NATIONAL CHRISTIAN COLLEGE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

On behalf of the NCCAA and the Board of Directors, I welcome you to the 16th Annual NCCAA Division II National Basketball Tournament.

It is also a privilege to welcome the Division IIA schools who are participating in what is their inaugural Basketball Tournament.

This particular NCCAA championship event is rich in tradition. It is one of the first NCCAA sponsored championships to what has grown to 14 different national tournaments in both men's and women's competition. We are pleased to serve 114 member institutions in the NCCAA.

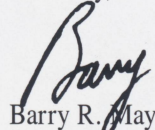

Congratulations to each student-athlete and coach who is in this Basketball Championship. Your participation in this Tournament certainly represents many weeks of dedicated time and work. I trust your participation in this Tournament will be a very enriching and fulfilling experience.

My personal thanks to Sheldon Bassett, the Athletic Director of Moody Bible Institute, and Greg Gaffney, the National Chairman for NCCAA Men's Basketball II, for their excellent leadership in organizing and administering this fine event.

The NCCAA appreciates so very much the interest and support exhibited by the people of Chicago and Moody Bible Institute to make this event a success.

One of the major goals of the NCCAA is to honor and glorify Christ through athletic competition. I am confident this Tournament will provide a time of exciting competition and excellent sportsmanship.

Sincerely,

Barry R. May
Executive Director

The culmination of your hard work, both academically and athletically, exemplifies the underlying Christian values that make your basketball team a credit to the athletic ministry of Higher Christian Education.

Special thanks to each person and company who has given of their time and their financial support to make this tournament a success.

Welcome to Chicago and to MBI!

Cordially,

Joseph M. Stowell

CONTINUING YOUR MINISTRY WHILE YOU GO TO GRAD SCHOOL IS NOT RECOMMENDED. IT'S REQUIRED.

After all what good is a masters without a working ministry? Our focus is spiritual growth and evangelism.

At Moody Graduate School, your ministry work is part of your graduation requirement.

For each course, you'll be on campus for just one week attending practical team-taught classes. Then it's back to the real world to put it all into action. Your ministry is your master's thesis.

We keep tuition low by relying on God for financial support—through the generous friends of Moody Bible Institute.

MOODY GRADUATE SCHOOL

820 N. LASALLE DR., CHICAGO, IL 60610

MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE

Moody Bible Institute prepares students for vocational Christian ministry as pastors, missionaries, musicians, and other church-related workers, and as lay-leaders for local churches.

MBI's 1,450 undergraduate students choose from eleven majors including Pastoral Studies, Christian Education, Music, Missions and Communications. Each major includes intensive studies in the Bible. MBI's undergraduate school also operates a missionary aviation training program in Elizabethton, TN. Nearly half of the missionary pilots currently on the field and one in every fifteen active missionaries from North America received training at MBI.

Since its founding in 1985, the Moody Graduate School has admitted more than 600 students. Those with no Bible background work full-time toward the Master of Arts in Biblical Studies degree, preparing themselves for missions work or other types of Christian service. Graduate students currently in a ministry take modular courses throughout the year, progressing toward the Master of Arts in Ministry degree.

Founded by evangelist D.L. Moody in 1886, MBI seeks to integrate classroom knowledge with practical experience. As part of the program students obtain hands-on experience in such areas as teaching Bible classes, hospital and home visitation, and working with children and adults.

MBI also has extension schools in six states, a world-wide independent studies program, and a Christian elementary and secondary school in St. Petersburg, FL.

In addition to its educational endeavors, MBI operates Moody Press, publishers of Bibles and Christian books; Moody magazine and Today In The Word devotional guide; the film and video ministry of Moody Institute of Science; the Moody Broadcasting Network with more than 350 outlets across North America; and a conference ministry including the live Sermons From Science demonstrations, Keswick Bible Conference (St. Petersburg, FL), women's seminars, marriage seminars, and Bible and family living conferences in local churches.

THE SOLHEIM CENTER

Dedicated on January 30, 1991, the Solheim Center serves MBI as an athletic/recreational facility and urban outreach center. This 70,000 sq. ft. building includes the main gym with three full-sized basketball courts, an auxiliary gym, four racquetball courts, a swimming pool, fitness center, and a jogging track.

As an athletic facility, it is home for MBI's intramural and inter-collegiate athletic/recreational activities. Select Chicago organizations also use the building to enhance their community, athletic and educational endeavors. Several NBA teams use the center as a practice facility while in town playing the Chicago Bulls.

As a community outreach center, the facility enhances MBI's 105-year old hands-on approach to education. MBI education includes a practical application of classroom learning through involvement in local organizations. This places Moody students in 110 city agencies and 424 Chicago area churches. Students' activities include inner-city tutoring and participation in a Big Brother/Big Sister program in one of Chicago's largest low-income housing projects. The Solheim Center serves as a common-ground location as MBI students develop on-going relationships with inner-city youth. Other programs such as MBI sponsored summer sports camps and clinics also extend MBI's outreach beyond the classroom.

The Solheim Center was paid for by individuals, organizations and foundations interested in MBI's neighborhood outreach programs, with major funding coming from the Karsten and Louise Solheim family, manufacturers of Ping golf clubs and materials for the aerospace industry.

NCCAA STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

The NCCAA was incorporated to provide a Christian-based organization that functions uniquely as a national and international agency for the maintenance, enhancement, and promotion of collegiate athletic competition in a Christian perspective.

NCCAA STATEMENT OF FUNCTION

The very existence of the National Christian College Athletic Association (NCCAA) speaks to the need of a different game plan for college athletics in the midst of an era when the very foundations of our society are being eroded morally. The NCCAA wants to step into the gap and become a vehicle for implementing morality and purpose of life through athletics in cooperation with member colleges and their student-athletes.

The NCCAA game plan is to assist colleges in producing winners in the "game of life." Its intent is to assist the colleges and coaches in producing a game plan that will influence the athlete immediately as well as for his/her entire life: a plan that will challenge the student-athlete through national competition; a plan that expects academic credibility; a plan of maximum development through assisting college coaches with leadership, programs, and materials; a plan that encourages a mature functioning body of Christians able to serve family, school, church, and society.

The NCCAA is unique in its purpose, its constituency, and hopefully its outcome. It is not who wins the game on the athletic field that really counts, but rather who wins that all-important game being fought in the lives of our nation's youth. The NCCAA makes a difference in developing the leaders of tomorrow.

The NCCAA game plan includes: dedicated and caring leadership, national competition (now including fourteen national tournaments in both men and women's sports), international outreach with athletic teams, discipleship programs and materials for student-athletes and coaches, and conferences on current key issues.

We believe:

- That athletics are a means to an end; not the end in themselves.
- That the process is as important as the performance.
- That the person (athlete) is more important than the program.

Facility completed November, 1990

After years of dreaming and planning, the Moody Bible Institute decided they needed a firm which specialized in athletic facilities. So Howard Whaley turned to Stanmar for help.

"I believe that anybody who builds knows it takes twice as long and costs twice as much as you originally expect," says Whaley. "But with Stanmar, we had an upfront guaranteed price, a reliable construction schedule and a fully delivered turnkey facility. Stanmar impressed us because athletic facilities are the only thing they specialize in. The facility is well designed and built and has met our needs with a high quality - all within our budget."

Stanmar has built over fifty athletic facilities in twenty-one states, most with swimming pools. Our single-source accountability approach saves you
