NORTHWEST COLLEGE

ASSEMBLIES OF GOD

From the President

WHAT ARE THE GRADS DOING?

The final test is always "What are the results?" One can structure a college academic program, erect the facilities, employ the faculty, enroll and instruct the students. The plan can appear ever so good on paper and the academic quality excellent, but, "Are the goals accomplished?" remains the final question to be asked. And it can only be answered by the grads themselves in what they do.

As graduation time approaches again it becomes significant to ask, "In view of the past, what are the prospects for those who will be graduating?" To find the answer, Registrar A. D. Millard researched the activities of the NC Bible College graduates for the last five years. He was able to trace 85% of them. Here is what he found they are doing:

Pastoral Ministry	55%
Pastors—	(38%)
Asst/Assoc. Pastors	(17%)
Missionary Service	11%
Youth Ministries	8%
Christian Education (College level and Bible school)	7%
Graduate School/or Seminary	8%
Misc. Vocational Activity	11%

It is noted that one-third of the miscellaneous vocationals are in public school education — a good application of their learning at NC.

In general it can be said, then, that 90% of the four and five year Bible College program graduates of NC either pursue a form of full-time Christian ministry or go on to graduate school. (And it can be assumed that after this they pursue ministerial activities.)

This kind of record speaks for itself! The need now is to recruit more into training, to encourage more at the altar of consecration to hear the voice of their Lord calling them into service. If they respond, enroll and train, they will find that place of service.

The pastor can be the key! He can influence the youth toward hearing the call!

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL SPEAKS TO OVERFLOW CROWD ON CAMPUS DAY

An overflow audience of high schoolers, pastors, parents and college students filled the Northwest College chapel, April 18, to hear Dr. J. Arthur Stewart, principal of the 1,800-student Kent-Meridian High School, discuss some of today's youth problems and their educational implications.

Dr. Stewart reviewed some of the prevailing attitudes and consequential behavior espoused by a minority of today's youth which lays claim to much public attention. Defending the majority of modern youth as basically conscientious and industrious, Dr. Stewart called for an espousal to the principles of Biblical Christianity which have made this country a strong Christian influence in the world. He pointed to the strategic values of Christian education in today's society and urged his hearers to give priority consideration to them, not only as a means of moral, spiritual and intellectual development, but as a means of making the most needed contribution to the preservation of our society in the face of a serious threat to its existence.

Dr. Stewart serves as president of the Northwest College Lay Council and is a member of the College's Board of Directors. He has been in public education for 18 years and has served in some of the top posts in regional and state educational circles. He is also an active leader in the Kiwanis organization.

NC HOSTS MUSIC WORKSHOP

The Learning Center on the Northwest College campus was the scene of an area music workshop on May 10, sponsored by the Greater Seattle Christ's Ambassadors youth council. The workshop, first of its kind on the campus, was divided into five sessions dealing with such matters as "Hints in Reading Sight Singing" and "Types of Choral Music Orchestration." The different workshops were in session simultaneously. Coordinator for the workshop was Paul Tappero, assistant pastor at the White Center Assembly of God. College music personnel participated in the instructional aspect of several of the workshops.

STUDENTS ENJOY TWO OUTSTANDING MINISTERS

Northwest College students enjoyed recently the ministries of two well-known Assemblies of God ministers in two series of special chapel services. General Superintendent Thomas F. Zimmerman led students in worship as he ministered to them throughout the spring quarter Spiritual Emphasis Week. A revival atmosphere prevailed among the students.

The Reverend Harry Steil, noted speaker on Bible prophecy, ministered to the students April 22-24. The timeliness and spiritual practicality of these ministries made them of special significance to the student body.

Recent alumni campus visitors include Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Marker (missionary chapel speakers); Chaplain Ronald DeBock, who returned briefly to the States from a tour of duty in the Orient; Pastor Paul Trulin of Sacramento; and a gratifying number of alumni pastors who brought their young people to NC for Campus Day, April 18. Vital statistics among alumni include the arrival of Brenda Eileen to the David Pearson household in Silverdale. The Pearsons are pastoring the Silverdale Assembly of God. Correction: The Robert Stones of Wenatchee lay claim to a baby boy, not a daughter, as previously reported in this column. (Sorry about that.) It is reported that wedding bells recently rang for Richard Dymond and Linda Kuch. Richard has been in the Navy and Linda has been in public education. Carol Morford married Peter Kirk of Freeport, N. Y., last December. She teaches 5th grade in Beaver, Oregon (near Tillamook), and her husband is a forester attached to the Bureau of Land Management. June Cox and her mother were victims of a fatal automobile accident in North Dakota. Funeral services were held in Stanwood, Washington, on May 5. She had served in the pastoral ministry with Gladys Duty for over 30 years. Preparing to return to missionary service in Brazil are Elvin and Erlien Irwin.

From the 1969 Roll Call: Garnett Byrd is a nurse at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Yakima; Janice Taylor Chrastina serves with her husband as assistant pastors in a Dallas, Texas, church. They have a one-year old Jonathan. Anita Benskin is working in Seattle and is assistant music director at Evangel Temple, Bremerton. From Bozeman, Montana, John Weaver reports enjoying the schedule of a busy pastor and father of "three kids." "We love Bozeman. Stop and see us" he writes. Elected vice-chairman of the public libraries division of Idaho Library Association is Peter Ahlstrom. The Ahlstroms recently moved into a new home in Idaho Falls. Thanks to the many alumni who remembered the Nesses on their 50th Wedding Anniversary. They received greetings from former students from Alaska to Africa. Larry and Julie Meiers filled a recent letter with interesting details of missionary life in Hilo, Hawaii. Among other things, their daughter, Melody, was one of 20 students picked for an intensive study in the Japanese language at the University of Hawaii.

YOUTH ACTION CRUSADE

46 students combined forces with 30 young people from First Assembly and visited an estimated 2,000 homes. There were 34 persons reported to have made decisions for Christ as a direct result of this outreach. A prospect list indicating nearly 100 individuals was developed for immediate follow-up by the local Assembly.

The Crusade was the third and final for the current school year. The first such outreach was conducted in West Seattle in cooperation with the West Seattle Assembly of God. The second activity took place in the Tri-Cities area with Richland's Assembly of God. The over-all results and experiences are viewed as highly satisfactory by college personnel. Faculty advisor and field coordinator for the program has been Christian Education instructor, Mr. Dwayne Turner.
