ROLAND BUCK: A Man Who Walked

With God

One of the classic statements of Scripture was said of Enoch: "He walked with God, and was not, for God took him" (Gen. 5:23) This striking notice is buried in a geneology known as the geneaology of the Patriarchs.

For those who knew the late Reverend Roland Buck, the same statement could be said of him . . . He walked with God . . . God took him. Roland Buck was more than a champion of the Supernatural. He was a channel of the Supernatural.

At a time when his long pastoral career and his personal ministry began to blossom into national and international attention, Roland Buck was suddenly taken home to be with the Lord on November 6th.

His message of God's love and concern for men was reinforced by personal encounters with God and with the order of created beings sent to minister to the heirs of Salvation, known as angels. Some of his experiences are related in a book written by Charles and Frances Hunter, entitled Angels on Assignment, a book which is presently undergoing very popular distribution in bookstores all over the country.

When the Pentecostal movement was brought into being at the turn of this century, it was characterized by the supernatural, just as in the Apostolic period of Church History recorded in the Book of Acts. Angels attended the ministry of the two chief apostles, Peter and Paul. Angels attended the ministry of our Lord. Angels carry out a major role in the great apocalyptic events of the end time described in the Book of Revelation of Jesus Christ. Roland Buck linked with the Supernatural character of God's great plan for the redemption of men, and God has used him in bringing multitudes of men into a living relationship with God through Jesus Christ. His testimony of Angelic visitations played a great role in his recent ministry.

Roland Buck's ministry involves Northwest College in a manner which goes full circle. It was in 1936 that Roland entered Northwest College as a lad of 18. After his graduation in 1938 he found his way into the pastoral ministry pastoring churches in the Northwest, ultimately finding his greatest and longest field of pastoral ministry at the Central Assembly in Boise, Idaho. The impact of his ministry is attested by the evangelical quality and the size of his congregation, considered to be the largest church of any denomination in the state of Idaho. His recent ministry in concert with his brother Walter A. Buck, pastor of Spokane's First Assembly of God Church, as spiritual emphasis week speaker, was one of the rich experiences to be given students and faculty at Northwest College. He completed full-circle in his contact with Northwest College when the College twice honored him during the last two years. He was alumnus of the year in 1978 and he was granted the Delta Epsilon Chi Honorary membership in Delta Epsilon Chi Honor Society in 1979. Now he has gone home to his eternal reward.

Perhaps no greater tribute can be paid to Roland Buck than this: He was an ordinary man who believed God and walked with God. Through his life and ministry, God has brought to Himself multitudes of men whom He has purposed to save.

A recent chapel guest was Mrs. D. V. Hurst, affectionately known as Aggie. She warmed and thrilled the students hearts as she shared her life's story.

Dr. Hurst set the stage on the Wednesday before, by showing slides of their trip to Zaire (Belgiun Congo) this past summer where Aggie was born. And then on Friday Aggie told how she was born to a missionary couple with her mother dying when she was only a few days old. Aggie was then placed in the hands of another missionary couple who within a few months were poisioned to death. But not without hope the tiny babe was given to another couple who then brought her to America and raised her.

It was a very moving chapel service!

Dr. Hurst has a birthday.

A.S.B. President Steve Flatau and Secretary Kathy Rice honor the President with a gift and a cake for his birthday.

FLYING SEMINAR PLANS ANNOUNCED STUDENTS FROM 29 STATES

The scene above is a famed land-mark in Jerusalem believed by many to be the site of the crucifixion. It is a scarf of rock on the facing of which weathering has produced the skull-like appearance which led General Gordon to identify it as Calvary. When he excavated to the right of this scene he found a garden and a tomb which confirmed his belief that this indeed was the Place of the Skull, spoken of in the Gospels "Now in the place . . . there was a garden; and in the garden a tomb — a new sepulchre, wherein was never a man yet laid. (John 19:41)

The traditional site of Calvary is inside the present walls and is covered by what is known as the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

The 1980 Flying Seminar will visit three countries starting with the Cradle of the Hebrew people in Egypt and then moving to the gateway of their entrance into the Promised Land in Jordon and then visit the Negev and the wilderness wandering country, known in the Bible as the Wilderness of Paran, before moving into Jerusalem and Galilee. This itinerary will be of special value to students of the Old Testament.

ALUMNI LAUNCH BEATTY MEMORIAL

Out of deep respect and loving memory for the C.C. Beatty family, the Alumni Executive Committee announced today that it is launching a memorial fund for purchase of a memorial marker for the graves of two members of the C.C. Beatty family. The C.C. Beatty family is historically rooted in the pioneer era of Northwest College. When the last two members of the family, Mrs. Beatty and her daughter, Geneveive passed away, their graves in Evergreen Cemetery remain unmarked to this day. It is estimated that the project would cost around $300.

An alumni spokesman recalls that such a memorial was called a "waste" by Judas when a grateful woman poured out precious ointment upon the feet of our Lord and wiped his feet with the hairs of her head. Yet our Lord responded by saying that her act would be a memorial that would never be taken away from her, and He said that inasmuch as we would undertake to meet the needs of one of the least of His brethren, we minister to Him. Whether it is a cup of cold water in life or a memorial marker in death, ministering to our Lord's family is reckoned as ministering unto Him. The profoundness of such a simple act can easily be overlooked in a utilitarian and self-centered age. Let it not be so among us, the Alumni Executive Committee has said. Alumni are invited to participate in the drive for contributions.

STUDENTS FROM 29 STATES AND 8 COUNTRIES

Northwest College's record enrollment this fall term comes from 29 states and 8 foreign countries including Canada, studies from the Registrar's office show. The ratio of in-state students crept up by 1% this year, meaning that 56 out of each 100 students are from Washington State and nearly one out of each five (18%) are from the local area around the College.

Ranking next to Washington State comes Oregon which has a ratio of one out of every six students on campus. Montana with 49 students is next and is followed by Alaska, Idaho and California.

The survey table of the study is shown as follows:

Washington	440	California	32
Oregon	124	Colorado	8
Montana	49	Other States	40
Idaho	35	Foreign	19

20 DENOMINATIONS ON CAMPUS

Twenty denominations are represented on campus this fall, statistics from the Registrar's office show. Assemblies of God students account for 83% of the enrollment which is followed in order by Baptist, Presbyterian, Independent, and Methodist. The denominational mix varies close to the ratios experienced by the College over the past few years. Most students from denominations other than Assemblies of God are of the Pentecostal-Full Gospel Persuasion.

MINISTERING TO PEOPLE WITH LIFE THREATENING ILLNESS'

February 25, 26, & 27 Veternans Hospital Seattle, Washington

Enrollment is limited to 24 participants.

The content of this annual seminar is being changed to bring the participants up to date on some of the newest rulings by the courts as well as dealing with very important topics that are being faced by clergymen today. The topics are:

- 1. What do you do when you get there?
- 2. Symptomatology.
- 3. Treatment of the Whole Person.
- 4. The minister as a diagnostician.
- 5. Presentation of the new Washington State "Natural Death Act."
- 6. Disabling illness': Paraplegia and quadriplegia.
- 7. The family is a patient also.

The seminar will be a team taught by Chaplain Milton O. Whitaker, V.A. Hospital Chaplain, and Dr. Robert D. Parlotz, N.C. professor of psycology and medical and support staff of V.A. Hospital, Seattle.

For reservations write or call Northwest College, P.O. Box 579, Kirkland, Washington 98033, (206) 822-8266.

NORTHWEST COLLEGE STILL BEST BUY

A cost comparison of private colleges in the State of Washington has been produced by the Washington Natural Gas Company. Norhtwest College is still able to hold its cost down for our students. The goal and purpose of the College is not to make money, but to help perpetuate the full Gospel message. For costs to remain low, we still need the continued help of churches and friends.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION GIFTS

Now is a good time to begin planning for that High School Graduate. A very practical gift would be a partial scholarship to a graduating senior who plans to attend Northwest College next fall.

This is a very simple thing to do and would be very meaningful to any young person attending college today. College costs as everything else are increasing. Although Northwest attempts to keep their costs at a minimum it can be difficult for some young people to make ends meet.

If you would like information about this, contact the Financial Aid Department or the Public Relations Department at the College. Although the gift would not be a tax deductible item, since it is going to an individual, it would be a very practical and most meaningful contribution to the future of a High School Graduate.

HOW TO GIVE A MARRIAGE ENRICHMENT CLINIC

A Pastoral Ministers Seminar Tuesday February 5, 1980 1:30 pm - 9:00 pm WITH

Dr. & Mrs. Ward Tanneberg Topics Will Include:

- * What is a Christian Marriage?* The Decision Making Process
- Examination of our Marital Role Concepts
- * Communication in the Christian Marriage
 - * What the Bible says about sex

This is not a Lecture series. You will experience what a Marriage Enrichment Seminar is like. You will be able to transfer the concepts to your church and community. The goal is to teach you how to conduct your own seminar on the local level.

This is an effective and practical way to focus on daily methods and approaches found successful in the sharing of marital happiness.

For information write: Northwest College, P.O. Box 579, Kirkland, Washington 98033 or call (206) 822-8266.

Several professors from Northwest College spoke at the Northwest Regional Convention of the Association of Schools International recently. Dr. Robert Parlotz in counseling; Dr. Robert Swaffield in music; and Mr. Leroy Johnson in history.

Dr. Parlotz spoke on the subject "Learning problems, problems about learning, and guidance counseling in a Christian school." His intention was to help the teacherguidance counselor team as they assist young people in learning. Leroy Johnson spoke on the subject, "Toward a Christian philosophy of history." His intention was to help history teachers think about how they view history in relation to God's dealing with man. Dr. Swaffield's topic dealt with developing and maintaining a music program in the Christian high school.

Teacher Feature:

CALVIN L. WHITE

In the fall of 1975 Cal and Debby White made the long move from the Atlantic seaboard to the Great Northwest to become part of Northwest College's music faculty. They had been out of Central Bible College only a short time then, but already Cal had gained fine experience as a Minister of Music in churches in Kentucky and Maryland. He agreed to enter a graduate program at the University of Washington to complete his mastors degree in music. This has now been completed, and Cal is engaged in a program which should lead to a Ph.D. in Systematic Musicology in 1981. He will be on leave from NC this winter and spring in order to give full attention to that program. Debby is also engaged in a graduate program while she teaches part-time at NC.

Cal is the director of the Maranatha Sounds, the smaller of NC's two traveling choirs. By enlisting fine voices and by his teaching skills, he has made it a polished and popular singing group. They are well received by churches and civic groups of the Northwest area each year. He also directs the concert band.

Cal White's name appears on music published by the Gospel Publishing House from time to time, for he has served as an arranger for their music for several years.

Cal is known for the energy with which he tackles his assignments. He wants to be of service and value to NC and the ministry of Christ. His colleagues and students are glad he is part of the NC "family."

SUMMER INTERNSHIP

Each summer many students in various areas of study are involved in internship programs throughout the region and even overseas. One pastor was able to incorporate three interns into his church program and all of the benefited from it immensely. A typical example of an internship program from the viewpoint of a pastor and a student was experienced by Pamela Nilsen this past summer. Pam worked at First Assembly of God in Medford, Oregon with pastor Marion Ravan. Pastor Ravan wrote the following: "We have enjoyed working with Miss Pamela Nilsen this past summer. Pam made a positive contribution to our staff and church we appreciate your program. Our church board is impressed with Northwest Colleges' continuing efforts to prepare young people for Christian ministry."

In writing up her own personal evaluation of her experience, Pam said, "I feel my time as an intern was much better than I ever expected. I learned so much! I have been raised in church all my life and thought I knew everything about it, but I had never been behind the scenes." Pam went on to say, "I do not see how my internship could have been more fulfilling."

Professor Melvyn Ming was in charge of Pam's program. Mel is now heading up the Youth Ministries Major at the College.

MORE SINGLE STUDENTS THIS FALL

The ratio of single students this year has risen to 81% of the students enrolled. This compares with 79% last year. Because of the increase in the total enrollment of students the ratio of married students has dropped from 21% last year to 19% this year but the total number of married students has remained approximately the same.

The unavailability of low-cost married student housing is seen as one factor affecting the ratio. Also escalating costs of living which tend to syphon off a greater part of married students' income is another reason for the ratio being less.

The College's new 12 unit married student apartments is seen as a boost to married student enrollments.

The ratio of married students to single students dropped in all classes except seniors.

"FREE RIDE"

President Hurst was uncontested in his bid for second term as a member of the Kirkland City Council. It was an un-opposed campaign. Naturally he won easily!!!

We are delighted that Dr. Hurst is able to serve the community of Kirkland and bring to it his perceptions and knowledge.

Chairman of the College Board, Mr. Paul Gray commented, "Congratulations . . . this speaks loudly of your universal acceptance and appreciation in the community. We are all very delighted with your accomplishments . . . Undoubtedly this was a providential time for you to be in this particular place."

Although it is not an extremely time consuming position it does involve the College family in the important considerations of city life. We are pleased to share him with our community.

STUDENTS CARRY HEAVIER ACADEMIC LOADS

Studies in the Registrar's office at Northwest College show that students in all classes at the College are carrying heavier academic loads this fall than they did one year ago. The overall average academic load carried by 787 students is 14.16 credit hours per student. Even part-time students are carrying a heavier load on the average than they did one year ago. The 85 part-time students are carrying an average of 7.05 credits per student this year compared with 6.76 one year ago.

Some reasons suggested for this increase in academic load is the fact that tuition costs can be lowered under the block tuition system at Northwest. This allows full-time students to carry up to 5 extra credits without having to pay extra tuition costs. This tends to reduce the per unit cost for the student. Also the higher cost of living expenses away from home may tend to encourage students to reduce the time spent in school and thus gain a compensation on their educational costs.

The credit load carried by N.C. students is much higher than that carried by students in community colleges, statistics reveal.

FALL SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS WEEK

Dr. Charles Blair, Fall Spiritual Emphasis speaker touched the lives of the N.C. family! His preaching was not only sound doctrinally but also has the touch of the Spirit that we all value so highly, he made the call of the ministry one of challenge and excitement.

All who heard Dr. Blair would have to agree that his ministry is filled of the Holy Spirit. He tied in the rich experience of pastoring one of Americas greatest churches.

Dr. Blair seemed right at home in the chapel pulpit, and in the role of counselor to the many students who sought him out.

At each Spiritual Emphasis' Dr. Hurst interviews students. It is a time when they share what the Lord has done for them or something special that they have received during the special services.

EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

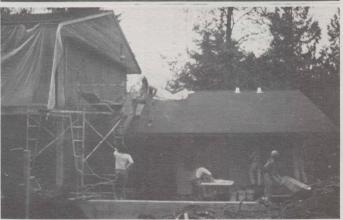

The Early Childhood Education program at Northwest College is continuing to move ahead with great success. Graduates are finding fine opportunities to use their skills. The demand for Early Childhood Education Directors is still great.

Pictured are Mrs. Shirley Clark with three of her students who are active in Early Childhood Education projects. They are President, Tami Lamb; Treasurer, Pam Stewart; and Secretary, Marian Buttafuoco.

A new brochure on the Early Childhood program will soon be ready and available to anyone who may be interested in this area of study and ministry.

NEW MARRIED RESIDENCE

Twelve new units of married residence apartments will be available before the end of the year. This housing has been in demand for sometime and already each unit is spoken for. You will note that to the right of the two-story structure is a utility room. Plans are for the next unit to attach to this.

With the rising cost of housing as it is in this area the availability of on-campus housing for married students is more important than ever.
