The team on personal evangelism is conducting a street address survey in this area (which constitutes marking down street and house numbers only) which they call "Operation Man-hunt," and would like to make this a "student project." All interested in helping please meet in the Student Union Building Sunday, March 11, at 2:00 p.m.

We would like to remind you that removal from library tables of articles belonging to other students is dishonest. Cases involving both books and other items have recently come to our attention.

Students who are not continuing in school during the spring quarter are asked to file discontinuance notices with the Registrar as soon as possible. Forms are obtainable at the counter in the Administration Building. They need to be signed only by student and his counselor.

Due to "growing pains" the library has made some modifications in book arrangement. The FICTION books are now shelved along the top rows of the reserve and magazine sections. Books in the remaining sections of stacks have been shifted to take up the former fiction shelves. Some older and less-used magazines are being stored away from the library, but are still available on demand.
