There will be four class reunions in May of 1979. These will be the classes of '39, '49, and '69. Make plans early to be a part of meaningful time.

CAMPUS MASTER PLAN APPROVED

BASEMENT

From The President

MASTER PLAN APPROVED BY CITY

A Master Plan which projects future development of Northwest College's 55-acre campus was recently given approval by the Kirkland City Council with some minor modifications. The Plan projects a traffic system, campus beautification, as well as the development of new facilities in the foreseeable future.

The Master Plan is the product of a long process of work by the Campus Planning Commission after which it came under review and hearings by the City Planning Office, the Houghton Community Council, and finally by the Kirkland City Council.

The Council's action is significant and has the effect of creating proper zoning for the College and for the future development of the campus without further public hearings—unless there is a major change from the Master Plan. Dr. Hurst points out that this provision is also important in the light of hearing procedures tied to the environmental impact trend of the day. A clock tower planned for the upper campus will require public hearing when designed.

Significant in the approved plan will be a provision for three entrances onto the campus from the south side of the campus, and a provision for dense buffering primarily on the north side of the campus.

Some developments in current planning, which are part of the Master Plan, will include the Administration-Faculty complex, married student housing, an athletic field, a new main entrance to the campus from 108th Avenue, and other related developments.

The College is currently finishing new classroom and office facilities on the first floor of the Library building, and the development of eight additional rooms in Perks Residence Hall for women students.

The newly approved Master Plan not only clears up some legal hurdles to future development but intrinsically provides for future development as growth of the College requires in an orderly and programmed manner, Dr. Hurst points out.

Fall Convocation

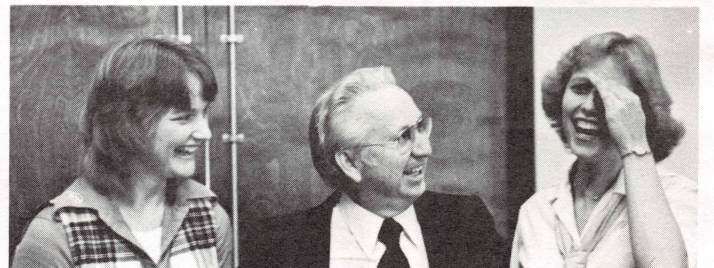

OREGON SUPERINTENDENT: "Blessing and Brokenness"

Reverend Earl Book, District Superintendent of the Oregon District Council of the Assemblies of God, was the featured speaker at the Northwest College convocation, marking the official opening of the 1978-79 school year.

In a moving message that claimed the attention of a capacity audience of faculty and students in the College's C. E. Butterfield Chapel, the District superintendent spoke about "Brokenness and Blessedness." The eloquence and power of his words made their appeal to the spiritual consciousness of his hearers, holding them in rapt attention in a manner which almost seemed unusual to observers who were present.

Starting with the theme of the Lord's Supper, a feature of the Convocation Service, the Superintendent reminded the listeners that Jesus blessed and broke the elements representing his body, as He did when He fed the multitudes and in experience on the cross and resurrection. Finally, the Superintendent spoke of a time coming when the Christian experience will be brokenness no more, but final triumph and blessing.

Dr. D. V. Hurst, College President, kept a 43-year-old tradition going by directing the Convocation Service. Guest musicians were Mrs. Joy North Burchett and piano accompanist, the Reverend Mr. Donald P. Galloway, minister of Music at the First Assembly of God Church in Tacoma, Washington.

Rev. Book is pictured in ministry as well as greeting several Oregon students which include, Verlon Fosner, Greg Slape, Gayle Grissom, and Jan Dahlberg.

FALL ENROLLMENT SETS NEW RECORD

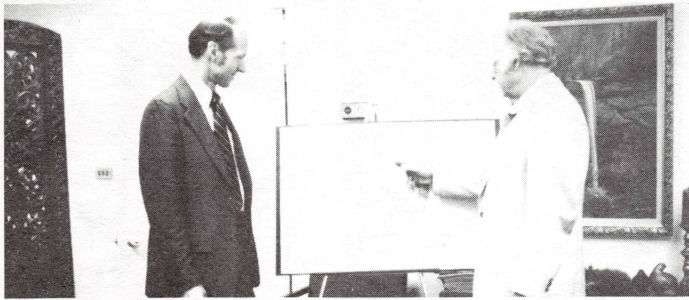

Fall quarter enrollment at Northwest College broke all previous records when the College registered 727 students for the quarter. The fall enrollment figure is not only an all-time record, but it is the 17th consecutive quarter that the College has experienced a record enrollment for a respective quarter.

The previous all-time enrollment record was experienced last year during the winter quarter when the enrollment reached 707 students. Freshman enrollment is up almost 9% over last year, while over-all enrollment is up by almost 5% over last year.

A profile on the new students developed by the Admissions Office reveals that new students came from 30 states—lead in order by Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, and Alaska—and from seven foreign countries.

Grade point averages earned by the incoming students this year are up over last year, the office reports, with 86% of the new applicants holding grade averages of 2.5 or above compared with 76% one year ago. At the same time, 60% of the groups earned grade averages of 3.0 or better, compared with 47% one year ago.

An increase in the number of transfer students is also noted by the Admissions Office. The study reports applications from 140 transfer students compared to 119 one year ago.

Student leaders and teachers enjoy a special presentation. The college could use several T.V. sets to help make the system usable in more class rooms. Can you help?

A NEW HORIZON

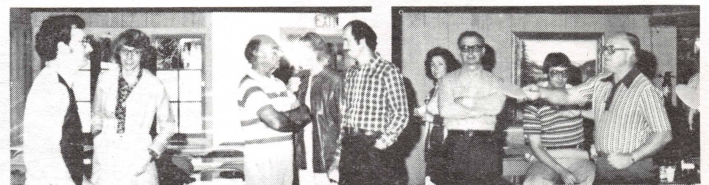

Entering college is like walking over a hill and viewing a vast new horizon, there are so many opportunities for growth. A crowd of new faces with new names boggle the mind, but everyone is a prospective friend. New classes stimulate the mind awakening the dormant study habits of high school. Instructors help create a desire to know more, to develop the intellectual depths and spiritual insights they have obtained. A mature atmosphere with the blanket-like presence of God's love creates an over-all sense of warmth and of belonging. Having just started, the horizon is just being observed. There is so much to experience and to know.

NEW DORM ROOMS

New dorm rooms have been added in the Perks 400 floor area. The area had formerly been used as classrooms for the Business department and Early Childhood Education. Through a major remodeling effort this summer and early fall, eight new dorm rooms have been added which will house 23 young ladies. Pictured below are some photos of the work activities. In addition to the construction in Perks Hall, the first floor of the Library has been completed and three additional classrooms, as well as four faculty offices have been added.

Student Leaders And Faculty Banquet

SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS WEEK

Reverend Roy Sapp, pastor of First Assembly of God in Honolulu, Hawaii, was the fall Spiritual Emphasis Week speaker. It was a delight to have him visiting the campus and be a part of the spiritual fervor at the beginning of another college year. His messages added depth and strength to the student body and faculty alike.

E.C.E. UPDATE

Shirley Clark, teacher and head of the Early Childhood Education division, is excited to share news from former students who are doing well in the ECE field. Debra Britt, has started her own preschool called The Ark, in Heppner, Oregon. She reports that things are going well for her and that the enrollment is increasing each year. Evonne Green, who graduated last May with her A.A., is now working at the Montessori TreeHouse School in Spokane, Washington. Mrs. Kay York is now employed teaching kindergarten at the Redmond Assembly of God, and Mrs. Sharyl Kimber of Yakima, taught the preschool level classes in the Northwest District's Sunday School convention this September. George Held, 1975 grad, is Day Care and Preschool director at Westminster Assembly of God in Seattle. George was the first to be licensed by the state after finishing our ECE program. Many students are enrolled in this program and it appears it is going to continue to be a very practical field of training and ministry.

Reverend A. C. Grimes, who pastored many years in the Oregon District, is now the Resident Dean of Men. He's already loved and appreciated by the men students and is doing an excellent job. Sister Grimes has taken over the responsibility of the Snack Shack and loves her work as well as the young people who drop by.

SUMMER SEES FACULTY "FAR AND WIDE"

Serving on a college faculty often involves a great variety of work experiences both on campus and off campus. Such was the experience of many of the faculty at Northwest College.

College President, D.V. Hurst, lead the "pack" in a busy work schedule which centered on the campus as well as off campus around the Pacific Northwest, the Mid-West, the Assemblies of God Church Growth Convention in Kansas City, and at various educational committee assignments by the Department of Education of the Assemblies of God.

One of the key summer experiences in the category of a "Busman's Holiday", was experienced by Pastoral Studies professor, Dwayne Braddy, who had opportunity to practice what he taught his students in the classroom. Professor Braddy flew to Illinois where he served as Director of the District's camping program for the summer. Illinois was familiar territory for the energetic professor who served as pastor in the Illinois District before coming to the classroom at the College one year ago.

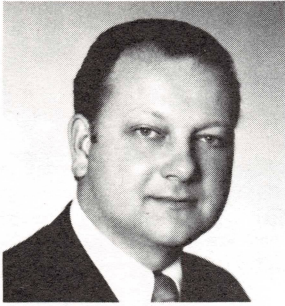

Several faculty have traveled abroad this summer. Leading the summer Flying Seminar were Miss Maxine Williams and Dr. John Pope. Dr. Pope made a further trip to Tiran, Iran, on a military mission as an Air Force chaplain. Miss Williams left for a tour of service to the Assemblies of God Bible School in Costa Rica. Traveling to Brussels to be a part of the ICI writing staff were Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Pecota.

Among those faculty members who went back to the classroom as students taking graduate studies this summer were, Mrs. Shirley Clark, Professor Dan French, and Professor Calvin White.

Summer school classes on the campus involved a number of the Biblical Studies faculty, while a busy summer was the lot of Academic Dean, Dr. Frank B. Rice, who had the special task of editing and publishing the College's Self-Study. The Self-Study itself was the product of a year-long study by numerous committees in preparation for the College's forthcoming re-examination by the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges coming up this fall.

In addition, Herb Crowder, Woodrow Fletcher, and Bob Griffin traveled to churches, camps, and other areas doing general student recruitment, stewardship and counseling on behalf of the College.

WORKSHOP TO EXPLORE RECENT DISCOVERIES

Biblical Archaeology is one of the fields of investigation that has had a phenomenal development in modern times. "Recent discoveries in the Middle East", will be the special topic for a lecture series with Dr. Robert A. Cooley, well-known Assemblies of God scholar, who has himself conducted recent excavations in the Delta region of Egypt in what is known to Bible students as the "Land of Goshen."

Dr. Cooley also worked with the late Dr. Joseph Free, of Wheaton College, in excavations which brought to light the ancient biblical city of Dothan. It seems significant that Dr. Cooley's field work starts with the exit point in Israel where Joseph was sold as a slave to traders who took him to Egypt, and that his most recent work has to do with an area in Egypt from whence the Exodus from Egypt took place after some 400 years of Hebrew sojourn there.

The one-day lecture series is set for April 17th and will provide a prime opportunity for pastors, lay persons, college students, and teachers to gain insights on up-to-date research surrounding the Bible today.

The seminar is one of a series of workshops and seminars sponsored by the College in its continuing education series for the updating and enrichments of its students, faculty, pastors and friends of the College.

Professor
Jack
Dorwart

His license plate reads "JULY 4", for Jack Dorwart was born on his country's Independence Day. Somehow this seems appropriate for the man who has taught all of Northwest College's American Literature courses and most other English courses since 1966. In fact, it seems to have set the tone for his whole life. Collector and scholar of Americana, he enjoys traveling to historic and literary sites along the Eastern seaboard when possible, and taking special courses or seminars relating to the history and literature of the American colonies on site. His young son, "Nat", is the namesake of the famous American author, Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Motivated by a desire to contribute to the training of future ministers, Jack and his wife, Barbara, moved west from Pennsylvania to Washington in 1966 to join NC's teaching faculty. Barbara taught in the public schools in Kirkland until the coming of their first child last year. Since joining the NC faculty, Jack has taken a second masters degree at the University of Washington. He had previously received the B.A. degree in Bible from Central Bible College, and an M.A. in English from Bradley University. His latest degree emphasized oral interpretation of literature.

Jack is an avid reader, but he lays his books aside occasionally to beat one of his colleagues at ping pong or chess. A music lover, he also is studying guitar. He teaches Sunday school or fulfills other leadership roles as needed in his church. He believes in working hard at worthwhile tasks—and his students know he expects the same of them.

WORKSHOPS

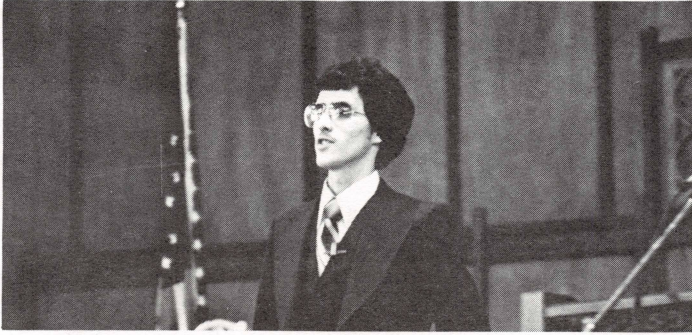

CHURCH BUSINESS AND MANAGEMENT

Scheduled for February 6, this workshop will feature Mr. Carl Kanz, administrator of Tacoma First Assembly, and Dr. Hurst.

THE LIFE THREATENING ILLNESS

This is an annual workshop sponsored by the V.A. Hospital in cooperation with Northwest College. Chaplain Milton Whitaker and Dr. Robert Parlotz are the teachers. The workshop, scheduled for February 26, 27, & 28, is limited and requires advance reservations.

DARREL JOHNSEN— STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT

Praise God! That is one of my main objectives for the upcoming year. I see a need for the Student Body to learn to praise and thank God in all things. If nothing else, I hope that we will each realize the importance and necessity of praising and thanking God for the many things that He has done, and is doing for us.

It's great to be back at Northwest and I am anticipating an exciting year. As the student leaders met last week, the Spirit of the Lord ministered to us in a special way. We were shown the necessity of a servant's attitude for each of us as leaders. We have been elected to serve the Student Body as well as to lead them.

As we planned out our activities and goals for the upcoming year, we sought for a balance between the social, spiritual, and academic areas of College life. I have a very qualified staff to work with this year and with God's help, we will lead Northwest to one of its best years ever!

By the way, I am happy to announce that our first ASB project will be to purchase a color video tape camera to be donated to the school. The need of a color camera was brought to our attention and we felt that the benefits to the Student Body would be tremendous. So, we voted the color camera to be our first project of the year.

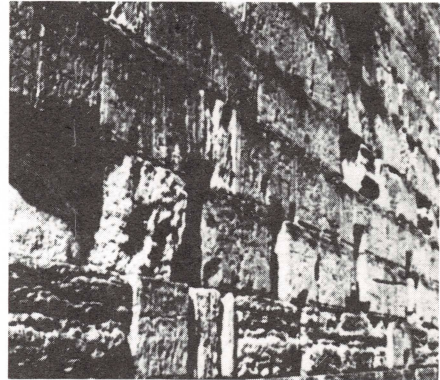

World Outreach Ministries officers pictured are, Ruth Faught, Secretary, Jan Dahlberg, Treasurer; Keith Kidwell, Chairman; and Pat O'Connor, Vice-Chairman. In contemplating the coming year, WOM Chairman, Keith writes the following:

"Increased enrollment at Northwest this fall can only mean one thing—increased opportunity for Christian service! I have high hopes for the World Outreach Ministries (WOM) program as we launch some new Ministry Interest Group (MIG) outreaches this year. MIG leaders are excited about the spiritual benefits to be gained as they seek new avenues for student involvement in service for the Kingdom. We are looking at a vast potential in heavenly blessing as we work to put this year's theme into positive, lifechanging action: WOM is Northwest College in love with the whole world!"

1979 Flying Seminar Information

Why is the western wall of the Temple Mount in Jerusalem so sacred to Israelis today? It marks the closest proximity to the location of the Holy of Holies of the ancient Hebrew Temple. Excavations below the level of the pavement in this photo reveal that the wall reached down to a depth equal to the visible portion of the wall in the picture. It was here where 200,000 Israelis celebrated the Jewish Feast of Shevouth in so dramatic a manner in June, 1967. It was also here where Rabbi Goren blew the Shofar when Jewish soldiers retook the old city of Jerusalem and declared, "The Messianic Age has begun." The wall prophetically symbolizes the hopes and dreams of the Jewish people ever since the fateful day on the 9th of Ab, (August) — almost two millenniums ago—when the Temple and the city were destroyed by the Romans under Titus. It will be one of the most significant visitor points in the College's coming Flying Seminars to the Holy Land in March and in June. For further information, write, Flying Seminar, P O Box 579, Kirkland, WA, 98033, or telephone (206) 822-8266.

FINANCIAL AID

Anyone interested in receiving information about Financial Aid and scholarships should write to the Financial Aid Officer, Miss Beverly Johnson. It is important for students who plan to attend next year (1979-80) to start the process early in January.

WE ARE "PASSING THE BUCK" to see if any Alumnus has pastored any one church longer than 29 years. This is the length of time ROLAND & CHARMAIN BUCK have continued at Boise, Idaho. Any one of continuous service in one church, please come forth with that word and "pass the Bucks".

The JOHN FRIESENS are returning from South Africa for furlough and may be reached after November 1st at Kelso, Washington, c/o First Assembly of God. The JIM DAVISES have accepted assignment as Missionary Manager of the Latin America Missionaries and West Indies division of VIDA. GORDON & MARILY MARKER of Brownsville, Texas, write: "Gordon has had total hip replacement surgery, was in the hospital for three weeks and is now walking again with the help of a cane." The Lord willing, they will return to Mexico this month.

The Alumni Executive Committee met recently to formulate plans for the 1978-79 year. Included in these will be the selection of the new Alumni of the Year awards, the planning of the program for the annual Alumni Banquet on May 25, as well as the selection of the Nominating Committee.

Special guest for the luncheon was Reverend Roy Sapp, pastor of the First Assembly of God in Honolulu, Hawaii. Reverend Sapp was the fall Spiritual Emphasis week speaker and was made an honorary alumnus of Northwest College.

It has been noted that Alumni President Warren Bullock pastors a church (Spanaway, Washington) where several members of the staff are alumni of Northwest College. These include Warren and Judy Bullock, Skip and Gail Bennett, and Becky Tangen. A further note of interest is that the current Student Body President is a member of the Spanaway church.

SPECIAL NEEDS

1. The Science Lab needs a good used refrigerator/freezer combination. The College would be happy to give a receipt for tax purposes for its current value. If you can help, contact Bill Randolph at the College.
2. With the addition of new video equipment we would like to expand its effectiveness into as many classrooms as possible. We need several workable color TV sets (preferably portable). Anyone who can help in this area should contact Reverend Mel Ming, c/o Northwest College.
