

THE NORTHWESTERN

ASSEMBLIES OF GOD • KIRKLAND, WASHINGTON

NORTHWEST COLLEGE

Largest Pentecostal church in the world, the Full Gospel Central Church in Seoul has 25,000 members. Its pastor, Dr. Yonggi Cho, will be Missions Week speaker at NC.

Winter Quarter Missions Emphasis

Pastor Cho and President Hurst share broadcast in Far East.

The Reverend Dr. Yonggi Cho, superintendent of the Assemblies of God of Korea, will be guest speaker at Northwest College January 20-24, 1975.

I am pleased that we can bring his ministry to Northwest College for our Winter Quarter Emphasis Week.

Traditionally the world missions emphasis, this will be a rare occasion when a product of Assemblies of God missions who, in turn, has been used of God so mightily, can come to campus and preach a missions emphasis.

A native of Korea, Dr. Yonggi Cho is now pastor of the Full Gospel Central Church in Seoul. With a congregation of 24,000 active members, this is the largest Pentecostal church in the world. A new church plant completed and dedicated in September 1973 has a seating capacity of 10,000 persons. It accommodated the daytime activities of the 1973 World Pentecostal Conference which was held in Seoul.

As superintendent of the Assemblies of God of Korea, Dr. Yonggi Cho leads the administrative board governing the largest Assemblies of God Bible school overseas with approximately 330 students enrolled.

Converted from Buddhism and healed of tuberculosis by the power of God, Dr. Cho relates his testimony in a recently published book To God Be The Glory. A dynamic speaker, Dr. Cho's ministry has received worldwide recognition.

I have been privileged to minister in his great church on two occasions, once in a week-long youth crusade two and one-half years ago, and again just this past summer on a Wednesday evening when in two different services—5 p.m. and 7 p.m.—approximately 7,000 people were present.

I never cease to be amazed at the Korean Pentecostal revival, the intensity of worship these fine people show and their devotion to the ministry of prayer.

The church there is growing phenomenally and a world mission emphasis is developing. In their first World Missions Conference earlier this year, the Full Gospel Central Church of Seoul alone gave $70,000 towards missions in one month. Dr. Cho's missions goal for the church for the month of May in 1976 is $500,000.

I believe this man of faith and vision will bring a missions awareness to N.C. that is unexcelled! I urge any who can to share the services with us and all friends of N.C. to pray that God will make it a great week for world evangelism!

Students Win Speech Trophies

Darla Ventling (left) and Sheryl Hanson hold trophies won at speech tournament. Instructor Tarno (center) remarked that it was Miss Ventling's first public speaking experience.

Two students in Professor Don Tarno's Forensics class won second place trophies at the recent annual Puget Sound Speech Tournament. Miss Darla Ventling won in Oratory and Miss Sharyl Hanson in Interpretative Reading.

Nine NC students participated in the tournament. Other participants were: Cheri Johnson, Nancy Summers, Cindy Hutchinson, Barb Hale, Rick Vickery, Dave Schroeder and Larry Baker.

Eight colleges and universities competed in the tournament held October 16th at Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma.

Student Aid: Significant Picture

Miss Guy and Mr. Spradley

Almost one out of every five students enrolled in Northwest College during the autumn quarter is receiving regular subsistence from three government educational benefit programs, the Registrar's office reports. Leading the list are 62 students attending under the G.I. Bill, with two receiving assistance under the War Orphan Assistance program, and 23 receive benefits under the Social Security Educational Assistance program.

Financial Aids Officer Lyle B. Spradley estimates that over eighty students have been assisted by Government College programs administered directly by the College. Included are grants and loans to needy students. Mr. Spradley estimates that as many as seventy percent of those students receiving assistance were awarded outright grants. He noted also that the Washington State Grant program for General Studies Students amounts to some $10,000 and the Basic Grant program funded by the Federal Government amounts to over $40,000 ($9,000 last year). The number of students receiving grants and loan benefits will increase, he added, as processing of current applications continues.

Even more substantive sources of student help comes from the College's employment service to its students. Miss Bessie Guy, Director of Employment at the College, estimates that over eighty percent of NC students work to help earn their way through college. She summarized, "They come prepared to get work, and they get it."

In spite of rising costs, the old adage, "where there is a will, there is a way" was never more true than for today's young person desiring a college education.

Flying Seminar: Following Paul in Rome

The old adage, "All roads lead to Rome" bespeaking Rome's reign of imperial rule over the Mediterranean world for over half a millenium, will take on new meaning to NC's Flying Seminararians during the College's Sixth Annual Flying Seminar March 12-23, 1975.

Flying from Tel Aviv, Israel to Rome, will be a morning flight for the Seminararians. For the Apostle Paul, it turned out to be a voyage of several months, a voyage that was completed only by divine intervention.

Of special interest to the tour party will be the marble-studded ruins of the ancient Roman Forum, center of the empire that ruled the world when our Lord was born as a Babe in Bethlehem some 1,500 miles away.

In the Plain of Rome is the site of most of the Catacombs, where the "Trophies" (name given to departed Christians) were buried and where early Christians worshipped in the era of the Imperial persecutions.

Rome, the eternal city, will show the ravages of time and fading glory of its past. The visit will help to highlight the contrast between the fading glory of the kingdoms of this world and the increasing glory of the city which God has prepared for them that love Him. What a dynamic experience awaits Flying Seminararians as they view the remains of an ancient city where indeed the blood of the martyrs became the seed of the Church!

Faculty Doctoral Thesis Published

Dr. Jack V. Rozell today announced the publication of his doctoral thesis, as part of a symposium of doctoral dissertations at Fuller Theological Seminary, entitled, Biblical and Psychological Perspectives. The book contains abstracts on four doctoral dissertations written by doctoral students at Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, California. Writing his dissertation while in residence at the Seminary in 1973, Dr. Rozell entitled it "Implications of the New Testament Concept of Conscience for Pastoral Counseling." In his dissertation, Dr. Rozell conducts a study into the meaning of the New Testament concept of conscience and its implications for Counseling. The book is published by Publishers Services, a subsidiary of William Carey Library in Pasadena.

At the College, Dr. Rozell is Director of Counseling and professor of Counseling Ministries. In view of current trends in the pastoral ministry involving pastors up to 60% of their professional work time in counseling, the College has inaugurated a new training program in Counseling Ministries offering a minor in the field. The new program has been largely developed and coordinated by Dr. Rozell, and is also taught and staffed by Christian professional personnel in the greater Seattle area.

It was not until the autumn quarter was well under way that it was discovered that five students were enrolled from the First Assembly of God in Billings, Montana. Interestingly, all of these young ladies were at some time members of the "Lost and Found" choir of their home church in Billings. Pic-

Former Northwest College faculty member the Reverend and Mrs. Allan S. Ellis, commemorated their Golden Wedding Anniversary at a reception given them by their four sons and by Calvary Temple in the Paul Ness Room of Calvary Temple in Seattle on October 26. Two of their sons, Richard, missionary to Latin America, and Mark, who lives in Seattle, are graduates of Northwest College. Reverend Ellis, who originates from England, taught Biblical studies and New Testament Greek at the College from 1945 to 1953. He is the author of a book on his early evangelistic career, On The Caribou Trail.

The Allied Arts Symphony of Seattle has awarded significant ongoing scholarships to NC Librarian Miss Margaret Garman, and to frosh student David Donaldson. Their expertise is on the viola. The Allied Arts Symphony is scheduled to present The Messiah at the Seattle Opera House December 3rd.

Demographic Survey: Autumn, 1974

A demographic survey prepared by the Registrar's office shows the autumn quarter students come from 25 states and nine foreign countries. Leading the list for the number of students is Washington State with 302 (55%) followed by Oregon and Montana. The sharpest increase in terms of numbers came from Washington State with 42 more students on campus than were enrolled a year ago, a 16% increase.

The fact that the NC Eagles are preparing for another exciting basketball season is evident down at the gym! Soon after the great Turkey Day Tournament at home, they will fly off to Alaska for encounters with the University of Alaska and Sheldon Jackson College. Except as noted below, all home games begin at 8:00 p.m. in the Northwest Pavilion. The 1974-75 Basketball Schedule is as follows, with home games in bold type:
