Dr. William "Bill" Randolph

*karisma*DEDICATION

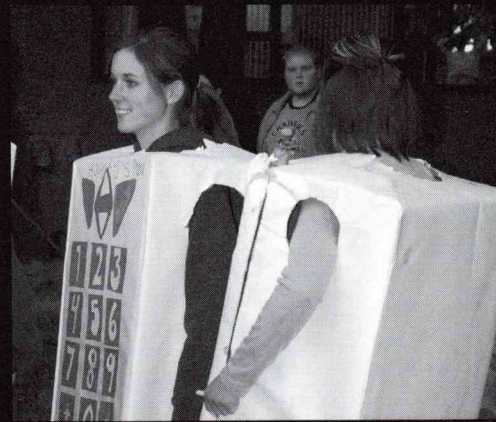

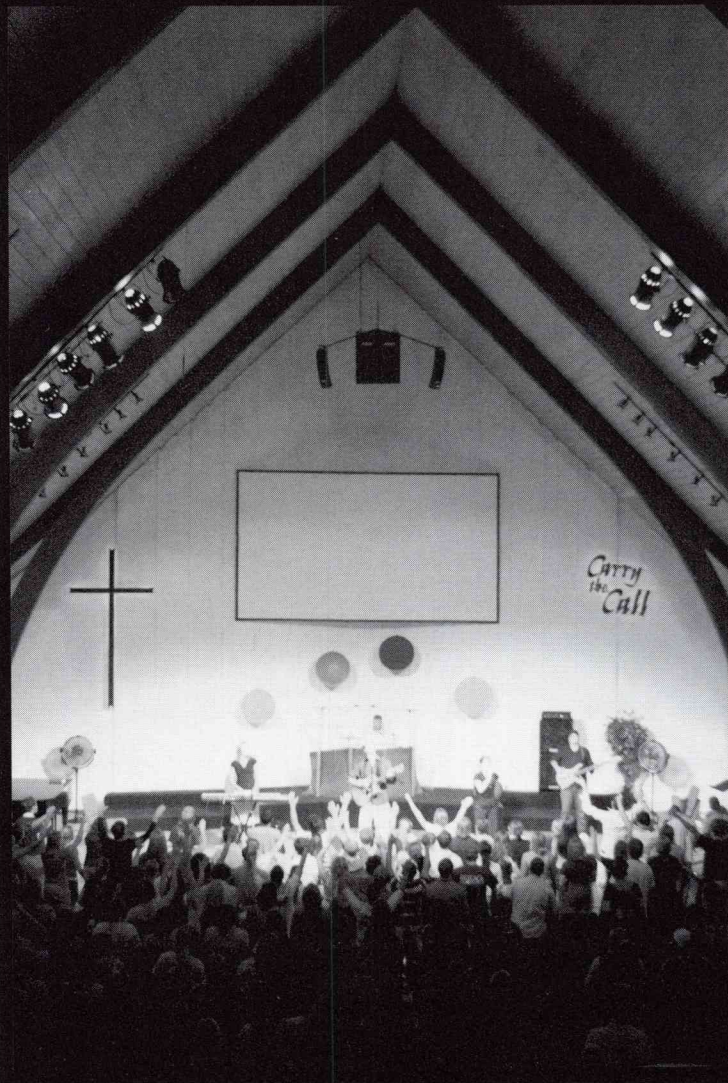

After dedicating 38 years of his life to teaching and mentoring students in the discipline of Life Sciences, Dr. Bill Randolph is retiring. So far in his lifetime, Dr. Randolph has received two Bachelor's degrees, one in teaching and the other in Bible, a Master's from SPU in Education, and a Doctorate in Education.

"Many students come to me and tell me they hated science until they took a class from him," says Randolph's wife Jacqui. "He has been able to not only teach science to increase a student's understanding and enjoyment - he has been able to bring together science and faith and expand the student's world view of both. I am so proud of him."

In appreciation for his dedication as an educator and believer, the Karisma yearbook would like to honor Dr. Randolph by dedicating the 2005-2006 yearbook to him.

orientation greets the new nest of students, magnolias “steel” the stage, students strut their stuff at the annual talent show, the return of the screaming eagle, floor olympians act out, how northwest celebrates the holidays

Ah, orientation. For freshmen, it includes a new dorm, a small group led by upper-classmen, and a taste of their first worship service in the chapel. All these experiences seem to breathe signs of autumn around Northwest University. This year, first time orientation leader Dena Gillette thought the experience was “a great way to start the year by getting to know new students and welcoming them to the campus.” Some of the activities which took place included the ASB ice cream social, a scavenger hunt through downtown Kirkland, and a few wisdom-filled chats with faculty members. Despite having to cancel the traditional walk to the green for the candlelight march because of rain, it proved to be a pleasant conclusion to the weekend’s events.

2. Kyle Turver and Kristin Hingtgen lead an acoustic worship set at an orientation weekend service in the Chapel.
3. Kelly Babauta rolls film on some “kodak moments” of the last days of summer.
4. Dr. Argue gives a wave as he rides in the back of a truck throughout the Northwest campus.
5. Orientation leaders decide they need BBQ grub, too!
6. Bethenee Engelsvold and Bekah Griffin shockingly take in the results of the scavenger hunt.
7. One of the greatest aspects of orientation is fellowship.
8. Daniel Collins and Zach Green represent the 500 Floor Ducks, introducing their long tradition of immense floor pride!

Steel Magnolias

Fall 2005 Production

Largely teased hair and Aqua Net were staples of the salon industry during the 1980's. So it wasn't a big surprise to see them incorporated onto the Northwest University stage during the week of the fall production. Steel Magnolias, a script which chronicles the lives of six women and their relationships with one another, transformed the NU stage into Truvy's beauty salon. Peach colored walls and a checkered floor captured the southern charm. Professors Debbie Pope and Julia Young made their acting debut as Ouiser Budreaux and Clairee Belcher. No doubt their own southern roots set a strong foundation for the interpretation of their characters. Jacqueline Wilson, an alumni of Northwest, returned to portray the loving mother of student Michelle Miller's character. And Starla Reynolds and Bethany Shaw created a warm, inviting salon experience.

Julia Young as Clairee Belcher

Debbie Pope as Ouiser Budreaux

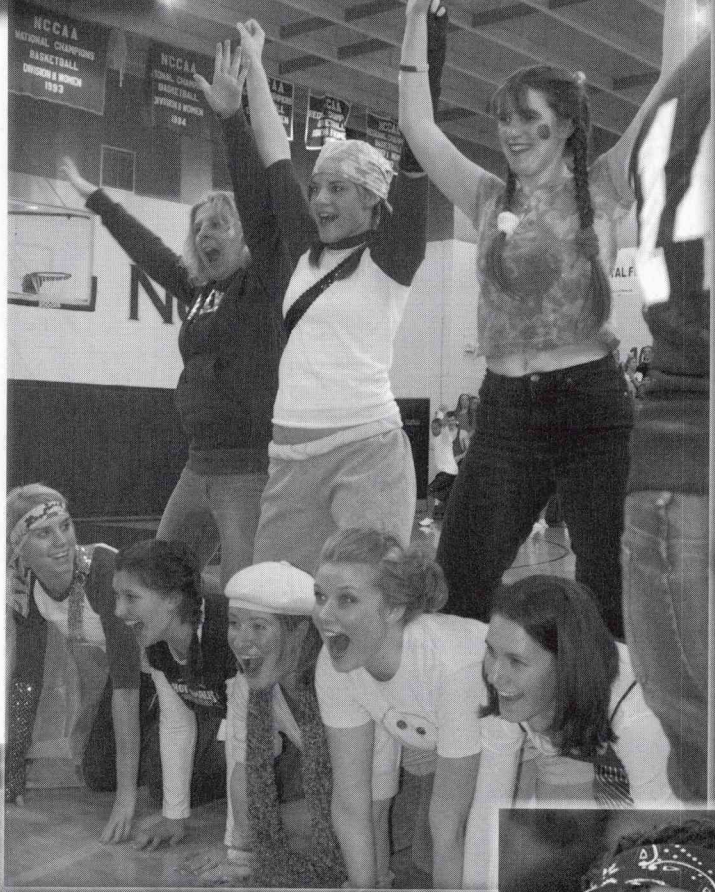

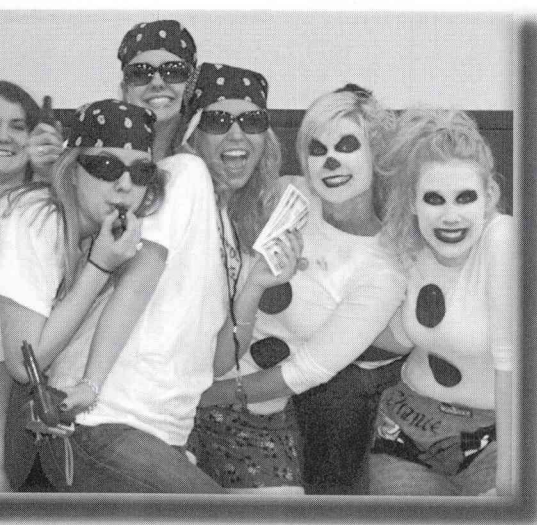

Steel Magnolias is a play by Robert Harling that was selected for the Northwest University stage under the direction of Lisa Peretti-Stephenson. Gracing the stage with their acting abilities and fabulous southern accents was an all-female cast including: Michelle Miller, Starla Reynolds, Bethany Shaw, Jacqueline Wilson and professors Debbie Pope and Julia Young.

FLOOR OLYMPICS

This page clockwise from top left: Spiderman cheers amongst members of the "Operation" floor. Spirit fingers get this Eagle up and running straight for the judges table. Every floor is required to create a cheer and perform it for the judges. This mini-pyramid surely did the trick. Future American Idol? This young man busted it out in front of his fellow Olympians. In all its shining glory, the beloved Screaming Eagle trophy. The Floor Olympics winner's name is engraved on this beautiful wooden sculpture. One brave soul decided to brave the gold fish eating competition. She proudly showed off her empty mouth once the little guy was gulped down. Monopoly anyone? These "dice" rolled on in to the infamous and highly anticipated Floor Olympics.

1980s "stand"

The 80s Stand was perhaps the greatest new event to grace the NU family this year. Attendees dressed to the hilt in 80s garb hit the stand floor and, well, stood the night away. Participants were weaned out until one final 80s Stander was declared the ultimate winner!

“childhood memories”

January is the season for Homecoming, which always starts the Spring Semester off with a bang! The theme of “Childhood Memories” was welcomed by all: it provided a retreat from exams, bills, & the stresses of adult life. Clue, Battleship, Operation, Life, Candy Land, Risk, and Monopoly were just a few of the themes ASB assigned to the floor decorating contest. This year a new feature was added to the week’s festivities: a Saturday night 80s-inspired “Stand.”

Fall and Winter Activities

1) Students gather outside the boy's dorms after a fire alarm goes off during open dorms. 2) Dr. Forrest Inslee took a group of students up to Canada for the weekend for his Anthropology class. 3) NU Students support Lake Washington High School in prayer on See You At The Pole day. 4) Intramural Football, Off Campus vs. 100 5) NU students support their men's soccer team. 6) Another day at Intramural soccer! 7) One NU student is ready to win at the GOTCHA! shootout on The Green. 8) More Intramural football spirit!

The 500 floors went to Sedro Wooley for their 2005 annual retreat. Kassi O'Connor, women's R.A., and Jamin Cook, men's R.A., organized the retreat for their new crop of little duckings & chick-a-dees; many of whom are first-time Northwest students. While in Sedro Wooley, the ducks & chicks went on a roller skating escapade, definitely the highlight of the retreat for 500 chick Jessica Sherman. Sherman also shared this: "The retreat was a really fun time for all of us to get together & to get to know each other better." In the past, the 500 floors have had "prayer brothers & sisters," which is a tradition they have continued this school year as well.

Administration

What would Northwest be without Administration and Faculty members? They resemble the essential center that the rest of this institution revolves around. For the reason we come is to be educated.

Their tireless efforts often go unnoticed, but such is the life of an educator. The impact they leave is immeasurable, and is often not reflected upon until later in life. Thank you for all you do...

She also worked to raise student awareness of their ability to be agents of political change, such as how to be involved in ending Human Trafficking through lobbying and writing letters to State representatives.

"The Spirit gives life."

John 6:63a

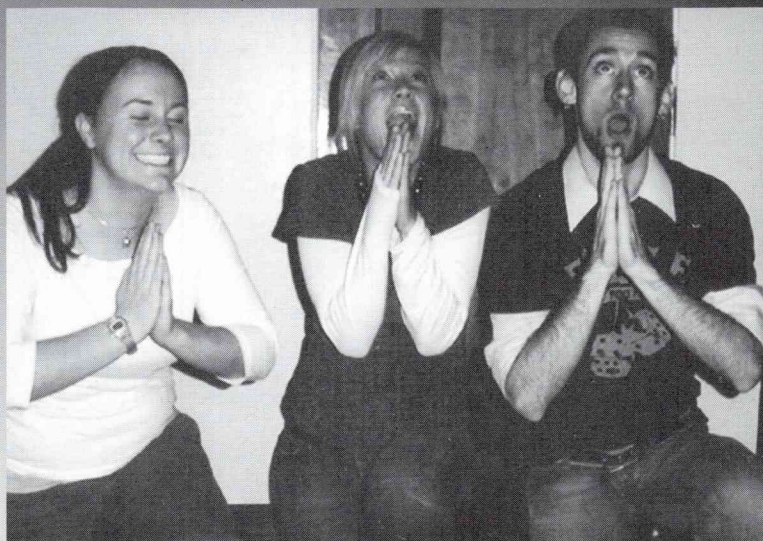

One vital part of creating community is worshipping together. Northwest students know how to lift one another up in prayer, worship and encouraging messages. Whether business, communications, or ministry major, students know how to press into God's presence.

Intercessory Prayer

The Intercessory Prayer team dedicates their time praying for chapel and Pursuit services. Students are encouraged to participate in this time to listen to God's voice. They also intercede for students during response time of both services.

The motto? "To pray unceasingly."

Triumph Prison Ministries

Triumph is a ministry where NU students have the opportunity to bring the message of the Gospel into the confines of prison and jail cells.

"I enjoy the opportunity to bring the Gospel in a simple but in a unique and profound way. Doing ministry in a prison offers unique challenges and the results aren't immediate. But doing it in the confidence that God's Holy Spirit works in people's lives."

--Mark Dunning

Backstage Cafe

The brainchild of senior Youth Ministry major Jen Saunders, the Backstage Cafe was a theatrical production combining music from various Broadway classics. The production raised money for both the drama department and to help end Human Trafficking. Community members were invited to the showing and to participate. What a great example of blending faith and dramatic arts!

Lighthouse

Led by Sarah Tady, Lighthouse is a ministry which seeks to reach out to the homeless people of the streets of Seattle. In past excursions, students have brought homemade scarves, blankets, and food. It is a time students are able to get in touch with the needy members of their community.

Street Church

Minhchau Le, a senior at Northwest, brings musicians, speakers, and loving students to the streets of the city and holds outreaches where the Gospel is preached and a call for Salvation is given.

"It's just a place where anointed people can preach the Gospel and see what God does," Le says of the ministry.

See You at the Pole

Every September students from Northwest University drive to the parking lot of Lake Washington High School to stand alongside students and lift up teachers, fellow students, and the country in prayer.

Despite the early call time, usually somewhere between 6 and 7 a.m., there was a great turnout of NU students who were willing to devote some time to ministering to the receptive high schoolers.

Ambassadors 2 Kirkland

Begun by a Northwest alum about four years ago, A2K is a group of students who desire to show the love of God to community members through practical ways. Students this year have gone to Safeway and offered to pay for community member's groceries. In the past, students have handed out waterbotles and paid for someone's coffee.

Chapel Small Groups

Small groups is a younger ministry that is designed to build relationships and mentoring relationships among students. Junior Emilie Vallerand oversees the small groups this year.

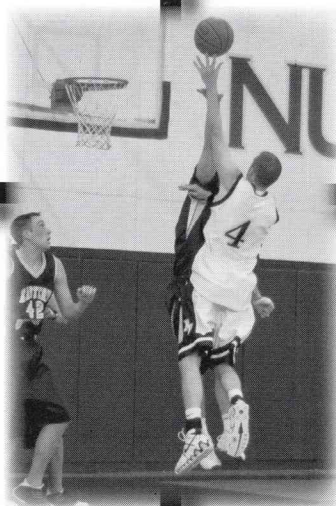

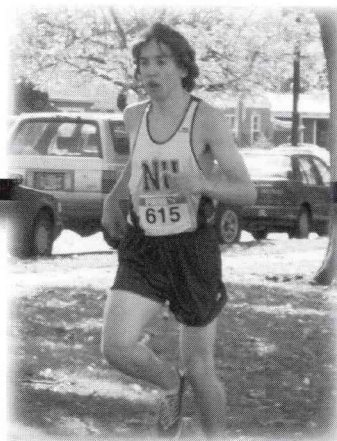

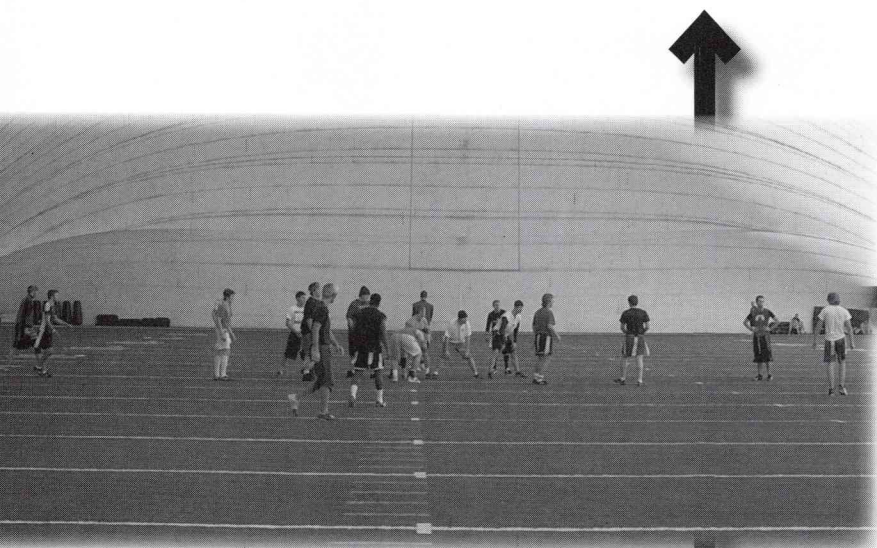

There have been a variation of small groups ranging from, C.S. Lewis to a Leadership small group led by President Argue and even a knitting small group called, "Yarning for Yahweh."

Pursuit

Headed up by senior Josh Jamison, Pursuit is a time of student led prayer and worship. The motto is, "Real people seeking a real God." The ministry definitely lives up to its name. Students often prefer the laid back and encouraging atmosphere.

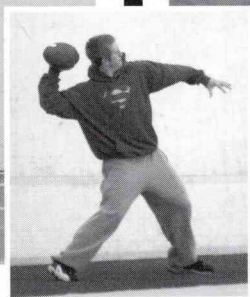

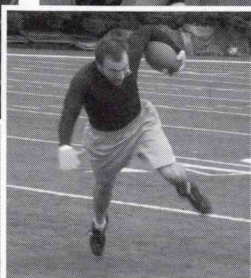

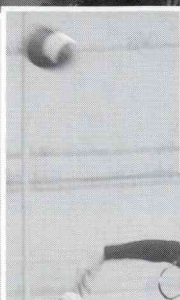

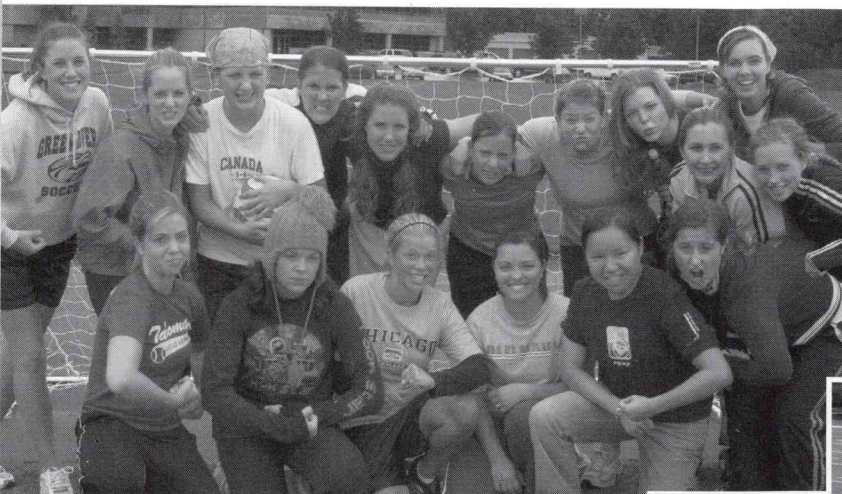

The night begins with intercessory prayer for the service and the students who will lead in worship for the evening. Worship is usually followed by a short devotional and a response time.

FALL intramurals involve one and all . . . CROSS COUNTRY runs for their lives. . . SOCCER kicks it up a notch. . . VOLLEYBALL ladies block their opponent. . . men's BASKETBALL soars. . . women's BASKETBALL shoots to win. . . WINTER intramurals keep students chill

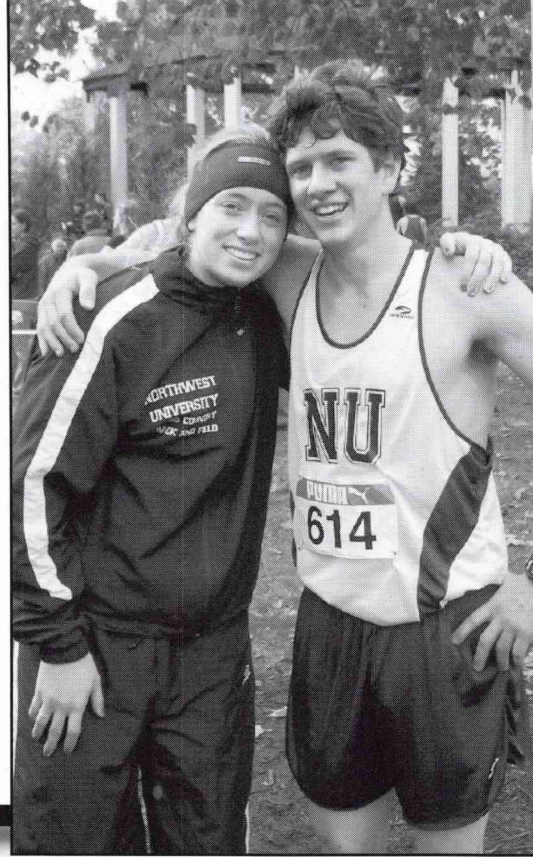

Intramurals was fantastically coordinated by ASB intramurals coordinator Beth Strandwitz. The Seahawks, our NFC Champions, generously allowed us to use their practice field again for football and soccer. Fans and players alike showed up for a fun day of games!

The Northwest Men's and Women's Cross Country teams look a bit different this season as each consists of seven teammates a piece to total 14 Eagle runners in all. Not only can these people run, they are amazing students as well: Renee Wageman, Kjerstein Bailey, and Leonard Randall were deemed "NAIA Scholar Athletes" in November of 2005, which is the NAIA's version of an All-American. This is the fifth year in a row that NU has had one of its cross country members recognized for academic excellence.

"I could not be more proud of the young men that represent our Northwest University. While not always perfect, we take very seriously the opportunity to represent God, and our institution by giving our best in all that we do. Winning on the scoreboard is nice, but that is a by-product of the hard work and dedication this team has given throughout the year."

It was an exciting season for the lady Eagles! The ladies fought their way to the conference games and finished the year strong! The young team only had to say goodbye to one senior this year, Rebekah Proctor. Northwest looks forward to another awesome year of games in the 2006-2007 season!

Intramurals is an integral part of the NU community. The games allow students, and even staff, the opportunity to sweat it out in pursuit of the always coveted intramural championship. Seasons begin with a brief "open gym" phase. Soon that phase morphs into a full-blown basketball tournament. Games occur weekly in the Northwest Pavilion. Beth Strandwitz did an amazing job coordinating this year's winter intramural season. We hope that next year more students will come out and either participate or support their floors!

THE PEOPLE WHO WORK BEHIND THE SCENES FOR YOU

INFORMATION SERVICES

According to the I.S. Homepage, "The mission of the Information Services department is to provide service, education, and technology to the employees and students of Northwest University."

R.N. JEAN CLARK

PRINT SERVICES

Thank these folks for every class syllabi, exam, and essay assignment you've ever received! They are the source of everything "print" here at Northwest.

MAINTENANCE

Northwest's Maintenance crew poses during a snowy morning on the Northwest Campus. They serve the school in a variety of areas; basically keeping NU running like a well-oiled machine. Without people like "Idaho," NU would be at a complete loss!

ATHLETIC DEPT.

Coaches, trainers, statisticians; these men and women of Northwest serve our athletic program in a variety of capacities. Many work just as hard in the off-season recruiting new Eagles.

ACCOUNTING

Money, money, money! Thanks to these hard working people, Northwest stays out of the "red." Their office is located in the 6710 Building, just a half mile north of Northwest's main campus. Stop in, say hello, & thank them for all the hard work they do for us!

AERIE

These baristas are often up at the crack of dawn, warming up that espresso machine to serve you a good cup o' joe. Students are pleased with their change to Pura Vida. Business students manage the shop.

MAIL/RECEPTIONIST/CASHIER

Service from this fantastic trio leaves no Northwest student feeling helpless. These three faces greet those who enter the Davis Admin. Bldg. Above: C.J. Michaels (mail), Sharon Schimelpfenig (receptionist), and Leona Moon (cashier)

D. V. HURST LIBRARY

Librarians are a valuable resource for each and every student; service is their ultimate goal.

ADMISSIONS

BOOKSTORE

These people bless the students of NU throughout the entire semester, not just at the early rush for textbooks. Here, students can always find a "pick-me-up."

FINANCIAL AID

Dollars in hand, this crew is here to help you finance the most valuable thing you will ever pay for: your education. Whether its a loan or your FAFSA, they serve with joy and generosity.

LEAP

From Karisma: We apologize that names could not be listed due to the lack of space allowed. We hope these pages will allow students to recognize and appreciate those who serve them.

Putting together a yearbook is no small undertaking. There are multiple deadlines, countless pages, technical blips, and hundreds of people to represent. This page is meant to recognize those who made the publishing of this book possible. Thank you for believing and working when we needed it most.

Acknowledgments

brittneyPENCE your keen eye has brought the Karisma yearbook into the present day. Thank you for always being the "go-to" girl and right hand woman.

desireeKNEMEYER your love of photography and passion for what you do is contagious.

austinBENNECKER you have saved us a million times over. We appreciate you more than words could ever express!

deshaNORITZ, we appreciate your continued support and guidance throughout the year. Especially when you take our calls at odd hours and answer numerous questions.

mikeARCHER, our Walsworth Representative, who is our #1 cheerleader, Mr. Fix-It, staff "counselor", and everything else that you do. You remind us that we have a responsibility to do great things in everything.

nuSTUDENTbody for providing us the funding that is needed to produce the 2005-2006 yearbook. We hope you like what you see.

hollySTRANDWITZ, carynJAMIESON, and all of ASB who has supported Karisma all year.

To the following Northwest Staff, who, without your help this book couldn't have made it: donERLITZ, johnMABBOTT, and the entire isDEPARTMENT; jimJESSUP, sandyHENDRICKSON, and the entire registrar'sOFFICE; merlinQUIGGLE; chrisANDERSON and jimHEUGEL; janHICKS and paulBANAS in Student Development; and any other office that we are forgetting to thank, you have been so gracious and helpful.

jacquiRANDOLPH, for helping us have better insight into your husband's life for the Dedication.

Anyone else that we are forgetting to thank, your support has been appreciated and does not go unnoticed.

And last, but definitely not least, to miltonVANQUIST, our mascot and muse that keeps the Karisma staff encouraged and entertained.

Gayle Turner

After devoting 19 years of service to working in the bookstore, 18 of those years as manager, Gayle Turner is heading off to Seoul, Korea with her husband Dr. Dwayne Turner to serve as English-Speaking missionaries. The student body would like to say farewell to the loving woman who devoted her energy and work to helping students.

Below: In her element, Gayle loved helping students prepare for their school year. The bookstore is a fixture on the campus.

Right: Gayle's adventuresome spirit is evident in this picture. On a missions trip to Fiji, the only thing keeping her from climbing higher up the tree was that she didn't have any shoes on!

It has been my ministry meeting and helping students. There have never been two days alike and I enjoyed coming to work everyday. Obviously we have a lot of fun in the bookstore.”
Gayle Turner
