NORTHWEST COLLEGE a place to prepare A place to minister!

It is reported that Abraham Lincoln once said, ''I will prepare myself. When my chance comes, I will be ready!''

Better counsel was never given to the Christian young person who seeks to serve his Lord! The wisdom of thorough preparation is recognized everywhere.

Northwest College is a place to prepare, a place to get ready, a place to lay foundations for life and ministry. The total life at Northwest College is built with this goal in view. The academic structure, the spiritual life, the social life all aim toward building the whole man and enabling him to get direction for his future ministry and prepare for it.

But the future begins now! "Today is the first day of the rest of your life!," it has been said. Therefore, any future ministry must begin now! At Northwest College this great fact is accounted for and opportunity is provided to do just that.

Northwest College is a place to minister now. All students are challenged to engage in ministry of their interest while in school. There are seven ministry interest groups ranging from evangelistic "Youth Action" ministries, to servicemen's ministries and home and foreign missions ministries. They also include pastoral, Christian education and hospital visitation internships. Through their years at Northwest College, students can engage in various kinds of ministry, gaining experience in each.

The record of participation and results is good, proving that Northwest College is a place to minister now.

Youth today are eager to serve God now. They want to do their thing (their ministry) now so Northwest College makes opportunity for it.

A working combination of classroom preparation and present ministry was the way Jesus trained His disciples and it is the way it is done at Northwest College—a place to prepare, a place to minister now!

NORTHWEST COLLEGE AT A GLANCE

Northwest College is a Christian college with depth in biblical education and with breadth in the general studies. Its two divisions carry out these concepts in a unique manner. Through its division of biblical studies, the college provides training for those preparing for Christian service. Through its division of general studies, the College provides foundational training with a Christian orientation for those going into other professional fields or for those pursuing some liberal arts specialization.

This history of the college, which now spans over one-third of a century, is rooted in the soil of the Assemblies of God movement in the Pacific Northwest. Its development is inseparable from that of the organization with which it has grown, and which it has served.

From its pioneer days, dating back to 1934, to the present, the College has experienced a progressive development of curriculum, of campus, of faculty, of studentbody, and of service-outreach. Its basic purpose and commitment to the cause of the Kingdom of God remains unchanged. Yet its methods, and the intensity of its means have changed to keep pace with new technology, new standards of excellence demanded of this day and new expressions of age-old need.

Today, its purposes and its program are realized within the resources of a 35-acre multi-million dollar campus, a 30-member faculty, an expanded and intensified curriculum, and in a student association of approximately 500 collegians. It is within the richness of this heritage that Northwest College invites Christian men and women to prepare their lives for the future.

EVERYONE Gets A Scholarship At NC!

When one analyzes the costs of college education today it suddenly becomes very easy to understand the truth of the above statement. Northwest College continues to be the least expensive private institution in the state of Washington and throughout much of the Northwest. Its costs, including tuition, room and board, books and fees, continues to provide the college student opportunity for a quality Christian education at less than average expense. Of course, the best way to attend college is to be able to care for the expense of your education prior to enrollment. While there are a number of young people who are able to pay for their education with ease, it is a recognized fact that many students at some point in their college career will need some financial assistance.

Therefore, in addition to low tuition and living costs, other forms of student aid are offered at NC. Freshmen scholarships are available for high school students graduating in the upper 12 per cent of their class. Youth Talent Scholarships, Mr. or Miss CA Scholarships, Missionary Internship Scholarships, Alumni Scholarship Fund Awards, Service Scholarships, and Gospel Publishing House Journalism Scholarships are some of the areas through which funds are directed to help qualified students.

The National Defense Loan provides low cost long-range government loans to students at Northwest. In addition to this is the Federally Insured Loan and General Council Ministerial Loan which provide additional areas of assistance to students.

Grants and aid and employment assistance are also available to students who need additional finance support. This year in grants and scholarships and work study funds over $100,000 has been made available to assist qualified students.

Studies further reveal that NC is not extremely more expensive than the leading state universities in Washington and Oregon. Differences here show that NC (with no tax support) is only $233 to $306 higher in total college costs for the year of 1970-71.

This extra investment proves well worth while in the lives of students. It gives opportunity for study in a Christian atmosphere, with the advantages of a more personal faculty-student relationship. Add to this the many opportunities for Christian service, development of student's spiritual life, and the Christ-centered quality educational concepts of Northwest College. It makes training at NC the kind of experience a young person can cherish for a lifetime!

SONGCRAFTERS APPEAR IN CULTURAL SERIES CONCERT

The Songcrafters, a unique interracial male chorus appeared recently on campus. Their expertly-trained voices were enjoyed by all in attendance. Their repertoire included popular songs, spirituals, the classics as well as secular, humorous, calypso, seasonal hymns and work songs. This outstanding group proved to be one of the highlights of the annual college cultural series. Assembly of God, Santa Cruz, California, will be the guest speaker. His invitation came as a direct response to the enthusiasm which the members of the Lay Council expressed toward his ministry last year. He will be speaking in several sessions and also during the Master Plan Partners Banquet on Saturday, April 17, at 7:00 p.m., in the college cafeteria.

Special sessions throughout the Council will include panel discussions, skits, music from various student organizations, workshops, etc.

The Ladies Auxiliary also has a full program of activities lined up for the ladies.

Make your plans to be in attendance. For further information concerning motels, meals, etc., write Lay Council, P.O. Box 579, Kirkland, Wa. 98033.

NC EAGLES COMPLETE 70-71 SEASON

The Northwest College Eagles basketball team finished the 1970-71 season in a tie for second place in the Pacific Northwest College Conference. The conference record was 9 and 3. The overall team record for the year was 13 and 9. This year's team awards are being given to Steve Howard (Albany, Oregon), the most improved player, and Dennis LaMance (Twin Falls, Idaho), the only graduating senior and four-year letterman, the most valuable player and captain award.

A feature article in a local Seattle paper quoting Dennis said: "Athletics was my whole life in high school. Then I figured that I wanted to coach and work with young people. But I eventually realized that the ministry would give me a chance to help not only the young but the older people as well." A versatile performer on the court, LaMance relies on all around skills rather than any one aspect of the game. Dennis has been an all-conference choice for three consecutive years. There are many indications that he will be an all-conference choice in this final season as well.

This year's team was not only active on the basketball court but held several gospel services in churches in areas where they played. The Eagles are coached by Jim Hillbrick who is in his third year as team coach and physical education instructor. Mr. LeRoy Johnson, assistant professor of history at the college, served his fourth year as assistant coach.

KING'S CHORALONS IN SCANDINAVIA

Plans continue to unfold as the King's Choralons prepare for their first trip overseas. Copenhagen and a concert at the Tivoli Gardens will be one of the highlights of their summer tour. After visiting the city of Copenhagen, a bus will transport them to Gottenberg, Sweden, for a concert during the city's 350th anniversary celebration. From Gottenberg, a train ride to Stockholm will bring the young people to the annual tent crusade of the Philadelphia Church. This crusade is sponsored each summer. Stockholm is a "sister city" to Seattle. This fact will add further meaning to the appearance of the King's Choralons.

After a short flight to the country of Finland, the King's Choralons will be featured at the Pentecostal Midsummer Conference where fourteen to eighteen thousand people gather annually. Two large tents house the services and hundreds of buses bring people from far and near. The choir will be featured in a special late night youth rally on Saturday, June 26. They will also participate on Sunday morning when it is anticipated that fifteen to eighteen thousand people will be served at what may be the largest communion service in the world.

Following this conference a series of concerts will be presented throughout Finland in churches and civic auditoriums in the main population centers.

The conclusion of the Finland concert series will be in Helsinki, the scene of world disarmament talks centering on nuclear weapons.

Pekka Ahonen, son of the Finnish Pentecostal Movement's national leader, will serve as personal guide to the choir while in Finland. Mr. Ahonen is himself a Northwest College alumnus.

Where Have All The Alumni Gone?
