COLLEGE OF BUSINESS INDUCTS NEW MEMBERS AT CHRISTMAS GALA

For many, December marks the beginning of holiday festivities including tree decorating, caroling, and consuming an abundance of sweets. However, NU students were able to celebrate something different on Monday, Dec. 3, at the College of Business's Christmas Gala. The Gala celebrated the induction of students into the College of Business as well as the induction of students into the Delta Mu Delta honor society. Professor Jeremy Chambers spoke at the event, discussing the importance of using one's gifts in the field of business for God's glory. The event also featured a variety of activities including a photo booth, live music and a chocolate fountain. For the new inductees, this event represented the beginning of a new chapter in life as they continue to follow in their call to business.
