

STUDENT BULLETIN

May 10, 1963

The library is having a book sale to dispose of some of the surplus books that have accumulated over the past several years. The books are a mixture of almost everything, including some very good titles which for one reason or another the library does not want (often because the book is already in the library in sufficient quantity). The books are in the Reserve Section on the south wall of the reading room. Prices range from 10¢ up to about a dollar.
