FROM THE BOOKSTORE

Based on the theory that whether a person thinks he is Napoleon or is a victim to nervous headaches, the common cause in both cases is the inability to fulfill two essential needs: to love and be loved, and to feel worthwhile to ourselves and to others, Reality Therapy by William Glasser, M.D. is a different approach to psychiatry. It is a book that should be on the reading list of all future ministers, teachers, and anyone who intends to work with people.
