From The President

Dr. D. V. Hurst

It's Back to the Books

I was flying from Spokane to Portland, going from the Montana District Council to the Oregon Council. My seat partner . . . a withdrawing California professor—he resigned because a “deserving colleague failed to receive tenure.”

I discovered we had mutual friends, so we talked at length. The conversation turned to universities and professors. “Too many professors don’t know why they’re teaching or how,” he said. I didn’t debate the point with him then, but have pondered it often since. I wonder if he is right.

While it’s commencement time across the land, and many are thinking of leaving school, there’s been a new (and old) mood on campus this year according to the National Observer. There’s been little burning . . . rioting . . . running! Grades are what count now!

It’s back to the books; it’s a new interest in religion. Students are in a new search for meaning and a better world—but within themselves, not in revolution. One senior said the two issues on campus are “mid-terms and finals.”

It’s interesting that the student world should swing so fast. But on the heels of my seat-companion’s opinion regarding professors, I wonder if they will accept the traditional role of the classroom—lectures, study, tests, papers, and grades. I wonder if they will return to the “competition for grades” scene as one student phrased it and accepted it! I think most of the professors will, and much of the higher education scene will turn to the pragmatism and conservatism” another student identified as the tone now.

In any event, I find it reassuring that N.C. students and faculty have stayed “with the books” all along.

The Apostle’s line, “bring the books” is meaningful to students of The Book! Study . . . reflection . . . intellectual and spiritual growth are the goals of the serious student, and always have been. If one is going to do anything worthwhile in life, he must be something first. And that’s what education is all about—and especially so at N.C.!

Pioneer Addresses Chapel on 60th Anniversary Chapel

A special commemorative chapel service to the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Assemblies of God was held at Northwest College April 10th. Special guest speaker for the service was the Reverend Wesley W. Fleming, one of the pioneers and “elder statesmen” of the Assemblies of God ministry. Now residing in Walla, Walla, Washington, scene of his last pastorate, the Reverend Mr. Fleming is in his 55th year of preaching ministry and his 47th year as an Assemblies of God minister. He recalled for the students and faculty some of the milestones of faith which characterize the Assemblies of God movement historically and theologically.

Having ministered for 28 years as an evangelist and another 27 years as a pastor in the Northwest, the Reverend Mr. Fleming described some of the scenes and developments which characterized his early life and ministry and which characterized the major ingredient of the movement—the power and the moving of the Holy Spirit.

The anniversary celebration is being observed throughout the Assemblies of God fellowship commemorating the first milestone of the denomination’s history, which dates back to its first Council meeting which convened at Hot Springs, Arkansas April 2-12, 1914. The denomination came into being as a result of a spontaneous revival movement throughout the country, especially in the mid-west, the southland, and west coast. The movement has grown to a world membership of nearly 4 million members and adherents, nearly 9,000 churches in the U.S. with more than 18,000 ordained and licensed ministers. Northwest College is one of the nine accredited Colleges of the denomination.

Minerva Crowder Memorial Grows

A living memorial was established in honor of Minerva Crowder. The fund known as “The Minerva Crowder Memorial Fund” has grown to $1,481. Friends who still wish to contribute in memory of Minerva Crowder may designate their offering to the fund in care of Northwest College. The fund will be used to assist in building the proposed new library on campus.

Lay Council Adopts Double and Build Project

The Tenth Annual Northwest College Lay Council produced some impressive records of accomplishments, Council Executive Secretary Herb Crowder said today. Adopting the theme for its annual project drive, "Double and Build", the Council subscribed to a total of $25,200 towards the College's new library building. The Council undertook to respond to the goal of moving up the beginning of construction of the new building in view of the fact that building costs are increasing at the rate of about 10% per year, it was reported.

Special guest and speaker for the Council was Dr. Jake Hershman, an Assemblies of God layman, who heads the Institutional Eligibility Unit of the Office of Education in

Retiring President
Don Skidmore

Washington, D. C. Dr. Hershman is in much demand as a speaker at conventions, convocations, and educational conferences over the nation. His address at the Council Banquet focused on the status of higher education in the U. S. and on the unique values of Christian higher education as a pervasive factor in American society at the present time. A Banquet attendance of 225 laymen, pastors, and educators was on hand to hear Dr. Hershman.

The Council elected new officers in the persons of Mr. Wesley Johnson, a Boeing Engineer, who has taken an active interest in the work of the Lay Council since its founding ten years ago. Elected as Vice-President was Mr. Lloyd Cook, a Yakima businessman who operates a resort motor lodge in the White Pass on Rimrock Lake.

Newly elected
Pres. Wes Johnson

The ladies' wing of the Council, known as the Women's Auxiliary, also adopted a project to provide new drapes and furniture for the two lounges of Perks Hall, Women's residence hall on the campus. President of the Women's Auxiliary is Mrs. Wanda Eldridge. Next years dates for the Council are April 11 and 12, 1975.

College's 40th Year Milestone

Commencement to Honor Grads and Guests

May 26th will mark the occasion when Northwest College will observe the conclusion of its 40th year of history and its 38th graduating commencement. Special guest and honoree at the Commencement this year will be the Reverend Melvin Hodges, long-time missionary executive, author, and currently professor of missions at the new Assemblies of God Graduate School of Theology in Springfield, Missouri. The College will honor the Reverend Mr. Hodges with the conferment of the Honorary Degree, Doctor of Divinity. He will then bring the Commencement address.

The occasion will represent the ceremonial highlight of the college careers of members of the 1974 graduating class at the college who are candidates for degrees. Of this number 19 will receive the Associate in Arts Degree; two will receive the Bachelor of Theology degree upon completion of the five-year program.

Other honors to be awarded on the school's most colorful academic convocation of the school year will include Delta Epsilon Chi Honor Society awards to selected members of the 1974 graduating class and three honorary memberships in the Honor Society to alumni. The alumni include Missionary Duane Dorsing, class of 1961; the Reverend Lewis LaMance, member of the class of 1941; the Reverend John Weaver, member of the class of 1954.

Additionally, Delta Tau Award of Honor, representing recognition for outstanding service to the college will be made to Miss Dorothy Amundsen, former professor of Music at the College, and to the Reverend B. P. Wilson, long-time friend and board member of the College, who served on the College Board until his retirement from the superintendency of the Alaska District Council of the Assemblies of God for reasons of health.

The colorful pageantry marking the occasion will start with the cross-campus processional from the College Library to the Northwest Pavilion where the Commencement service will take place.

Preceding the Commencement will be the traditional Baccalaureate service held in the College Chapel on Saturday evening May 25th. Bringing the message will be the Reverend Paul Cantelon, pastor of Calvary Temple in Bellingham, Washington.

College President Dr. D. V. Hurst notes that this 40-year milestone in the college's colorful history will be marked by a special milestone of achievement, representing the first class to be graduated since the college achieved full regional accreditation. The College holds dual accreditation including professional accreditation with the American Association of Bible Colleges, a recognition it has held since 1953.

The King's Choralons and the Maranatha Sounds returned from their spring tours with a good report of blessed services and many decisions for Christ. The 30-voice King's Choralons ministered in churches in Washington and Oregon, while the 12-voice Maranatha Sounds carried their musical concerts to churches in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana. The King's Choralons were under the direction of Dr. W. R. Swaffield. Professor Jack Waggoner directs the Maranatha Sounds.

Pastor's Workshop on Counseling Received With Enthusiasm

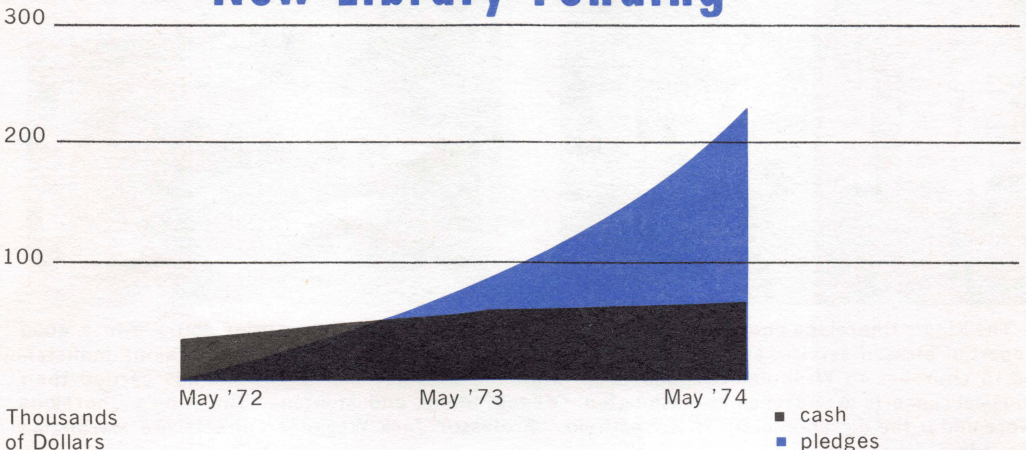

Dr. Sig Weedman (left) with Pastor Daniel Young of Oak Harbor, WA.

Pastors, their wives, students and teachers attended another Pastor's Workshop sponsored by the Counseling Department of Northwest College on April 16, arranged by Dr. Jack Rozell, Director of Counseling at the College. The theme for the workshop was "Help, Help, Help—The Pastor as Counselor." The speaker was Dr. Sig Weedman, local psychiatrist and consultant on the college staff.

One pastor in attendance "found value in the sharing of experience and the bridging of the communication gap between psychiatrist and pastor." A youth pastor "enjoyed the presentation because of practical application-down to earth approach." Another quite typical comment came from a distant pastor who simply said that he found the workshop "very helpful and am looking forward to more!"
