FRAME OF MIND

Seeing the world through one frame of mind can make for a dull and rather colorless existence. As Christians, we believe that each individual is given the freedom to express herself or himself uniquely, creatively, and with whatever talents God grants. Each person reflects a distinct sliver of the glory and truth of God, and when these perspectives come together we see beyond our personal frames and life becomes vibrant and exciting. When designing this yearbook, we decided to make it as unique and artistic as we could, because when it comes down to it this book is not about page numbers, team photos, or even those little mug shots we all hate; this book is about capturing what it felt like to be a part of a community: each member treasured, utterly unique. We package a year's worth of color and smiles into this slender book so that you can pull it out every few years and think: "Yes, I did belong there didn't I? We all did. It felt good to be alive there." It doesn't matter who you knew, what part you played, how long you stayed, this, this was living the community of Christ in your daily life--walk in it always! May this book be a testament to the abundance of exquisite ways our community brings glory to Christ. Embrace the stunning diversity of our generation. Take the world from its frame and seek His greater Truth.

PRESIDENT CASTLEBERRY

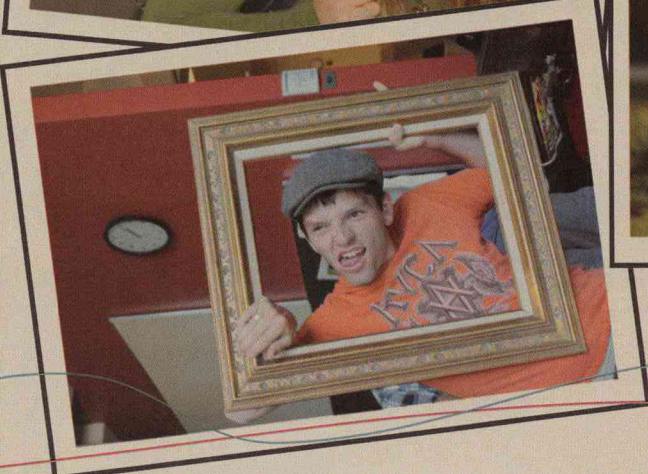

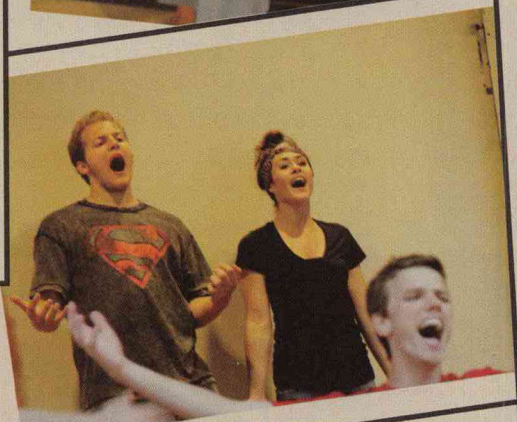

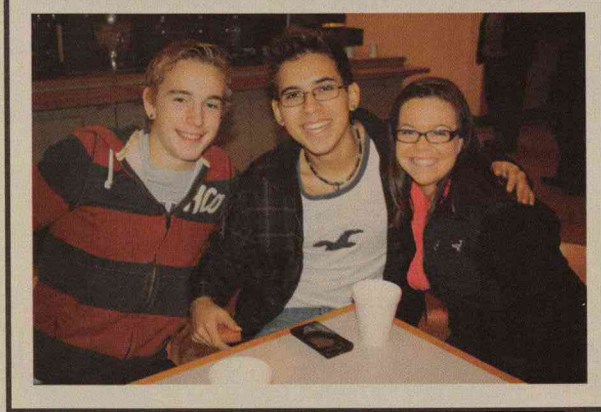

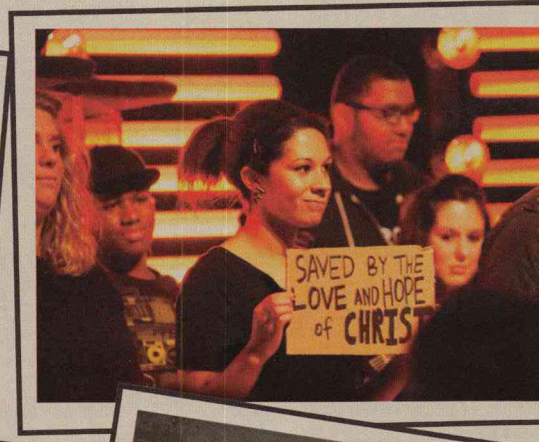

There is an old hymn, "On Christ the Solid Rock I stand," that declares: "I dare not trust the sweetest fame, but wholly lean on Jesus' name." The hymn recognizes that we can build our lives on all kinds of mental schemes or frames of mind, but in the end there is a truth that stands over and above all our thinking. Frames of mind can never fully account for reality. The whole truth is too complicated for any of us to grasp completely. Yet we yearn for such a grasp, and we routinely try to simplify the world by reducing it all to something we can get our heads wrapped around. Just like a person who holds up an empty frame, looks through it and says, "Here is the world!" we tend to devise mental frames and pretend that they explain everything. For some people, a political ideology becomes their window on the world. For others, a religious program is the telescope that defines their reality. Others see the world through the microscope of self-interest and pettiness. Others train their magnifying glass on their circle of friends, their family, their job or academic discipline, their technology interface, or some other frame, game, or meme. While all of these things are real, none of them is adequate to serve as the basis for their lives and futures.

One of the crucial benefits of a broad liberal arts education--something we insist upon for every Northwest University student--is that it gives students a variety of lenses or epistemologies through which to view their world. No lens is powerful enough to explain everything. We believe that God's Word is Truth, but with Matthew Arnold we also know that if you know only the Bible, you do not really even know the Bible. The more ways of knowing we take to the task of seeing the world, the more fully we will see it.

Years from now, we will all look back on these Northwest years through the lens of greater experience. Much of what we thought will have been amended through graduate study in the School of Hard Knocks. Yet no matter who we are, no matter what our calling has been, no matter what frames of mind we have tried, treasured, and trashed, there is one Truth that remains beyond all perspective--that Jesus Christ, the living God, "is Savior of all people, and especially those who believe" (1 Timothy 4:10, NIV). If we make the One who framed the world our frame of reference, interpreting all things through Christ Himself, we will truly find a Solid Rock of Truth.

Thank you TO OUR STAFF!

It's high time we said a big, hearty 'thank you' to all the people that keep this school running. We know there are so many of you who work down in the Davis building and up in Barton; who work in the offices of the HSC and in Academic Success. Thank you to the secretaries and Administrative Assistants who plan events and take care of all the daily details. Thank you to our nurses and counselors, and especially thank you to our adjunct faculty-- there are so many of you we can't even fit all your beautiful faces in this yearbook. But we hope you all know how much you're appreciated. You are an integral part of this school and we are thankful for your daily smiles and godly spirits. Three cheers for all! Hip hip hooray!

Academics

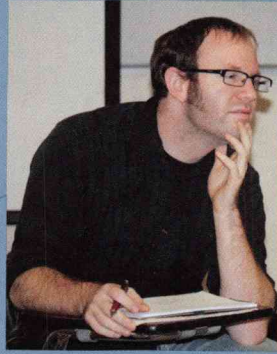

The College of Arts and Sciences

From English to Communications, from Biology to Mathematics, the College of Arts and Sciences has it all. Our dynamic professors create a rich learning environment in which students thrive academically, spiritually, and relationally. Upholding the tradition of an all-encompassing education, the College of Arts and Sciences sets students on the path to success. We engage secular ideas and interpret them through a Biblical worldview, creating scholars who will dedicate their lives to bringing Christ's light into the academic world.

Chuck Steinhilber

Chuck is an English major and works as a Maintenance Technician at the school. In addition to studying literature he enjoys studying the history of animation and has a sense of humor finely honed from years of enjoying Mystery Science Theater 3000, Jhonen Vasquez, and Joss Whedon.

School of Social & Behavioral Sciences

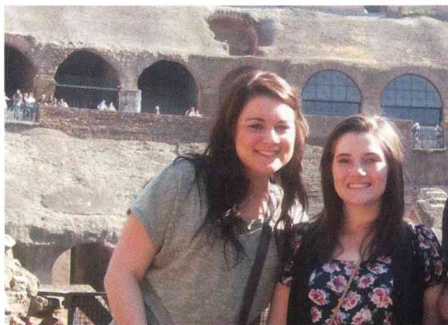

Compassionate and understanding individuals develop out of the School of Social & Behavioral Sciences. These hard-working students study tirelessly, taking practical lessons from seasoned professors in counseling fields, and learning to apply those lessons to their own practices. This knowledge will benefit them as they enter the work force and serve multicultural clients with widely different needs. You can't put a GPA on learning to respect and genuinely care for people.

Clarissa may be a psych major, but she's also an incredibly talented violinist. In contrast to her classical loving nature, she also has a huge obsession with Hello Kitty--and proud of it!

School of Education

Northwest University is training a group of creative, fun, and aspiring new teachers with a strong passion for motivating students. After gleaning a wealth of knowledge from the outstanding and experienced faculty in the School of Ed, graduates spend time student teaching, where they learn to take responsibility for their students' learning and build into their lives not only intellectually but emotionally and spiritually as well.

This year the School of Business and Management celebrated a monumental accomplishment by becoming accredited with the Accreditation Council of Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP). This means that NU's business program meets the ACBSP standards of academic excellence, especially pertaining to classroom activity and scholarly research. The accreditation enhances ability to serve students by assuring a focus on quality performance to serve and teach business students.

With this, NU was able to open a chapter of the Delta Mu Delta International Honor Society. Delta Mu Delta (which means "through knowledge is power") encourages academic and professional excellence and connects members with business professionals. To participate a member must be pursuing a business major as well as have a GPA within the top 20% of their grade level. This year 25 members were inducted. The school is planning an ongoing speaker series as well as internship fairs and networking dinners.

Rebecca Kennedy

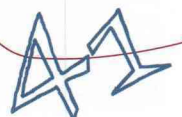

Rebecca is a Freshman nursing major from Lewiston, MT. Influenced by the compassion and selflessness of family members and close friends, God called her to NU. To her "Nursing is more than a job or a career, it is a life of service and a call to care."

School of Nursing

Nursing major. Just hear those words and you're already thinging about white lab coats, crazy workloads, cadavers, tests so hard that no one passes, and late nights. Students majoring in Nursing are known for sacrificing their social life and sleep in order to get into the program. So why do so many people do it? Because they have a passion for science and an even greater passion for helping people in need. These passions lead senior nursing students all around the globe where they get firsthand, international field experience. Cross cultural locations include Kazakhstan, Alaska, India, a Mercy Ship in Africa, and Taiwan.

School of Ministry

If there is one thing I could say about the School of Ministry, it would be that they sure do know a lot about Jesus. I literally do not think that I would be where I am today had it not been for the commitment these professors have for their personal walk with Jesus, and their drive to teach the next generation everything they can in regards to Him. Professor Kowalski's Systematic Theology courses, Jack Wisemore's Pentecostal Spirituality class, Dr. Hobson's Pentateuch course, Dr. Kinman's pastoral care and counseling class, Dr. Charette's teachings on the Synoptic Gospels, and being a part of the study abroad program going to Israel with Dr.

Embry and Dr. Ehler for a month: in these classes I can specifically remember moments where my faith was not only tested but stretched. They prepared me for "the real life" and helped me learn to stand on my own when it comes to my personal faith.
-Kramer Rasmussen

Christian Dawson

"The College of Ministry has been an incredible experience. Beyond the fact that the profs are more than qualified, they sincerely care about our individual and spiritual development. The friendships, networking, and hands on experience has been incredible."

Northwest Factoids

NU originally opened in 1934; it was called Northwest Bible Institute and was located in Seattle.

Joseph Castleberry is the 6th president of Northwest University.

NU moved from Seattle to Kirkland in 1958.

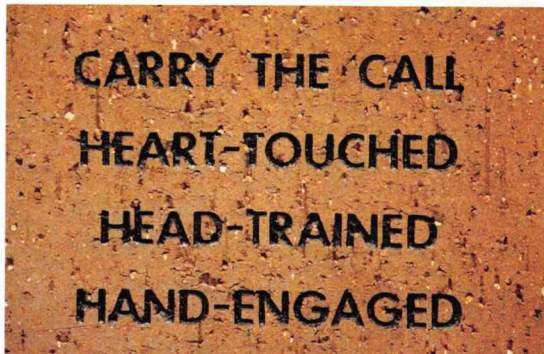

Like other schools you may have heard of, NU has a satellite campus; ours is located in Salem, Oregon.

The Ebenezer Stone of Remembrance that sits outside the chapel, weighs a whopping 5,000 lbs.

When the Seattle Seahawks still trained at the Barton building, they would live in the dorms during training camp.

The HSC is the newest building on campus, it was completed in 2007. The oldest buildings on campus date back to 1959.

In the U.S. News and World Report publication, America's Best Colleges 2009, Northwest University ranked 16 in the western region of the 319 national baccalaureate colleges in the nation!

Athletics

Sarah Stoker

Also known as 'Mamma Stokes' and 'Hulkette,' Sarah grew up on a trout farm in Olympia, WA where she still lives and works. When not on the volleyball court, Sarah will most likely be found in the kitchen wearing an apron and baking dutch pancakes, cookies, and other goodies.

Women's Volleyball

The Eagles had a successful season on the court. As a team, they made it all the way to the Conference post-season tournament for the second straight year. Several individual team members were recognized at the Conference and National level. Heather Shulke was named the Red Lion Libero of the Week twice during the season, beat several of her own school records including most digs during a game, and had an honorable mention for the Northwest Region by the American Volleyball Coaches Association. Anu Akamine, Lauryn Ernster, and Heather were named NAIA scholar athletes while Anu, Lauryn, and Sarah Stoker were named to the Capital One Academic All-District First Team. Breanna Covey and Heather were named to the First Team, All-CCC team and Sarah Stoker received Honorable Mention honors. Graduating only one player, the Eagles have a promising future.

Men's Soccer

Scott Lane

Lane was named to the NWAACC All-region team in 2010. In high school he earned All-Wesco North Division honors and is currently the goal keeper for the Eagles.

The 2011 soccer season started with a team adventure to Kalispell, MT. We trained and built team chemistry in Glacier National Park. Some of the players got to see a black bear, while others saw big horn sheep, mountain goats and mule deer. After our time in Montana we came back to start down the road of 21 games. We have the potential to be a record-breaking team.

Thus far we have beaten the sixteenth and eleventh nationally ranked teams. In fourteen games we have only lost two games. Not only is this team a great group of soccer players, but a great group of guys off the pitch as well. This year has been a year to remember for each and every one of us.

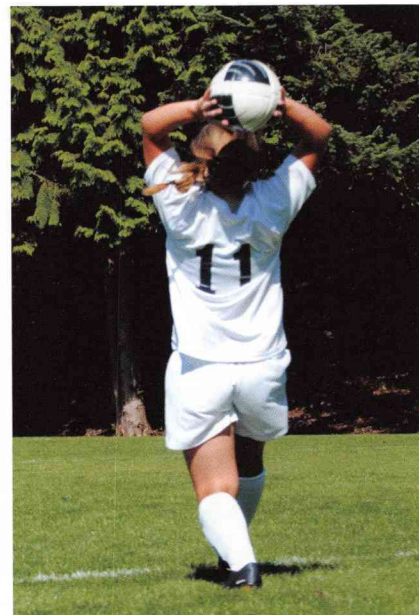

-Luke Fischer, Team Captain

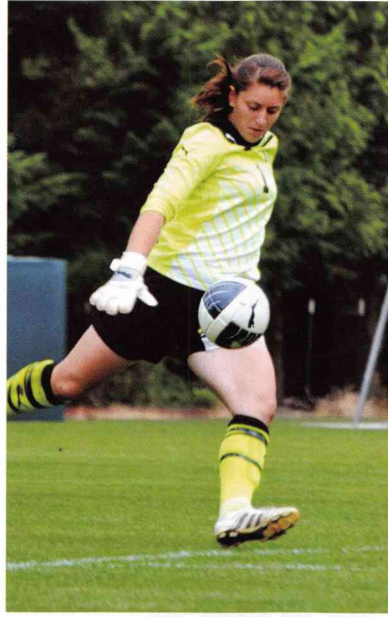

Women's Soccer

It was a powerful season for the Eagles, full of intense moments and nail-biting action. It was truly a team effort with not one, but seven players receiving mention at the conference and national levels. Goalie Jordan Holmes was named Red Lion Cascade Conference Defensive Player of the week three times, while Shea Samuelsen and Acacia Johnson were selected for the Offensive Player category. Stephanie Cummins, Abby Brauer, Acacia, Jordan, Kirstie Walton, and Jordyn Wilson all received All-CCC Honors ranging from Honorable Mention to First-Team.

Stephanie was also named a third team NAIA All-American selection as a defender. The combined effort of this dedicated team brought NU multiple shut-out victories, one of which earned them the title: Verizon Team of the Week. The Eagles ended the season with a 11-4-4 record, placing 3rd at Conference, and just missing a trip to the National Tournament by 1 goal in a game against Concordia, a team who has competed at Nationals now for the 11th year straight. NU fought hard to the end; they have a bright future ahead.

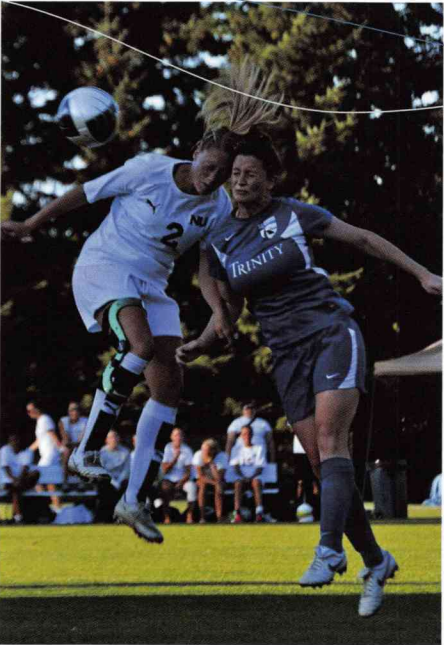

Julia Johnson

Being a Senior Nursing Major is hard, but adding a sport on top of clinicals and graduation prep is nearly unheard of. Julia is the exception: she not only plays soccer, but runs Cross Country and Track as well. She may have to work especially hard but for her love of the game- it is worth it.

Cross Country

This year marked a new chapter in NU XC history. Athletes came together in new ways to encourage each other, grow closer to Christ and invest in each others lives. On the race course, NU is a part of the deepest conference in the nation for NAIA, putting the pressure on to run faster and train harder. NU handled this pressure well with the women's team being ranked as high as 27th in the nation and the men's team having a full team for the first time in several years. Individuals Seth Bridges, Matthew Porter, and Paige DeLapp all qualified for the National meet in Vancouver, WA by placing within the top 15 runners at Conference in Ashland, OR. Both Seth and Paige made All-Conference by placing top 12 and Seth went on to place 12th at Nationals, making him an All-American. With a rather young team and continual improvements, the future of NU XC looks prosperous.

Allie Routh

Coming all the way from Kansas, Allie brings a little extra sweetness to the team. She sings and plays several instruments including, drums, piano, and even the mountain dulcimer, which is a stringed folk instrument.

Men's Basketball

This year the Eagles had the best season in school history, going into Nationals with a 27-3 season record and ranked 8th in the NAIA. Coach John Van Dyke was named CCC coach of the year and the team earned the "Verizon Team of the Week" title twice. Individually, athletes were recognized for skill as well as academics. Rich Skillman was named Defensive Player of the year and first team All-CCC, Jordan Call earned first team honors and Ahmaad Cook and Michael Greene received honorable mention honors. Michael Greene was also named to the Capitol One Academic All-District First-Team while he earned All-CCC Academic honors with Rich Skillman and Jordan Call. The Eagles had a great season, with a 15 game winning streak and being co-CCC champions. Way to go guys!

Emily Drivstuen was selected to be the Everett Herald's Athlete of the Week, while Jessalyn Jackson was named the Red Lion Women's Basketball Player of the Week twice during the season. Jackson also joined the 1,000 career point club with a total of 1,327 points over her four year career and was named the CCC Player of the Year for leading the Conference in scoring, rebounding, and block shots. Domi Mendezona earned honorable mention honors. The Eagles graduate Jackson as well as Ebany herd and Valerie Jordan, but look forward to coming back strong next year.

Women's Basketball

Track and Field

Track has the disadvantage of being the last sport to finish, with Outdoor Nationals going into late May. This year, NU sent the Women's Distance Medley Relay team (13th), Lindsey Wagner (14th), Paige DeLapp (10th) and Seth Bridges (11th) to Indoor Nationals in Geneva, Ohio. Outdoor Nationals brings back last year's National qualifiers Luke Fischer, Jason Waltman, and Seth Bridges to lead an even stronger team.

A Thank You To Our Head Coach

There are so many good things to say about our Coaches, Mark and Alison Mandi. Together, the two of them have truly set an example of what love should look like. Through the good and the bad they always keep Christ as their center. They are kind, determined, and hard working all for the glory of Christ. They not only function to love selflessly inside their marriage but also outside of their marriage. They have lavished their love upon to us as a team, inspiring us and igniting our hearts for God. These two have been so patient with us--not only do they do these things for each of us as individuals but they also do this for us as a whole, binding us as a community in Christ, promoting our growth to be closer to Christ. For this, we are eternally grateful. Thank you Mark and Alison for helping teach us to love selflessly! We love you.

Student Life

Intramurals

NU SPIRIT

So you don't compete in collegiate athletics? That doesn't mean that you can't be an athlete. Intramurals is our way of showing off our skills while having some fun. On the field and on the court, floors encourage each other in friendly competition and unite in the pursuit of victory.

Accompanied by sunshine and cool breezes, fall semester brought flag football to life. Supported by their sister floors, the 200 floor came out as the champions. Winter rolled in with cold weather, sending floors inside the Pavillion for basketball where 400 dominated on the court.

Karisma Yearbook

You hold in your hands the product our work. This book, in all its artsy splendor, was born out of the minds of this Karisma team. There is a point during the yearbook's creation when we start to wonder if it's worth it-- the late nights and strained eyes, hours spent sifting through hundreds of pictures, the constantly changing details. But then we hold the book in our hands and begin to understand that this is about more than credit loads or editing skills, it's about preserving a little piece of Northwest University for future generations.

Yearbook team embraces creativity

After hours of being neat and orderly, it's good to let loose and go crazy sometimes. We embrace each other's differences and unique gifts so that our yearbook can reflect the creativity of each individual.

The NU debate team competes all over the world, traveling to places like Vancouver, Linfield College, Pacific Lutheran University, Willamette University, London, and Cambridge University; they also hosted the Chinese debate team recently. They have participated in events at Microsoft, the EMP, and Kirkland City Hall. Their quick minds and articulate arguments have taken them far, and their love for debate has brought them closer together.

Drama Department

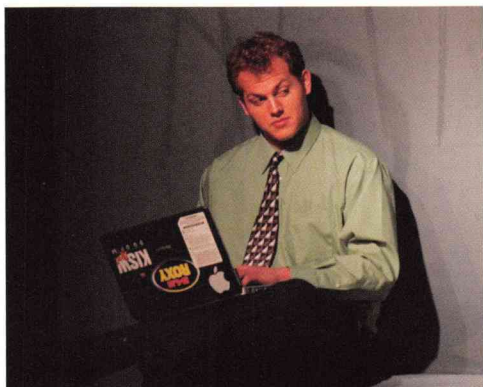

What would we do without the drama department? We would all suffer from a bitter lack of entertainment! When you were feeling down, you went to the End Scene Improv on Tuesday nights where you laughed so hard it made your abs sore. When you watched every movie you own more times than you can count, you took advantage of cheap play tickets and saw a live show. Drama helps keep us going. The fall production was "The Summoning of Everyman," a classic medieval morals play set in a contemporary setting. The classic novel "Jane Eyre" was transformed into a musical for the marvelous Spring production.

Ever notice the random llamas everywhere? They pop up in the caf napin dispensers, whiteboards, and even windows. Search no longer for their maker, for you have found him. A legend in the making.

Talent Show

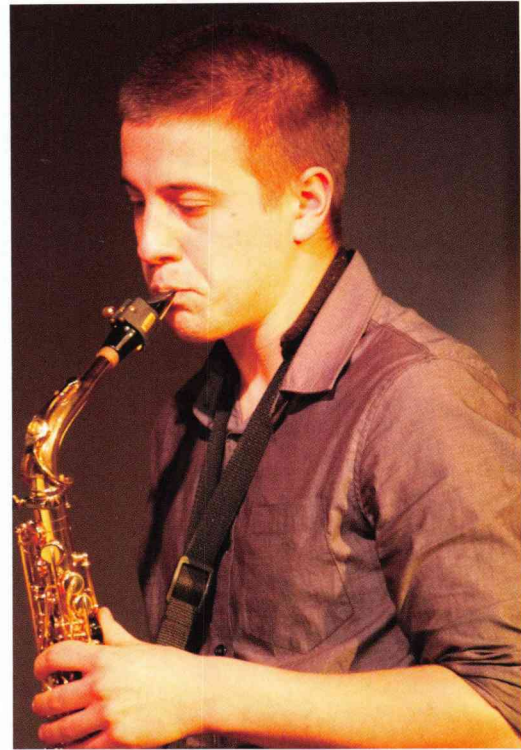

Butterfield chapel pulled out the red carpet and decked the walls with elegance for this year's talent show, themed "Eagle Awards." It was all new talent with special appearances from last year's winner and AirForce1. Most people chose to show off their musical talent, but there was also some moving poetry and a dance routine. Every act shined, but Kevin Sankey and Emily Swanby stole the show (and the audience's heart) when Kevin had to unexpectedly hold the microphone for Emily's performance of a love song.

Jazz Band

Good ol' jazz: in the NU Jazz band, student's come together to preserve that great and swingin' genre. Jazz band performs a concert each semester and travels each spring to compete in the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival. All majors are welcome in this band; members range from nursing majors, to music ed, to english, to business. Music brings them together. These cool cats can play swing, funk, ballads, salsa, and have been known to improvise a modern tune or two. The band has been praised as the most underappreciated group at NU. Led by fearless leader, Ken Prettyman, this jazz band rocks the days away in the company of the greats who've come before.

Beth Hascall

A loyal member of the band, Beth has played piano in Jazz band all four years she's been at NU. A Montana native, in her spare time she loves baking, blogging, and recipe collecting, oh, and jazz, of course!

Wind Ensemble

It's true! Northwest University has a Wind ensemble! This small ensemble is a place for classical band musicians to forward their instrumental skills and technique. Under the direction of Don Wolf, wind ensemble fosters a casual and comfortable atmosphere for musicians who want to continue playing their instruments but perhaps are not pursuing a musical education. New members are always welcome. If you've been looking for a chance to play in band again, here's your group! Don't be ashamed, we all played clarinet in high school.

Vocal Jazz

Synergy is the smallest vocal group at NU. This year's vocal jazz choir is made of only 12 members and they still manage to rock the house. This year they won 1st in their category at the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival, for the second year in a row! This small choir charmed the judges and recieved a near perfect score at the festival. Synergy members sing a variety of parts, distinct harmonies, and must learn to scat sing. Synergy is often accompanied by a swingin' rhythm section.

Nicole is a young woman of varied talents-- this Music Ministry major sings, plays piano, and works in the writing center. She shamelessly adores Jane Austen novels and hopes to take a trip to England soon!

Concert Choir

Concert Choir is Northwest's classical choir, performing the likes of Mahler, Handel, and Rutter. In years past the choir has toured in Italy and England. In recent years they began the tradition of joining with the University Presbyterian Choir and renown Rainier Symphony to perform a Christmas concert at Benaroya Hall. This skilled group of vocalists, from varying majors, come together to create a beautifully blended sound and put on a show for the Glory of Christ. Bill Owen conducts this choir and this spring he is assisted by visiting conductor Joel Ulrich.

Choralons sing sing sing

Choralons is the largest vocal group at Northwest and well known in our community. They are a contemporary gospel choir that performs and leads in local churches. During spring break the group travels to various states on a week long tour--spreading the Gospel of Christ in song and sharing the heart of NU. Choralons is a great recruiting force at NU, and is made of students from all areas of study and all walks of life. Each spring the choir records a new CD, featuring soloists and a very talented band.

Pursuit and NUMA

One of the best things about attending Northwest is living with a community of believers that encourage each other to grow in Christ. NUMA is constantly brainstorming and working to bring more and more opportunities for NU to encounter God and His love, including Monday night worship at Pursuit, Thursday night Intercession Prayer, faith challenges, and conferences featuring powerful guest speakers. Through these events, students open up their heart to His will. God has done incredible things on campus this year; He prepares us to glorify His name in the world.

Live Dead Challenge

Spring Semester, NUMA challenged the student body "live dead" to yourselves for 30 days and pray for unreached people groups in East Africa. Missionaries shared their experiences and God moved on the hearts of many at NU.

Life Groups

Life Groups are led by students to fit specific need and interests at NU. Anyone with the vision and willingness to start a Life Group may do so, and everyone is encouraged to find one that speaks to them. This year there were over 30 Life Groups! Some work in the larger community-- Light House reaches out to the homeless in Seattle, and Embargo works to fundraise and bring awareness to the fight against human trafficking. Other groups fit directly within our school-- there are groups for athletes, groups for commuters, and groups for yoga-lovers! If you love cooking: there's a group for you. If you love Science Fiction: there's a group for you. If you love missions: there's a group for you. No matter who you are, there's always a group waiting to welcome you.

Paige is a senior Biology major from Vancouver, WA who co-leads a Bible study for the womens' Cross Country and Track teams. She recently went on a trip to Costa Rica and will willingly cover all her food in hot sauce...including spaghetti.

NU

Community

Beyond the academics and athletics, the homework and the floor events, there is a community at NU that grows from simply sharing life together. Walking while the sunset looms over the Olympics, lounging in the cool grass on a sunny day, smiling at a stranger as you pass in the rain, or walking through a parking lot filled with perfect snow. We certainly had our share of snow this year, and may you always remember that 2012 was the semester we got a week off of school. But more importantly, perhaps you'll always remember that at NU, sometimes when the sun started shining, or snow lay covering the green, everyone set aside their work and chores and ran outside to be kids together!

Bernardo Garcia

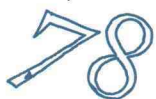

As someone who has directly benefited from the Northwest community's warmth and enthusiasm, Bernardo gives back to the students through service as NUSG's "el Presidente." For him, "it has been a privilege to serve the NU students as the student body president and as their fellow friend."

NU Student Government

This year Nu's student government (NUSG) focused of three themes: Outreach, Servanthood and Acceptance.

Outreach - we encouraged our student body to be filled with leaders that constantly spread the word of God, locally and globally. We have done so by providing groups for students in which they can help their immediate community. Also, this year NUMA (Northwest University Ministries Association) has grown immensely in the planning of mission's trips to Asia, Africa, Europe, and South America.

Servanthood - we encouraged our students to practice this theme by leading by example. This theme is really important since it is one of the foundations of leadership. This year we focused on giving students more opportunities to serve as leaders in life groups, clubs and in day-to-day living.

Acceptance - we encouraged a community that focused on acceptance. The beauty of this university is in its diversity and acceptance, these are essential for a strong, united community. I can clearly see how accepting people have become toward people of different races or backgrounds.
-NUSG President Bernardo Garcia

Student Services

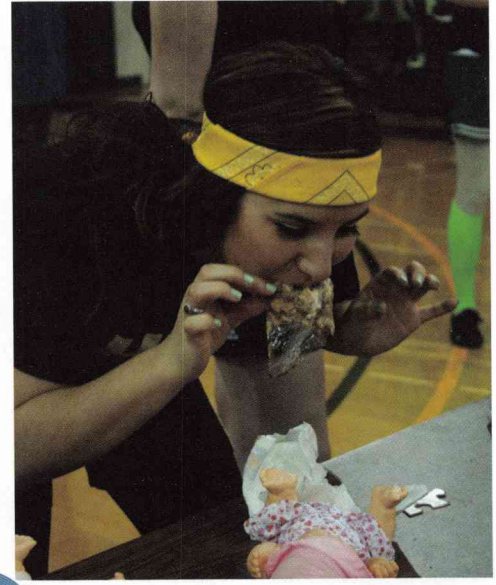

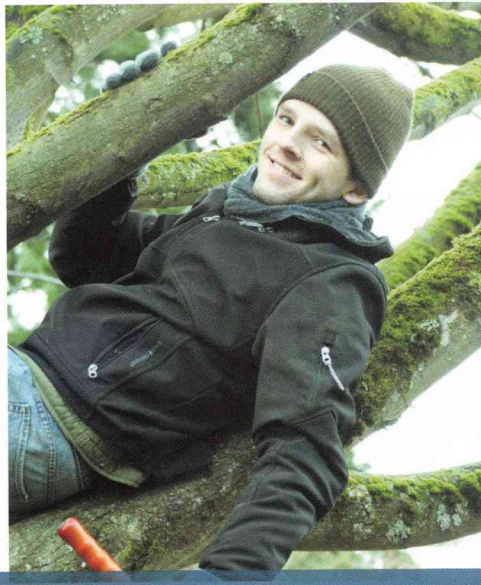

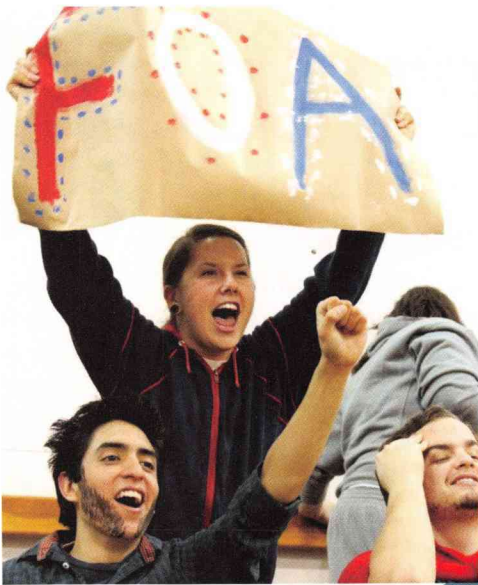

We all see these people around campus, either walking around or in their offices hard at work making our lives easier. They help us keep our finances together, help us fix our broken doors, help us figure out how our computers actually work-- these people put their hearts into helping us live life at NU to the fullest.

"The Stump"

Weeks of planning, days of preparation, hours of sweat and tears. And all for...a tree stump? Yes. But the glory that comes from its possession is worth fighting for. On its plaque you'll find the names of the winning floors, with reference to a year or two when the hallowed stump was stolen.

Screaming Eagles Week

Friends become enemies. Sleep becomes last priority. Bribes are made. Faces are painted. Voices are lost. And sometimes, if we're being honest, showers are skipped. Even naturally uncompetitive students make an exception for this week. SEW pits floor against floor in a greuling battle to find out who comes out on top.

This year's theme was "Cartoons," and the floor picks ranged from the Justice League and Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, to good ol' Charlie Brown. Events included Dodgeball, Floor Decorating, Treevivor, and Video Challenge, all of which culminated in the Floor Olympics. In the end, the 500 guys and gals claimed first place, followed by 600, 300, and FOA.

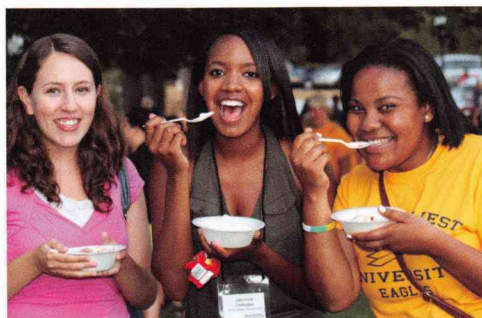

Resident Life

Orientation WEEK

The week of August 22-28 was filled with jitters, laughter, and excitement. Every year during Orientation week, new students move in with the help of a host of returning students eager to make new friends. After moving in, students gather on the Green for games with NUSG: Orientation in full swing. Throughout the rest of the week, students and Orientation Leaders participate in an ice cream social, family barbeque and scavenger hunt; they volunteer in a serve day and take part in a candlelight prayer march. But most importantly, it is an opportunity for students, both new and returning, to become friends. Orientation sets everyone off on the right foot and builds friendships that last for the rest of college.

100: Roos & Brumbies

It is dumbfounding and awe-inspiring to see the wondrous, beautiful way God has orchestrated 100. The brothers and sisters of this family illustrate how a group of strangers can be knit together as a living example of what it means to be adopted into God's family. At the beginning of the year, friendships had not yet been established, inside jokes were waiting to be made, and identities were just in the process of being forged. Time passed, the year sped by, and somewhere along the way, we became a family. The exact point in time when this occurred is insignificant, but the memories we created together--those are the things that truly matter. We jumped off cliffs, laughed until we gasped for air, and comforted one another when life became overwhelming. Our lives collided and by the grace of God we came to love one another. Presently, our family is united, but when this year draws to a close each of us will leave to pursue God's calling on our lives. Even though we will go our separate ways, this time together speaks to the love, grace, and strength of God--what better way to be united?

We are 100.

-Liz Mena and CJ Witkoe, RAs of Guy and Beatty 100

Noah Irish

"My favorite thing about being a brumby is the fellowship with the guys. Between the triple Fs (fast food, Fresh Prince of Bel-Air, and fellowship) and Brumby church, we spend most of our days chilling out, maxin, and relaxing all cool, and all shooting some b-ball outside of the school."

200: The Zoo & The Keepers

"We're smart, classy, and occasionally sassy." This clause of the Guy 200 code really applies to the whole of 200: Guy, Perks, and Beatty. The 200 focus this year is community. The girls cheer on the boys at intramurals: win or lose. We all play ultimate Frisbee together and may walk away with bloody lips, but harbor no bitter feelings. We build human pyramids. We go to Mariner's games. We play Apples to Apples. We support our athletes by going to their games and cheering them on. We go on food runs almost every night, and therefore, we eat. A lot. As a family we live in the light of Christ, lifting each other up out of darkness. We are COMMUNITY.

-Ilona Trofimovich, Teri Hendrickson, and Brandon Hollis, RAs of Guy, Perks, and Beatty 200

300: Brotherhood and Sisterhood

The 300 floor this year was filled with amazing people and lasting memories. We, as the RAs, wanted to build a floor filled with love, laughter, and a hunger for God; we wanted to create a brotherhood and sisterhood of lasting friendships and be united together as a family. This vision for our floor came to life through our willingness to be there for each other in times of need. We were able to come together to create memories and long lasting inside jokes. As this years RAs we feel honored to have been given the opportunity to serve the 300 family. To our floors: We have enjoyed getting to know each and every one of you and we are so thankful for the support you by coming to such events as the Denny's runs, Family Floor Retreat, Cake Off Bake Off, Tea Party, Laser Show, Christmas Parties and so much more. You are all wonderful... and in a Nacho Libre accent: 300 is the Best! Much Love, from your RAs, Melissa Glazier, Katie Horton, and Luke Hicks.

400 is a place of relaxation, rest, and spiritual vitality. It is a comfortable floor with many amenities, including bedrooms, couches, showers, and even toilets. The floor offers free WiFi as well as free milk and cookies every other Sunday. No pets (besides fish) are allowed on the floor, but the price is well worth it, for a mere $3,362 per semester.

The community on the 400 floor will astound you. Most nights there will be shirtless men, wrestling contests, and a noticeable odor wafting up and down the hall. It's kind of like Roman times, you could say. Or the times of cavemen, one of the two. You can't match the experience of the 400 floor. You are guaranteed to make some new Hornet friends while living on the floor.

500: Ducks and Chicks

Have you heard? We are the friends that really do stick closer than brothers, lead by our very own RA's Tricia Frye and Michael Anderson, and CB's Avery Hopkins and Clayton Hines. We are a floor who despite all the studies, quizzes, and finals, manages to bond through open dorms and Dicks Drive-In runs. We are the floor that takes time each week to come together and grow not only in our relationships with each other, but in our lives with the Lord. Don't be deceived, we are not just a floor made of fun outings, thrifting, and family dinners, we are a floor of deeply rooted tradition. Don't ask what "semper fie" or "duck pile" mean because we simply can't tell you. We bleed green and yellow because we refuse to let our pride die. If you are looking for members of the 500 family, look on stage during chapel worship, or join 4 or 5 of the life groups being lead by our very own ducks and chicks. Even better, look for the team holding the trophy at screaming eagles week. #duckordie #chirporbeplucked

Rameder

Rameder is the little boy that The Pride has chosen to sponsor from India. He is 8 years old. Each girl on the floor gives $1 towards the monthly payment to support him. Ellie Culton is the one who is in charge of this, and has agreed to take on the payments during the summer when the girls aren't here.

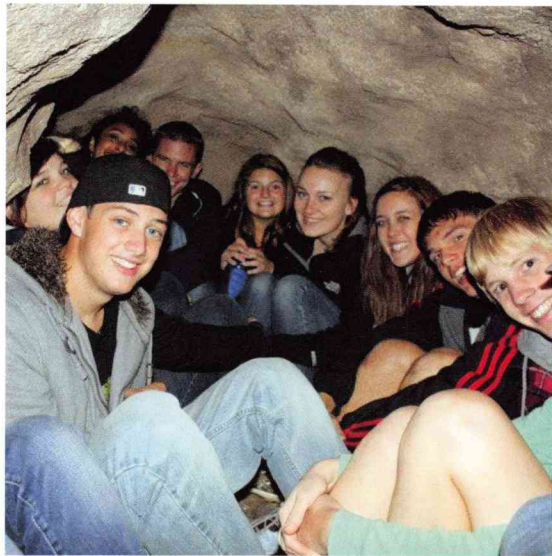

600: The Tribe

Crowder 600, also known as the Pride, is filled with a bunch of beautiful woman who are a part of the Tribe. Our floor verse is Ephesians 3:16-17: "I pray that out of his glorious riches He may strengthen you with power through His Spirit in your inner being, so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith. And I pray that you, being rooted and established in love, may have power, together with all the Lord's holy people, to grasp how wide and long and high and deep is the love of Christ." We are women of faith filled with laughter and friendship. My prayer is that we will continually grow in Christ and relationship with one another. We are Crowder 600. We are ONE Tribe!

-Joy Heisl, RA of 600

Gray 600, also known as The Warriors make up half of the 600 Tribe. Our focus for the year is living in community, like that of a tribe, where we can encourage and lift up one another. We take inspiration from our verse, Hebrews 10:24-25, which says: "And let us consider how to stir up one another to love and good works, not neglecting to meet together, but encouraging one another, and all the more as you see the day drawing near." This year we're looking forward to defending our back to back championships in Flag Football and winning the Screaming Eagle Stump for a 3rd year in a row with our sister floor, The Pride! Regardless the outcome, 600 will always be on top! One Tribe!

Student Apartments

Real couches, separate bathrooms, a washer/dryer across from your bedroom, and no more Caf food! You want it, the students in the apartments have it. They enjoy the freedom of cooking their own food, having their own washer/dryer, and keeping their T.V.s on as late as they want!

Students in the apartments enjoy hosting movie nights and sharing homemade meals. This year's upperclassmen have embraced their new found freedom, turning neighbors into friends and a small collection of apartments into a community.

Commuters @ NU

I have lived both on campus and off-campus during my time at Northwest. There are perks to both! Last year I lived in Kirkland in an apartment with three roommates— all girls I met my freshman year on my dorm floor. It was so fun, and also a great experience to live on my own. I learned to cook, budget, and pay bills on time. This year I moved home with my parents and am a true commuter. Planning my routes to school around traffic and rush hour has been a challenge, but I love saving my money and learning to cook from a pro: my mom!

After moving off campus, I found that meeting people was difficult since I was only on campus for the hours I had class, and even then, I wasn't socializing. I decided to volunteer to pass out and scan chapel cards and after a month or so, I began to meet people at the chapel doors and put faces and names together. I also started doing my homework at the Arie instead of local coffee shops so I could see more familiar faces. All in all, commuting has been a great experience.

Kramer Rasmussen

Kramer Rasmussen is a senior this year who has previously lived in the dorms, but is now a commuter living in Kirkland. He says, "I started my journey 4 years ago and as of this next May I will be graduating with a degree in Pastoral Ministry and Biblical Studies. To say that this experience has benefited me would be an understatement."

The FIRS, Families in Residence housing, for newlyweds, faculty, families, and a few lucky upperclassmen who get great views of the mountains. The FIRS are a convenient place to raise a family while attending Northwest. They are happily situated up the hill from campus, down a quiet street where children can scooter and families can barbecue.

Dedication

Idaho

Gummy Bear Angel

Idaho has had a profound impact on campus--his warm and willing heart is a gift to students on campus in a multitude of ways. Idaho has spent the last 23 years serving at Northwest University. He does everything, from cutting mailbox keys to making a cart that moves entire bookshelves. But most importantly, he has served Northwest with a kind and constant spirit in all the areas of his work.

Idaho is from the small town of Aberdeen, Idaho which has a population of 1,300 people. When he was in grade school he always wanted to pursue a career in welding. Here at Northwest, that dream has been fulfilled. Students may have noticed all the Idaho state cut outs around campus, they hold up computers, rest at the bottom of railings, support the legs of the coffee tables in the Aerie: these are his handiwork.

In addition to his Northwest family, Idaho has a wife and a 10 year old granddaughter at home. He loves to spend as much time as he can with his family. He particularly enjoys seeing his grand-daughter play the violin. Idaho's greatest desire is to see her grow up and continue to play music. In what spare time he has left, Idaho enjoys listening to western music and reading.

Idaho is a much-loved member of the Northwest University family and we are thrilled about dedicating this yearbook to him. It is a small recognition for the years he has spent here. Here's to many more, Idaho!

Notes to our supporters

Thank You

Without a doubt the first person this yearbook team needs to thank is Mike Archer, our rep from Walsworth Yearbooks. Your enthusiasm and unending willingness to help with any miniscule question were deeply appreciated. Thank you also to Walsworth Yearbooks, our publishing company, which this year developed an online yearbook design studio that made our lives much easier.

We also need to give a hearty thanks to our yearbook advisor Peg Achterman, who was always confident in our abilities and supportive of our work.

We'd like to thank President Castleberry for his beautifully written letter, Harmonie Vallerand, John Vicory, and Carlee Cefaratt for their help with sports photos, Andrew Benton for his photos from the Talent Show, 100 Floor retreat, and Lighthouse, and all those kind-hearted employees who helped to answer questions and get us the information we needed.

We would like to give a special shout-out to the IS department, who put up with our unimpressive technological skills like champs. Thank you also to those who helped with proof reading and all the professors who let us take pictures during their classes.

Last but not least, thank you to this year's Karisma team. Making a yearbook is no easy business, as anyone on this team can attest, but you are all such decent, warmhearted, entertaining people and we are eternally grateful for your participation and the opportunity to get to know all of you. Our photography team was very good natured while listening to us ramble and describe the kind of pictures we wanted, and our editorial team was a force of nature, working into the wee hours of the morning to meet our deadlines.

And thank you to you too, readers, for accepting this book, perhaps even enjoying it, and for not coming to tell us every time you find a mistake.

Much thanks from your editors:

Marisa Pacchiarotti &
Miche Orwiler
