DR. D. V. HURST

FROM THE PRESIDENT

We have just concluded a great missions week with Rev. Robert Mackish, Assemblies of God representative to Eastern Europe. Some say it was the greatest they have seen at NC. What a communicator of sincerity . . . of magnificent of spirit . . . of faith in God's working . . . of hope for the church . . . Bob Mackish is.

In this letter to all of our friends he tells us what he found at NC and to send students.

Rev. Robert Mackish

Assemblies of God Representative to Eastern Europe

Birkenweg 12
A-2380 Perchtoldsdorf, Austria

January 21, 1983

Dear Friend of Northwest College,

My wife and I would like to encourage you in your continued support of this great college. It has been our privilege to present missions during the Spiritual Emphasis Week, January 17-21, in the chapel and classroom alike. We felt the same dynamic spirit that we feel so strongly in our churches in Eastern Europe, particularly in the Soviet Union and Rumania, where the spirit of revival prevails! We were impressed with the dedication of both faculty and students alike.

We would encourage you to continue to not only support the school with prayer and finances, but to recommend and send qualified young people to Northwest College. A school dedicated to excellence, academically and spiritually, in preparing young people for the ministry which God has called them to.

Sincerely in Christ,

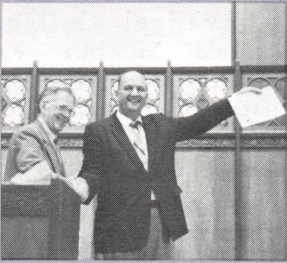

Robert Mackish

Winter Quarter Spiritual Emphasis Week

Chapel Lines—Rev. Robert Mackish

- "Missions is anywhere there is an unsaved person."
 "Nothing can stop the power of God."
 "You cannot separate the message from the messenger."
 "The safest place you'll ever be is in the will of God."
1. "You can't take spiritual holidays. God wants obedience and endurance."
 2. "Get the Bible in your heart. Make it a part of you."
 3. "Make yourself available . . . the safest place you will ever be is in the will of God."
 4. "No one gets a missionary call behind the Iron Curtain. They can't go! No one can send them! One young person said to me, 'I wish I could live in America!' I asked, 'Why?' and he said, 'Then I could get a call to be a missionary and there would be those who would send me!'"
 5. "Who remembers the 'man of the year'? But look at Abraham. He put his hand in the hand of God and the world knows about him."
 6. "Make a commitment, He will see you through!"

PLACEMENT PROFILES FOR 1983 PUBLISHED

Northwest College's Placement Committee recently published placement "profiles" on its senior students who are candidates for graduation.

The "profiles" are concisely written resumes on the college's more than one hundred grads and are intended to provide information to pastors, church leaders, district officers and others who might be involved in the placement of the graduates in the near future.

Noting the character of the economy at the present time, the college is encouraging its graduates to seek and accept any opportunity whether it offers them a salary or not. "Putting the Cross above the Dollar sign," the committee believes that despite the state of the economy, many churches might be able to offer a place to these graduates, perhaps assisting them to find outside employment to supplement their living expenses while serving in the church.

Pastors, presbyters, and church leaders are invited by the College to write or telephone the College for a copy of "profile."

Coordinating placement at the College is Dr. Amos D. Millard, Dean of Admissions. He can be contacted at the College, P.O. Box 579, Kirkland, WA 98033 or by telephone (206) 822-8266.

You are invited to share in a very exciting weekend at your alma mater. NC Student Speakers Continue Winning Tradition

Over the past few years, Northwest College has developed a reputation for the fine quality of its speech students. Our students have bested competitors from top colleges all across the western United States. This fall, Mandy Scott helped uphold this winning tradition by capturing the first place trophy in oral interpretation at the Lower Columbia College Tournament in Longview, Washington. Mandy's reading of two T. S. Eliot poems, captured the regard of the judges with some of the highest ratings possible.

Mandy Scott

The daughter of a physician, Mandy was raised in southeast Kent, England, where she competed in speech activities for five years as an elementary school student.

More recently, Mandy's parents have done missionary work with refugees in Hong Kong. Mandy also donated a year of her time toward this effort. Part of this time was also spent working with the ICI office in China. Her missionary efforts, however, have not been limited to this. She also spent one year with the mission-conscious Youth With A Mission in Hawaii, Singapore and Indonesia. Two and a half months of this time she toured with a music, dance and drama production which helped lead people to Christ in Southeast Asia and the Philippines.

The initial involvement with the speech program at Northwest College came last spring when Mandy ministered through our Reader's Theatre in Chapel and at various churches. She has also read poems during Special Chapel programs, ministering through the negelected medium of oral interpretation. People like Mandy are one reason our speech program has enjoyed growing success.

STUDENTS MINISTER WHILE IN SCHOOL

One of the outstanding aspects of the training process at Northwest is the opportunities the students have to be involved in ministry. A student recently shared, while telling a congregation what he appreciated about NC, "Northwest is not just preparing me for ministry, but while I'm in school, I minister. I appreciate that very much."

All students of Northwest are given the opportunity to choose a Ministry Interest Group in which they can minister throughout the year. The "MIGS" are: World Outreach, Gospel Teams, Campus, Children, Youth and Music, Evangelism, Community Service, and Servicemen's. Instruction and practical experience in Christian service are provided through these opportunities.

One Gospel Team that has been very active in ministry this year is ACTS. The members of ACTS come from the drama club of the school and their ministry consists of Announcing Christ Through Skits. They also share their musical talents in conjunction with their drama abilities. The ACTS team has been in youth rallies, churches, conventions, and Christian schools. They have been very well received by young and old alike.

The involvement in ministry while in a college education process is one of the facets of training that makes an education at Northwest College unique and rewarding.

BUSINESS IS BOOMING

That's the story coming from the Job Search director, Bessie McMullen and her assistant, Mike Rash. Job Search is a service to NC students to help them find places of employment while in school. Since its inception in the Fall of '82, dozens of employees have been contacted and the results are exciting. Through this winter quarter, which is usually a slower time for employment opportunities, the job orders have been coming in at a remarkable rate. Praise the Lord!!

Pictured above are some of the students who have found work through the Job Search office. In the photo at right, a commercial developer is shown, having just hired five young men from NC. In the photo at left, Bessie McMullen is surrounded by seven students who have just started working as everything from station attendants to painter, teacher, clerk, home assistant, and conveyor belt operators.

WINTER ENROLLMENT REACHES 719

Winter quarter enrollment figures reached a total of 719 students.

This compares with 761 enrolled one year ago and represents a down-turn of approximately six percent. The pattern is said to be similar to that experienced in many other schools in the Bible school field. Enrollments of women were down by thirteen percent while those of men were down only by six percent from one year ago, the office reports.

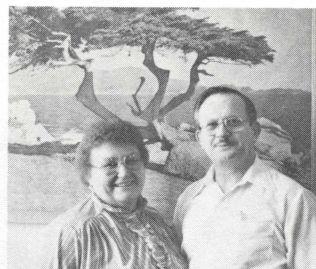

While Freshman and Sophomore class enrollments were about thirteen percent off from last year, Junior class enrollments were nearly twenty-three percent ahead of last year.

The winter quarter enrollment was within one percent of the enrollment projections made at the beginning of the current school year.

Applications are now being processed for the Spring quarter, which will begin on March 23, 1983.

"Many members . . . all necessary . . . one body."

1 Corinthians 12

Arvel and Clara Shipley

May I introduce Arvel and Clara Shipley — who are experiencing fulfillment in their lives by serving God with their talents at N.C. — a husband and wife team who have been the chef and assistant chef for over four years.

The Shipleys came to N.C. with a wealth of practical and professional experience in many areas of food service.

Arvel served in the U.S. Air Force Food Service for over twenty-one years. One of his last assignments in the military was that of overseer for the entire food service function for the Minute Man Titan II project in Montana. This involved twenty missile site facilities, each site a composite of fifty missile silos.

Clara also worked for Uncle Sam in food management from 1959 to 1973 in the Army and Air Force Exchange Service. Her responsibilities were broad in scope involving food preparation, purchasing, personnel training and management. At one point she was in charge of seven facilities simultaneously — one cafeteria, one drive-in and five snack bars. Together they have brought over thirty-five years of food management expertise from the strict and disciplined background of military service. All of this qualifies them for the usual and unusual demands of operating a college food service facility.

The Shipleys were both raised in Knoxville, Tennessee and knew each other in grade school. Their initial, casual acquaintance was a result of an introduction by Clara's best girl friend. Their paths parted for many years and Arvel was involved in military service. Coincidentally, it was through another of Clara's best girl friends that they learned of the whereabouts of each other and started correspondence. They have two sons and two daughters. All are married and two of them are in the military. They also have four of the greatest grandchildren in the world. (If you don't believe it, just ask them!) Happy, gregarious people! Both have served the Lord seriously for many years.

Northwest College is grateful to God for preparing the Shipleys for their practical ministry and the timely leading to join the staff. Both of them have indicated that food service management here is "an experience and a challenge." They are thankful for the challenge and are equal to it! They serve approximately one thousand meals every day, seven days a week, 221 days per year — that is a lot of food!

Observing them in action, one is aware that they run a "tight ship" (under control) and that everything is "ship shape" (clean). They are used to "white glove inspections." All of these things make them valuable and a blessing to N.C.

"We are enjoying our stay here and we like it. We appreciate working under 'no pressure' (military discipline) and being appreciated and the Christian atmosphere."

Arvel and Clara, we appreciate you too.
