STAND OUT

It's easy to go with the flow—but that doesn't mean it's what we were made for. What would change if you believed you were designed to stand out?

In our 80+ years as a university, we continue to be amazed by our students and the ways God has created them to stand out. In the following pages, you'll read stories of students who are investing in their unique, God-given qualities. Through academics, athletics, leadership, art, and more, these students and their fellow classmates are learning to use their gifts in spectacular ways.

At Northwest University, we believe you too were created with specific skills and gifts that the world desperately needs. We would be honored to come alongside you to help those qualities grow. With our Christ-centered community, wide selection of programs, and extensive opportunities on campus and in the surrounding area, the possibilities are nearly endless.

We believe God made you for a specific purpose, and we can't wait to join you on your journey. You were made to stand out.

GOD HAS CREATED YOU TO STAND OUT ACADEMICS, ARTS, MUSIC

HOW ARE YOU INVOLVED IN CAMPUS LIFE AT NU?

On campus, I am involved in both cross-country and track. I have participated in track since I was 10 years old, and it has played a huge part in my life. I was recently a part of Team USA's track team that competed in Taicang, China.

DID ANY SCHOLARSHIPS HELP YOU GET TO CAMPUS?

I come from a low-income family, and I would not be able to attend Northwest without the financial help from these scholarships: academic merit scholarship, Women's Cross-Country Scholarship, and the Women's Track and Field Scholarship.

HOW DOES YOUR FAITH PLAY INTO WHAT YOU DO ON CAMPUS?

My faith in God plays a vital role in everything I do, but with being a part of the track and cross-country teams, faith is the daily reminder I need to keep my feet on the ground. My faith reminds me that my identity is and always will be in Christ.

HOW HAS YOUR COMMUNITY SUPPORTED YOU?

The NU community has been nothing but supportive to me and my dreams of one day being an Olympian. My teammates and coaches are some of the most caring people I have ever met, and I will forever be grateful for each and every one of them. My professors have also been a big blessing. They constantly check in and ask how my training and races are going.

HOW HAS YOUR TIME AT NU HELPED YOU IN YOUR PURSUITS?

My time at NU has really allowed me to see my life and dreams in a different perspective—a perspective that includes God in everything I do. This is something I have learned from peers, professors, and mentors I have gotten to know at Northwest University.

HOW ARE YOU INVOLVED IN CAMPUS LIFE AT NU?

I love being involved with charitable organizations and helping out in any way I can. I work with Hidden Hearts Foundation, a nonprofit organization based in Austin, Texas that runs Osiligi Orphanage in Arusha, Tanzania. Also, I enjoy working in the fashion industry. I model for a few local designers, as well as plan and organize my own fashion shows to build awareness about culture and diversity, and fundraise for charities. On campus, I am involved with Associated Students of Northwest University (ASNU) as the student body president. I am also on the cross-country and track and field teams as a long- and mid-distance runner.

DID ANY SCHOLARSHIPS HELP YOU GET TO CAMPUS?

I have an academic scholarship, an athletic scholarship, and a leadership scholarship. The rest of my school funding comes from the Hidden Hearts Foundation in Austin, Texas, a nonprofit organization that sponsors me.

HOW DOES YOUR FAITH PLAY INTO WHAT YOU DO ON CAMPUS?

My faith in Christ is the most important thing in my life. I want everything that I do, on and off campus, to bring glory to God. In the fashion industry, I work with people from different faith backgrounds, so I use this as an opportunity to share my faith and love for Christ with so many diverse people.

HOW HAS YOUR COMMUNITY SUPPORTED YOU?

My communities give me constant prayer support, which I think is the most important support to give or receive. I am in contact with churches and different communities here and back home in Tanzania, and they all pray for me.

HOW HAS YOUR TIME AT NU HELPED YOU IN YOUR PURSUITS?

Coming from a different culture, NU has accepted me for exactly who I am and allowed me to continue to grow spiritually alongside other followers of Christ. I feel safe, supported, and free to use the gifts that God has given me. With the support of my peers, I am able to stand as NU's student body president to draw from experiences and perspective to serve our community.

HOW ARE YOU INVOLVED IN CAMPUS LIFE AT NU?

I have been involved in three different areas of leadership, including the Student Activities Board, Residence Life, and Campus Ministries. Having experience in all three of these areas has allowed me to see tons of different perspectives in terms of students and community life at Northwest, as well as grow in my leadership abilities and discover more about myself. I also just joined the Improv team this last year, which is stellar.

DID ANY SCHOLARSHIPS HELP YOU GET TO CAMPUS?

The two scholarships that aided me the most were the academic merit scholarship for my grades in high school and the Minister's Dependent Scholarship (my dad is a pastor). These two scholarships alleviated a lot of stress in terms of finances for attending NU.

HOW DOES YOUR FAITH PLAY INTO WHAT YOU DO ON CAMPUS?

Growing up as a pastor's kid, I didn't really get exposed to a vast amount of perspectives on Christianity and different biblical principles. But after coming to Northwest, I have been able to have really intentional conversations with people and see their heart behind what they believe and how God has worked in their life. Through this, I have been able to formalize and better understand my Christian values and beliefs. Another cool thing is that through music and my marketing position with Campus Ministries, I am able to communicate to people through digital media, which is very relevant and powerful in today's society.

HOW HAS YOUR COMMUNITY SUPPORTED YOU?

The friends and relationships that I have built at Northwest have been some of the most supportive relationships I've ever had. One of my biggest passions is creating music. I've been producing and writing songs for a couple years now, and allowing other people at Northwest to get involved in my musical projects has been one of the greatest ways of supporting my hobby, as well as their talents. In addition to that, people around NU have really encouraged me by sharing my music and telling me how they love it, which is an absolute blessing. NU has blessed me with the opportunity to serve in so many different capacities and leadership positions, which I am so grateful for. My creativity and ability have not gone unnoticed here, and the community has helped support me as well as build me up, which is so cool.

HOW HAS YOUR TIME AT NU HELPED YOU IN YOUR PURSUITS?

Northwest has given me so many creative outlets and resources to use. With a large community of talented people, I have been able to craft and collaborate with people to create things that I could have never imagined I would have been able to do. Four years ago, I would have never thought I would have successful musicians as my friends; an audience of my own for my music; some of the best friends, mentors, and leaders I could have ever asked for; and the ability to be in a leadership position that allows me to create even more.

ACADEMIC STUDIES

COULD YOU DESCRIBE YOUR ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE AT NU?

Academically speaking, it isn't the course load that reveals uniqueness—it is the course content. At NU, there is a wide variety of classes that appeal to the interests of our diverse student body. For me specifically, I have taken courses that directly reveal my deepest passions. One class that I think stands out the most was a course dedicated solely to the study of refugees. Through this special topics course, I was able to better understand the past, present, and future of various global refugee crises. In studying this topic, I grew more sensitive toward the injustices that harm humanity internationally, and I was empowered to fight against these injustices even further.

DID ANY SCHOLARSHIPS HELP YOU GET TO CAMPUS?

By the grace of God, I had the honor of receiving the Provost Scholarship—a scholarship awarded as a result of academic excellence and leadership potential. It was that scholarship that enabled me to attend NU.

HOW DOES YOUR FAITH PLAY INTO YOUR ACADEMIC STUDIES?

My faith is the most vital component of my campus experience, because it forces me to approach my education holistically. I choose my courses based on which classes will equip me to more effectively operate within my God-given interests. Why? Because students at NU aren't merely studying to be better doctors, teachers, or musicians. We are learning how to walk with the Lord, serve without ceasing, and love without limits. Regardless of my degree, what I study is inseparable from who I become.

HOW HAS YOUR COMMUNITY SUPPORTED YOU?

Community is crucial. The people of this University—whether student or staff member—care with conviction. I have been surrounded by other students that help me discover what God is leading me to do, while being equipped by professors to understand how I am going to accomplish those things. Whether I am in the dorms or behind my desk, the community at Northwest has been a huge blessing in becoming who I am today.

HOW HAS YOUR TIME AT NU HELPED YOU IN YOUR PURSUITS?

During my time at Northwest University, I have been surrounded by remarkable leaders. People that honor the Lord; not just with their lips, but with their lives. My time at NU has taught me that it isn't about fighting to be seen, it is about seeking the God that already sees me, fully. I have come to understand that I don't have to try to stand out. I know now more than ever that when I stand up for others, I am standing out for Christ. Through pursuing my master's in international community development here at NU, I am learning how to stand up for others—the vulnerable, oppressed, and marginalized—for the rest of my life.

ISAAC PEABODY
A.K.A. PEABOD

GOD HAS CREATED YOU TO STAND OUT ACROSS MUSIC

WHAT ARE YOU INVOLVED IN THAT HAS MADE YOU STAND OUT UPON GRADUATION?

I recently signed a record deal with Centricity Music, a Christian record label in Nashville. Since then, I've released my first album, Healthy Snacks, under the stage name PEABOD. It features a collection of "happy hip-hop" music that I wrote and produced. It's been a blast getting to work with Centricity, and I'm starting to travel to perform the album live which has been incredibly fun. I've wanted to be a professional musician for a long time, so I'm humbled and so grateful for this opportunity.

WHAT SCHOLARSHIPS HELPED YOU GET TO CAMPUS?

I managed to keep my grades up in high school, so I received a pretty decent academic scholarship. But what really helped me get over the financial fence was my music scholarship. I didn't know what to expect, but the extra amount of yearly money I received for my bass guitar audition was super important in helping me afford college.

HOW DOES YOUR FAITH PLAY INTO WHAT YOU DO?

Music has always been a place where I feel that God meets me, so my faith plays a huge role in my writing process and in what I write about. Most of my songs are written from a place of joy, because as a believer, I believe that my true joy is found in Jesus Christ. Some of the songs are about very casual things—like living with roommates or summer—but they're written from a place of joy that is founded in Christ. My hope with this music is that Christians will be encouraged to embrace the joy set before them in Jesus, and that non-Christians would be curious about where this joy comes from and ask about Jesus.

HOW HAS YOUR COMMUNITY SUPPORTED YOU AS A MUSICIAN?

Though my music is a solo act, my community has been a huge part of the reason I'm able to do what I do. From giving me notes on my lyrics and mixes, to encouraging me when I release something, I rely heavily on the input and feedback of my community. In another way, my community has helped me to grow as a musician and as a believer. Through playing music with my church and my friends from NU, I've been able to remain grounded while also embracing opportunities to practice my craft.

HOW DID YOUR TIME AT NU HELP YOU TO STAND OUT?

On a relational level, I made important friendships that will impact me and what I do for years to come. I also learned so much about playing and recording music. I was a communication major, but I took all of my electives in our recording arts program (Creatio). Without those classes, I don't know that I would have been able to produce the music that got my record label's attention. So in a lot of ways, I have NU (and Creatio professor Steve Smith) to thank for where I'm at now.

TELL ME ABOUT YOUR INTERNSHIP WITH THE SEAHAWKS FOR THIS UPCOMING SEASON.

For the 2018 NFL season, I will be the Fan Relations and Ticketing Intern for the Seattle Seahawks. In this position, I will be working closely with fans to provide them with a great Seahawks experience. During the week, I work at the VMAC, which is the Seahawks' training facility in Renton. On game days, I will be at CenturyLink Field. I am the only intern in my department, and I will work alongside mentors who teach me and push me in my pursuit of a career in sports.

WHAT SCHOLARSHIPS HELPED YOU GET TO CAMPUS?

I received an academic scholarship, but what helped me the most was receiving a scholarship to be on the Northwest cross-country and track and field teams. I have been a runner all my life, and I knew I wanted to compete collegiately. The team at Northwest recruited me and helped me get onto campus by providing me a scholarship.

HOW DOES YOUR FAITH PLAY INTO WHAT YOU DO?

Now that I am graduated and off campus, faith still plays an important role in my career. After becoming a Christian at 16, I initially believed the only way to incorporate faith into vocation was by becoming a missionary or going directly into ministry. After a few semesters of pursuing those vocations, however, I learned that they were not what I was passionate about. Sports—especially the intense and devout community that surrounds sports—were my passion. I learned that even in the sports industry, my faith can be expressed. When I interact with thousands of fans, I have the opportunity to demonstrate love and kindness on behalf of the Seahawks and on behalf of the faith I live by. Also, by making a career out of my biggest passion, I know that I will be honoring God and the gifts that He's given me. He created me to love sports and the sports community, so I am confident that building a career around sports is what I am meant to do.

HOW HAS YOUR COMMUNITY SUPPORTED YOU IN YOUR PURSUITS?

My community, especially the Northwest community, has been exceptionally supportive of my journey. The sports industry is highly competitive, and getting a foot in the door is challenging. Despite these challenges, the faculty and staff at NU stood beside me and supported me wholeheartedly. After I first decided to pursue a career in sports, I met with a professor, Thor Tolo, who had built a career as a sports broadcaster, and he encouraged me to go for it. As I sought endlessly for a way into the industry, NU's career advisor, Levi Davenport, helped me find a team to work for. It was because of him that I landed my first sports internship with the Seattle Thunderbirds. I received my degree in English, and even though an English degree does not traditionally correlate to a career in sports, the entire English department encouraged me, prayed for me, and pushed me to fight for my dreams. I will never be able to thank the NU community enough for their commitment to me and my dreams. There is no way I could have done this without them.

WE'RE IN GOOD COMPANY.

NEW HONORS PROGRAM BEGINS AT NORTHWEST UNIVERSITY

Core to NU's mission is a resolute commitment to academic excellence. It is our goal to raise up exceptional scholars who approach the world with a relentless curiosity and who glorify God by expressing their discipline and intellect to the highest degree possible. It is out of this same mission our new honors program was born.

Beginning in the fall of 2018, the honors program will provide even more support for the development of students specifically gifted in the academic arena. The honors program empowers these students as scholars, servants, and citizens, holding them to exceptionally high standards, both within the classroom and the community.

Students accepted into the honors program will have opportunities as:

Scholars: To achieve academic excellence through participation in research, production of an honors thesis, and publication in Harvest, NU's journal of original student research.

Servants: To embody spiritual vitality through student leadership, participation in service projects on campus, and local missions projects coordinated with Campus Ministries.

“We are seeking students for this program with a voracious appetite for learning—an innate curiosity that crosses disciplinary boundaries and finds signposts in all academic fields that point toward God’s goodness, beauty, and truth.” -Dr. Joshua Meeks

Citizens: To engage with human need through multicultural life events, global and local missions trips, and a culminating study trip to Washington, D.C.

According to the program's director, Dr. Joshua Meeks, the new honors program does have GPA and test score requirements for admission, but an even more crucial factor is a student's entire intellectual orientation.

More information about the honors program—including specific requirements for admission—can be found at northwestu.edu/honors.

WE START LOW AND AIM HIGH.

As you can see from the graph, NU's total cost is significantly lower than other private universities in the area. But our accreditation and academic standards are high. It's why we were recently selected as a College of Distinction and have been rated as an exceptional value.
