FROM THE PRESIDENT

EBENEZER AND JUBILEE

The words these days at NC are (1) "Ebenezer" — "hiterto hath the Lord helped us!" (2) "Jubilee," — "cause the trumpet of Jubilee to sound."

"Ebenezer" is an interesting word, meaning "stone of help." When erected at the place where God evidenced His presence, blessing and aid it stood as a symbol, saying, "God has brought us this far," and again, "He will see us through!"

One of the earliest uses of a stone to symbolize God's presence was in Jacob's use of his pillow stone as a "pillar." He poured oil on it and called the place Bethel. There he vowed a vow, saying that if God would keep him, provide for him and bring him back home, "then shall the Lord be my God." (Genesis 28).

Joshua set stones, one for each tribe, on the banks of the Jordan as a reminder to the children of Israel. The stones were brought up out of Jordan, one each by a representative of each of the tribes. They were brought up right out of the miracle of passing over on dry ground. And Joshua said, "when your children ask in times to come . . . 'what mean ye by these stones?' . . . answer them, these stones shall be a memorial unto the children of Israel forever." (Joshua 4:5-7).

In blessing Joseph, his son, Jacob spoke of his hands being strengthened by "the hands of the mighty God of Jacob," and said "from thence is the shepherd, the stone of Israel."

Isaiah spoke of a "stone of stumbling" and a "rock of offense." (Isaiah 8:14). But later he spoke of a "tried and precious foundation and cornerstone; a sure foundation," while the Psalmist (118:22) had said, "A stone which the builders rejected has become the head of the corner." In the New Testament these references are clearly seen to be referring to the Messiah. And, they can be linked with little straining to the "stone cut out of the mountains without hands," as seen in Daniel.

So the "Rock" that Jacob anointed, that followed Israel, that gave water, that smote the image, that served as the symbol of God's presence, blessing, provision, protection and help, was the one symbolized by the stone that Samuel raised between Mizpeh and Shen, when Israel smote the Philistines (I Sameul 7:12), and called it "Ebenezer, saying hitherto hath the Lord helped us."

It is with good understanding that during the 50th year of Northwest College, we look to the Rock of God, the Mighty God of Jacob and of Israel and say of NC "Hiterto hath the Lord helped us." And we believe that He who hath brought us this far and having begun this good work He will carry it forward and perfect it in His purpose.

"Jubilee" is an interesting word, also! It stood for the 50th year in Israel's calendar, following seven Sabbaths of years. It was a year of rest . . . a year of freedom . . . a year of debt release . . . a year when men returned to their possessions! (Lev. 25:8-17).

Northwest College has taken precedence this year, its 50th year of ministry — from both of these words: Ebenezer and Jubilee.

Now we near the end of the year and we have set a great 50th anniversary year Jubilee banquet for May 25. Close to 1,000 celebrants will gather to bless God . . . to rejoice . . . to remember . . . and to look ahead!

In the midst of it all we have set a goal for debt release of $250,000 and we are on our way with $150,000 (approximately) already given and pledged. In setting the toal, it was determined that $1.00 = $2.25 (immediately!) in debt service reduction. (This includes principal and interest payable. The $150,000 already given and pledged equals $378,000!)

Now we want to move up toward that goal of $250,000 or $630,000 in debt service reduction!

Have you shared in this effort? Will you?! Join with us. Write to me today telling what you can give by June 30 of this year. I would be thrilled to include your commitment in the total report set for May 25 at the Jubilee banquet.

ATTENTION!

Alumni, Friends, and Supporters! This is your chance to purchase one of our special annuals, commemorating the 50th anniversary of Northwest College. Included will be snapshots of history to present, along with may special speakers and events. See how far we've come!! Cost is $23. Send your check to Northwest College, c/o Kristi Young, Karisma Business Manager, P.O. Box 579, Kirkland, WA 98033.

NC Student Competes Nationally

Mandy Scott, a junior at Northwest College recently competed in the prestigious American Forensic National Individual Events Tournament held in Manhattan, Kansas. Mandy placed in the top twenty percent in the nation. She competed in both the prose and poetry interpretation categories. This is the first time Northwest has qualified a student in the national tournament.

To compete in these events Mandy chose selections of literary merit and by reading expressively attempted to communicate the author's meaning to an audience and a panel of judges. To qualify, Mandy had to compete with some of the top students from the northwest district in a "tournament of champions." Approximately sixty students from all colleges and universities across the entire United States competed in each event.

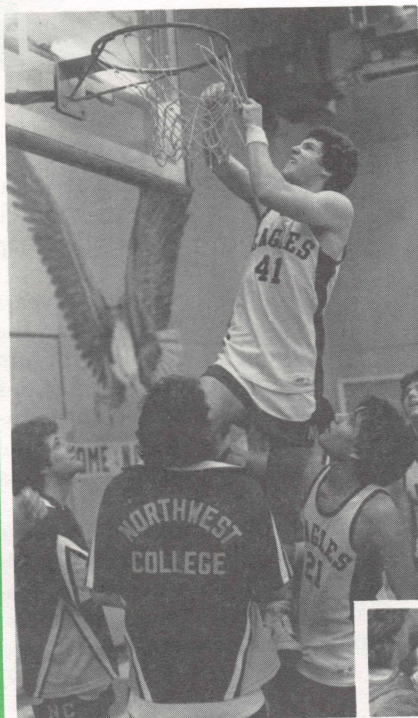

Mandy's success came as no surprise to her coach, Darby Swanson, who considers Mandy's interpretive skills among the best in the nation. Coaches from other colleges have also remarked on her abilities as a communicative reader. Mandy has finished in the top four speaker at every tournament she has competed in during this season and has already won numerous awards in speech competitions for Northwest College.

Winning, however, is not an end for Mandy. She views competition as a means to perfect her reading skills so she can use them as a ministry. She has already used these talents in chapel several times ministering through poems and stories or reading the scriptures to communicate their beauty and meaning.

We are proud of Mandy's success this past year. But most of all, we are glad she is coming back to Northwest next year.

FLYING SEMINAR COMPLETES SUCCESSFUL TOUR

"It was one of the best," said one observer who was one of the members of the College's Flying Seminar to the Holy Land, March 11-24. It was the College's sixteenth tour in the Flying Seminar Program which started in 1970.

Thirty-one members of the tour party visited Israel from "Dan to Beersheba" plus Egypt and Greece. Among the highlight points in Israel was the "Good Fence" at the border of Lebanon; Mt. Carmel near Haifa; the Temple Mount in Jerusalem; and the Qumran caves near the Dead Sea where the famed Dead Sea Scrolls were found in 1947 and where current excavations are being conducted in search for some of the temple furnishings as an outgrowth of the Copper Scroll found in 1967.

Plans are already in the making for the 1985 Flying Seminar tentatively set for mid-March with special focus on Israel which possibly may include a trip to Mt. Sinai.

Over the fourteen years that the College has had the Flying Seminar program over four-hundred persons have participated in it, including a number of the College's faculty and its students.

The Flying seminar is open to all friends of the College who wish to participate in it. While college credit is offered, it is optional, and builds on the extensive educational helps that the College provides for its members. To receive bulletins and announcements, interested friends may write: "Flying Seminar," P.O. Box 579, Kirkland, WA 98033.

NEW ELEMENTARY EDUCATION COORDINATOR ARRIVES

Dr. Gerald Mercer

The newest member of the NC faculty, Dr. Gerald Mercer, arrived on campus recently to assume his new duties as Elementary Education Coordinator. Dr. Mercer will be present during the on-site evaluation of the new elementary education program in May, and will be busy throughout the spring arranging with the local schools for the placement of students in the program.

Although Dr. Mercer has recently been living in Arizona, he is a Washington native with a B.A. from Western Washington University. His Doctor of Education degree is from Northern Colorado University, and he has done post-doctoral study at Stanford. He has fine preparation and experience in elementary education, and for a number of years supervised teaching internships and laboratory experiences in the public schools for Eastern Washington University. He should feel very much at home in the similar position at NC.

Dr. Mercer has been a Christian since the age of 15 and has been Spirit-filled for about ten years. He and his wife, Helen, look forward to the next several years at NC as a ministry for which the Lord has prepared them.

STUDENTS MINISTER IN THE COMMUNITY

"A Labor of Love" was the theme of the Community Service M.I.G. as we looked for ways to minister to the community.

Working with the Senior Center, YMCA, and Boys and Girls Club we provided volunteers for painting, roof repair, lawn and garden care, coaching, and big brothers for our "Adopt-a-Brother" program.

On April 6th, 7th, and 8th we took sixteen volunteers to camp Orkila, the YMCA camp on Orcas Island to help build a fence, a rockery, and a set of stairs. This was the second year a Community Service M.I.G. has sent a work party to the camp.
