracy in sight-reading. The student choir has had several engagements to sing, both over the radio and in high schools of the district. During our graduation exercises the choir will sing an anthem, "The Promise," by Edward C. Bairstow.

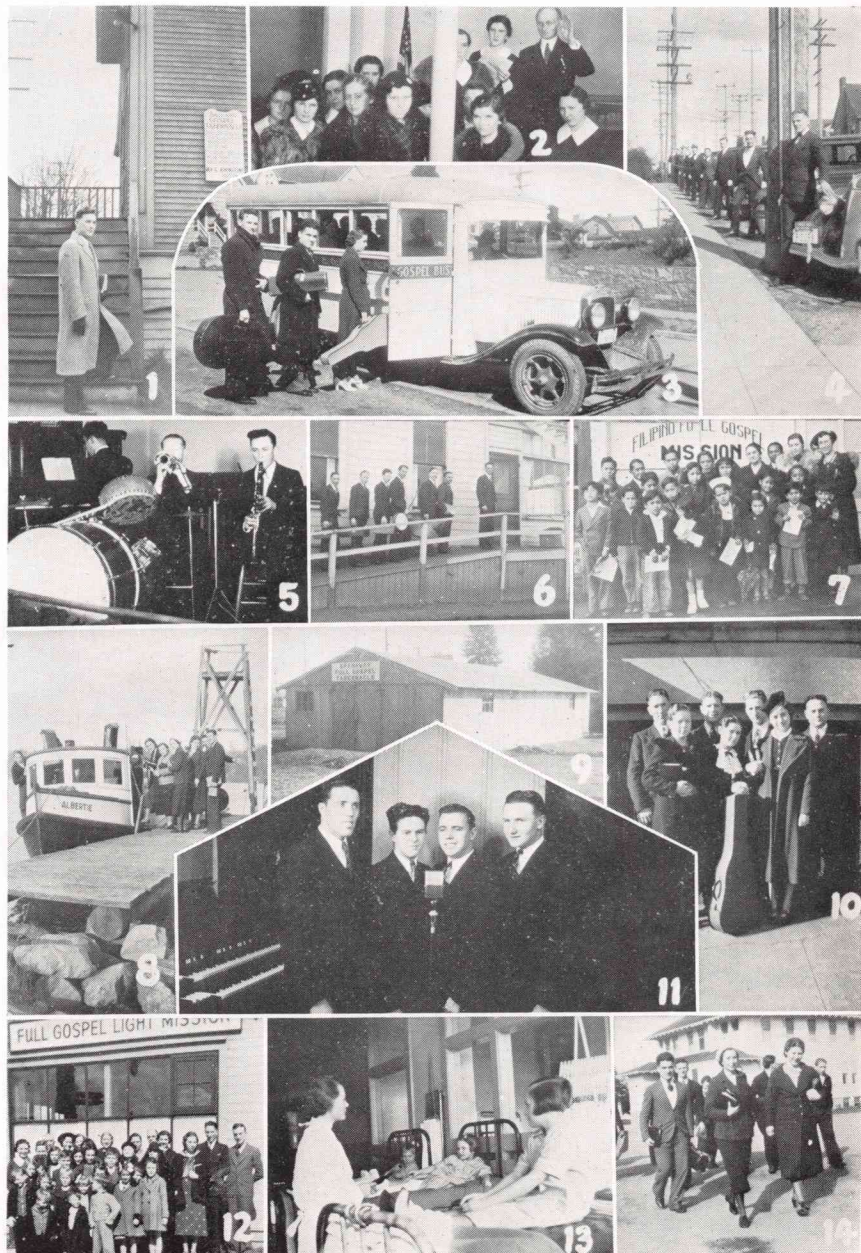

To provide extra-curricular activities for those especially interested in music, different ensembles have been formed, the best known of which is the Evangel Quartet. Many of the groups are making splendid progress.

The Music Department has a definite aim. We feel that each student should be given an opportunity to express himself musically and should be provided with a background that will enable him to contribute something in any religious service.

PRACTICAL WORK

There are two distinct phases of Bible School training, academic instruction and practical application. Having dealt primarily with the classroom side of N.B.I. in the preceding sections, we now draw your attention to its practical work program. Friday evening is, in a special sense, practical work night at the Institute. The following narrative, using incidents that have taken place, is typical of our Friday night activity and is designed to give you an insight into this phase of School Life.

A "SCATTER NIGHT"

"All aboard," calls our dispatcher, and, as the bell rings, the students gather in the lower auditorium of N.B.I. to unite in prayer, asking God to bless the various meetings to be conducted this "scatter night." As the groups depart on assignment, those students do not feel that they are going to "just another meeting." They see another opportunity to witness for the Master to the hundreds and thousands in and around Seattle who have not yet accepted Jesus Christ as their personal Saviour.

Come with me, and we shall follow the group of students just boarding the Gospel bus. Hear them sing as they ride, "Following Jesus, ever day by day." We recall the times that Jesus in person ministered to the needs of a sin-sick world and realize that these students are truly "following Jesus" as they carry on His work. As they go we pray, "God keep them true as they enter upon the battlefield. May they ever follow Thee as they do this night."

When the bus stops we find ourselves in the slum district of Seattle—"below the line," they call it. Again we hear the strains of a song, this time an invitation, "If you from sin are longing to be free, Look to the Lamb of God." The students have formed a semi-circle in the street, and, as they sing, men of the district stop one by one to listen, attracted by the sound of the instruments or by the words of the song. One of the young men from N.B.I. now steps to the center of the semi-circle and testifies to the saving grace of God in his life.

We leave the street meeting and travel to a town south of Seattle. Stopping at the little Full Gospel Church, we glance inside and see that a group of Christians has gathered. We recognize on the platform some of our students. A capable leader is in charge, and songs of praise are rising from the hearts of the redeemed.

PRACTICAL WORK

In addition to Friday assignments, students are receiving an increasing number of calls to varied types of service on Sundays and week nights. Jail and street services are conducted, Sunday School classes taught, and hospitals visited. Students frequently are invited to preach or to take part musically in services at churches and missions. On week-end assignments, groups have traveled far afield—to Eastern Washington, Oregon, and Canada. Three of our students are serving as pastors of small churches in and near Seattle.

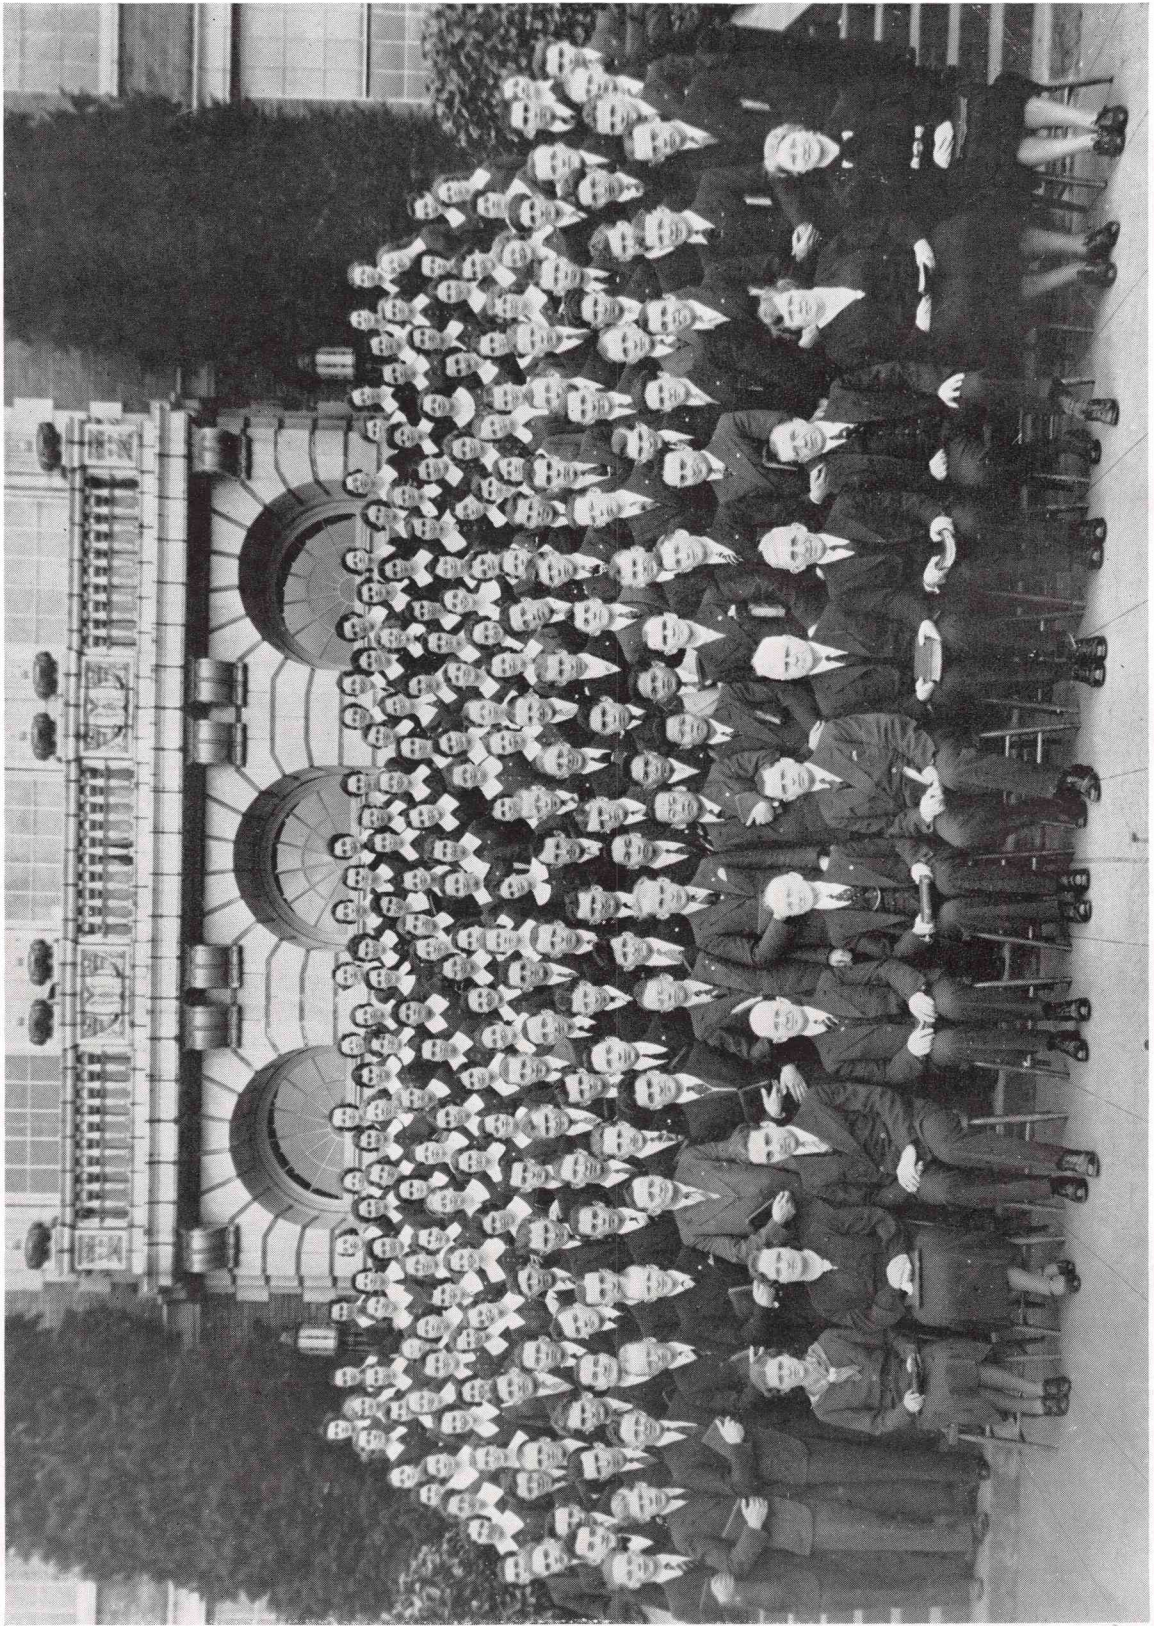

. . . WITH THE STUDENTS

We must hasten on—to the north this time. But wait; as we pass through Seattle, let us stop to see what is happening among the students who remained at N.B.I. Listen! Someone is testifying. It is a student, and there is another, and another. As the testimony meeting progresses, we realize that they are relating the goodness of God and His blessing upon them during the past week. Looking from one to another, we see many faces alight with the glory of the Lord as the students state their determination to "follow to the end the Man of Calvary."

It would be pleasant to remain here longer, but we must hurry on to visit other assignments. Our next stop is at a little town on the shores of Lake Washington. While approaching the little church, we hear the last strains of a Gospel hymn sung by a girls' trio. A young man takes his place behind the pulpit and tells the redemption story. It is the same story that has been told for two thousand years and that will be told till Jesus comes.

There is one more place to visit before our travels are over. We are back in Seattle again, this time in the Filipino section of town. The student in charge of the service has just given the altar call, and one young Filipino is making his way to the front. We rejoice with the angels in Heaven as this young man weeps his way through to salvation.

So ends another students' "scatter night," and, as we recall the services of the evening, we feel it was well worth while because of the wonderful presence and guidance of the One who said, "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men."

CONQUEST BY RESURRECTION

Rev. P. S. Jones

The inevitableness of death is universally disconcerting. Every grave opened to receive the dead is disturbing, for after death—what? The unanswered question is irritating.

All human achievements are defeated in death, for death is the climax of defeat. Truth is bared to the bone in death's challenge, and human philosophies rise but to mock hearts saddened by the appalling gloom of the grave.

The pseudo-victories of this world's boastings fade into defeat when death swallows up life. The accompanying dirge of spade, falling earth, and bitter wailing makes chorus in disaster, for death is victor, and the grave swallows up human vanities. There is no song in the bosom of human affections when death claims its victim. From earth's lowest to its highest comes the mournful sound of desolation, and rivers of heartaches flow down into the ocean of speculation.

Defeat is reasonable, and God gives the reason: "Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned."

Death must be conquered ere victory is assured. Death is conquered! Thank God for the explosive power of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ! From out of the depths of death's mystery comes forth a mighty Conqueror. He blasts His way, by the eternal Spirit, through the fastnesses of hell and dynamites the grave that holds Him. The Word of God speaks again: "For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous."

"Up from the grave He arose,
With a mighty triumph o'er His foes;
He arose a Victor from the dark domain,
And He lives forever with His saints to reign."

He is no pretender, but a Conqueror indeed. There is no pretense in victory. The Word of God unequivocally declares Him to be the first-fruits of the resurrection, the earnest of that which is the inheritance of every true believer.

The seer John, in apocalyptic vision, writes of One seen in the midst of the golden candlesticks like unto the Son of Man. His right hand is placed upon the seer, and His voice is heard saying, "Fear not; I am the first and the last; I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen; and have the keys of hell and of death."

Death is swallowed up in life; the funeral note is lost forever; and from the hosts of Heaven comes the mighty chorus, Hallelujah! Hallelujah! Hallelujah!

Christ is Victor!

A goal has been attained! Days of study and preparation are past. The squire has proven himself worthy and now is coming forth to receive that for which he has striven — the investiture of knighthood. As the ceremony progresses, the lord of the castle unsheathes his sword, touches the blade to the shoulder of the squire, and thus pronounces him a knight.

Adequate armor has been given to the knight, and he now stands on the threshold of a new experience, ready to go forth to battle in the name of his king and country.

A similar goal has been reached by the senior class of N.B.I. Spiritual armor has been acquired through study and prayer, and these young warriors likewise stand on the threshold of a new life, ready to go forth to conquer in the name of the King of Kings.

A goal has been attained, but it is only the commencement. Another — a greater goal—lies ahead, at the end of life's road. It is with this goal before them that the "Conquerors" step out into a new realm, a new era, pressing "toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

"Who then is willing to consecrate his service this day unto the Lord."—I Chronicles 29:5.

SENIORS

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Fellow Students:

After three years of association with you, I know that individually you have responded to the call of God to some type of Christian service. Some of you have received specific calls to pastoral, evangelistic, missionary, or Sunday School work. Every call carries with it the privilege and responsibility of cooperating with God in the molding of Christian character and the imparting of spiritual knowledge. Recognizing the importance and dignity of your calling, you will determine by God's help to attain the highest possible efficiency in your work, making it a real vocation.

After considering his vocation carefully, the truly spiritual student will conclude that his chief work and the end of all his efforts will be the employing of Bible truths to lead men and women to an experimental knowledge of Christ.

May the blessing of the Lord, which makes rich and adds no sorrow, be yours through life.

Yours in Him,

GEORGE JOHNSTONE.

Conquering for Christ

By history's pages the future is taught;
Great men their countries' glory have sought.
We think of Columbus, brave and true,
Who crossed the sea, cowed a mutinous crew.
The honor of doubling the Cape of Storms
Vasco da Gama's name adorns,
Magellan sailed forward in search of new lands,
Enduring privation on foreign sands.

But these men strove for worldly name;
To conauer for Christ is not the same.
Though in men's eyes accounted great,
To lose the soul—sad is the fate.
With courage bold these all were nerved,
And never from their purpose swerved.
No task too hard, no fear they knew,
Conquering in what they aimed to do.

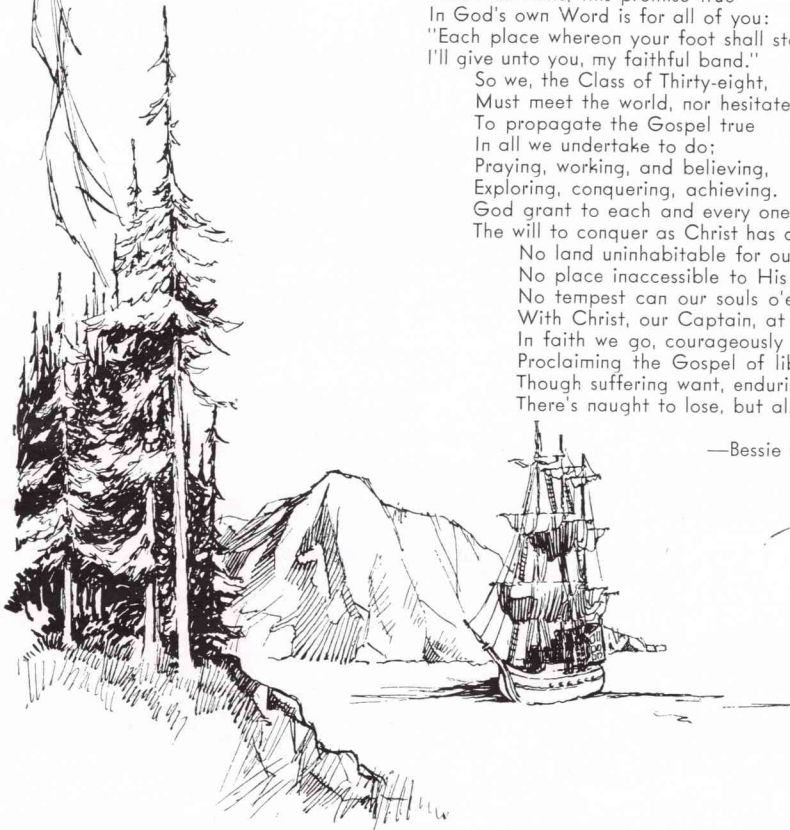

Their lives to us have a lesson taught
As for the perishing things they've fought.
Ought not we then much rather prevail
For abiding things, and never quail
Though storms of evil disturb the soul,
And waves in fury around us roll?
There remains a hiding place secure;
Comrades, with Christ our victory is sure.

Men of the Cross have come and gone;
They fought and won, then journeyed on;
Yet land remains to be possessed,
Luring us onward to do our best.
Fellow servants, this promise true
In God's own Word is for all of you:
"Each place whereon your foot shall stand,
I'll give unto you, my faithful band."

So we, the Class of Thirty-eight,
Must meet the world, nor hesitate
To propagate the Gospel true
In all we undertake to do;
Praying, working, and believing,
Exploring, conquering, achieving.
God grant to each and every one
The will to conquer as Christ has done.

No land uninhabitable for our Lord;
No place inaccessible to His Word;
No tempest can our souls o'erwhelm,
With Christ, our Captain, at the helm.
In faith we go, courageously
Proclaiming the Gospel of liberty.
Though suffering want, enduring pain,
There's naught to lose, but all to gain.

—Bessie Guy.

WE ARE MORE THAN CONQUERORS THROUGH CHRIST

Rev. C. C. Beatty

Jesus Christ, our Lord, conquered all things. At His command, when He walked on earth, demons had to release their victims; the very devil himself bowed to His mandates. The elements were subject to Him; when He spoke, the winds ceased to blow and the raging sea became calm. He walked upon the water as if it had been terra firma. Thousands of hungry men, women, and children were fed to the full from a boy's meager noon-day lunch when Jesus pronounced His blessing upon it.

Death could not hold Him in its clutches; Hades was not strong enough to retain Him in its confines; the grave could not detain Him long.

He was, and is today, Master of every situation, equal to every emergency, and more than a match for every opposing force. He yet will subdue every enemy and conquer every foe.

For a Christian to claim to be a conqueror may seem somewhat boastful, and to declare himself more than a conqueror appears to be the height of presumption. But, based upon the Word of God and the experience of multitudes of God's children, the status of every Spirit-filled Christian is "more than conqueror."

Nothing can hinder the progress of the people of God but themselves. No difficulty is so great that they can not overcome it; no enemy is so strong that they can not conquer him; no barrier is so high that they can not curmount it. They not only subdue their foe, but, like David in his experience with Goliath, after their victory is won, they have enough ammunition left to exterminate many more giants.

Satan assails us "like a roaring lion," but this only hastens our steps in the march toward the City of God. We are victors over him and all his diabolical program. "The name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth into it, and is safe." Sickness may lay us low for a season, but it melts away before faith and the touch of the Great Physician. Then, with renewed strength, we "press with vigor on."

Death loses its sting and the grave its victory as we journey triumphantly up this pilgrim way toward the "Land of pure delight, Where saints immortal reign; Where infinite day excludes the night, And pleasures banish pain."

Every difficulty becomes a stepping-stone to loftier heights, for we are "more than conquerors through him that loved us."

News has arrived! Victories are being won on the battlefield! Messengers have brought the good report from warriors who are already on the field. Fresh recruits are needed to further the conquest, and those who have just been knighted feel the urge, as anxiously they make the final arrangements to join the others in the warfare. More battles must be fought and more victories won. The veterans and the recruits go forth together to conquer in the name of their king and country.

Another warfare is raging—the battle to conquer sin. A year ago, a group of Christian warriors left the shelter of N.B.I. and entered the battlefield in the name of our Heavenly King. Reports from these "Pioneer" warriors have been received. The battle has been hard at times, but victories have been won as they have obeyed the commands and followed the instructions of their Captain, the Lord Jesus Christ.

The call has come for fresh recruits, and the senior class of 1938 has responded. With their armor shining and their courage high, they go forth to join in this conquest of sin. There are battles ahead to be fought, and there is much to be possessed.

Together the "Pioneers" and the 1938 recruits go forth to conquer. As they go, we hear them say, "If God be for us, who can be against us?"—"We are more than conquerors through him that loved us."

"Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses."—
I Timothy 6:12.

ORIGINAL PIONEER CLASS, 1934

NEWS FROM THE FIELD

"Pioneer" President Harry Pennington has been busily engaged in pastoral and evangelistic work. His field has included Washington, Oregon, and Minnesota.

A good report comes from Great Falls, Montana, where Sister Margaret Knutsson has been laboring with her co-worker. The girls were originally called to minister there for a few weeks but have been requested to take charge indefinitely.

Sisters Irene Langdon and Sophia Potratz have charge of a Sunday School at South Prairie, Washington. They also help in the Sunday morning service at Orting.

Two "Pioneers," Verna Bohnstedt and Gladys Rodland, have been laboring for the Lord, since graduation, at Marblemount, Washington. At their little log church in the mountains, souls have been saved and believers filled with the Spirit.

The Lord is blessing the ministry of Sister June Cox, who is actively assisting in Chewelah, Washington. It is a cause of rejoicing to learn that June has recently received the baptism with the Holy Spirit.

During the summer, Sister Lavone Dahl was engaged in evangelistic work with two other "Pioneers." She has recently started a children's church in Spokane, Washington.

NEWS FROM THE FIELD

C.C.C., auto, and fruitworkers' camps; jails, streets, and hospitals have been the fields of Brother Louie Friand's varied Christian activity in Hood River, Oregon.

Mrs. Merle Glew (formerly Edithorah Owen) is laboring with her husband in Veronia, Oregon. We hear good news from this pioneer field.

We are glad that one of the "Pioneers" has remained in our midst. While others have gone abroad, Sister Janet Hansen has stayed faithfully at her post as office registrar.

Sister Myrtle Hansen and her companion have successfully pioneered a "Children's Story Hour" at Fremont Pentecostal Tabernacle, Seattle.

Unusual results are reported from the evangelistic ministry of Sister Clara Johnsen and her co-worker. Their latest meeting was held in Siletz, Oregon.

During the summer months Emerald Kinsey pastored an assembly at Kittitas, Washington. He is now at Sunnyside working in his home church and acting as young people's leader.

Sister Elna Korpela's time has been devoted mainly to the Finnish Mission in Seattle.

Christian work in the jails and the county poor farm near Portland, Oregon, has been Brother Joseph Misun's lot. He is also active in Sunday School work.

Brother Maynard Oss has had an outstanding evangelistic campaign in Marblemount, Washington. Following the series of meetings, seventeen believers were baptized in water. Maynard is now president of the young people's society in Bethany Temple, Everett.

Brother Leonard Philp's musical talent is finding outlet as he assists in the radio and church work at Centralia, Washington. In these and other activities, his time is fully occupied.

Sister Veeda Spencer has been taking charge of Gospel work in a small town near Seattle. She also assists with the children's church and young people's work in Hollywood Temple.

Brother Earl Wilkie, now young people's leader at Puyallup, Washington, has charge of the work at Kapowsin and arranges for services at Graham.

Recent word from Danzig informs us that Brother and Sister Paul Williscroft are now working in connection with the Bible School. Although located only a short time, they have already started missionary work.

TO THE "CONQUERORS"

Conquerors, go forth,
To battle for the right!
Put on the shining shield of faith,
Go, girded with His might,
Wielding the sword which is the Word,
And conquer in the fight!

Keep the Standard high!

"CONQUERORS"

Arlo Hendricks

"Conquerors" is your class name,
Conquerors then you'll be;
Going forth in Jesus' name,
Over land and sea.

Fight 'neath His royal banner,
'Gainst His ancient foe;
Going forth to conquer
In this world of woe.

You have the "Heavenly Promise,"
Your "Captain" leads the way;
And you will stand before Him,
On that glad, happy day.

So just keep on believing,
And fight the fight for Him;
He'll give a crown of Glory,
When you have entered in.
