President Dennis A. Davis

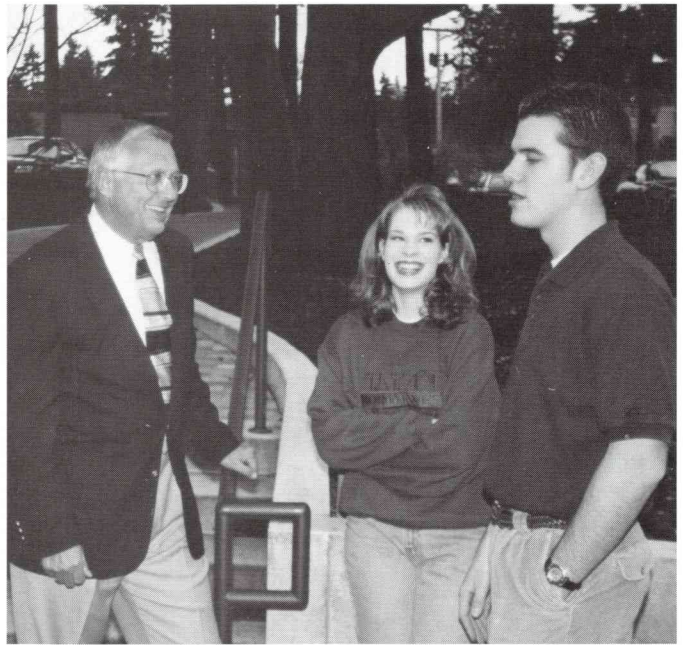

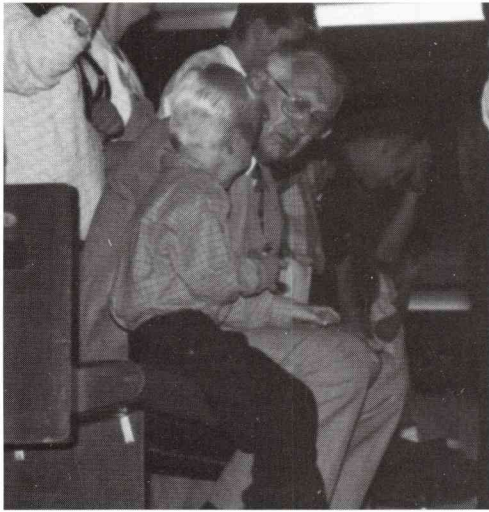

President Dennis A. Davis has served Northwest College since 1990 as its fourth president. A 1956 graduate of Northwest College, President Davis was honored as Alumnus of the Year in 1975 and elected to the Delta Epsilon Chi Honor Society in 1976. Prior to his Presidency, he served on the Board of Directors of the College from 1982-1990 and as the Northwest College Alumni Association President from 1982 to 1987.

Reverend Davis served two pastorates before his presidency at Northwest College: Pacific Grove, California from 1961-1967; and The People's Church in Salem, Oregon from 1967-1987. He also served as the Superintendent of the Oregon District of the Assemblies of God for a three year tenure.

The College has grown significantly during President Davis' service. The former Northwest District Council Office complex and surrounding land were purchased and later occupied by the College Administration. Rice Hall was completely retrofitted as an Academic Center for the Division of Education. The College enrollment surged from the upper 600's to the current record enrollment of 861 students. Curriculum development in the Arts and Sciences and in Education has enabled the College to receive membership in the Coalition of Christian Colleges and Universities.

Mrs. Nancy Davis and their only son, Jeff, have likewise contributed their abilities to Northwest College these past eight years. Nancy has helped and befriended students, college family, and visitors alike during her hours at the front desk. Jeff has often taught evening classes. Together, the Davises have provided a wonderful example of commitment to God's purposes. We are grateful for the advances made by the College under their leadership ministry. ---Dr. Marshall Flowers the impact of a President

President Davis,

Thank you for eight years of friendship and leadership. Through your Wednesday morning prayer times, your personal involvement with students, and your Godly lifestyle, you have shown us a real life of Christian service. We dedicate the 1998 Karisma Yearbook to you in this, your last year as President. Our prayers go with you.

Faculty, Staff, and Administration

Remember

Considering a generation of college students to be four years, on the average, the Northwest College Freshman of 1997 were the first in ten generations not to know Dr. Daniel Pecota as a professor. “Dr. Dan” became an institution and a legend at Northwest in his 39 years as a professor, and thousands of alumni all over the world cannot imagine the College without Dan and Esther as vital parts of campus life. Long time faculty members have also had to adjust to not seeing Dan on a regular basis, and not being able to talk to him about matters, both professional and personal. Probably no one in the great history of people who have worked at Northwest has left such an impression on the students and the faculty and staff as did Dan Pecota. He is sorely missed, but his memory and his work live on in many lives, and his and Esther’s names are memorialized in the Pecota Student Center at the heart of the College campus. The school is singularly blessed to have had Dan serve in our part of God’s Kingdom to prepare people to accurately represent the cause of Christ.

---Leroy Johnson

*And can it be that I should gain an int’rest in the Savior’s blood? Died He for me, who caused His pain? For me, who Him to death pursued? Amazing love! How can it be that thou, my God shouldst die for me? Amazing love!
How can it be that thou, my God, shouldst die for me! Amen.*

Charles Wesley

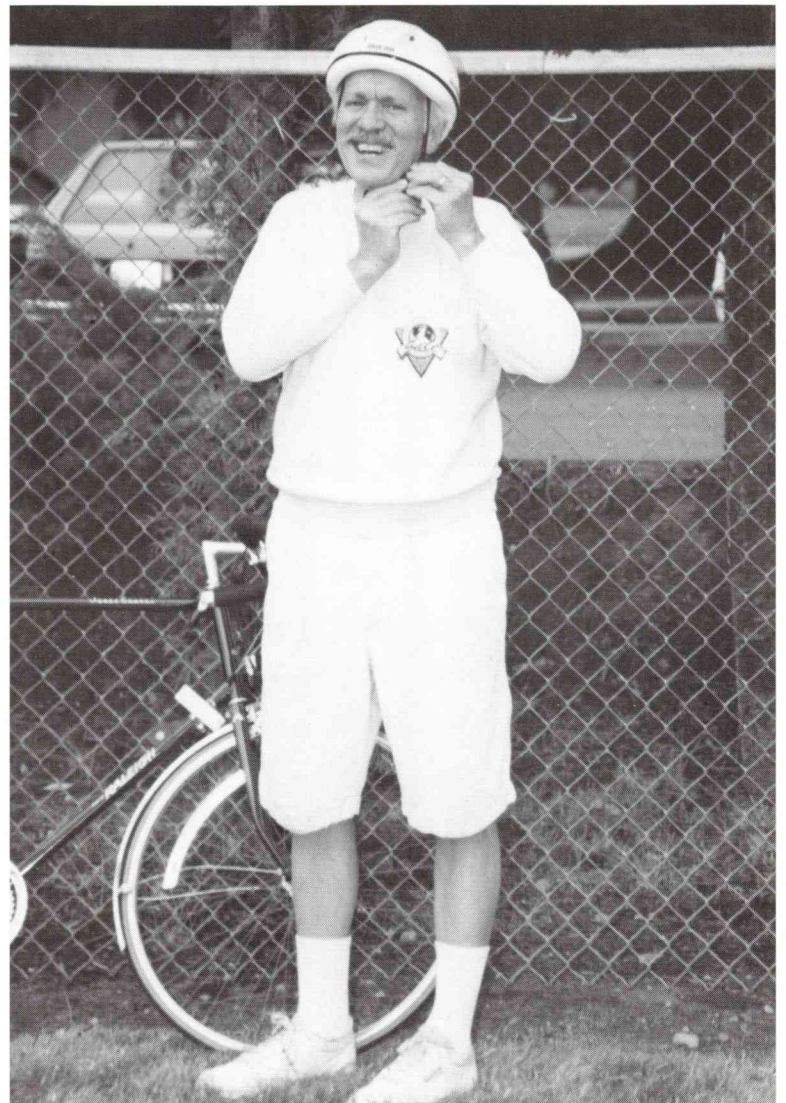

O to grace how great a debtor daily I'm constrained to be! Let Thy goodness, like a fetter, bind my wandering heart to Thee: Prone to wander, Lord, I feel it, Prone to leave the God I love; Here's my heart, O take and seal it; Seal it for Thy courts above. Amen.

Robert Robinson

When Doc first mentioned a bike trip to San Francisco, I anxiously met him after class to ask if I could be the first to sign up. To my embarrassment, he politely told me that this would be a “family trip.” He must have later added the “student representative” idea for my sake. Regardless, the two weeks on the road I spent with this man were unforgettable. Perhaps my most remarkable observation about him was that he was ever-aware of his Christianity. Doc, through God’s grace, could understand a situation in terms of its eternal significance as well as by the example it was setting for others. From his asking the names of everyone he met before sharing our cause with them to spending the tired evenings reading challenging devotional material instead of turning on the TV to “unwind,” this man wasted none of God’s time - he took advantage of time for the Kingdom’s sake. What an example to follow! I consider myself fortunate in the extreme to have been able to witness this man’s walk with God if but for two weeks beside him on a bike.---Sam Carrigan

The members of the ZOO-GAP floors combine unique style and a rowdy spirit at Floor Olympics.

Jennifer Larsen opens wide to take a big gulp of her new beverage of choice.

The 600 floor not only excelled in leap frog, but also took the lead with their spirit and teamwork.

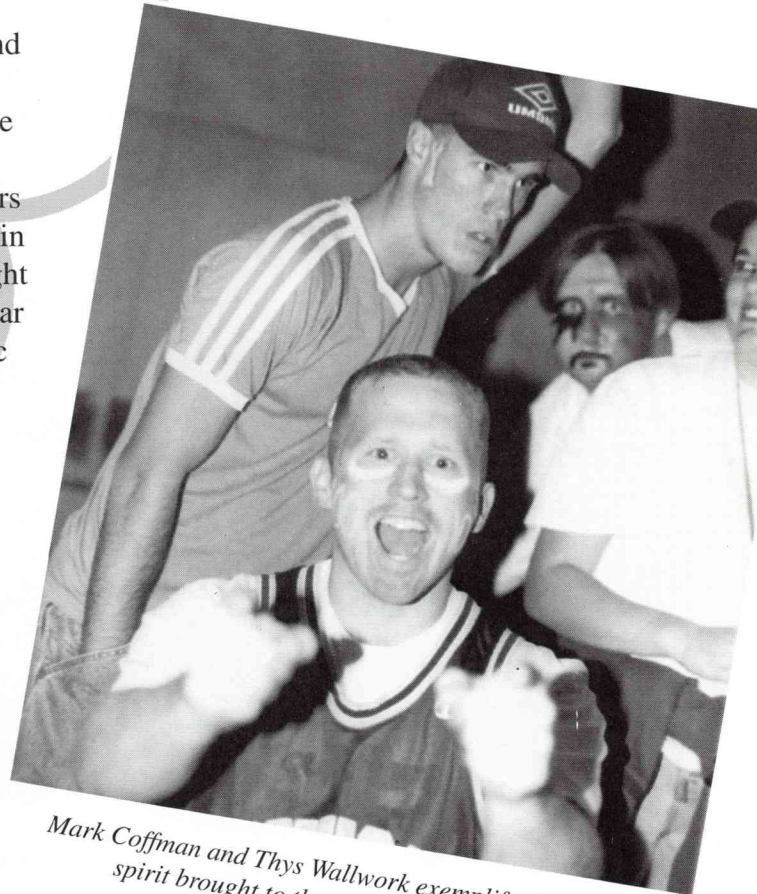

Cheering on their team members in one of the many aspects of the games, these Perks girls watch with anticipation in hopes of gaining the lead.

The 400 floors reminisce the Olympic Games of the past with their toga attire.

With the Winter Olympics right around the corner, it is appropriate that the Floor Olympics continue at NC. This year's Olympic Games were as competitive as ever with the floors bringing their spirit, creativity, and talent to the event. Many of the floors had more participants than in years past which also elevated the excitement. Although many floors had outstanding energy and school spirit, it was the 600 Floor members who proved themselves spirited, talented and unified in their efforts. This teamwork not only gave them a night of fun, but also brought them the victory. Another year passes and another floor reigns as the Floor Olympic Champions, until next year.

Kelly Ross may enjoy a Coke from time to time, but having to gulp one down with speed does not look quite as enjoyable.

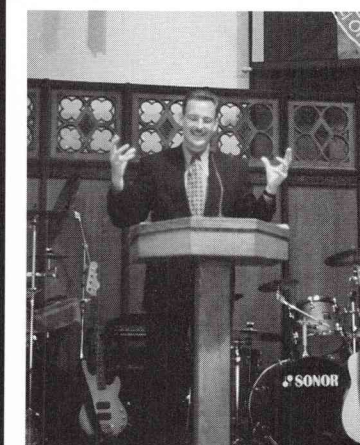

Mark Coffman and Thys Wallwork exemplify the floor spirit brought to the games by the Birds.

spiritual enrichment Week

The September 8-12 Fall Spiritual Enrichment Week featured Pastor Rick and Cathy Cole from Capital Christian Center in Sacramento, California, one of the largest churches in the nation. God used Rick and Cathy to effectively communicate many life-changing truths and challenge students, faculty and staff to consider living a life of righteousness, holiness and purity, getting away from short lived fads and seeking God through a life of discipline, faith and service. The main themes covered in the nine AM & PM chapels were: unselfish living (Ex. 32:106); sexual purity (2 Sam. 11); dealing with injustice (Gen. 37-41); a passion to reach the lost = Revival (Psalm 67); seeking the Lord, not a mate; eleven steps to humility (2 Chron. 10:1-14, 12:1-14); developing a healthy relationship between shepherd/pastor and flock/people; and being a blessing to unbelievers-What Would Jesus Do? (Matt. 5:43). Rick's and Cathy's personal experiences, annointed messages and zeal for Christ inspired many to respond to the Lord and clarify their purpose and plan for living. An excellent practical, spiritual focus was established by the Cole's teaching and was followed beautifully by the majority of the messages delivered by the other fall chapel speakers. Praise The Lord!

Students take time after a chapel to respond to God's message.

Senior speaker Dale Foote was previously a police officer. He is now finishing his degree to become a pastor.

Senior speaker Jeff Duchemin brought a message on humility to the students of Northwest College.

times for Renewal

Chapel is meant to be a time for students to gather as a body, worship God, and learn. We have been blessed with Godly men and women who have instructed and encouraged us. From Sam and Paula Carrigan's challenge to dig deep into God's Word to "The Sound's" timeless renditions of "Leaning on the Everlasting Arms," chapels have provided a variety of lessons. The daily opportunity to come together as a school and seek to honor God is a unique privilege.

Pam Tromble, Alicia Duchemin, and Stephen Pitzer lead students and faculty in worshipping God at the beginning of chapel.

Eric Berrios is often seen in the corner of the chapel playing the bass guitar for worship.

Before chapel begins each day, students find many interesting activities to keep them busy. These fine folks have just been caught on the candid camera.

The last two days of Spiritual Enrichment Week were led by Benny Perez, the Youth Pastor at Marysville Assembly. On his first day, he called us to examine which chair we were sitting in for 1998. Then he challenged many to leave the grey, comfortable chair and move to the green chair of growth.

spiritual enrichment, Spring Semester

Rick Enloe, raised in a small “dirt clod” town in Eastern Washington, later found a great appreciation for art. During the two days he spent with the students of Northwest College, he reminded us that we are God’s works of art. His story about a doll - one made by a friend, stolen, and later redeemed - exemplified our relationship with God. The days with Rick were filled with laughter, understanding, and a greater realization of who we are in Christ.

Convention

Rev. John Wilkie came to Northwest with many years of missions experience. His heart for missions was evident as he spoke in chapel on the Friday of Missions convention. Anyone who has had the opportunity of taking one of his classes knows that he has enough stories to entertain you for hours.

Prof. Malcolm has a passion for reaching the lost. During Missions Convention he challenged students to be a part of missions now by supporting them through faith promises.

committed Leaders

In II Timothy 2:15, Paul tells Timothy to “Do your best to present yourself to God as one approved, a workman who does not need to be ashamed and who correctly handles the word of truth.” We have shown our efforts to be approved by God through reaching these four goals in the 1997-98 school year. We have:

1. Demonstrated spiritual leadership as we have committed ourselves to consistently praying and correctly handling the Word . . .
2. Organized activities and ministries that have promoted a deeper sense of Christian community and have drawn our world to Christ . . .
3. Responsibly handled student funds entrusted to us . . .
4. Mentored future leaders who will minister as Christ ministered to the Church and to the world.

The Resident Life Staff is a group of men and women who are committed to serving the student body with their whole heart, soul and mind. Working to encourage each person they come in contact with to become all that they can be for God, modeling healthy interactions, and making the dorms a place where people feel free to be themselves, to grow and to learn are primary goals for staff members.

Some of the ways the Resident Life Staff tries to accomplish this and other goals are by one on one contact, creating accountability, training leadership, working with ASB and AMS/AWS officers, providing programming such as Brother/sister activities, retreats, floor prayer and guest speakers. All of these things are combined by the RLS to make NC dorm living a place where "Friends are found, lives are changed and dreams are made."

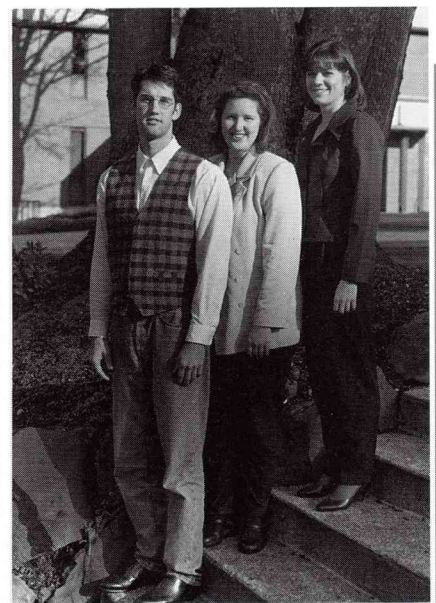

We are proud of the job that they do and commend them for their selfless commitment to the betterment of NC and their fellow students. --Geri Gray

The Associated Women Students (AWS) is an organization run by and for women at Northwest College. It promotes spiritual and social growth in the lives of women by providing a number of activities throughout the school year. Some of these activities include Floor Olympics, AWS Chapels, and Roomie's Night Out. This year's team (Betsy, Robyn, Mindy and Becky) saw the need for strong girl friendships among the NC women, and this became a major theme in their leadership. After all, in all their girly-primpy-intuitive-PMSing-chick flick ways, only girls can completely understand one another.

“Do your best to present yourself to God as one approved . . .” 2 Timothy 2:15a

We want through all our endeavors to be men approved by God. This year we have had many opportunities to be so. Through our events and improvements to the Grey/Beatty Lounge, we find better times of fellowship with other students. At our second AMS chapel, we were challenged by a message from Evangelist Mark Schaufler, who spoke on how to be a Godly man. AMS also has accountability groups that meet so that brothers can spur each other on in the Lord and in how He wants us to live. Our goal this year is for the male student body to sharpen one another in the faith and to grow closer as brothers in Christ. And, therefore, in the eyes of the Father, we may be approved!

The focus of the MSA members this year was to meet the real needs of married students on and off campus. The food pantry was continued, a baby clothes exchange began, and more times to socialize were planned. Chapels were still a great time to fellowship; we just wish there were more of them.

This year's Harvest Social took a different twist. Students had the options of sumo wrestling, boxing, drawing tattoos, getting caricatures and much more. The theme for this year's costumes was "Childhood Heroes." Those who dressed up displayed a wide variety of interests. The talent show was a highlight for both performers and onlookers. eagle SOCCER

The 1997 season was an exciting one for the Eagles: it was the first year at the NAIA level, they competed against nationally ranked teams, and several games were decided in over time. The team was dominated by freshman and sophomores, and Coach Turner feels that "there are many great things to come in the future of this program." Senior Josh Jacobs worked hard to represent NC and was honored as an All-American Athlete for the NCCAA. The team ended the season by winning the West Region of the NCCAA Div. I and made a strong showing, finishing 8th at the National Tournament.

eagle VOLLEYBALL

NC Women's Volleyball stepped up to an all new level in the 1997 season. This young team was led by team co-captain and lone senior Leah Mallory. Leah established herself as one of the Cascade Conference's top defensive players accumulating 120 total blocks, ranking her 5th in the league. Her work ethic and positive spirit set the tone for the season as well as the future of the volleyball program here at Northwest. The Lady Eagles ended their season with a conference victory over Eastern Oregon University (15-13, 15-12, 15-2). The NC volleyball program is sad to see the resignation of head coach Ross Johnson, a vital part of the program here since the fall of 1989. Thank you Ross, for the years of hard work, determination, commitment to the athletes that you brought to NC, but most of all for your great desire to please Christ.

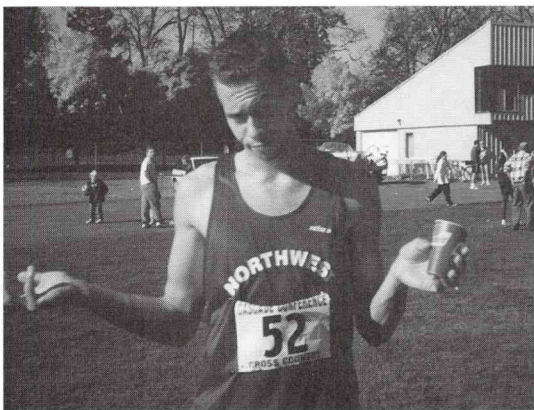

eagle CROSS COUNTRY

Women's team: Rachel Huey, Tanya Belliard, Annette Holmquist, Katie Park, Brook McLachlan Laurel Timmers.

Both NC X-Country teams had great seasons in 1997. The young men's team (4 freshmen & 4 sophomores) finished 6th in the Cascade Conference, while the even younger women's team (5 freshmen & 1 junior) finished 4th. The season highlight was Brook McLachlan's qualifying for the NAIA X-Country Championships in Kenosha, WI. Brook is the first Northwest College athlete to qualify for any NAIA National Championship event. We praise God for another great season.

men's BASKETBALL

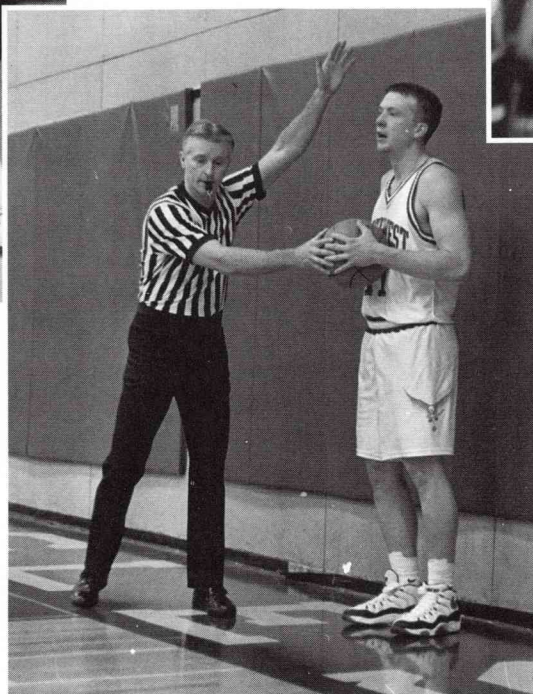

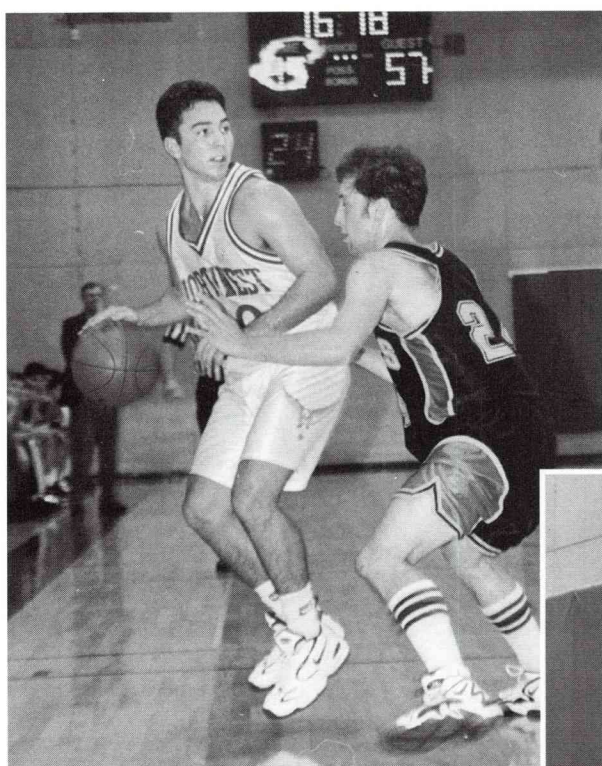

The 1997-98 men's basketball season proves to be an exciting one. The team started off with some big victories early in the season by winning the Lewis and Clark State tournament for the first time ever, and also posting big conference wins against Eastern Oregon, Western Oregon and Albertson College of Idaho. Returning players Rich D'Agostino (Jr) and Corey Symons (Sr) provide strong leadership to a talented squad of transfer-athletes and younger players. Another source of leadership for the team is Dan Schneider who transferred from Northern Arizona (NCAA DIV I). Coach Wayne Mendezona comments, "Membership in the Cascade Conference has been a big move for all the teams, and we are no exception. It has been extraordinary to see the development of our program and the success found in competing at this higher level."

women's BASKETBALL

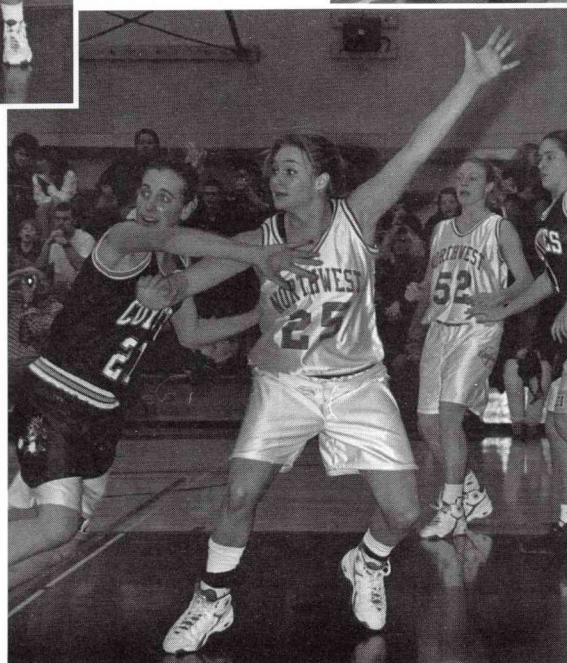

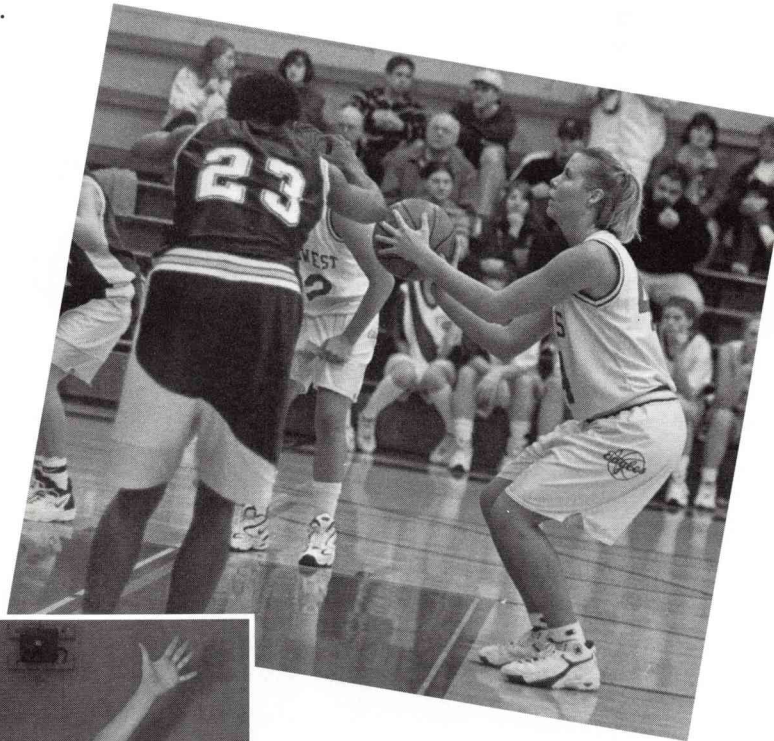

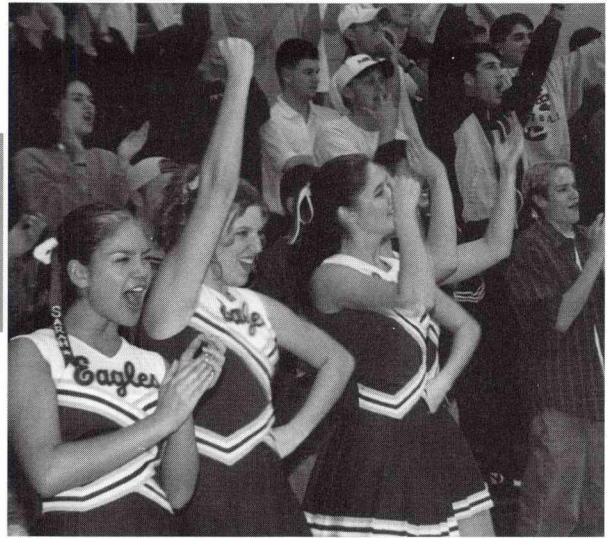

The women's basketball team is young in most respects, with 7 freshmen, 4 sophomores, 4 juniors, and only 1 senior. However, they are not lacking in determination. They represented NC well, posting wins against tough competition. This year's team is characterized by tenacious defense on the court and lots of fun off the court. Coach Kristi Brodin is quick to praise the leadership of her only senior Jenn Larsen and her team co-captains Tambi Wille and Nicole Nipp, all of whom have played a major role in helping this program establish a solid foundation for the promising years ahead.

The Eagle Cheer Squad started the season with a new coach, many new members, and new excitement. Their continuous job of supporting the teams and leading the crowd as well as their many practices keep them on the go. They have proved to be hard workers who are committed to doing their job well.

Prospects are great for the track season just getting started. Sophomore Sean Wilkerson returns after a fabulous 1997 season (48.52 for 400m) to lead the strongest men's team in school history. The men's 4x400 relay is one to watch (Chris Littrell, Jake Woolman, Jona Biwot, Sean Wilkerson), and the six newcomers to the team should post excellent individual performances. The women's team features all newcomers. Heptathlete Tanya Belliard should have a great season, while Katie Park, Brook McLachlan and Annette Holmquist lead us back to our distance roots.

Every year, intramural football is the highlight of the fall semester for both on and off campus students. The competition continued to be high as the teams met on the Seahawks practice field each Saturday. The 500 and 600 floors persevered and landed in the championship game. After a tough battle, the 500 floor came out on top by one touchdown. Crowds once again came out to support their teams and catch a little action on the sidelines.

Hospital Outreach People Encouragement is a great ministry for those who have a heart for children and seek to encourage them and their families. Members visit hospitals and minister one-on-one through puppets, clowns, playing games, and reading stories. Places of ministry have included the Children's Hospital, Ronald McDonald House, Swedish Hospital, and other medical centers that have opened their doors to HOPE. Members of HOPE practice the week before an outing and have raised money for their equipment through car washes and other fund-raisers.

Lunch Buddies

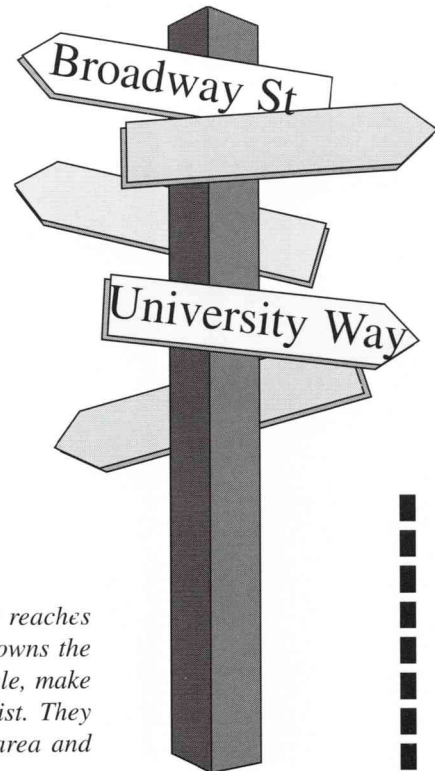

Lunch Buddies is a national program designed for kids who are labeled "at risk." Concerned employees of the community, high school and college students participate in the Lake Washington School District program. Members eat lunch, play games, chat, and go to recess with these children. They serve as mentors for kids who eagerly await their Lunch Buddy each week. Students of Northwest have had the pleasure of being a part of this program during the past year.

Lighthouse Ministries is a relationship based ministry focused on two Seattle streets: University Way and Broadway Street on Capitol Hill. Lighthouse members meet Friday and Saturday nights in the Eagle's Nest and then travel to a church on Capitol Hill for worship and to hear a challenging message from God's Word. The rest of the night they spend on the streets building relationships with homeless teens and adults or anyone hanging out on Broadway. The ministry concludes with reflection and prayer afterwards. This group also met on Monday nights to pray together.

"Volunteers In the Bellevue Education System" is a program for anyone who wants to help children in grades K-12. Many of these students either have difficulty learning in the classroom or have family or social problems and want help. This is an in-the-classroom experience which involves tutoring one-on-one with the student. Those people involved gave one period a week to spend with their new friend. The mentors involved were given the chance to befriend students and help them academically and socially. This was also a great opportunity to show a needy student God's love.

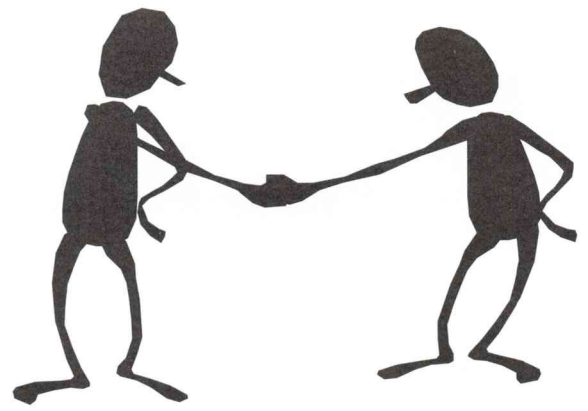

Esperanza

Esperanza Members: Ruth Swanson, Angela Shepard, Michelle Pearson, Tracy Boatsman, Connie Rush, Christina Roberts, and Josh Morris. Not Pictured: Lisa Knotts, Andy Owen, Joe Franco, Anne Marie Wilke, and Christy Edens

Esperanza reaches out to the Hispanic community. Members met once a week to prepare for outreach through worship, prayer, and practice of skits, dramas, testimonies, and sermons. Esperanza participates in ministry with the Iglesia Hosanna Church in Bellevue. Their activities during the first semester included a weekend outreach at churches and parks in the Yakima Valley. A missions trip is planned for the second semester during spring break.

Neighbor Day!

(Left) Senior Ruth Williamson has been involved in Good Neighbor Day for many years. Because of it, she has been able to develop a relationship with this lady, also named Ruth.

(Below) Rita Kopp has been visited by many Northwest students over the years. Everyone who works at her house is usually treated to homemade rhubarb pie.

Each semester Good Neighbor Day participants reach out physically, spiritually, and socially to their neighbors. The day begins with breakfast and prayer in the cafeteria followed by dividing into groups. Phone numbers and addresses are handed out for those people who will be expecting students at their door. The morning is spent cleaning house, doing yard work, and most of all, visiting! The people visited by Northwest College students on these Saturday mornings enjoy the students' friendship even more than their work.

G.R.I.P.

G.R.I.P. stands for Global and Regional Intercessory Prayer. This continual prayer ministry provided students and faculty with an opportunity to unleash the faith and spiritual energy God has given through corporate and private prayer resulting in renewed faith, victory, and answered prayer. G.R.I.P. opportunities included a prayer line, pre-Chapel prayer, post-Chapel prayer, specific prayer Chapels, Wednesday Morning President's Prayer, and prayer request cards.

Jeff Duchemin and Scott Lenzion hosted the 1997-1998 Summer Ministry Team auditions with the theme of "Late Night Northwest." The band for the evening was Northwest's own "Mustard Seed." The combination of the hosts and band made it a smurfy fun time for all. It was definitely a night filled with humor as well as powerful messages of truth.

Have you ever been a victim of traditional legislation? Well, we have--and we don't like it. In contrast to all the redundant Christmas Pageants we have seen in the past, the Drama Club decided to break from tradition and create our own version of the Christmas story. Intertwined with a compilation of short Christmas scenes, the script was the product of a few of the drama students, with help from Dr. Forrest Inslee.

The NC pageant introduces Pastor Tom who is undermined by his well intentioned secretary and associate as they attempt to replace his thirty year old sermon with a new version of the Christmas story. It's the classic clash of the traditional with the progressive church movements. The plot unfolds in the sanctuary as the different acts "audition" for Pastor Tom, Pastor Mike, and Sister Sarah. The final compromise pleases everyone as Pastors Tom and Mike agree to stage the ageless Christmas story in a newer narrative style.

Spring semester will see the Drama Club perform Neil Simon's Fool.

With a little help from her guardian angel, Doug Lloyd, Julie Tesdal provides the music for several on stage performances.

The extremely talented Devorah Williams wows the crowd with her beautiful voice and stage presence.

Behind the scenes, Sherry Scheline runs through the lights and sound in preparation for the Christmas play.

Jack Downs and James Stewart take a break from the rigorous rehearsals leading up to the "big night."

Debate Team

Ranked High in the Nation and the World

Our forensics program is devoted to fulfilling one of the college's most basic missions -- training students to be effective communicators. Team captain Jacob Witt led the Eagles from last year's rank of 19th in the nation to 6th place (January), making 1997-98 the most successful year ever.

Team Highlights:

Troy Anderson - James Stewart: Finalists at UPS; Second place Junior debate at Lower Columbia; First place junior debate Linfield; Third place at Willamette; 75th worldwide at the World Debate Championship in Athens, Greece - out of 292 teams.

Jacob Witt - Josh Brittingham: Third place Lower Columbia; First place best speaker (Jacob) Lower Columbia; First place Linfield; Octo-finalist at Willamette; First place best speaker (Jacob) at Willamette; 106th worldwide at Worlds.

Autumn Donnell - Sveta Zlatareva: Third best novice speaker (Sveta) at UPS; Fifth best novice speaker Lower Columbia; Sixth best novice speaker (Autumn) Lower Columbia; Octo-Finalists at Linfield.

Doug Lloyd - Paul Nystrom: 8th best junior speaker (Doug) at UPS; Second best novice speaker (Paul) at Lower Columbia; Octo - Finalists at Linfield.

"Handsome and charismatic, the debaters pepper their delivery with liberal doses of humor."

"Great Debate" - Elizabethe Brown
 Eastside Journal
 December 30, 1997

Team Highlights:

World Debate Championships in Athens, Greece - our teams ranked above some teams from Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Oxford, Cambridge and Rhodes. NC was the highest ranked Christian College of the 155 colleges and universities worldwide.

James Stewart made public speaking finals at Worlds. He was the only American and one of only five (out of 180) to be honored.

Other participants this year included Jeremy Kowalski, Kevin Davison, Rachel Earlywine, Aaron Sperry, Scott Gabelein, and Sheila Holliman.

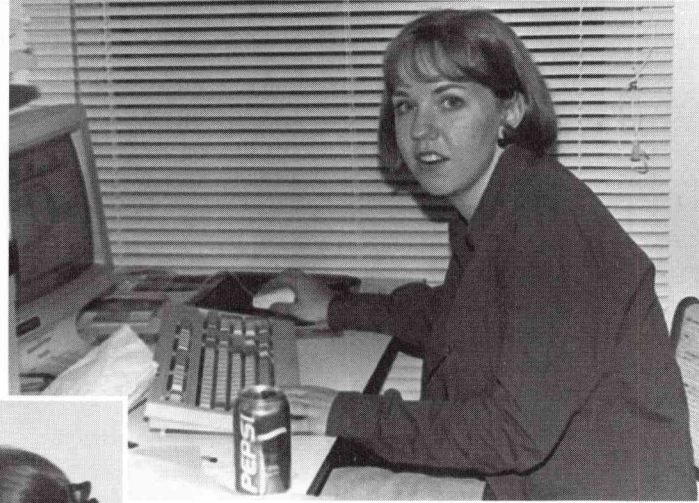

Coach Gary Gillespie wants to thank assistant coaches Roger Altizer and Camille DeBlasi. Thanks also to the Tux Club of Kirkland.

After a semester of hard work, the debate team enjoys some R & R at a Christmas party with food, party hats, and slinkies?

Yearbook Staff

This year's staff was new with the exception of Josh Jacobs as the photography editor. Senior Editor Andrea Miles and Assistant Editor Katrina Croutworst both came to the staff with high school experience. Very late nights, Pepsi, and pranks characterized the year of work in the Karisma office. A yearbook class was also started this year to help with the large load of work and also to train students interested in future editor positions. Class members include Sarah Stock, Jenifer Ramm, Salomon Sepulveda, and Kelly Ross. Julia Young and Phil Gustafson served as advisors along with their Rep. Mike Archer.

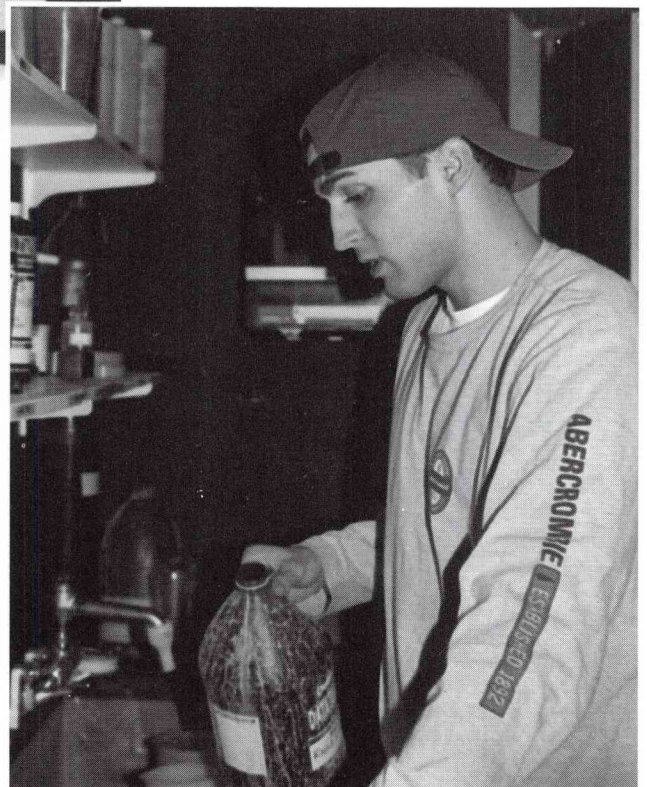

Katrina and Pepsi have become very good friends during this last year. Coffee has also been helpful during those times of mental block.

Andrea and Katrina have found that working as a team gets things done, unless it is 3:00 in the morning. By that time, all seriousness has escaped and the giggles set in.

What is there to say about Josh? Well, we can think of a lot to say. He gets it done in the nick of time, but never too late, he keeps us calm during those weeks of deadlines, and he keeps us laughing every time he walks out of the dark room with that dazed and confused look.

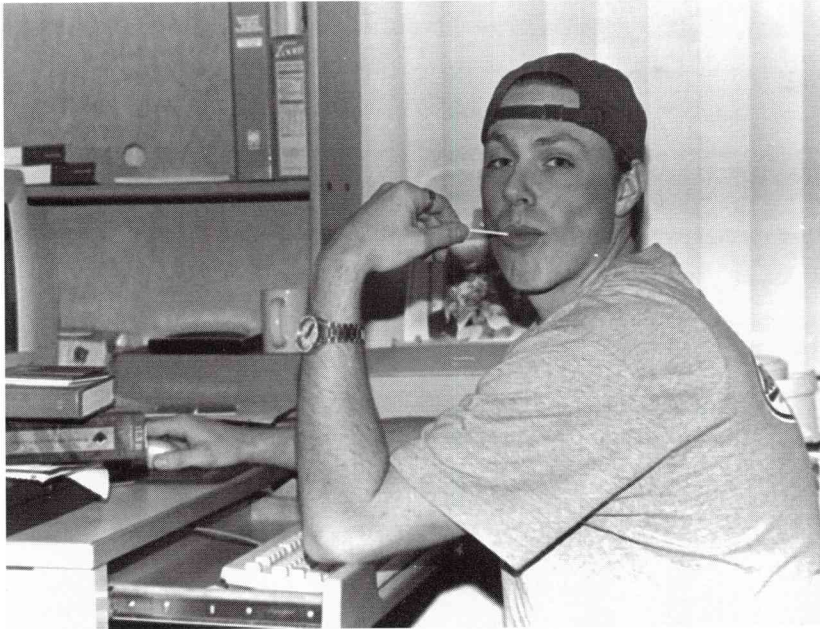

S.I.F.E. Members: (L to R) Cary Cole, Ben Helton, Nathan Norton, Stacy Hart, and Prof. David Stoops.

If you have visited Prof. Stoops in his office lately, you may have noticed a large bowl of pretzels. You will not hear any growling stomachs in his classes.

Free Enterprise

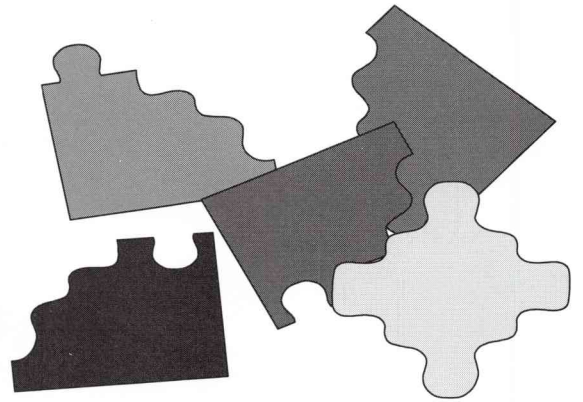

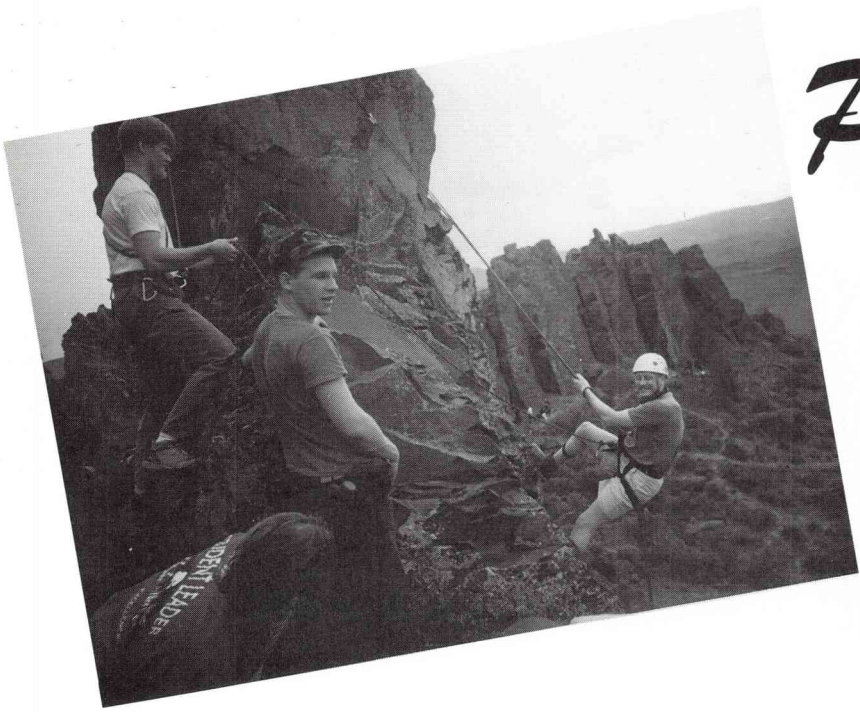

Cary Cole combines work with pleasure, even if it is only a sucker.

(Right) Improvising seems to be one of Ben Helton's strong points; he uses a couch for a chair, the piano bench for a table, and two notebooks to give his computer a little boost.

PSY CHI

Psy Chi is not just for psychology or behavioral science majors. Any student interested in Christian Psychology is welcome to attend meetings, get together, and outings such as this camping trip to eastern Washington. It is also responsible for funding the graduate schools that visit the campus to inform students of future possibilities. This leadership camping trip is the norm for those involved in Psy Chi. After traveling to the middle of nowhere, they rappelled down a cliff and even enjoyed an amateur laser light show with glow sticks.

editor's Note

We, the editors of the 1997-1998 Northwest College Karisma Yearbook, would like to take a minute to thank all of the people who have assisted us during the trials of production. Special thanks to our fearless Walsworth Representative Mike Archer whose stories will be missed. Our appreciation goes out to Dean Matt for coming along side of us with support and encouragement. To Julia Young and Phil Gustafson, thank you so much for taking the time to instruct, correct, and guide us each step of the way. We couldn't have done it without the photography skills of Jed Rusyniak, Mary Walker, Sarah Stock, Thys Wallwork, Lawrence Crook, and especially Gordon Sherman. Andrea would like to thank her husband Noah for being so patient during the late nights and busy weekends. You finally get her back! Katrina would like to express her gratitude to Starbucks for providing her with the caffeine she needed to persevere through it all. Josh would like to take a minute and relish the last deadline of his college career. His skills and experience will be missed along with his sense of humor. Finally, and most importantly, we would like to thank God for giving us the strength, energy, and grace to not only complete the yearbook, but to make it one He would approve of. We are most grateful for the opportunity to serve the community of Northwest College.

And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men.

-Colossians 3:23
