"I BELIEVE IN MISSIONS"

It's been my privilege to travel abroad considerably in recent years, to visit missionaries—alumni of Northwest, and others—to minister in many countries and preach in a significant number of overseas Bible schools. I never cease to be impressed by the work of our missionaries, their dedication to the task and their enlightened efforts to be more effective in the work.

I am particularly impressed by the work of the overseas Bible schools, the work of literature distribution and the massive new effort at correspondence school missions as evidenced in I.C.I. Of course, I have long been impressed by the mass evangelism efforts our church has sponsored for many years and have participated in a few of these efforts.

During November of last year, I was privileged to spend three weeks in the Orient ministering in Tokyo, Seoul, Hong Kong, Singapore and Manila. I also touched down on Taiwan. In that time I preached twenty-five times, including ministry in four Bible schools and F.E.A.S.T. I preached a one week's youth crusade in the great church in Seoul, Korea, pastored by Cho Yonggi, and saw over 300 young people saved and many—including 40 in one service—filled with the Spirit. A Japanese Christian pastor was joyously filled with the Spirit during the meeting and then fasted four days.

That revival crusade is something I will never forget. Words fail to adequately describe that great church and its ministry.

I received a special thrill, however, in ministry in the Bible schools and at F.E.A.S.T. I suppose it's because they so closely relate to what I do at Northwest College.

I saw again so graphically where the minister-yes, the missionary-is trained and where their whole thing called "missions" begins as far as the Assemblies of God is concerned. The Stateside Bible college is a fountainhead of Missions! I believe in it! And I believe it deserves your missionary support!

DEBATE TEAM TRAVELS

Diane Wood and Kathy Bodtker

Debate training both in the classroom and in inter-collegiate competition at Northwest College is quite new and provides students with a broader, more practical range of experiences in communication skills. This year the NC debate team schedule included tournaments at Oregon State University, University of Washington, Seattle Pacific College, University of Montana and others. Kathy Bodtker of Albany, Oregon and Diane Wood of Anchorage, Alaska, as a team, have distinguished themselves at these tournaments as top flight debaters. At the Western Washington Annual Viking Speech Tournament held recently at Bellingham, for example, the NC debate team won the first four qualifying rounds only to lose the next round to another team (which they had already defeated in the qualifying rounds). The team also participated in a tournament at Oregon State University in Corvallis.

Don Tarno, professor of Speech and Missions, says that their prayer before departing for each tournament best sums up the debate teams primary purpose: "May God help the group do their best as though everything we do were for the Lord Himself!" Mr. Tarno observed that there is a fresh recognition before each tournament that the Lord Himself is the source of debate skills.

L.W. Christopherson Dies

Funeral services for L.W. Christopherson were conducted in Twin Falls, Idaho on Monday, March 6. Brother Christopherson, lay member on the Northwest College Board of Directors, was elected to the Board in May of 1959. At the request of the family a memorial was established at Northwest College.

Campus Days Guests

To Hear Education Leader

Dr. G. Raymond Carlson, Assistant General Superintendent of the Assemblies of God, will be guest speaker at the Northwest College's Annual Campus Day convocation on campus April 7, it was announced at the College today. Dr. Carlson, himself a former president of one of the denomination's institutions of higher learning, the North Central Bible College in Minneapolis, Minnesota, oversees the work of Assemblies of God educational department at the denomination's headquarters in Springfield, Missouri. Dr. Carlson will be on campus for the College's Spring Quarter Spiritual Emphasis Week April 3-7, it was explained.

G. Raymond Carlson

The traditional open-house event known as Campus Day has been an annual occasion staged for high school seniors and other high schoolers, their parents and pastors and youth sponsors, since the college moved to its new campus in Kirkland about 12 years ago, it was noted. It is designed to acquaint them with educational opportunities offered by the college. The event has brought to the campus over 800 guests during the past several years. The guest list represents places from throughout Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and from as far away as Alaska and California.

Coordinating the event this year will be Dean of Students, Jack V. Rozell, together with the college administration, faculty, and student leaders. The day's schedule will include campus tours, class visitation, informational workshops, a special chapel presentation and concluding with an evening musical rally in the college chapel. Youthful visitors from distant places will be bringing sleeping gear for a "slumber party" type of overnight accommodations sharing space with host students, while adult sponsors will be housed in faculty homes and other off-campus facilities, it was explained.

Don Skidmore

NORTHWEST COLLEGE LAY COUNCIL APRIL 7-8

The EIGHTH ANNUAL LAY COUNCIL will meet at the college April 7 and 8 in order to join forces with Campus Day to take advantage of the exciting events of that important day on campus. Lay Council President Don Skidmore of Yakima announced the 1972 theme for the Northwest College Lay Council, "Planning For Enrichment".

NC EAGLES COMPLETE 71-72 SEASON

The Northwest College Eagles basketball team finished the 1971-72 season in fourth place in the Pacific Northwest College Conference. The conference record was 5 and 5. This year's team awards are being given to Rodney Fischer, Sidney, Montana, the most improved player; Grant Hill, Seattle, Washington, the most inspirational player. Mark Haines, Everett, Washington, received the captain award and Mike Axton, Springfield, Oregon, was named the team's most valuable player.

This year's team was not only active on the basketball court but held several services in churches in areas where they played. The Eagles are coached by Jim Hillbrick. Mr. LeRoy Johnson is assistant coach.

CHOIR AND ENSEMBLE MAKE SPRING TOURS

Oregon, get ready! Montana, here they come! Yes, and from a student's standpoint, what a wonderful way to spend spring vacation!

The 31-voice King's Choralons will commence their Oregon Spring Tour on March 16. The choir will present their concert in churches, auditoriums, and in C. A. rallies during a busy 12-day itinerary throughout Oregon. The 1972 King's Choralons includes collegians from Oregon, Washington, Montana and Alaska. In the group are two ASB officers, the Associated Women Students vice-president and one basketball team member. The choir will be accompanied by Miss Dorothy Amundsen, member of the music faculty and choir conductor, and by Ron DeBock, director of public relations.

The 18-member Maranatha Sounds will travel mostly in Montana after engagements in Eastern Washington and Idaho. The ensemble will not only participate in worship services and youth rallies throughout the state, but on television in Miles City. Their 11-day tour also begins March 16, first day of spring vacation. The 1972 Maranatha Sounds include young persons from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Alaska and Canada. The ensemble will be accompanied by Prof. Robert Swaffield, member of the music faculty and conductor.

Want to make sure you don't miss out on all the fun? Here's a three-step approach toward joining the caravan cruising toward the campus: First, ask around among high school youth in your church to find out who would like to go (by phone or in Sunday School class). Next, make a list of their names. Then, give the list to your pastor and discuss with him the matter of suitable transportation. (If enough plan to go, perhaps the church bus would be available). Now isn't that easy? See you Campus Day, April 7!

ROBESONS RECEIVE BOX SOCIAL RETURNS

The annual Box Social sponsored by A.W.S., for missions, was held Feb. 16th on campus, and receipts totaling $242.00 were presented to alumni members, Jerry & Carol (Hanson) Robeson, Nicaraguan missionaries, for use in Gospel television work. N.C. students several years ago gave the 1st offering to launch the Robeson's television ministry in Nicaragua. Missionary Robeson said: "We are reaching thousands through weekly nationwide half-hour T.V. programs. For $60 such a program can blanket the entire country with the gospel." He gave a colored slide presentation showing a volcano in full eruption and the 3 new self-supporting churches in Managua, Nicaragua, C.A. which they helped to establish. Their correspondence school work, under Carol Robeson's direction, now numbers over 600 students. Mr. Robeson, a recording artist, played several trumpet solos. Rev. Byron Newby (Asst. Pastor, Everett, Wash.) auctioneered for the Box Social and Linda (Benjamin) Newby assisted her husband in an old-fashioned sing along.

MRS. MOLLIE PERKS GREET'S ALUMNI

Your Alumni Editor recently spoke with Mrs. Mollie Perks, former N.C. Dean of Women, also personally visited her at Skagit Valley Convalescent Center in Sedro-Woolley, Wash. where she resides. She is a shining witness for Christ with her life and words. She often speaks to discouraged ones, saying: "God loves you, take heart." She is up and dressed daily and able to walk about though she is 87 years of age. She said: "Say hello to everyone and tell them I'm just 'tops' ". A request she made was to hear more from friends. Her address is: Skagit Valley Convalescent Center, 2019 Hiway 20 W. Sedro-Woolley, Wash, 98284.
