The 1989-90 Lady Defenders have returned to the courts with a new perspective. Playing a tougher schedule against NCAA schools, illness and injury have made this season a challenge for the Defenders. This season saw the return of three starters, and six new members to the squad. The season has been one of testing for each of the ladies as they strive to be the best they can. The one unifying goal for the Lady Defenders is that of honoring their Lord and savior.

The MBI Lady Archer's 1989-1990 team is young and fresh, with an eagerness to learn and a willingness to accept the challenge of competition. Eleven freshmen bring this new look to the team, while returning All-American senior co-capt., Alice Hibma and junior co-capt., Sheri Felty bring experience to the team. In spite of the team's youthfulness, the talent is wellbalanced. This balance is evidenced by the alternating of high scores among the majority of players.

The St. Louis Christian College "Lady Soldiers" completed their first year of competition with a 5-4 record. Highlight of the season was the defeating of Harris Stowe State College of February 6, 1990. What made this victory so special was the fact that on January 18, 1990 SLCC was defeated by Harris Stowe by the score of 63-29. The one point victory later on in that season proved to point out the improvement of the Lady Soldiers thru out the season.

The Lady Soldiers are paced by a pair of high scoring first year players. Amy Legg is scoring at a 22.1 clip and Sherry Colclasure is scoring 21.7 points per game. Rebound leaders are Amy Legg with a 7.1 average and Liz Ciyou with 6 per game.

Despite a poor start, the Lady Eagles of Toccoa Falls College are the class of District V N.C.C.A.A. Basketball.

Most teams losing an All-American like Laura Sligh at Christmas break, would struggle, but T.F.C. managed to pull together to go undefeated in the district, a perfect 8-0. Destroying their opponents by an average of 28 points per contest, they managed to win their district for the fourth straight season and earned their fifth straight trip to the national tournament and their sixth in the tournaments eight year history.

Using Judges chapter 7 as our inspiration for the season, our motto is "For the Lord and Toccoa Falls College."

Congratulations and
Best Wishes
