Faculty Announce Summer Plans

After several years of intensive advanced schooling programs, several members of the Northwest College faculty will return to more relaxed summer routines, while others continue to study, and still others venture out in summer ministry and missionary assignments, a survey at the college reveals.

Pursuing a normally busy travel and speaking schedule for the summer will be three of the College's administrators. They include Dr. D. V. Hurst, President, whose summer speaking itinerary will take him to the midwest as well as throughout the Pacific Northwest; Director of Development, Reverend H. W. Crowder, who will travel to Bible camps in Washington, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming, and then conduct two seminars in Oregon at the Golden Years Retreat and at a Women's Missionary Council retreat; and Public Relations Director, Ron DeBock, will coordinate the travels of five college travel teams and work in the interest of Student Recruitment.

Four Northwest profs will be returning to more normal routines after intensive doctoral studies over the last several years. They include Academic Dean, Frank B. Rice, who will complete his work for his Ph.D. in Education at Washington State University; Professor Robert Swaffield, who completed his work for his Ph.D. in Musicology at the University; Professor Daniel Pecota, who has completed work for his Doctor of Ministry degree at Phillips University and Jack V. Rozell, who is completing work for his Doctor of Ministry degree at Fuller Theological Seminary. Dr. Swaffield expects to prepare his dissertation research for publication in journals.

Continuing in summer studies will be instructor, Jack Dorwart, Professor Tarno, Professor Thee, and Miss Lois Winter.

On the missionary trail this summer will be three Northwest faculty. They include Dean of Admissions, Amos D. Millard, who together with his wife will journey to Brussels to work with the summer seminar of the Foreign Missions Department's ICI program (International Correspondence Institute); Professor Dwayne Turner, instructor in Christian Education, who will participate in the Northwest District missionary outreach (SAM) in Hawaii; and Reverend and Mrs. Lester Kenney, missionary to the Philippines, who will itinerate in preparation to return to regular missionary duty. Math instructor, Mrs. Kathryn Tulloch, expects to leave together with her husband for missionary assignment under the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Penang, Indonesia in July.

Several other Northwest faculty have European travel plans. They include Professor Dorothy Amundsen, and Dean of Women, Bessie Guy. Tentatively planning to visit Paris and Europe on a business trip with her husband (who works for Boeing Co.) will be French Instructor, Mrs. Kathryn Lindquist.

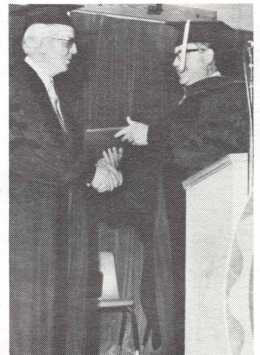

Among those traveling and working closer to home will be Miss Kristi Brodin, who will assist at the Fort Flagler youth camp, Miss Esther Dine, who will visit her home in Colorado and travel to California; Mrs. Doris Olson, who will visit family and relatives in California; Instructor, Bill Randolph, who will work in two kinds of harvest in Central Washington (church and wheat), and Professor Maxine Williams, who will visit her parents in Springfield, Missouri.

Entering upon a career of semi-retirement after a life-long career of ministry and teaching will be Professor Donald H. Fee. Appropriately, the Fees expect to journey to California for a Homecoming where Professor Fee pastored in the early 1930's. Professor Fee expects to continue in study and research during coming months, he indicated. He will teach part-time at the college during the coming academic year, it was noted.

College Honors General Council Officer

The Reverend Bartlett Peterson was the Commencement speaker.

Dr. Peterson was cited for his long career of service in Christian Education and in administrative leadership and ministry. His educational background started at Christie University in Duluth where he spent four years and continued in the University of Minnesota, North Central Bible College and

Bartlett Peterson

Central Bible College. He served as President of Central Bible College for ten years before embarking upon his present work as General Secretary of the Assemblies of God which post he has held for the last 12 years.

In reading the citation of achievement, Northwest College Academic Dean, Dr. Frank B. Rice, noted that Dr. Peterson, has served 38 accumulative years in various positions of leadership in the Assemblies of God—ranging from District Secretary for the Minnesota District Council to District Superintendent of that District to his present post.

In pulpit ministry his 9 years of pastoral work in the Minnesota district was noted together with 4 years of evangelistic work and 6 years of work with Revivaltime. He currently serves in memberships on the Board of Directors of the National Religious Broadcasters and on the National Association of Evangelicals Radio and Television Commission. He has authored numerous articles in various Assemblies of God publications as well as those published abroad. Dr. Peterson's ministry has taken him to 28 countries.

In his commencement address to the 1973 graduating class at Northwest College, Dr. Peterson urged them to seek a compassionate, positive and constructive ministry to the spiritual needs of the world, rather than to become preoccupied with nonessentials — a message which he based on the "heartbeat" of the Gospels.

Professor Fee Awarded Delta Tau

Climaxing 20 years of service at Northwest College, Professor Donald H. Fee, was awarded the Delta Tau Award of Honor at the College's 37th Commencement on May 27. Professor Fee will be going into semi-retirement status following completion of the academic year, College President, Dr. D. V. Hurst announced upon presentation of the award. The Delta Tau award is given for distinguished service and contribution to the work of the College. Professor Fee will teach on a part-time basis during the autumn and spring quarters of the coming year, Dr. Hurst said. Professor Fee has served on the College's Planning Commission during a major portion of the time that he has served on the College faculty. Prior to joining the faculty he served on the College Board through membership on the Northwest District Presbytery. Professor Fee hopes to do some writing upon retirement, he said.

71 Receive Degree At 37th Commencement

Amidst the pageantry and color of flags, honor guards, and academic symbolism seventy-one graduates received degrees at ceremonies marking Northwest College's 37th Commencement exercises on the campus on Sunday, May 27th. Bringing the Commencement address was the Reverend Dr. Bartlett Peterson, General Secretary for the General Council of the Assemblies of God. Dr. Peterson was honored by the college by the conferral of the honorary degree, Doctor of Divinity, during the commencement ceremonies.

With cryptic analogies Dr. Peterson urged the graduates to enter into a positive, constructive approach to ministering to the world's needs.

The graduating roster included 21 candidates for the Associate in Arts degree; seven for the Bachelor of Science degree and forty-three for the Bachelor of Arts degree.

Twelve of the grads were graduated with honors, Cum Laude (3.0 or better) or Magna Cum Laude (3.5 or better). They were Mr. Mitchell Comrie of Pendleton, Oregon; Miss Ronee Dorsett of Alderwood Manor, Washington; Mr. Daniel Lindemulder of Columbus, Montana; Miss Elaine Massier of Bothell, Washington; Mr. Paul Landry of Seattle, Washington; Mrs. Karen Dixon of Idaho Falls, Idaho, Mr. Dale Dyck of Clayton, Washington; Mr. Wayne Fischer of Grenora, North Dakota; Mrs. Betty Jo Kenney of Auburn, Washington; Mr. Norman Lund of Woodinville, Washington; Miss Ann Selstad of Vaughn, Montana; and Mr. Bradley Worden of Lancaster, California.

Four of the grads were inducted into membership in the Delta Epsilon Chi Honor Society. They were Mrs. Karen Dixon, Mr. Paul Landry, Miss Ann Selstad and Mr. Bradley Worden.

Housing For Married Students Nestled in "The Firs"

The twenty-four new apartments for married students are rapidly taking shape in order to meet the deadline for occupancy in the Fall. Target date for completion is August 15 according to Herb Crowder, Director of Development. The beautiful park-like setting lends itself appropriately to be named "The Firs" which was the name decided upon recently by the Board of Directors. The apartments are located two minutes walking time from the chapel.

Several applications have already been received for the apartments. Space is being allocated on the basis of (1) Order applications are received, (2) Class standing, (3) Rental tenure probability. For further information concerning the married students apartments or for an application form, please contact the Office of the Dean of Students, Northwest College, P.O. Box 579, Kirkland, WA 98033 (822-8266, ext. 22).

Three Named To Outstanding Educators

Three members of the Northwest College Administration and faculty have been named to Outstanding Educators of America for 1973, it was announced at the College today. They are Dr. D. V. Hurst, President; Dean Frank B. Rice, Academic Dean, and Dr. Robert Swaffield, Professor of Music at the College.

Selections were based on professional and civic achievements and were part of an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for exceptional service, achievement and leadership in the field of education throughout the nation. Those chosen are featured in the national awards volume, Outstanding Educators of America.

Dr. Hurst has served as the College's chief administrative officer since 1966 and was honored by Southwestern Assemblies of God College with the Doctor of Divinity in 1972. Dean Rice has served as Academic Dean at the College since 1968 and as instructor in English since 1962. He is currently in candidacy for the Ph.D. in Educational Administration at Washington State University. Dr. Swaffield was awarded his Ph.D. in Musicology last October and has served on the college faculty since 1969.

Alums Honored At Commencement

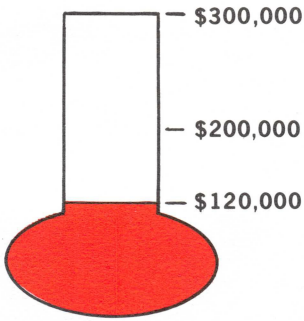

Four alumni were honored with honorary membership in the Delta Epsilon Chi Honor Society at Commencement ceremonies at Northwest College on May 27th. They were the Reverend Clifford Hobson, member of the class of 1943 and Mrs. Trinidad Selecky, member of the class of 1962.

Two other alums were cited for the honors, but will publicly be presented with the tokens of membership when they come home next year on furlough from the mission fields where they serve. They are the Reverend Duane Dorsing and Reverend Everett McKinney, members of the class of 1962.

Reverend Hobson is District Secretary-Treasurer for the Northwest District Council of the Assemblies of God. Mrs. Selecky is Registrar and faculty member of the Far East Advanced School of Theology in Manila, Philippines. Reverend Dorsing is principal of the Southeast Asia Bible Institute in Singapore, and the Reverend Everett McKinney serves as principal of the Immanuel Bible Institute in Cebu City, Philippines.

The citations were given on the basis of outstanding achievement, Christian character, and leadership and were selected from classes with at least ten years of post-college history.

Four members of the 1973 graduating class were inducted into active membership. They were (pictured from the left), Mrs. Karen Dixon of Idaho Falls, Idaho, Miss Ann Selstad of Vaughn, Montana, Mr. Paul Landry of Seattle, Washington and Mr. Brad Worden, of Lancaster, California. The Society is a national inter-collegiate society among member schools of the Accrediting Association of Bible Colleges.

$300,000 in pledges is needed to complete funding for the new library. Approximately $120,000 of this amount has been pledged.

College To Host Summer Institute

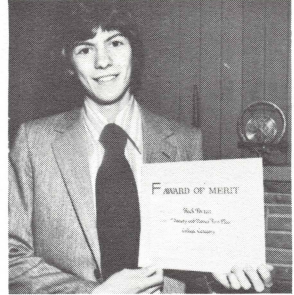

Northwest College will host the Summer Institute on Scientific Creationism August 27-31, College President Dr. D. V. Hurst announced. The Institute is one of five to be held throughout the U.S. and Canada sponsored by the Institute for Creation Research and co-sponsored by Azusa Pacific College in Los Angeles. The institute is open to students, teachers, pastors, church youth directors, and interested laymen. The institute may be taken for college credit. Three quarter credits are available in the institute.

The institute will offer 30 class hours of lectures and panel presentations, dealing with such topics as Creationism, Origin of Life, Evolutionary Mechanisms, Fossil Records, Geophysics, Evolution, Philosophy and Social Science. Bringing a five lecture series on the special topic of "Evolution, Philosophy and Social Science" will be Dr. John N. Moore, Professor of Natural Science at Michigan State University. Other members of the faculty will include Dr. Duane T. Gish, Associate Director of the Institute for Creation Research, and Professor Harold S. Slusher, Assistant Professor of Physics and Director, Kidd Memorial Seismic Observatory, University of Texas in El Paso.

Cost of the five-day Institute, including college credit is $110 with board and room (without board and room $70); without college credit $75 with board and room, $35 without board and room. Pastors, youth leaders, laymen and others may attend the course without credit, it was explained. A detailed brochure including an application form may be obtained by writing the Admissions Office, Northwest College, P.O. Box 579, Kirkland, WA 98033 or by telephone at 206-822-8266, ext. 38.

NC Student Wins Top Prize at Film Festival

A freshman student Rick Portin won first place in the college level competition for a motion picture produced while in Miss Winter's Sociology class here at Northwest College. The film was placed in competition in the Washington State Student Film Festival sponsored by the Washington Association for Educational Communications and Technology.

The prize included a $25.00 cash award for Rick and a Graflex projector to Northwest College. Two films were entered and the one receiving the first prize was a ten minute color film with magnetic stripe sound aimed at showing what society thinks of today's movies. Assisting in the project were Don Millard and Richard Hoyt, members of the same class.

Rick's talent should be put to practical use as he plans to assist foreign missionaries in gathering contemporary information of interest from mission fields around the world.

Northwest College Prof Wins Scholarship

Northwest College History Professor, LeRoy D. Johnson was awarded a scholarship to participate in the 1973 National Endowment for the Humanities Seminar at the University of Washington scheduled for the coming summer.

The nine-week seminar will deal with relations between master-servitude segments of nine different societies in which slavery systems existed. Professor Johnson will also be doing a research project on the History of Zionism. The $2,000 scholarship includes a financial stipend to enable participants to spend the summer in school. Professor Johnson earned his B.S. and M.S. degrees at St. Cloud State College and was engaged in public education in Aitkin, Minnesota before joining the College faculty in 1967.

Alumni Association Honors Two

In a relaxed atmosphere built around the theme of "Reminiscing" the 1973 Northwest College Alumni Homecoming Banquet, was the scene of two Alumnus of the Year awards on May 26.

Receiving the minister Alumnus of the Year award was the Reverend Linfield Crowder, well-known missionary evangelist from American Falls, Idaho, and the layman Alumnus of the Year award was Mr. Dale Hatloe of Everett, Washington. Presentations were made by retiring Alumni President, Reverend Richard Strum of Redmond, Washington.

Rev. Crowder

Assuming the post of new Alumni Association President was the Reverend Allen Baunsgard, District Youth Director for the Northwest District Council of the Assemblies of God.

Alumnus also presented scholarship awards to two Northwest College juniors for the coming academic year. They are Miss Darilyn Bennett, junior student from Ellensburg, Washington and Mr. Mike Axton, also a junior student from Springfield, Oregon.

Reverend Crowder was graduated from the college in 1953 and was cited for his work as an evangelist throughout the U.S. and on the missionary field. He has been a General Council speaker for the Assemblies of God and twice served as Spiritual Emphasis Week speaker at the College in the fall quarter of 1971.

Mr. Hatloe, an Everett businessman and proprietor of Hatloe and Sons Paint Company in Everett, was cited for his active role in Christian lay leadership in his Church, Bethany Temple in Everett, for nearly 30 years.

The presence of Homecoming Queen Judy Coggins and her royal court added pageantry to the banquet.

Newly elected Alumni Association President Allan Baunsgard presents an old gavel to Richard I. Strum, alumni president for the past three years. Reverend Strum officiated during the very interesting alumni banquet held May 25. Approximately 125 were in attendance.
