MISSIONARY CONVENTION:

The Redmond Assembly of God Church is having a Missionary Convention starting this Wednesday at 7:30. The Convention will continue through the regular Sunday night service. This will be a special time of challenge and all students are invited to attend.

REVISED CAMPUS TRAFFIC CODE:

In an effort to clarify the traffic regulations for automobiles on campus, our traffic code has been revised. Also, the procedures for the processing of traffic citations have been more clearly defined. You will be receiving a copy of this code in your mail box on Friday of this week. If you have questions regarding it, please contact the Dean of Students Office.

BE PREPARED TO ENTERTAIN AN ANGEL:

You may want to do the following before Campus Day:

1. Contact your Assistant Dean and make your room available for a guest.
2. Double check the Campus Day schedule when it is issued. Some classes may be changed in both time and place.
3. Be sure to park in your assigned place. There will be many extra cars on campus that day.
4. Help us by tidging up both in the Residence Halls and on the grounds. Many hands make light work.

A full schedule for Campus Day will be in next Tuesday's Bulletin. You probably will want to plan on attending the Basketball game between the Eagles and Puget Sound College of the Bible at 3:00 and the student rally featuring the PR teams and ensemble at 7:00 p.m. Thank you for your cooperation.

CONGRATULATIONS:

The Intramural Men's Basketball Champions for Winter quarter were the Off-Campus Students. Their players: Steve Robertson, Bob Pruitt, Dan Millard, Ron Moe, Bob Lindquist. Thanks to all teams for their great interest and participation.

SENIORS:

All seniors in the Senior class skit please meet in Perks Hall Lounge at 3:00 p.m. Friday, March 26.

TO ALL WOMEN STUDENTS

Dear Girls,

All of us recall that changes were recently made in our Dress Code. The student committee worked diligently on the "remodeling" job and carefully considered the necessity of preserving the principal of being modest and Christian in appearance at all times. The dress length is still as stated in the Handbook. So dresses that are too short and any apparel that is too short or too tight-fitting is still not considered modest or Christian according to our Dress Code.

With the coming of Spring Quarter break, it would be well for all of us to check up on clothing we will need to alter or eliminate to meet the standard.

Since we have a Dress Code that we girls worked out, we can enjoy its freedoms, but we must operate within its stated limits.

Thank you for your attention to and cooperation in this matter.

P.S. Attached herewith is a letter (copy) from students who suggest some girls are not modest and Christian in appearance.

Attached also is Miss Guy's response.

Dear Miss Guy:

In a recent meeting of Beatty Hall men with Dean Rozell, it was suggested we could write to you about a problem which we fell should be dealt with.

Today as men of God are proclaiming from our pulits the decline and decay of our national morality, we believe Northwest College should lead the way in the battle for honor and decency. We fell Christians should stand for holiness today more than ever before. Rather than conforming to the world "for the sake of relevance", we, as Christian young people, should seek to exalt the name of Jesus, our Master, by living holy and presentable before Him in this Godless, degenerated world. Romans 12:1,2.

Specifically, the problem which concern us immediately is the immodest manner of dress which is evidenced on campus by so many of the women students. We fell short dresses, tight pants, and pants dresses are not only distasteful, but bring dishonor to the name of Christ. The manner of indecent dress ~~by~~ many of the young ladies is offensive to us as men. But most important we believe it brings reproach to our Lord.

We request you to do everything within your power to correct this unfortunate situation which has developed on campus. We ask you to help lift the standard of decency here at Northwest.

Thank you for your time and consideration of this matter.

Sincerely,

Bruce Thomas

Gentlemen:

Your letter to both Mrs. Flisram and myself, expressing concern about Women's Dress Code infractions came on Friday afternoon, and was carefully considered.

Although you men are not aware of what is being done to correct individuals, possibly there is more we can do. I assure you this matter is close to my heart, so I thank you for your concern.

Perhaps there is something we can do together, that is, in addition to praying, I mean. First, let me say that I would hope you fellows have specific individuals in mind as we cannot pursue a complaint through judgments based on generalizations. When there are persons observed to be disregarding the dress code they are referred to their Residence Council and then to the deans. Would you give us a list so that we can look into the matter.

Recent changes have been made in the Women's Dress Code. But the principal of being modest and Christian in appearance was considered important by the Student committee to maintain. The dress length is as stated in the Student Handbook. Apparel that is too short or tight-fitting is considered immodest. Therefore, the problems you mentioned in the letter are relevant. Your objection to pant dresses is something I wondered about. For two years these have been included in the dress code as permissible for casual wear. There is one problem with pant dresses which I have observed. Because of their design, the manufacturers do not make them so that they can be altered to a longer length. So because girls cannot buy pant dresses and alter them they are often too short. The divided skirt is their only redeeming feature.

There is another thought I will include in this letter of response. Where you men observe girls who do not dress modestly, there are several things you could do to help them. You might even consider "boycotting" them in dating. You could chat with them from a man's viewpoint. Then if they could be referred by you to the Women's Residence Council they would be further advised or disciplined.

We must each one do his part to uphold all the Christian Standards upon which Northwest College is founded. No one individual can do everything.

Sincerely in Christ,

Miss Guy
