Northwest University

Northwest University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, disability, or genetic information in its admissions policies. Further, it is the policy of the University not to discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, disability, genetic information, or veteran status in the administration of its educational programs, including employment, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other college-administered programs and activities. As a religious educational organization, the University reserves the right to prefer employees and prospective employees on the basis of religion, and also reserves its right to prefer students and prospective students on the basis of religion. At this time, only traditional undergraduate students are required to comply with the University's faith requirements.

Northwest is a drug and alcohol-free campus for all employees and students and offers educational programs in alcohol and drug awareness for all campus groups. Inquiries regarding Northwest's policy and responsibilities should be addressed to the Senior Vice President.

Northwest University reserves the right to make any changes in the content and provisions of the catalog without notice. This includes the right to change the rules regulating admission to, instruction in, and graduation from the University, and to change any other regulations affecting the student body which shall apply not only to prospective students, but also to those presently matriculated in the University.

Veterans: Information contained in this publication is hereby certified as true and correct in content and policy as of the date of publication, in compliance with the Veterans Administration DVB Circular 20-76-84 and Public Law 94-502.

Northwest University is in compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) of 1974/1996. A full description of FERPA rights is in the Academic Services section.

Accreditation and Affiliations

Northwest University is accredited by the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities (regional). The University is endorsed by the Commission on Christian Higher Education of the Assemblies of God and the Association of Christian Schools International.

Accreditation of an institution of higher education by the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities indicates that it meets or exceeds criteria for the assessment of institutional quality evaluated through a peer review process. An accredited college or university is one which has available the necessary resources to achieve its stated purposes through appropriate educational programs, is substantially doing so, and gives reasonable evidence that it will continue to do so in the foreseeable future. Institutional integrity is also addressed through accreditation.

Accreditation by the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities is not partial but applies to the institution as a whole. As such, it is not a guarantee of every course or program offered, or the competence of individual graduates. Rather, it provides reasonable assurance about the quality of opportunities available to students who attend the institution.

The University holds membership in the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities. The Council is committed to cultivating communities of educational excellence in which the Lordship of Jesus Christ is central. Membership in this esteemed association of Christian colleges and universities provides opportunities for personal and professional enrichment for students, faculty, and administrators.

The University is also approved by the Board of Education and Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of Washington to prepare elementary and secondary education teachers and recommend for certification. It is a member of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

The baccalaureate degree in nursing at Northwest University is accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE) (<http://www.aacn.nche.edu/ccne-accreditation>). In addition, the College of Nursing has approval from the Washington State Nursing Care Quality Assurance Commission.

The College of Business is accredited by the Accrediting Council for Business Schools and Programs. (11520 W. 119th St., Overland Park, KS 66213, and 913-339-9356). ACBSP accredits business, accounting, and business-related programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master, and doctorate degree levels worldwide. Recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA) in 2001 and again in 2011.

Northwest University's doctoral program in Counseling Psychology is accredited by the Commission of Accreditation in the American Psychological Association (APA). Questions related to the Psy.D. program may be directed to the Director of the Psy.D. Program, Dr. Leihua Edstrom, by emailing leihua.edstrom@northwestu.edu or by calling (425)889-5367. Questions related to the program's accredited status should be directed to the Commission on Accreditation: Office of Program Consultation and Accreditation American Psychological Association, 750 1st Street, NE, Washington, DC 20002; Phone: (202) 336-5979, E-mail: apaaccred@apa.org, Web: www.apa.org/ed/accreditation.

The University is approved by the Federal and State Governments for student aid programs and for the training of international students. Selected programs of study are approved by a Washington State Approving Agency for enrollment of those eligible for benefits under Title 38 and Title 10, U.S. Code and by Washington State for training in Vocational Rehabilitation. It is listed in the current bulletin, "Accredited Higher Education Institutions," published by the U.S. Office of Education.

The University is approved by the Federal and State Governments for student aid programs and for the training of international students. It is also approved by the Washington Student Achievement Council's State Approving Agency for the training of veterans under U.S. Code, Title 38, Chapters 30, 31, 32, 34, 35, and Title 10, Chapter 1606 and by Washington State for training in Vocational Rehabilitation.

GI Bill® is a registered trademark of the US Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). More information about education benefits offered by VA is available at the official US government website at <http://www.benefits.va.gov/gibill>.

The University is an institutional participant in the National Council of State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement (NC-SARA) initiative. NC-SARA is an agreement among member states, districts and territories that establishes comparable national standards for interstate offering of postsecondary distance education courses and programs. It is intended to make it easier for students to take online courses offered by postsecondary institutions based in another state. NC-SARA is overseen by a National Council and administered by four regional education compacts. A list of membership institutions is located at www.nc-sara.org.

Inquiries' regarding an institution's accredited status by the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities should be directed to the administrative staff of the institution. Individuals may also contact:

Northwest Perspective

Classification Private, Christian Liberal Arts

Institutional Accreditation Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities (NWCCU)

Northwest University is a regionally accredited, Christian coeducational institution awarding associate, baccalaureate, masters and doctoral degrees. The University is operated under the control of the Alaska, Hawaii, Montana, North Pacific Latin American, Northern California Nevada, Northwest, Northwest Hispanic, Oregon, Southern Idaho, and Wyoming districts of the Assemblies of God. All these districts are represented on the University's Board of Directors.

Northwest University Mission

We, the people of Northwest University, carry the call of God by continually building a learning community dedicated to spiritual vitality, academic excellence, and empowered engagement with human need.

Missional Values

The Mission of Northwest University, a Christian university affiliated with the Assemblies of God, is derived from the following values:

Spiritual Vitality

- Moving together in personal relationship with Christ Jesus and knowledge of God's calling, we dedicate ourselves to Spirit-filled service.
- Practicing discipleship and worship with biblical faithfulness, we develop courage and character to meet the challenges of our world.
- Crafting a diverse, lifelong community, we recognize the intrinsic worth and dignity of each individual and facilitate friendships and networks that reach out to welcome others in love.

Academic Excellence

- Exploring all truth with scholarly excellence, we build a biblical worldview to prepare each other for service and leadership throughout the world.
- Developing moral, spiritual, intellectual, and aesthetic values through the arts and sciences, we integrate faith, learning, and life.
- Thinking critically, we aid one another in academic achievement and lifelong pursuit of knowledge, wisdom, and skills.

Empowered Engagement

- Growing holistically, we clarify and obey individual God-given callings.
- Communicating and modeling the Gospel, we call people and communities to be reconciled to God and to each other.
- Demonstrating Spirit-inspired compassion and creativity, we meet the needs of individuals, build communities, and care for creation.

Core Themes

Core Theme One

- Building a caring community and enduring culture

Core Theme Two

- Developing Christian commitment and Spirit-formed lives

Core Theme Three

- Advancing academic engagement through teaching, learning and scholarly production

Core Theme Four

- Empowering people with the vision and tools to meet human need in their personal and professional lives

Community Covenant

Our community covenant is founded on our shared calling and relationship as Christ-followers, as outlined in Colossians 3:12-15. "Therefore, as God's chosen people, holy and dearly loved, clothe yourselves with compassion, kindness, humility, gentleness and patience. Bear with each other and forgive one another if any of you has a grievance against someone. Forgive as the Lord forgave you. And over all these virtues put on love, which binds them all together in perfect unity. Let the peace of Christ rule in your hearts, since as members of one body you were called to peace. And be thankful."

Based on the teachings in this verse and the enabling of God, we endeavor that all of our interactions and communications will show respect for the wellbeing of all, especially those who may disagree with us.

To that end, we commit before God to communicate honestly, openly, and humbly— without cynicism or a supposed sense of superiority and always with the respect that allows us to recognize the value of others as children of God and members of this community. Furthermore, we recognize the value of diverse opinions, and that unity does not require unanimity.

Standards of Civility

By civility, we intend more than mere politeness. Rather we intend a basic set of attitudes and actions upon which we can build a community that is able to celebrate our differences, make decisions, and resolve conflict in a positive and forward-moving manner. These standards do not intend to stifle anyone's leadership, academic freedom, or freedom of speech. Rather they provide 'guidelines of participation' for our Christian and professional community. The goal is to create the conditions that best allow trust and positive relationships to flourish.

Therefore, the NU administration, faculty, and staff commit to prioritize the following in our communications within NU and concerning NU to the general public:

1. Encouragement: encourage each other and value the contributions that all members make to the shared mission of NU.
2. Collaboration: choose to enter into communication non-defensively, assuming other parties have good will toward us and are acting in good faith.
3. Forgiveness: allow others to grow through forgiveness and avoid holding grudges.
4. Inclusiveness: prioritize inclusive language and actively recruit input from under-represented voices (bearing in mind categories like gender, culture, ethnicity, position, and rank).

Governance, Planning and the Use of Authority

We recognize that we all exercise authority in one or more areas, making decisions that affect others. Therefore, we commit to the following tenets:

Whether as individuals or as groups, we affirm that it is incumbent on us to value a broad perspective and seriously take into account those whom our decisions affect and those with a reasonable interest in our decisions. It is also incumbent on us, when we have a reasonable interest in decisions, to engage and offer input.

Similarly, we acknowledge that there are times when decisions are made with which everyone does not agree. In those instances, we commit to behave with a cooperative and positive attitude, even while we may continue to work respectfully within the system to seek change.

Healthy Interaction, Input, Grievances, Complaints, and Contributions

In our communication, we will seek the most respectful, orderly, and productive tone and medium appropriate for our message and context. Particularly in times of conflict, we should, as professionals, craft our communication in a manner that minimizes miscommunication and preserves the intent of our message. The Employee and Faculty Manuals outline procedures for engaging the system and working through committee and group structures to affect change. In the case of more personal grievances between individuals, all effort should be made to resolve the issue through the process outlined in the Employee Manual, Section V: Conduct: Complaint Resolution.

We commit to the following actions:

1. Be truth seekers who speak in specifics, not in generalities.
2. Seek to understand fully before expressing disagreement or dissent.
3. Rely on first-hand accounts.
4. Strive to reconcile hurts and reach a mutually agreed upon resolution.
5. Take personal responsibility for uncivil or improper actions in order to restore harmony in the community.
6. Participate in the discussion of issues of concern, or if not, choose to respect the outcome.

We commit to this covenant remembering that in the companionship of fellow Christians we can see the image of God in one another. As Paul exhorts us, "therefore make every effort to do what leads to peace and to mutual edification" (Romans 14:19).

Non-Discrimination

Northwest University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, disability, or genetic information in its admissions policies. Further, it is the policy of the University not to discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, disability, genetic information, or veteran status in the administration of its educational programs, including employment, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other college-administered programs and activities. As a religious educational organization, the University reserves the right to prefer employees and prospective employees on the basis of religion, and also reserves its right to prefer students and prospective students on the basis of religion. At this time, only traditional undergraduate students are required to comply with the University's faith requirements.

Northwest University is committed to a policy of non-discrimination with regard to race, color, national origin, sex, age, marital status, or physical disability. Persons having questions regarding University policy of non-discrimination should contact the Dean of Student Development or Title IX Coordinator.

Northwest University is in compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974/1996. A full statement on FERPA rights is found in this catalog.

Precision of Language

Northwest University is committed to the equality of men and women and to creating a learning community for all people. This commitment is based on the Bible's teaching that God's kingdom is made up of men and women from every nation, tribe, people, and language—and that no group constitutes the norm. Therefore, we expect students and members of the faculty, staff and administration to avoid sexist language and to employ inclusive language in writing, public speaking, and public worship. Further, we encourage members of the Northwest University community to be sensitive and respectful whenever referring to the personal characteristics of others.

Program Format

Most graduate programs at Northwest University use a cohort system for most courses. Each new student is grouped into a "cohort" with the other entering students and registers for nearly the same course schedule as the other members of their graduate program's cohort for the entire program. In most programs students are allowed to take additional courses with other cohorts. Program cohorts range from 12-40 students, depending on the specific graduate program and course. The advantage of this system is the support and openness it creates. The cohort becomes a valuable resource into which students can tap. Student's study and learn together. They also become comfortable with one another to the point of being able to discuss difficult issues and share personal accounts. Since a higher level of openness is attainable, a higher level of learning can also be reached.

Course Format

Classes are designed to complement the lives of adult learners who often seek to balance their academic goals with the demands of everyday life. Masters level graduate programs take one to two years while doctoral programs may require a minimum of four to five years of full-time study scheduled across three annual semesters. Each graduate program has been designed based on the nature of the discipline and vocational commitments of its students. For instance, the College of Education's programs are designed with sensitivity to teachers who are daily in the classroom, while many of the College of Ministry's classes meet for week-long intensive seminar sessions. Some graduate courses utilize Friday evening and all-day Saturday schedules. Students should consult their respective program's course format details and the current program schedule online at www.northwestu.edu and in this catalog for specific class offerings, including days and times.

On-Demand Courses

A limited number of course electives may be offered when enough students express interest. Students do so by communicating with their respective program at least one term before they desire to take the course.

Special Seminars

Periodically, programs may offer students the opportunity to register for optional courses that do not meet in the traditional classroom format. At times, special seminars may be offered in a variety of formats. These seminars are taught to enrich the curriculum and build awareness for graduate students. Students should consult their program's semester schedule for more details.

Graduate Research

Several graduate programs either require or offer students the opportunity to work with a graduate faculty member through independent or directed research on a topic of the student's choice. Students desiring to conduct graduate research in addition to the research requirements of their program must complete and submit a special request form to their program's office. If approved, a program professor will be assigned to the student to ensure that the proper quantity and quality of work is assigned and performed.

Institutional Review Board

The Northwest University Institutional Review Board (NU IRB) is a federally regulated committee that directs the care of participants in research affiliated with the University. In particular, the job of the NU IRB is to establish and enforce ethical guidelines to protect participants from harm and to respect their personal dignity, especially those individuals who have limited understanding of the risks of their participation or who have diminished decision-making abilities. Unless exempt, research projects affiliated with Northwest University must be approved by the NU IRB for the duration of the project. See the Institutional Review Board link on the Provost's Eagle Page for further information.

Failure to adhere to federal laws relating to use of human subject(s) in research or the requirements of the NU IRB constitutes noncompliance. Examples include conducting research outside of NU IRB approval dates, not following NU IRB requirements, or failure to be forthcoming about research projects. Instances of possible noncompliance shall be brought to the NU IRB full committee for discussion and investigation. The NU IRB will conclude one of the following outcomes.

1. The instance does not constitute noncompliance and will be dismissed
2. The instance constitutes noncompliance that can be ameliorated via a Corrective Plan proposed by the primary investigator (PI) and subsequently agreed upon by the NU IRB
3. The instance constitutes noncompliance that is either serious or continuous
 - Serious noncompliance is that which increases risks to participants, intentionally violates policies, or is otherwise deemed serious by the NU IRB.
 - A continuous instance of noncompliance is a pattern of violating the federal laws governing research involving human subjects, or the requirements of the NU IRB, whether intentionally or not.

Consequences of serious or continuous noncompliance will be decided by the University Provost, in conjunction with the IRB committee, associated Academic Dean, and dissertation/thesis committee chair in instances involving student-PIs. Those consequences may include

1. withdrawal of IRB approval
2. modifications to the study protocol
3. increased monitoring of the research project including access to the data where needed
4. suspension or termination of the research project
5. termination of current and future research projects
6. dismissal from the University

Membership

The National Institute of Health specifies that the board must have at least five members who represent a variety of backgrounds. In particular federal policy indicates that at least one member of the committee must be a scientist, one member a non-scientist and one member must not be affiliated with the institution in question.

Library

The Hurst Library provides the Northwest University community with collections, services, and spaces that foster the integration of biblical faith with the academic research process. Library collections can be searched from the library website (<http://library.northwestu.edu/>) and most are available online.

Collections include substantial electronic journal, ebook, and print book holdings covering all subject areas as well as the Textbook Collection, Children's and YA Collections, Popular Reading Collection, the Perkins Judaic/Messianic Collection, the Pentecostal Collection, and the NU Archives.

Library services include research assistance, tutorials, interlibrary loan for books and articles, color printing and scanning, and computer and wireless access. Librarians are available for consultation for any information needs, by email to library@northwestu.edu or through 24/7 chat.

The NU Library has a physical location on each NU campus. On the Kirkland Campus, the Hurst Library provides a number of study environments including a 24-hour study space, collaborative group and individual study areas, as well as large and small study rooms.

Internships

Internships allow students to put into practice what they learn in the classroom and are an integral part of several graduate programs. If students desire to experience an internship when it is not required by their program, they should contact their program office for details. If an internship is approved, a graduate professor will provide guidance in the selection and approval of an internship site and assist in formulating the Internship Site Agreement. The program dean must approve the registration and internship schedule, including any specialized courses or activities pertinent to the internship. Ultimately, the student is responsible to ensure that internship activities satisfy any degree requirements.

Graduate Programs Admissions

Admission to Northwest University is granted to applicants meeting the University admissions requirements without regard to sex, race, color, age, national or ethnic origin, or physical disability. However, admissions are made on a selective basis according to the criteria described below

General Admission Requirements

- A Bachelor of Arts or Science (or an equivalent degree) from a regionally accredited college or university. Allowances may be made for degrees accredited by the Association for Biblical Higher Education (ABHE), depending on the degree and major earned and the selected graduate program.
- A minimum of a 3.0 grade point average (GPA) on a 4.0 scale. College of Ministry graduate programs require a minimum of a 2.70 grade point average (GPA).
- Entrance Tests: The MBA program application requires a qualifying score on the Graduate Management Admissions Test (GMAT)). The Psy.D. Program application requires taking the Graduate Record Exam (GRE). Northwest University's Institutional Code is #4541.
- Completion of application process, fulfillment of program-specific requirements, and acceptance into the respective graduate program.
- For additional, program-specific admissions requirements, please contact the respective enrollment counselor.

For students who have a green card or who are in the process of obtaining citizenship and are in good standing with the United States government:

- Fulfillment of General Admission Requirements and any program-specific admission requirements.
- Degrees obtained outside the US must be evaluated for the US degree equivalency and GPA by a NACES member agency.
<https://www.naces.org/members>

Conditional Admissions Status

Conditional admission status may be offered to students who meet entrance requirements at Northwest University, but do not have a completed application.

Admission to Northwest University is conditional based upon satisfying specific requirements prior to full admission. Individuals admitted on Conditional standing will not be permitted to take courses for more than one term or session.

International Student Admission Requirements

In addition to program-specific admission requirements, international students (those on an F-1 student visa) must:

- have a valid passport
- have proof of adequate funds to cover all expenses and travel for the duration of their first year of study
- comply with all laws and regulations related to F-1 students, as determined the Department of Homeland Security

English Testing Requirement

For graduate students, whose native language is not English, one of the following requirements is necessary to qualify for admission to Northwest University:

All Graduate program requirements

1. TOEFL internet-based (iBT) score of 90
2. IELTS score of 7.
3. If you have completed a Bachelor of Arts or a Bachelor of Science degree from a U.S. regionally or nationally accredited college / university with a minimum GPA of 3.0 (on a 4.0 scale)
4. CELE program completion
 - If you have completed Level 6 Bridge of the ESL program at the Center of English Language Education (CELE) at Northwest University with a grade of 85% or higher and a GPA of 3.0 in NU Bridge Classes
5. Duolingo English Test score of 115

All Doctoral programs requirements

1. TOEFL internet-based (iBT) score of 100
2. IELTS score of 7.5.
3. If you have completed a Bachelor of Arts or a Bachelor of Science degree from a U.S. regionally or nationally accredited college / university with a minimum GPA of 3.0 (on a 4.0 scale)
4. CELE program completion
 - If you have completed Level 6 Bridge of the ESL program at the Center of English Language Education (CELE) at Northwest University with a grade of 85% or higher and a GPA of 3.0 in NU Bridge Classes
5. Duolingo English Test score of 125

Foreign Degree Requirements

Any college or university transcript which is submitted from a school located outside of the US and Canada must be supplemented by an official evaluation of the transcript for US degree equivalency and GPA, performed by an institution approved by NACES <https://www.naces.org/members>. (Course-by-course evaluations are not required unless transfer credit is requested; for more information, please consult the enrollment counselor for the program to which you are applying.)

TOEFL or IELTS Requirements and Waiver

For international students whose native language is not English, and do not hold a bachelor's degree or a master's degree from a US-based institution which is a) regionally accredited, and b) teaches its classes in English, are subject to the TOEFL or IELTS requirement: If you hold an equivalent degree from another English-only speaking country (as determined by an official evaluation), you may be eligible to receive a waiver of the TOEFL or IELTS.

Application Deadlines

December 1; March 1; and June 1 prior to the applicable entering fall semester, or as specified for each program. Please refer to the specific program pages for additional information.

International students are encouraged to submit applications by the priority deadline because of the time it takes to issue an I-20 and apply for a student visa.

Code of Conduct

Northwest University Lifestyle Standards

Northwest University places a great deal of importance on relationships and recognizing the need for responsible behavior. The Graduate, Online, and Adult Evening Student Handbook provides description of the environment the University seeks to maintain. Any questions about the Handbook should be directed to the respective program dean or the Dean of Student Development.

In attending a Christian university, faculty and students expect a certain environment in which to study and pursue truth. Mutual respect and encouragement, healthy relationships, honesty, patience, forgiveness, and accepting personal responsibility for one's actions all create an atmosphere in which individuals from a variety of backgrounds and holding diverse viewpoints can learn from each other. The Graduate Student Handbook outlines the code of conduct that is expected of all students enrolled in a graduate program. Violation of the behavioral standards are grounds for University response and disciplinary action.

The Graduate Student Handbook is available online at: <https://eagle.northwestu.edu/departments/student-handbook/>.

Violations of the University's Nondiscrimination, Harassment, Sexual Harassment, and Sexual Violence Policy are addressed through an equal opportunity grievance process. More information on this policy and the associated reporting and remediation procedures can be found on the Student Development Eagle page or by contacting the Dean of Student Development.

Student Services

Disability Services

Northwest University will provide reasonable accommodations to qualified individuals with documented disabilities to ensure equal access and equal opportunities with regard to curricular and co-curricular programs and services and university employment

For students with learning and/or physical challenges, as defined by the ADA and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, Northwest University takes an individual and holistic approach to providing accommodation. A student may notify the University of his/her disability when the student is confirmed for enrollment. Formal notification to the Director of Academic Success and Advising is required prior to the consideration of an accommodation request. Documentation should include a medical or educational evaluation by a physician or licensed learning specialist, a description of what specific accommodations have been offered in the past, and a list of specific needs and services that will be requested from Northwest University. The Director works closely with students and their respective graduate programs and faculty to ensure all reasonable accommodations and services are provided. More information about disability accommodations is available at:
<https://eagle.northwestu.edu/departments/student-development/student-life/disability-accommodation/>.

English Language Education

Students who are admitted to Northwest University but who need additional help to bring their writing up to the level expected for graduate work may be encouraged or required to enroll in one or more of the following courses. Course descriptions are included at the end of this catalog, and course scheduling, registration, and cost details are available through the student's respective graduate office.

- LANG 4912 Graduate ESL Research Writing (two undergraduate semester credits)
- LANG 4922 Graduate ESL Grammar (two undergraduate semester credits)
- LANG 4932 Advanced Aural/Oral Skills (two undergraduate semester credits)

Student Financial Services

Located on the second floor of the Randall K. Barton Building, Student Financial Services (SFS) assists students with any questions regarding student account balances, and all matters related to scholarships and financial aid. Contact SFS at (425)889-5210 or studentfinancialservices@northwestu.edu.

Information Technology

The Information Technology Office supports the NU community with technology infrastructure and resources – on campus and online. Enrolled students are issued a Microsoft 365 license that includes email, Microsoft Office (desktop and online apps), and other tools and services. Students are expected to check their NU email on a frequent basis to stay informed of academic, campus life, and other timely information. Use of NU information resources is subject to the Network and Computer Acceptable Use Policy, available on the Information Technology page on the Eagle

Website: <https://eagle.northwestu.edu/departments/information-technology/>

Students are encouraged to bring their own computer for academic use. On the Kirkland campus, computers are available for student use in Argue HSC 252 & 254, Barton 209 & 250, the Rice Hall Lobby, the second floor of the 6710 Building, and throughout the Hurst Library. Computers in the Hurst 214 study space are available 24/7.

International Student Services

Northwest University provides assistance to all international students through the International Student Services (ISS) Office. The ISS Office is located in the lower level of the Hurst Library. The ISS staff is available to assist international students with support in a variety of ways including immigration concerns, academic affairs, cultural matters, moral support and encouragement in the adjustments that often accompany life in another culture.

Security Office

Northwest University has security personnel available for assistance 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to provide and encourage security, safety, education and personal responsibility. Extension: 222, Mobile: 425.864.1552.

Through officer patrolling and community involvement Campus Security endeavors to protect the people who study, teach and serve as part of the Northwest University community. More information including campus crime and fire statistics is available on the Security web page at <https://eagle.northwestu.edu/departments/security/>.

Vehicles

Vehicle registration is required for all students who park vehicles on our campuses. Students may purchase a permit online at <https://eagle.northwestu.edu/departments/security/> for $70 plus sales tax per academic year. Violation of vehicle regulations may result in fines and/or cancellation of the permit. It is expected that students bringing cars on campus will have them properly insured and properly licensed with the state in which they are registered.

The Wellness Center

Graduate and alumni students may use the Wellness Center medical and nutrition services on a per session fee basis of $30. Services provided include convenience care, medical care for illness and minor injury, travel information and education, COVID testing, and nutrition consultations. For a detailed list of services, please visit the Wellness Center website. Appointments can be scheduled by contacting the Wellness Center at 425-889-5282. The Wellness Center is located in the Everette D. Greeley Center, Building #5. Hours of service are posted on the Wellness Center's website. For health care needs requiring immediate attention that occur outside of the Wellness Center's office hours, please refer to the Wellness Center's website for a list of local medical facilities that provide 24-hour response.

Additional information is available on The Wellness Center website at: <https://eagle.northwestu.edu/departments/wellness-center/>

Financial Information

Northwest University is a private, church-related university. Therefore, no operating funds from taxes or public funds support its operation. Each student is charged tuition and certain fees which cover about eighty-five percent of the cost of his/her education. The remainder of the cost is provided by gifts from friends of the University, supporting districts, endowment income, and other earnings.

Payment of Accounts

The total cost of each term varies by academic program and is based upon the total number of credits taken that term. It is the policy of the University that there can be no outstanding past due accounts at registration. All past due and old accounts must be settled or alternate arrangements must be agreed upon with the Student Financial Services Office prior to registering for the following term. Negotiated arrangements for paying anything other than the full amount must be established prior to registration. The payment of accounts policy also applies to those qualifying for veteran's benefits and outside scholarships.

Pay In Full Plan

To avoid late fees, tuition, fees, and semester housing charges are to be paid in full on or before the first day of classes each term.

Monthly Payment Plan

Northwest University offers payment plans through Nelnet Campus Commerce (Nelnet). Nelnet is a budgeting service which allows students to pay their education expenses in smaller, more manageable monthly installments. They provide three- and four-month payment plans per semester to help students manage the cost of education.

Payment plans are set up with Nelnet for each academic term based on the student's estimated charges less financial aid (including loans, if applicable) for the semester. To enroll in a payment plan for the fall semester, the first payment must be received by Nelnet no later than August 15 for the 4-month plan, or September 15 for the 3-month plan. There is a $75 enrollment fee per semester for these plans. For more information, please visit <https://www.northwestu.edu/financial-aid/graduate/payments-late-charges> or call 1-800-722-4867.

Educational Benefits

Northwest University is approved as an educational institution for the training of veterans or their dependents. Applications are available on the Department of Veterans Affairs website at <https://www.benefits.va.gov/gibill/>. Those qualifying under the extended Social Security Act should apply for benefits at their local offices of the Social Security Administration. The University will make the proper certifications as to enrollment and attendance after the student has enrolled in the University.

Any veteran receiving GI Bill® benefits while attending Northwest University is required to obtain transcripts from all previously attended schools and submit them to the school for review of prior credit.

In accordance with Title 38 US Code 3679 subsection (e), this school adopts the following additional provisions for any students using U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Post 9/11 G.I. Bill® (Ch. 33) or Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment (Ch. 31) benefits, while payment to the institution is pending from the VA. This school will not:

- Prevent the students enrollment;
- Assess a late penalty fee to;
- Require student secure alternative or additional funding;
- Deny their access to any resources (access to classes, libraries, or other institutional facilities) available to other students who have satisfied their tuition and fee bills to the institution.

However, to qualify for this provision, such students may be required to:

- Produce the Certificate of Eligibility by the first day of class;
- Provide written request to be certified;
- Provide additional information needed to properly certify the enrollment as described in other institutional policies

Late Fees

Late fees will be assessed as follows: For balances between $0.00 and $25.00, the late fee will be zero. For balances $25.01 and over a 1.5% late fee will be assessed monthly on the outstanding balance up to a maximum of $100. If you qualify for VA benefits under Chapter 31 and 33, late fees will not be assessed due to the late receipt of VA benefits.

Past Due Accounts

A student is considered past due if they have an owing balance after the first day of class.

Students failing to pay in full by the due date will be contacted through their Northwest University email and/or by telephone by Student Financial Services. The student may also be contacted by campus registered mail and Northwest University personnel which may include staff from the Student Development Office and/or professors. Efforts to communicate will be made for a period of approximately 45 days.

If, after these efforts are accomplished and it is clear that the student is aware that payments are delinquent, and reasonable attempts to address the financial obligations have not been made, the student will no longer be allowed meal card privileges, and/or Internet privileges.

If the financial problems persist, on-campus resident students will no longer be allowed to live in on-campus housing, and may be suspended from class until a solution is reached between Student Financial Services and the student. Students failing to respond will be withdrawn from the University by the Provost.

Since financial responsibility is part of the educational process, Student Financial Services encourages students to meet and counsel with the University personnel any time a financial problem arises. The University reserves the right to assign delinquent accounts to an agency for collection.

Cancellation of Registration

The Registration Cancellation policy applies to all semesters. Note that private music lesson fees (after the contract is signed); Trip Fees for the MA in International Community Development Orientation Trip, and cancellation penalties may not be indicated below. See the Academic Calendar or specific program pages at eagle.northwestu.edu for the applicable First Day of Class.

Cancellation of Registration – A student who registers for class but decides not to attend must notify the Registrar's Office in writing before the end of business on the last day of the add/drop period. Proper notification will cancel the tuition and related charges.

Cancellation after Add/Drop period if any classes were attended – Considered a Withdrawal from University (see next section).

Withdrawal from the University

Students who officially withdraw during the add/drop period will have tuition refunded 100%. Fees are nonrefundable. If a student withdraws after the add/drop period, tuition will not be adjusted. The student will be responsible for all tuition and fee charges.

Withdrawal from the University – Financial Aid

Students who receive financial aid during a term in which they withdraw are not considered to be making satisfactory academic progress. Future aid will be cancelled. Students should contact Student Financial Services to determine how to regain eligibility should they choose to return to Northwest University.

The date of withdrawal will be based on the day the student contacts the Registrar's Office and indicates a desire to officially withdraw, or the last date of documented attendance, whichever is later. For financial aid purposes students who unofficially withdraw from Northwest University (cease to attend classes without notifying the Registrar), will be considered to have withdrawn after 50% of the semester has passed or the last date of documented attendance, whichever is later.

According to federal regulations, federal funds must be returned to federal programs based on the percent of the term that a student is no longer enrolled. Student Financial Services will determine how much of a student's federal aid was "unearned" as defined by the federal regulations, and then return the "unearned" aid in the following order to the programs from which the student received aid:

1. Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan
2. Federal Direct PLUS Loan

If you have received federal aid in the form of cash to assist you with non-institutional charges, you may need to repay the funds that you received.

Withdrawal from the University – Administrative

If a student is absent from all classes for more than two weeks consecutively without contacting the Registrar's or Provost's Office to explain the reason for his or her absences, the University has the authority to administratively withdraw the student from all course enrollments and to assign grades of "F" to each course. In this case, the official withdrawal date for financial obligation purposes will be two weeks after the last date of class attendance as certified by faculty and verified by the Registrar's Office.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP)

Students enrolled in a graduate program and who receive financial aid must remain in good academic standing with the University and make satisfactory progress toward their intended degree. To remain eligible for financial assistance, graduate students must meet specific qualitative and quantitative academic requirements.

Qualitative requirements: Graduate students must maintain a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) for all terms of attendance, including terms when no aid is received.

Degree Type	Cumulative GPA
Ministry Degrees	2.0 GPA
Education Degrees	2.7 GPA
All Other Graduate Degrees	3.0 GPA

Quantitative requirements: In addition to the GPA requirements outlined above, students must also complete at least 67% of the cumulative credit hours attempted (any classes withdrawn from after the add/drop week are still considered attempted) and be able to graduate without attempting more than 150% of the credit hours required for completion of the degree.

Satisfactory progress is evaluated annually. If a student fails to meet SAP standards, they will be suspended from receiving further financial aid at the University. Students may appeal the suspension by submitting a written appeal to Student Financial Services (SFS). If approved, the student will be placed on financial aid probation and have one additional semester to meet all quantitative and qualitative requirements. If SFS determines that the student will require more than one semester to meet the standards, an academic plan will be developed and progress will be monitored each semester during the set probationary period. Failure to meet the conditions of probation will result in loss of eligibility for further financial assistance.

For more information on the University's SAP policy, visit <https://www.northwestu.edu/financial-aid/graduate/gpa-credit-requirements>.

Financial Assistance

Northwest University participates in the William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program. If a student is enrolled for less than full-time, their cost of attendance will be prorated and loan funds may be reduced. All financial aid recipients must sign and return a copy of the University's "Financial Aid Terms and Conditions" to Student Financial Services within 30 days of receipt. Students must maintain satisfactory academic progress as outlined in the Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy for financial aid, unless additional requirements are noted with the award. Financial aid awards must be applied for each year.

This section contains information applicable to students enrolled in a Master's or Doctoral graduate degree program. For financial aid information for Northwest University's Undergraduate programs, refer to the respective Program's catalog pages in the Undergraduate Academic Catalog or Student Handbook.

Financial Aid Application

Apply for financial aid at Northwest University by submitting the Free Application For Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) online at <https://studentaid.gov/h/apply-for-aid/fafsa>.

Eligibility :

To be eligible for federal financial aid, students must:

- Be admitted to Northwest University
- Be a U.S. citizen, or a permanent resident of the U.S., or an eligible non-citizen
- Not owe an overpayment on any Title IV educational grant or be in default on a Title IV educational loan
- Maintain satisfactory academic progress

Disbursement of Aid

Financial aid is generally credited to individual student accounts in equal disbursements by semester. The specific amount to be disbursed each semester is indicated on the student's Financial Aid Offer. Most often, an award is divided into three equal payments, with one third disbursing at the beginning of the first semester, one third disbursing at the beginning of the second semester, and one third disbursing at the beginning of the third semester.

Financial aid generally begins disbursing approximately one week prior to the first day of classes for the semester and continues twice weekly thereafter. To have aid disbursed, the student must have completed the financial aid process and meet all disbursement eligibility requirements.

Federal Aid

Teacher Education Assistance for College Higher Education Grant (TEACH)

- Eligibility – Accepted into the College of Education
 - Achieved a 3.25 cumulative GPA or score above the 75th percentile on an Admissions Test

- Completed Agreement to Serve Application (ATS)
- Attended yearly TEACH Grant Counseling session
- Amount – determined by the Department of Education
 - Renewal - Maintain 3.25 Cumulative GPA
 - ATS Renewal Application
 - Counseling session
- Terms
 - Agree to serve in a high need, low-income school after completion of academic program
 - If student does not meet requirements, grant becomes an Unsubsidized loan

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan

- Eligibility – Not need-based
- Amount – Up to $20,500 per academic year
- Aggregate Limit – Up to $138,500 (lifetime maximum; includes undergraduate loans)
- Renewal – Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) required annually
- Terms – After the student graduates, leaves school, or drops below half-time enrollment, they will have a six-month grace period before being required to begin repayment. During this period, the student will receive repayment information from their loan servicer, and will be notified of their first payment due date. Student borrowers are responsible for paying the interest during all periods.

To receive a Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan, students must sign the Northwest University "Financial Aid Terms and Conditions" and return it to Student Financial Services. In addition, first-time borrowers must also complete a Loan Agreement/Master Promissory Note (MPN) and Entrance Counseling online at www.studentloans.gov, which will explain issues, rights, and responsibilities. Federal Direct Loan funds are sent to the university by Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT), and will be credited directly to the student's account once received.

Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loan (Grad PLUS)

- Eligibility – Not need-based; student must not have an adverse credit history (or use approved co-signer)
- Amount – Up to the student's cost of attendance minus any other financial aid received
- Aggregate Limit – No set lifetime maximum
- Renewal – Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and PLUS application (including credit-check) required annually
- Terms – The terms of a Grad PLUS Loan are specified in the required PLUS Loan Agreement/Master Promissory Note (MPN) in accordance with applicable federal laws and regulations. The repayment period for PLUS Loans begins on the date of the final disbursement of the loan, with this first payment being due within 60 days from that date. If the student meets certain requirements, they may be able to receive a deferment or forbearance that would allow them to temporarily postpone making payments. The interest rate is fixed at the time of disbursement. As provided by law, loan fees are charged as a percentage of the loan amount and subtracted proportionately from each PLUS Loan disbursement.

To apply for a Grad PLUS Loan, students must visit www.studentaid.gov to complete a Direct PLUS Loan Application for Graduate/Professional Students (which includes a credit-check, valid for up to 180 days). In addition, first-time Grad PLUS Loan borrowers must complete the PLUS Loan Agreement/Master Promissory Note (MPN) and Entrance Counseling, which will explain issues, rights, and responsibilities. In order to receive the Grad PLUS Loan, students must also sign the Northwest University Statement of Conditions for Financial Assistance and return it to Student Financial Services. Grad PLUS Loan funds are sent to the university by Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT), and will be credited directly to the student's account once received.

Grading and Grade Point Averages

Grade Points

Northwest University desires to provide students with an honest evaluation of their performance, not only in relation to other students in a particular course, but also in relation to the academic standards generally expected at institutions of higher education. To that end, and especially as a Christian university, we approach grading with a focus on the values of integrity, truth-telling, and respect. In the assigning of grades, these values apply not only to the relationship of the faculty member to the individual student, but also to the relationship of Northwest University to larger communities – social, regulatory, business, religious, and academic. Consequently, Northwest University seeks to uphold a grading system that carefully differentiates and provides an honest assessment of student performance, recognizes truly exceptional achievement, and maintains University credibility.

Grade Point Average

A student's grade point average (GPA) is determined by dividing the total number of grade points earned during a given period by the number of credits for which the student was enrolled and received a regular grade during the same period. GPAs are based exclusively on courses taken at Northwest University. Students' semester grade point average (SGPA) and cumulative grade point average (CGPA) are calculated and reported each semester. For example:

1st Semester:
 15 credits attempted
 47 grade points earned
 SGPA = 3.133 (47/15 = 3.133)
 CGPA = 3.133 (47/15 = 3.133)

2nd Semester:
 17 credits attempted
 50 grade points earned
 SGPA = 2.941 (50/17 = 2.941)
 CGPA = 3.031 (97/32 = 3.031)

3rd Semester:
 17 credits attempted
 65 grade points earned
 SGPA = 3.824 (65 / 17 = 3.824)
 CGPA = 3.306 (162 / 49 = 3.306)

Academic Progress towards Graduation

Each graduate program establishes its own guidelines and requirements to ensure students demonstrate sufficient mastery of course material. Although overall end-of-program requirements always exist, most programs also have incremental course-by-course limits. These might specify minimum course grades, which if not met means the course must be repeated. The program might require an overall cumulative average for program courses. Consult the respective graduate program section for details.

Academic Probation

Students who fail to maintain a satisfactory academic progress towards graduation are placed on Academic Probation. Probation is a temporary status intended to help focus the student's effort while concentrating the program's resources to address and remedy the causes of insufficient academic progress. Probation is not intended as a punitive measure but as a warning and a time for necessary improvement. Probation, however, could lead to further academic penalties and financial aid restrictions as deemed necessary by the program. Consult the respective graduate program section for details.

Course Repeat

Should a student desire to repeat a course for the purpose of raising his or her grade, the student must obtain prior permission from their program. Re-registration for the course is required, depending on the respective program, and there is a re-registration cost. The highest course grade is considered the grade of record as it pertains to credit toward graduation and to the official transcript. (A grade of "W" is not considered a completed course grade.) Graduate programs may have a higher GPA graduation requirement that must be met, but in no case will a student graduate with a CGPA below 2.0.

Grade Reports

Grade reports are made available to all students following the close of each term via the online web site.

Incomplete Grades

A student may request an Incomplete Grade for reasons of illness or emergency. A written request for an Incomplete must be submitted to and approved by the professor of the course before the end of the course. The Incomplete must be completed by the end of the fourth week of the following course session. In the interim time period, the grade of "I/default grade" will be posted on the student's transcript. At the conclusion of the four-week time period, the incomplete grade will be updated by the professor or convert to the current grade reported by the professor.

Enrollment Certifications

The Registrar's Office certifies official enrollment verifications after the Last Day to Add/Drop Courses.

Full-Time/Part-Time Enrollment Status

Enrollment status is an important issue and is based on the amount of assigned and expected work contained in the program classes. Accrediting agencies stipulate that a full-time enrollment status equates to a student working on course-related assignments between 40-45 hours each week, hence the term "full-time." Because each graduate program is unique and has established expected student research and assignment workloads, the number of credits involved in determining enrollment status varies between programs. Financial Aid is awarded based on the enrollment status of students following the information below for each program. By Department of Education regulations, no financial aid is available for students who are registered for less than half-time. Consult Student Financial Services for specific questions regarding the program of interest.

Center of Leadership Studies:

Full-Time = 9 credits;
Three-Quarter Time = 7-8 credits;
Half-Time = 6* credits

College of Business:

Full-Time = 6 credits ;
Three-Quarter Time = 5 credits;
Half-Time = 4 credits

College of Education – MIT; MA-TESOL:

Full-Time = 9 credits;
Three-Quarter Time = 7-8 credits;
Half-Time = 6* credits

College of Education – Master of Education:

Full-Time = 9 credits;
Three-Quarter Time = 6-8 credits;
Half-Time = 5* credits

College of Ministry:

Full-Time = 9 credits;
Three-Quarter Time = 7 or 8 credits;
Half-Time = 6* credits

College of Nursing:

Full-Time = 9 credits;
Three-Quarter Time = 7-8 credits;
Half-Time = 6* credits

College of Social and Behavioral Sciences – MA-Clinical Mental Health Counseling; Psy.D.-Counseling Psychology:

Full-Time = 9 credits;
Three-Quarter Time = 7-8 credits;
Half-Time = 6* credits

College of Social and Behavioral Sciences – MA-International Community Development; MS-Data Analysis and Research Psychology:

Full-Time = 6 credits ;
Three-Quarter Time = 4-5 credits;
Half-Time = 3 credits

Exception: graduate students enrolled in their respective graduate program's thesis, dissertation, or internship course will be considered as registered as a half-time student.*

Most graduate programs are based on a cohort system and attending part time usually is not a readily available option. (Consult the applicable portion of this catalog for specific program enrollment options.) For this reason, a student is responsible for all complications (concerning the availability of required courses or the ability to meet graduation requirements, for example) that may occur should, for emergency reasons, he or she need to attend less than full time.

A student must have the permission of their program in order to enroll for fewer than the required credits in any given term during the course of the program, and that option may not be available. Should a student take less than a full-time academic load in any semester, either due to transferring credits or emergency reasons, his or her financial aid may be affected.

Course Sequence and Program Progression

For some graduate programs, the sequence of courses is critical to the complete educational and professional experience. Additionally, many graduate programs are designed to rely heavily on the student cohort model. Thus, students are expected to enroll in every predetermined course scheduled each term. Electives are extra, optional, and made available only with a sufficient number of requests. In an emergency situation, a student may be allowed to postpone, drop, or withdraw from one or more courses. In some programs, in order to preserve all cohorts, the student may be required to make up all missed mandatory courses in an independent study format and to pay the associated independent study fee in addition to the cost of tuition. A student will very seldom be integrated into another cohort. In every situation the format in which the student will make up the course(s) is up to the determination of the respective graduate program office. In addition, should a student decide in conjunction with the graduate program office to take fewer courses per semester than the required course sequence entails, the student must complete the entire program within four years from the program start date for master's students and within seven years for doctoral students, or he or she may no longer be allowed to continue in the program. Graduate students are completely responsible to complete their program within the allotted timeframe.

Another consideration when deferring courses is that complications arise when the deferred class is a Prerequisite for a subsequent course. Courses cannot be taken unless all Prerequisites are fulfilled, and it is the student's complete responsibility to verify that all Prerequisites are met before enrolling in any course. Also, any complications that may occur should he or she postpone, drop, or withdraw from a mandatory course are the student's complete responsibility. The student must confer with their graduate program office when deciding to postpone, drop, or withdraw from a mandatory course.

Should a student defer enough courses to put him or her below the number of credits required to meet full-time or half-time equivalency, financial aid eligibility may be affected. See the section on Full-Time/Part-Time Status.

Class Attendance

Classes are conducted to help students develop their skills and knowledge. Students' attendance is assumed. If absences occur, the student is responsible for missed work. Because classes differ, individual instructors state their specific attendance policies and define the consequences of absence, tardiness, and early exiting in the course syllabus. Appeals relating to attendance are addressed first to the instructor and second to the respective graduate program office.

Undergraduate students in the College of Ministry Five-Year BA/MA program who are enrolled in a graduate course which meets during the same time(s) as an undergraduate course in which they are also enrolled will be allowed excused absence(s) from their undergraduate course. If, however, the undergraduate course class session(s) to be missed include(s) student presentations, exams, or other events of high priority, the student must attend the undergraduate course. In this case, the time taken to attend their undergraduate course will be considered excused absence(s) from their graduate course. In either case, undergraduate students in the Five-Year BA/MA program must communicate their enrollment in conflicting courses to their professors as early as possible during the semester during which the conflict will occur. Furthermore, all assignments in both courses will continue to be due as scheduled.

Accommodations for Religious Holidays

Students enrolled at Northwest University are allowed to request reasonable academic accommodations for conflicts of faith or conscience for recognized religious holidays. Students who anticipate the need for an accommodation should provide written notice well in advance to the faculty member and academic dean. The faculty member should consult with the academic dean in determining appropriate accommodations.

Communication with Faculty and University Offices

The university recognizes two means of official communication with students: email sent to the student's Northwest University email address and USPS mail sent to the student's permanent address as recorded with the Registrar's Office. Students are responsible to read and respond to these messages and to keep their permanent address updated with the Registrar's Office. The university assumes that students have received all messages sent by these means and acts accordingly.

Dropping a Course

In an emergency situation, and before the student attends the first class of the semester, he or she may drop a course by submitting a Request Registration Change Form to the Registrar's Office. The tuition paid for that class will then be reimbursed in full. After the Last Day to Drop a Course for the respective program, courses cannot be added or dropped, and tuition will not be reimbursed. Dropped courses do not appear on a student's transcript.

Withdrawal from a Course

After the Last Day to Drop a Course has passed, a student can only withdraw from a course and will receive no tuition reimbursement. In this event, the course remains on the transcript as a part of the academic record with a "W" (Withdrawal). Withdrawals must be completed prior to the end of the course withdrawal period for the respective graduate program. The student's GPA is not affected by a withdrawal. However, financial aid eligibility may be affected. In order to withdraw from a course, one must submit a Request Registration Change Form to the Registrar's Office prior to the deadline.

Withdrawal from an Online Course

The Course Withdrawal Period for an online course is through the end of the last date of the course. In this event, the course remains on their transcript as a permanent part of their academic record, with a permanent grade of "W". The student can request a course withdrawal by submitting a properly completed Request Registration Change Form with the Registrar's Office. Course withdrawal is not allowed after the Course Withdrawal Period. In the event a student has stopped participating in a course over two consecutive weeks without the instructor's permission, a student may be Administratively Withdrawn from a course. In this event, the course grade will be assigned as a "WZ."

Withdrawing from the Program

In order to withdraw from all courses and from the University, students must submit a Request Registration Change Form to the Registrar's Office. If it is impossible to follow this procedure due to some emergency, the Registrar must be notified within one week of the student leaving.

Independent Study

All independent studies take place outside of the regular course schedule, involve a more significant amount of self-guided learning than traditional course offerings, and must be arranged in advance in negotiation with a willing instructor.

There are four types of Independent Studies:

A - Independent Studies of an existing catalogued course, initiated by the student and approved by the course instructor and the appropriate Dean. The student will be charged an additional Independent Study fee beyond tuition.

B - Independent Studies that provide an opportunity for students to study a topic not covered in an existing course, initiated by the student and approved by the course instructor and the appropriate Dean. Participating students must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0. The student will be charged an additional Independent Study fee beyond tuition.

C - Independent Studies that provide an opportunity for students to study a topic not covered in an existing course, initiated by a course instructor and with the approval of the appropriate Dean. Participating students must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0. The student will not be charged any additional fee beyond tuition.

D - Independent Studies of an existing catalogued course, initiated by the Dean of the College in which the course is offered. The student will not be charged any additional fee beyond tuition.

Auditing Courses

An auditor is a person who attends a class but is not held responsible for the course work. Out of courtesy, the auditor should not participate in discussions except as allowed in consultation with the professor. An audited class requires the prior permission of the course's graduate program office and a Request to Audit form completed and submitted to the Registrar's Office. A special Audit Fee is required. Online courses are not available for Audit.

Transferring Credits from Other Institutions

Northwest University's academic calendar is formatted on a semester basis. A credit transferred into Northwest from a college operating on a quarter-calendar is equivalent to 2/3 of a semester credit. Thus, one can translate quarter credits to semester credits by dividing the quarter credits by 1.5.

Master's students are allowed to transfer a maximum of 6 to 18 graduate credits, while doctoral students are allowed to transfer a maximum of 12 to 20 credits, from other regionally accredited colleges and universities. Specific credit maximums, requirements, and exceptions are explained in the respective program section of this catalog. A minimum course grade of B- is required for transfer credits.

In order for the transfer of credits to occur it is the student's responsibility to contact the respective graduate office to initiate the process. In all cases an official transcript must be received, evaluated by the graduate office, and approved by the dean. This must be done prior to registering for any courses in the program to prevent granting credit twice for the same course. There is no charge for transferred courses and transferred credits do not apply towards financial aid awards.

Academic Honesty

Northwest University has intentionally developed a learning community that includes Academic Honesty as a foundational value and expects honesty from faculty and students in all areas, including academic lives.

Northwest University considers dishonest academic conduct by students to include any activity that allows a student to take an unfair advantage of fellow students. Examples of academic dishonesty by students include the following:

- Cheating on assignments or examinations.
- Submitting material that has been prepared by someone else or failure to give full credit to material prepared by someone else (plagiarism). Plagiarism is defined as "using someone else's ideas or phrasing and representing those ideas or phrasing as our own, either on purpose or through carelessness" (MLA).
- Arranging for another person to serve as test-taker.
- Seeking help from another person or source during a test in which collaboration is not permitted.
- Submitting the same (or essentially the same) paper in more than one course without prior consent of the current assigning professor(s).
- Making false statements in order to acquire special consideration from an instructor.

- Sabotaging another student's work.
- Additionally, for faculty, academic dishonesty included unduly altering a student's grade or awarding points when not earned.

The Academic Honesty policy functions at Northwest University on an honor basis so faculty and staff agree to academic integrity standards upon hire and acknowledge willingness to enforce the policy and report misconduct. Academic dishonesty may result in the student failing the assignment, receiving an "F" in the course, or possibly being dismissed from the University. Instances of academic dishonesty are typically reported to the Provost's Office. Any student disciplined by a faculty member for alleged academic dishonesty has the right to appeal the disciplinary action. The student should initiate his/her appeal according to procedures outlined in the Northwest University Student Academic Appeals Policy, which is available in the Provost's Office or the Student Development Office.

Anti-Plagiarism Software

When academic dishonesty occurs, the teaching-learning process is undermined, and students rob themselves of the educational benefit intended by the assignment. To assist students and faculty, Northwest University is utilizing Turnitin.com, an online plagiarism detection service that conducts textual similarity review of submitted papers. When papers are submitted to Turnitin.com, the service will retain a copy of the submitted work in the Turnitin database for the sole purpose of detecting plagiarism in future submitted works. Students retain copyright of their original work.

Academic Appeals

Student Responsibility and Expectations: A student is expected to relate to the standards of his/her graduate program and to the individual professor's classroom regulations and course expectations in a positive way. Students must be courteous toward the professor and refrain from conduct which disrupts the learning process. If a student has a grievance against a professor with regard to a grade received, a discipline received for academic dishonesty, or other teacher action affecting the student's standing, the student shall first respectfully speak to the professor concerning the situation.

The Academic Appeals Process: If an acceptable resolution is not reached between the student and the professor, or if the student finds the professor unapproachable, the student should speak to the graduate program dean (or applicable associate dean). Again, if an acceptable resolution is not reached or if the professor is the dean, the student may appeal to the Provost. A form for this purpose (Student Petition for General Academic Matters) is available on the web site of the Office of the Provost.

If the matter still remains unresolved, the student will have seven days to request (in writing to the Provost) a hearing by the Academic Affairs Committee (the University's highest academic consideration committee). Instructions for this process are found in the Student Academic Appeals Policy which is available from the Office of the Provost.

Electronic Communication

Students will need access to high-speed internet to support interaction in classes and with their program leadership. Student also must have access to and use the most recent version of Microsoft Word (available to students from the NU Information Technology Office website at a significant discount).

It is essential that students understand the nature and scope of electronic communications in their graduate program. Nearly all communication between students and their graduate office, all administrative forms management, course management and reporting, and cohort information are conducted through electronic means. Graduate programs have important information on the following Northwest University websites:

- the "eagle" website: <http://eagle.northwestu.edu/academic>,
- the main university website: <http://www.northwestu.edu/graduate/>
- the course management system's website: <https://discovery.northwestu.edu>

Each of these provide pertinent and helpful information for course-related matters such as syllabi, grades, testing and for submitting papers, as well as updates and announcements regarding special program offerings and services provided by the student's graduate office. All graduate students are assigned a Northwest University e-mail account prior to the start of the first course. Students are required to use such as the primary means of communication for issues related to academic, advising and student services.

Students are able to access and download the various management tools necessary for a wide variety of tasks inside and outside of the classroom.

Solicitation and Confidentiality

Since graduate classes and cohorts provide a warm and inviting environment conducive to fostering close student relationships, respect and care for such relationships and all information disclosed by students over the course of the program must be preserved. Therefore, students should keep all student information, including student contact information, completely confidential. Students are prohibited from using student contact information and student mailboxes for solicitation purposes of any kind. In addition, students are not obligated to disclose any information, including contact information, to other students.

Campus Alert System and Emergency Closure Notification Procedures

In the case of an emergency or class cancellation due to weather the University's Campus Alert system will send out emergency text messages directly to student and employee cell phones. You can sign up for this service by going to the Eagle website at eagle.northwestu.edu and clicking on the "Campus Alerts Tab." You can also call the main Northwest University phone line at 425.822.8266.

Student Records

Transcripts

An official copy of a student's academic record at Northwest University that bears the official seal of the University and the signature of the Registrar is referred to as a transcript. Requests for transcripts must be accompanied by the student's signature and a $5.00 fee for each copy. Phone orders for transcripts cannot be accepted.

NOTE: Financial indebtedness to the University will prevent the release of a student's transcript. If a student is delinquent (as determined by the Promissory Note) in his/her Federal Perkins Student Loan or NDSL payment, he or she will not be eligible to receive deferment, cancellation provisions, nor will academic transcripts be released.

Since the Registrar can only verify the authenticity of course work earned at Northwest University, transcripts entrusted to the University from other institutions cannot be duplicated and given to the student or other external individuals without the expressed written permission of the institution and the student.

Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 specifies and protects students' rights and privileges concerning their records and information. Be aware of your following rights:

The Right to Prevent Disclosure – You have the right to prevent disclosure of educational records to third parties with certain limited exceptions. It is the intent of this institution to limit the disclosure of information contained in your educational records to those instances when prior written consent has been given to the disclosure, as an item of directory information of which you have been refused to permit disclosure, or under the provisions of FERPA which allow disclosure without prior written consent.

The Right to File a Complaint with the U.S. Department of Education – You have the right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education if this institution fails to comply with FERPA. Do so by contacting:

The Family Policy and Regulations Office
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Ave. SW
Washington D.C. 20202

The Right to Inspect – You have the right to review and inspect substantially all of your educational records maintained by or at this institution.

The Right to Obtain Policy – You have the right to obtain a copy of Northwest University's written FERPA policy. A copy may be obtained through the Registrar's Office in person or by mail. Do so by contacting:

Registrar's Office
P.O. Box 579
Kirkland, WA 98083-0579

The Right to Request Amendment – You have the right to seek to have corrected any parts of an educational record in which you believe to be inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of your rights. This includes the right to a hearing to present evidence that the record should be changed if this institution decided not to alter the educational records according to your request

Center for Leadership Studies

Center for Leadership Studies

A word from the Director.

Lead the Leaders

The Center for Leadership Studies (CFLS) at Northwest University is home to our interdisciplinary Ph.D. and Ed.D. programs in Organizational Leadership. These degrees empower students to develop the theory and skills necessary to lead the leaders of our day.

Graduates are equipped for leadership, consulting, and teaching roles across the fields of education, business, Christian ministry, and beyond. The Center serves to coordinate the contributions of our Colleges to the doctoral programs, and as a support base for our students, facilitating their success and dissertation completion.

Our programs offer small, highly diverse cohorts experiencing an inter-disciplinary model of instruction that produces transformative learning. Every student has the opportunity to choose from Concentrations in Business Leadership and Consulting, Higher Education Leadership, and Leading Ministry Organizations.

The Ph.D. and Ed.D. degrees prepare students for influence at the strategic level across a variety of fields. Our graduates will be writing the books others are reading and guiding the organizations others are copying. These accomplishments will happen the "Northwest Way," characterized by spiritual vitality, academic excellence and social engagement.

At the CFLS we understand rigorous doctoral training not as an end in itself, but as a means of shaping the future of our key institutions in a Godward direction.

We hope you will join us in that journey!

Introduction

The Master of Arts in Applied Leadership Theory positions CFLS students to work at the intersection of theory and practice in the leadership arts. This 36-hour degree is earned in-progress as students work toward their Ph.D. or Ed.D. in Organizational Leadership. As a Concurrent Master's degree, the MALT gives students the opportunity to earn a specialized graduate degree in a field that represents the heart of our doctoral programs in Organizational Leadership.

Program Highlights

Uniquely, the MALT offers the advantage of exploring the relationship between theory and practice. This often-overlooked connection will prepare our students to understand that relationship, contribute to both components and to develop leadership practice out of that connection.

Admissions

The MA in Applied Leadership Theory is available only to students who have been admitted into the CFLS Ed.D. or Ph.D. programs. Criteria for admission are identical to that of the CFLS doctoral degrees.

Credit Transfer

Students in the MALT can transfer up to 12 hours of graduate credits from eligible schools into their Ph.D. or Ed.D. programs using CFLS guidelines.

Program Outcomes

Graduates with an MA in Applied Leadership Theory will be able to:

1. Describe the historical and social contexts that influenced the development of major leadership theories
2. Compare the central features of major leadership theories.
3. Critique the strengths and weaknesses of major leadership theories.
4. Evaluate the applicability of major leadership theories to a variety of organizational settings
5. Formulate leadership practices that apply theory to a variety of organizational situations.
6. Articulate a Christian perspective on the relationship of leadership theory to leadership practice.

The Northwest University MA in Leadership Studies prepares graduate students for higher levels of responsible leadership. Students focus their studies in leading others in order to make a difference in the organizations in which they are serving. This major is offered in two delivery modes: On-ground where students participate in periodic intensive classroom sessions offered through the College of Ministry, and Online where students enroll in totally online courses offered through the College of Adult & Professional Studies.

Graduates with a MA in Leadership Studies will be able to:

1. Analyze central features of foundational leadership theories as they apply to organizational settings.
2. Evaluate effective leadership strategies as they relate to positively influencing organizational culture.
3. Analyze the applicability of organizational change approaches to various institutional settings.
4. Develop informed personal ethics as a guide to decision making.

The Cognates expand the leadership capacity of students by allowing them to view their professional development through their chosen filter of business or ministry. Students further broaden their professional development through their chosen cognate by selecting courses in consultation with their academic advisor from curriculum offered through NU's Colleges of Business or Ministry.

The Ministry Leadership version of the MALS is offered in a hybrid format (on-ground intensive courses involving some online work, together with the option to take some courses entirely online) and involves both a set curriculum and some elective choices. On-ground courses involve intensives (four days or three Friday/Saturday meetings), which take place during three regularly scheduled semesters (Fall, Spring, Summer). Courses have no Prerequisites, so students can begin at the start of any of the three semesters.

The Organizational Development and Ministry Development versions of the MALS are offered online in 7- or 8-week lengths, with no Prerequisites. Thus, students can begin their program at various times throughout the year. Cognate courses are offered through their respective colleges, so students work closely with their academic advisor to determine course scheduling.

Academic Progress

Students whose academic histories reflect a GPA below 2.7 ("B" level) may be admitted to the program on academic probation. Students may also be placed on probation if their GPA falls below 3.0. Students are given one academic term to show improvement and to raise their GPA to at least 3.0, at which point they are removed from probationary status. If the student's GPA has been below 3.0 for two or more terms, he or she is placed on academic suspension (disqualification). Students must earn at least a 3.0 overall grade point average to graduate.

Organizational Leadership, Ph.D.

Doctor of Philosophy and Doctor of Education Organizational Leadership

Center	Leadership Studies
Academic Award	Doctor of Philosophy, Doctor of Education
Credits Required	72 semester credits; 60 semester credits
Faculty Lead	Earl Creps
Concentrations	Business Leadership and Consulting, Higher Education Leadership, Leading Ministry Organizations
CIP Code:	52.0213

The Center for Leadership Studies (CFLS) is home to Northwest's interdisciplinary Ph.D. and Ed.D. programs in Organizational Leadership. These degrees prepare students to lead the leaders of our day across the fields of education, business, Christian ministry, and beyond.

The Center coordinates these programs and serves as a support base for our students, facilitating their success and dissertation completion.

Financial Support

The CFLS offers four types of financial assistance. In the first year, every student is eligible for merit-based funding. Non-profit employees can qualify for a discount matching their employer's contribution. Also, grants are available for dissertation research and travel to professional presentations. View CFLS Scholarships

Two Degree Options

The Ph.D. focuses on scholarship, original research, and the generation of new theory. Our Ed.D. is shorter and more practical, helping students apply existing research to problems in the field.

Three Concentrations

Students have access to three concentrations: Leading Ministry Organizations, Higher Education Leadership, and Business Leadership and Consulting.

Cohort-based

Our programs offer small, diverse cohorts. Students learn alongside peers who encourage and challenge each other to grow.

Hybrid Delivery

Students study in a mix of classes held on-campus, online, and "on the road" at major, field-specific professional conferences.

Distinguished Faculty

Our professors draw from both academic research and real-world professional experience to offer a holistic learning environment.

Integrated Faith and Learning

The programs integrate a Christian perspective that draws from the highest intellectual level and the depths of faith simultaneously.

Interdisciplinary Instruction

Bringing together diverse students with outstanding professors from a variety of disciplines produces a rich transformative learning experience.

Integrated Schedule

Each term features Core, Concentration, and Dissertation classes so students are working on their dissertation research and writing skills from day one.

Professional Experience

Designed for working professionals, the Center's programs make it possible for Ph.D. students to graduate in four years and Ed.D. students in three years. Built to expand on previous and current work experience to prepare students for future leadership opportunities, such work experience is essential to program success.

Unique Learning Environment

Northwest is located among many of the most influential business and non-profit organizations of our time, such as Microsoft, Google, Amazon, World Vision, and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

Admission Criteria

- Master's degree from a regionally accredited college or university.
- Grade point average (GPA) of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale.
- Completed online application
- Three references including one academic reference
- Official (sealed) transcripts from all colleges and universities attended
- GRE general test scores (taken within the last 5 years) for the Ph.D. program. Applicants to the Ed.D. are not required to take the GRE.
- Current resume or curriculum vitae (CV)

- Writing sample answering the essay prompts available on the CFLS online application.

Once potential students have submitted their completed application along with all the application materials, each applicant will have an individual or group interview with the CFLS Admissions Committee.

Applicants who meet or exceed the above criteria must also exhibit qualities consistent with the ethos of the Center for Leadership Studies. The cohort model places great responsibility on faculty and students to work together to create a positive, supportive, and collaborative learning environment. Students must be committed to personal responsibility, time management, professional ethics, and interpersonal integrity to be successful in the program.

The CFLS Admissions Committee seeks to ascertain each student's degree of readiness for this type of learning environment. It is the responsibility and authority of the Admissions Committee to determine an applicant's degree of compatibility with the ethos of this program.

Credit Transfer

Students may be allowed to transfer a maximum of 12 graduate credits from other regionally accredited colleges and universities provided the CFLS can determine the credit equivalency of the coursework, the credits were earned no more than ten years prior to the student's enrollment in a CFLS degree program, and the transfer credits are awarded prior to registering for NU courses. In special circumstances, student may file an appeal with the CFLS Director for waiver of the ten-year time limit. There is no charge for transferred courses and transferred credits do not apply towards financial aid awards. Students must initiate credit transfer by contacting the CFLS office.

Program Transfer

A limited number of Ed.D. students may qualify for transfer to the Ph.D. program each academic year. Transfer applicants must have demonstrated academic excellence, a positive contribution to their cohort, and overall program fit. Transfers will be approved by the CFLS Admissions Committee.

Student Assessment

The student's academic development is assessed annually by the CFLS Director assisted by a faculty committee. These assessments evaluate a student's adjustment to the program, working relationship with faculty and other students, academic progress, writing quality, function within his or her cohort, professional development, and personal challenges requiring assistance. However, successfully passing each annual assessment does not ensure approval of the student's dissertation or continuation in the program. (See Probation under Academic Policy). Should a student's annual assessment indicate an area of major concern, the CFLS Director will work with the committee to intervene in the student's experience in ways that enhance the possibilities for a successful outcome.

The progress assessment is conducted during the summer semester and the results of this assessment will be given to the student. If a student's progress assessment indicates an area of concern, the CFLS Director will meet with the student to discuss the concern. A plan will be formulated to resolve the concern, and failure to successfully deal with the problematic area may result in dismissal from the program.

Comprehensive Examinations

The Comprehensive Exam is designed to assess a student's mastery of the program competencies. The exam is administered during the student's second (Ed.D.) or third (Ph.D.) year. Furthermore, a student must successfully pass the research methods section of the Comprehensive exam before defending his or her dissertation proposal.

Completion of the Ph.D. will require comprehensive examinations over three areas: leadership theory, research methods, and critical issues related to concentration; the Ed.D. exams will be over two areas: leadership theory and critical issue related to concentration.

If a student does not pass one section of the comprehensive exam, he or she will be allowed to retake only that section. The retake will occur no sooner than 60 days after the date of the original exam. This waiting period allows the student adequate time to study for his or her retake. If the student fails the retake exam, he or she must retake the entire exam the following year. For this entire exam retake the student must pass every section of the exam. In other words, the student cannot fail one section (even if that section is different than the initial section failed) on the retake of the whole exam. If the student does fail any section of the retake of the entire exam, he or she will not be allowed to continue in the program. Additionally, the student will not be allowed to proceed with dissertation writing until he or she has successfully completed all portions of the Comprehensive exam.

Doctoral Dissertation

The dissertation component of the Ph.D. and Ed.D programs provides each student with the opportunity to demonstrate mastery of the literature in her or his subject field, knowledge and skill in research methodology, the ability to execute and report on original research, and a high capacity for scholarly writing.

Ph.D. dissertations will be original research resulting in theory extension and/or generation, while Ed.D. dissertations will center on application of existing theory to a current problem resulting in knowledge generation.

Academic and Professional Requirements

Grade Point Average

Students must earn a grade of B- or above in all CFLS courses and maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0. Further, students must successfully pass all sections of the Comprehensive Exam (a passing score is a minimum of 80%). Refer to the Comprehensive Exam section of this handbook for further information.

In addition to successfully passing course and examination requirements, students must successfully demonstrate proficiency on each program competency. These competencies are evaluated using a variety of methods throughout the program. Such evaluation methods include course work, Comprehensive exam, dissertation, course writing assignments, and annual evaluations by faculty. Competencies are evaluated on a 1 through 5 scale: 1=Below Standard, 2=Partial fulfillment, 3=Standard met, 4=Above Standard,

5=Excellent demonstration of competency. Students must achieve a score of at least 3 on all competencies in order to graduate from the program. Should a student's performance fall below a 3 on a given competency, he or she will be notified that improvement is necessary and may be placed on probation (see Probation Policies within this handbook).

Students must continuously demonstrate professional ethics and conduct, interpersonal and relationship skills, emotional maturity and self-awareness expected of leadership professionals. Students' demonstration of these standards will be evaluated annually. Failure to adhere to these standards may be cause for probation or dismissal from the program at any time (see Dismissal from the program).

Program Continuation

If a student is finishing degree requirements (e.g. dissertation) beyond the fourth year of the Ph.D. program or the third year of the Ed.D., the student is considered to be in continuation. The student must remain enrolled in the appropriate continuation courses (e.g. LDRS 8963 Dissertation Writing, etc.) each semester until the students complete the remaining degree requirements.

Should a student choose to not register for a semester while in continuation, the student will be considered on leave without permission and, therefore, will be unable to complete work for her or his dissertation (e.g. unable to seek Chair assistance, apply to the institutional review board, or defend a proposal or final dissertation). Should a student, after a leave of absence without permission, wish to continue in the program, he or she will need to apply for re-admittance and students will be charged the tuition for the continuation courses for the semesters the student was not enrolled.

Re-Admittance Procedure

In order to be re-admitted into the program after taking a leave of absence, the student will need to complete a re-admittance form and meet with CFLS staff or faculty to development a plan for program completion.

Students experiencing personal problems:

Students encountering personal problems are encouraged to seek out professional counseling support when appropriate. Northwest's College of Social and Behavioral Sciences staff (also located on the second floor of the 6710 Building) may be able provide information about possible low-cost counseling services available to students. Additionally, students are strongly encouraged to engage in regular self-care and stress management activities such: as taking days off from schoolwork, spending time with friends and family, fostering a support group, exercising, eating a balanced diet, and getting adequate sleep.

Academic Probation

Students who fail to maintain satisfactory academic progress towards graduation are placed on Academic Probation by the CFLS Dean. Probation is a temporary status intended to help focus the student's efforts while concentrating the program's resources to address and remedy the causes of insufficient academic progress. Probation is not intended as a punitive measure but as a warning and a time for necessary improvement.

Students are placed on Academic Probation for a period of time set by the CFLS Dean if they are unable to reach the cumulative minimum GPA of 3.000 with fewer than 4 incomplete or failed courses. During Academic Probation students will not be allowed to register for any new classes.

If a student does not meet the terms of the probation period by the date agreed upon, the student will be asked to withdraw from the program. If the student does meet the terms of academic probation, they will be taken off this list and allowed to register for classes as normal. Students are only allowed to be put on an Academic Probation once, the second time the student will be dismissed from the program.

Dismissal from the Program

A student may be dismissed from the Program due to any one of the following factors:

- Continual Poor Performance. Should the student be unable to achieve a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.000 the semester following being placed on probation, the student may be dismissed from the program. Furthermore, if a student fails to retake a required course within a time period determined by the CFLS Dean he or she may be dismissed from the program.

- Placed on probation more than once. Throughout the course of the program, he or she may be dismissed from the program if requesting a second academic probation.
- Professional Conduct. Students are expected to comply with the behavioral standards of Northwest University and the laws of Washington State and local government bodies. Should a student fail to meet the criteria of professional behavioral standards (including, but not limited to emotional stability, interpersonal skills, maturity, and ethical conduct), the student may be dismissed from the program.

Ph.D. in Organizational Leadership

Graduates of the Ph.D. in Organizational Leadership program are trained in research methodology and equipped to analyze literature, conduct and publish original research, and apply relevant theories to current issues and field practice. The curriculum for the Ph.D. requires a total of 72 credits . The coursework and dissertation process are structured for full-time students to be able to complete the Ph.D. in four years.

Graduates with a Ph.D. in Organizational Leadership will be able to:

Students dismissed from the program may appeal the decision to the Provost of the university. The reviewing personnel will be provided with all relevant information regarding the student's academic performance and professional conduct.

Graduation Requirements

Students' demonstration of these standards will be evaluated annually. Failure to adhere to these standards may be cause for probation or dismissal from the program at any time (see Dismissal from the program).

Program Continuation

If a student is finishing degree requirements (e.g. dissertation) beyond the fourth year of the Ph.D. program or the third year of the Ed.D., the student is considered to be in continuation. The student must remain enrolled in the appropriate continuation courses (e.g. LDRS 8963 Dissertation Writing, etc.) each semester until the students complete the remaining degree requirements.

Should a student choose to not register for a semester while in continuation, the student will be considered on leave without permission and, therefore, will be unable to complete work for her or his dissertation (e.g. unable to seek Chair assistance, apply to the institutional review board, or defend a proposal or final dissertation). Should a student, after a leave of absence without permission, wish to continue in the program, he or she will need to apply for re-admittance and students will be charged the tuition for the continuation courses for the semesters the student was not enrolled.

Re-Admittance Procedure

In order to be re-admitted into the program after taking a leave of absence, the student will need to complete a re-admittance form and meet with CFLS staff or faculty to development a plan for program completion.

Students experiencing personal problems:

Students encountering personal problems are encouraged to seek out professional counseling support when appropriate. Students are placed on Academic Probation for a period of time set by the CFLS Dean if they are unable to reach the cumulative minimum GPA of 3.000 with fewer than 4 incomplete or failed courses. During Academic Probation students will not be allowed to register for any new classes.

If a student does not meet the terms of the probation period by the date agreed upon, the student will be asked to withdraw from the program. If the student does meet the terms of academic probation, they will be taken off this list and allowed to register for classes as normal. Students are only allowed to be put on an Academic Probation once, the second time the student will be dismissed from the program.

Dismissal from the Program

A student may be dismissed from the Program due to any one of the following factors:

- Continual Poor Performance. Should the student be unable to achieve a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.000 the semester following being placed on probation, the student may be dismissed from the program. Furthermore, if a student fails to retake a required course within a time period determined by the CFLS Dean he or she may be dismissed from the program.

- Placed on probation more than once. Throughout the course of the program, he or she may be dismissed from the program if requesting a second academic probation.
- Professional Conduct. Students are expected to comply with the behavioral standards of Northwest University and the laws of Washington State and local government bodies. Should a student fail to meet the criteria of professional behavioral standards (including, but not limited to emotional stability, interpersonal skills, maturity, and ethical conduct), the student may be dismissed from the program.

Students dismissed from the program may appeal the decision to the Provost of the university. The reviewing personnel will be provided with all relevant information regarding the student's academic performance and professional conduct.

Graduation Requirements

- Completion of all required coursework for Ph.D. or Ed.D.
- Director's recommendation for continuation in the program after each annual review

- Maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0
- Passing grades for all required comprehensive examinations
- Approval of dissertation proposal and dissertation final document by Dissertation Committee

Ed.D. in Organizational Leadership

Graduates of the Ed.D. in Organizational Leadership program are equipped to analyze theory and apply best practices from research to current challenges in their field. The curriculum for the Ed.D. requires a total of 60 credits . The coursework and dissertation process are structured for full-time students to be able to complete the Ed.D. in three years.

Graduates with an Ed.D. in Organizational Leadership will be able to:

College of Business

A Word from the Dean:

The College of Business at Northwest University is committed to developing socially responsible leaders for today's rapidly changing world. We believe the purpose of business is to serve others. Organizations that provide goods and services benefit not just investors, but customers, employees, and the common good. To be effective servants, organizational leaders need competence and integrity. Our MBA is designed for the real world. Our courses prepare working professionals for higher levels of management responsibility, so they will be able to serve their organizations as innovative and effective leaders.

Our MBA has distinct advantages over other programs. In addition to our solid Core Curriculum, our Cohort Model ensures an active learning process. You will engage in experiential learning with your peers and receive mentoring by high quality, caring professors. You will be challenged to consider global perspectives as you study each business discipline. You will develop and refine a variety of relevant management and communication skills. You will learn to think critically about the complexities of management. You will become more competent in your ability to decide and take action. Finally, because we are a private Christian institution, your learning opportunities will be centered in the context of a distinctive, ethically responsible worldview.

If you are ready for a new level of challenge for your professional competencies and character, we invite you to join us.

– Rowlanda Cawthon, Ed.D.

Academic Award	MBA
Credits Required	39 semester credits
Faculty Lead	Rowlanda Cawthon
Concentrations	Leadership, Non-Profit Management, Project Management
CIP Code	52.0201, 52.0213, 52.0206, 52.0211

Northwest University MBA prepares graduate students for higher levels of responsible leadership. Our students learn how to lead so they can make a difference in the organizations that they serve.

Accreditation

Northwest University's MBA is accredited by the Accreditation Council of Business Schools and Programs. Accreditation standards are modeled on the Baldrige National Quality Program. Employers find value in knowing that Northwest University uses the same standards as those used by other organizations to recognize excellence.

Admission Requirements

- A Bachelor of Arts or Science (or equivalent degree) from a regionally accredited college or university.
- A minimum 3.0 grade point average (GPA) on a 4.0 scale on all previous college work.
- A qualifying score on the Graduate Admissions Test (GMAT)
 - Northwest University's Institutional Code is #4541
 - The GMAT is WAIVED for applicants with a master's degree or a 3.0 undergraduate GPA.
- A completed application.

- International students whose native language is not English must submit a minimum score of 580 (or equivalent) on the TOEFL exam as part of the application process.
- Applicants without an undergraduate course in finance or accounting must take an online tutorial prior to their first MBA finance or accounting course at the start of their second year.
- MBA students may transfer up to 9 credit hours of eligible graduate level coursework (subject to Program Director's approval) from an accredited institution towards their degree.

Finance and Accounting Prerequisite for Non-Business Undergraduate majors

All non-business undergraduate students seeking the MBA degree must demonstrate a basic understanding of marketing, management, finance, accounting, economics, and the legal environment of business. The requirement can be met by prior work experience or satisfactory completion of BUSM 5001 - Introduction to Finance and Accounting or an online tutorial.

Work Experience

Work experience as a business professional is necessary for successful completion of the MBA degree. Admitted students without such experience will satisfy this curricular requirement with an internship or graduate practicum.

Academic Progress

Students whose academic histories reflect a GPA below 3.0 ("B" level) may be admitted to the program on academic probation. Students may also be placed on probation if their GPA falls below 3.0. Students are given one academic term to show improvement and to raise their GPA to at least 3.0, at which point they are removed from probationary status. If the student's GPA has been below 3.0 for two or more terms, he or she is placed on academic suspension (disqualification). Students must earn at least a 3.0 overall grade point average to graduate.

Master of Business Administration

The 39 credits can be completed in 23 months.

Courses are offered in two formats: online and on-campus. Each online course lasts for eight weeks. In our on-campus format, students attend class one night per week from 6:00 – 10:00 p.m. for seven weeks, plus one Saturday morning session. In both programs, students take one course at a time.

The MBA's strong core curriculum covers functional areas of business (operations, marketing, finance) as well as leadership soft skill development and corporate strategy analysis, all in the context of Christian values. Courses are taught in a cohort model in which students start and finish the program together with the same group. The cohort becomes a learning community as well as a trusted support network of friends.

MBA Concentrations

MBA students may choose one of the following concentrations. The concentration allows students to focus their study in the indicated field without increasing the number of overall credits required for the degree. Some of these courses may only be available in an online delivery format.

An MBA student may select two concentrations as long as they take three required courses in each concentration with two unique courses in each concentration, for a total of at least five courses.

MBA

5-year, BA-MBA

This accelerated, dual-degree program is designed to graduate students with a combined Bachelor of Arts in a Business major and Master in Business Administration (MBA) degree within five years. The combined degrees prepare students for professional careers in business, government or nonprofit organizations. Students begin taking four first-year MBA courses in their senior year and apply those 12 credits to their undergraduate requirements. The student is then able to finish the rest of the MBA in the following year, thus eliminating a year of college tuition.

Requirements:

1. Apply to the program at the beginning of the Junior Year with a cumulative GPA of at least 3.3 or above. Submit an essay describing why they want to be in the program.
2. Generally students will take six MBA credits and six undergraduate credits each semester of their senior year. The senior year credits are charged at the undergraduate tuition rate. All remaining undergraduate credits must be completed at Northwest University. Students may take no more than 15 total credits (MBA and undergrad combined) each semester in their senior year. No more than 12 MBA credits may be taken while still an undergraduate. Once students complete all undergraduate course, they will be charged at the MBA tuition rate as they continue on to MBA courses.
3. Maintain 3.3 Cumulative GPA during their Senior Year.
4. Since professional business experience is required for all MBA students, student in this program will be required to take the MBA Graduate Internship course as one of their electives.
5. Students complete all 39 of the required MBA credits.
6. This program is not available to the Business Management and Organizational Management majors offered in the Adult Evening or Online programs.
7. Since Accounting, Marketing, Music Business, and International Business majors have discrete major requirements, students of these majors will need to substitute elective credits for their MBA course work in their senior year. The Business Administration and Management majors can substitute one or two courses from their undergraduate major.

College of Education

College of Education

A word from the Dean:

It is often not difficult to think back to a teacher who made a positive impact on our lives. For me, I immediately think of my fifth-grade teacher, Mr. McElroy. He not only got on the floor with us to play gym hockey each week, he also spoke into our lives on a regular basis. All these years later his voice, encouragement, and belief in me still resonate in my head and in my work. Teaching continues to be one of those vocations where professionals can make a significant impact on young lives and on society at large. In the Northwest University College of Education we prepare learner-centered, adaptive and holistic teachers who help their K-12 students excel academically and as people.

The Master in Teaching (MIT) program prepares post-baccalaureate candidates with strong academic credentials who seek the first level of teacher certification and who demonstrate a high aptitude for scholarship and teaching at the elementary and secondary levels. The MIT is an intensive, eleven-month program focused on building professional experience in area public and private schools, developing best practices aimed at making a positive impact on K-12 students.

The Master of Education (M.Ed.) in Curriculum and Instruction is a 21-month, continuing education program for certificated teachers and other educators. Candidates focus on a selected area of interest, including concentrations in Teacher Leadership, Special Education, and English Language Learning. In all of our College of Education graduate programs you will learn from faculty with strong academic knowledge and practical classroom experience. Drawing on full-time faculty, as well as adjunct practitioners, candidates are prepared to be educational leaders through rigorous, relevant, and hands-on training.

The Master of Education (M.Ed.) in Curriculum and Instruction is designed to help practicing teachers and educational professionals take the next step in their professional development. M.Ed. candidates will be prepared to take on greater leadership in their classrooms, schools and districts, growing in their ability to make a positive impact on their schools and students. The M.Ed. program will help you earn a graduate degree in Curriculum and Instruction with one of four concentrations: Athletic Leadership, Teacher Leadership, English Language Learner (ELL), or Special Education (SPED).

Students who successfully complete the Master of Education will be able to:

1. Conduct research aimed at identifying and responding to contextualized problems of practice;
2. Develop a coherent philosophy of education that integrates both social and individual outcomes;
3. Interpret educational aims and practices through the lens of Christian faith; and
4. Design instructional plans and practices based on a formative assessment/instructional response cycle.

The Master in Teaching (MIT) program prepares post-baccalaureate candidates with strong academic credentials who seek the first level of teacher certification and who demonstrate a high aptitude for scholarship and teaching at the elementary and secondary levels. Candidates earn a Washington State Residency Teaching Certificate and the MIT Degree simultaneously.

The College of Education, directed by broad research and theory, and in accordance with state standards, prepares teachers in five specific proficiencies. The following outcomes guide our candidates' experience throughout the program:

Holistic Teachers,

1. Candidates demonstrate culturally responsive pedagogy aimed at the holistic learning of all students;

Adaptive Teachers,

2. Candidates demonstrate differentiated teaching, adapting instruction where appropriate to meet student needs while remaining aligned with learning standards;

Learner-Focused Teachers,

3. Candidates demonstrate reflective instruction, analyzing student work in order to further develop their own pedagogical practices;
4. Candidates pass their state-required WEST-E/NES content assessments necessary for certification;
5. Candidates pass their state-required edTPA pedagogy assessment necessary for certification.

Program Highlights

Post-graduate students commit to a three-semester learning experience: fall, spring, and summer terms, in order to earn 30 credits for the MIT degree. The credit requirements include student teaching (7 credits) plus graduate-level coursework (23 credits). Classes meet in the evenings, on weekends, and during the summer months for cohorts commencing their programs in August. Student teaching is accomplished during daytime hours.

Five-year BA to MIT Pathway

Each spring, undergraduate NU students have the opportunity to apply for the five-year BA to MIT pathway. Students spend their first four years becoming experts in their chosen content and their fifth year applying content in the classroom. Therefore, they benefit from a lightened courseload and discounted cost in the MIT. They also exit program with a graduate degree and enter the workforce at a higher pay grade.

To apply, students must meet the following requirements:

- Create and submit a successful introduction video;
- Submit dispositional scores from two professors;
- Articulate and submit a Professional Growth Plan (PGP);
- Have a GPA of 2.50 or higher at the time of admission; and
- Raise GPA to 2.75 or higher by the end of their BA.

Regarding Endorsements

- On-campus MIT students who want to earn an English Language Learner (ELL) or Special Education (SPED) endorsement in addition to their subject endorsement have two options to do so:
 1. Complete application by February 15 to complete Prerequisite courses on time. SPED endorsement-seeking candidates must complete a second placement in the fall of the MIT degree; they should register for EDMA 5292 to do so; OR
 2. Complete a stand-alone endorsement program after the MIT program (see Graduate Catalog for details).
- The COE recommends for add-on endorsements only if we participated in candidates' preparation; we do not recommend for post-graduate test-only endorsements.

Transfer Credits

MIT students may transfer up to 6 credit hours of eligible graduate level coursework (subject to the Dean's approval) from an accredited institution towards their degree.

Academic Progress

Applicants whose academic histories reflect a GPA below 2.7 (B- level) may be admitted to the program conditionally and granted one semester in which to earn a satisfactory GPA. Students must earn at least a

Program Transition Points

To continue in program, candidates must meet minimum criteria at key transition points:

- Semester 1 to semester 2: Candidates must earn at least a B- in each of their classes;
- Part-time to full-time student teaching: Candidates must successfully complete content tests (WEST-E or NES), earn passing InTASC and dispositional scores from University Supervisor and Mentor Teacher, and complete the minimum number of part-time hours.

Readmission

Students who leave the cohort for any reason and wish to return are required to meet with the Dean of the College of Education or designee to initiate the readmission process. Readmission to the College of Education is subject to space availability, decided on an individual basis, and is allowed one time only.

Critical Concern Report

From time to time, an issue arises which is beyond the scope of academic progress and program transitions. The COE uses a Critical Concern Report (CCR) to document such instances. In the case that a CCR about a candidate is made to the Dean and found to be warranted, the COE will conduct an evaluation of the candidate's status in program.

Master in Teaching (Online, GYO)

College:	Education
Academic Award:	Master in Teaching
Credits Required:	30 semester credits
Faculty Lead:	Autumn Witt
Available at:	Online

The College of Education (COE) Master in Teaching (MIT) program prepares post-baccalaureate candidates with strong academic credentials who seek the first level of teacher certification and who demonstrate a high aptitude for scholarship and teaching at the elementary and secondary levels. Candidates earn a Washington State Residency Teaching Certificate and the MIT degree simultaneously.

The Grow Your Own (GYO) alternative routes program offers online academics with rich field experience. This program is run in conjunction with our GYO partner school districts and is aimed at designated school district employees or career-changers connected to partner districts.

Post-graduate students commit to a three-semester/30-credit learning experience which includes student teaching (6 credits) and graduate level coursework (24 credits). Coursework is fully online and student teaching takes place within the candidate's district.

Program Outcomes

The COE, directed by broad research and theory, and in accordance with state standards, prepares teachers in five specific proficiencies. The following outcomes guide our candidates' experience throughout the program:

Holistic Teachers:

1. Candidates demonstrate culturally responsive pedagogy aimed at the holistic learning of all students;

Adaptive Teachers:

2. Candidates demonstrate differentiated teaching, adapting instruction where appropriate to meet student needs while remaining aligned with learning standards;

Learner-Focused Teachers:

3. Candidates demonstrate reflective instruction, analyzing student work in order to further develop their own pedagogical practices;
4. Candidates pass their state-required WEST-E/NES content assessments necessary for certification (endorsement areas: Elementary Education, English Language Learner (ELL), Special Education (SPED), Biology, Secondary Mathematics, Middle Level (ML) Mathematics, and ML Science).
5. Candidates pass their state-required edTPA pedagogy assessment necessary for certification.

Transfer Credits

GYO MIT students may transfer up to 6 credit hours of eligible graduate-level coursework (subject to the Dean's approval) from an accredited institution towards their degree.

Academic Progress

Successful applicants should have a previous cumulative GPA of 3.0 (B level) or higher; candidates holding a lower GPA may be admitted to the program conditionally and granted one semester in which to earn a satisfactory GPA. Students must earn at least a B- (2.7) in each class in order to progress to subsequent semesters.

Program Transition Points

To continue in program, candidates must meet minimum criteria at key transition points:

- Semester 1 to Semester 2: Candidates must earn at least a B- in each of their classes.
- Student Teaching: Candidates must successfully complete content tests (WEST-E or NES), earn passing InTASC and dispositional scores from their Supervisor and Mentor Teacher(s), and complete the minimum number of hours.

College of Ministry

College of Ministry

A Word from the Dean:

To meet the church's current and future needs, ministry must be both biblically authentic and culturally relevant, and preparation for Christian ministry must be as thorough as possible and of the highest caliber possible.

The College of Ministry at Northwest University seeks to meet this need by offering continuing in-service education at the master's degree level for those who are engaged in ministry – pastors, evangelists, missionaries, educators, counselors, and lay workers. We also do an excellent job equipping adults for a second career in ministry and non-profit organizational leadership.

Ministry involves the person of God communicating a divine message to people to achieve divine ends. Those who minister for God must know Him intimately, must be able to exegete His Word accurately, must understand and appreciate the context in which they minister, and must comprehend God's eternal purpose and be able to relate it to the church and ministry.

These M.A. programs integrate academic experiences, spiritual formation activities, and skills development to enhance intellectual, spiritual, personal, and functional readiness for effective ministry leadership. Our overarching goal is to equip Kingdom leaders for effective service.

Robert Stallman

39.0699

The Master of Arts in Bible and Theology (MABT) is a 36-credit degree designed to enable students to articulate the message of the Bible in faithfulness to the entire scope of God's unfolding story. This is done so that students might live out the way of Jesus in contemporary culture and to promote truly meaningful engagement with the Bible in Christian communities and ministries.

Program Highlights

The MABT immerses graduate students in an integrated approach to theological graduate education that draws from theology, biblical studies, history, and the pastoral arts, thus enabling the student to engage in theological and spiritual reflection within a vibrant, Christian community.

For a full-time student, this program can take as little as two years and is offered in both an on-ground and online modality. The program has courses scheduled across three annual terms (Fall, Spring, and Summer). In the on-ground modality, the program delivery includes courses meeting for single four-day intensives and as a set of three Friday/Saturday weekend intensives. In some situations, on-ground students may elect to complete some of their courses via an online delivery model. This flexible delivery format is designed to accommodate the diverse needs of our graduate students.

Admissions

Admission into the Master of Arts in Bible and Theology requires the completion of a Bachelor of Arts or Science (or an equivalent degree) from a regionally accredited college or university. Allowances may be made for degrees accredited by the Association for Biblical Higher Education (ABHE). Students also complete the application and acceptance process for the College of Ministry Graduate School. The College of Ministry has rolling application dates. The application must be completed no later than two weeks prior to the start of the semester.

Program Outcomes

In addition to achieving the general goals of the University and the College of Ministry, completing the Master of Arts in Bible and Theology results in the following learning outcomes:

Graduates will be able to:

1. Analyze Scripture using appropriate hermeneutical principles.
2. Determine the implications of key theological concepts.
3. Examine vital issues in contemporary Christian life in light of the biblical metanarrative.
4. Formulate canonically appropriate theological claims from scriptural texts.
5. Evaluate a practical approach to spiritual formation.

The Master of Arts in Church Revitalization (MACR) is a 36-credit degree designed to equip pastors and congregational leaders with the practical training needed to strengthen established churches—including those which are plateaued and/or declining—by infusing them with a biblical vision of a healthy church.

Program Highlights

The MACR invites students to consider church revitalization through the lens of theology, methods, spiritual practices, and Scripture.

The cohorted program delivery includes courses meeting for single four-day intensives and as a set of three Friday/Saturday weekend intensives. This delivery format is designed to accommodate the diverse needs of our graduate students.

Admissions

Admission into the Master of Arts in Church Revitalization requires the completion of a Bachelor of Arts or Science (or an equivalent degree) from a regionally accredited college or university. Allowances may be made for degrees accredited by the Association for Biblical Higher Education (ABHE). Students also complete the application and acceptance process for the College of Ministry Graduate Studies department. Program Outcomes

Graduates with a MA in Church Revitalization will be able to:

1. Demonstrate awareness of contemporary culture and theological influences.
2. Develop effective engagement with cultural trends, social transformation, and current challenges facing the church.
3. Further discover their personal faith-beliefs and assumptions while becoming aware of the theological challenges of the day and developing skills to articulate their theological beliefs.
4. Understand theoretical foundations for healthy team leadership and skills for management of conflict within ministry teams and church congregations.
5. Describe essential components of growing churches, to diagnose their states of health in actual congregations, and to enact effective strategies for revitalizing local churches.

The Master of Arts in Ministry Leadership (MAML) is a 36-credit degree designed to help students develop a biblical, theological, and pastoral framework for leadership that is academically rigorous, praxis-oriented, and facilitates the growth and development of missional leadership for the twenty-first century Church.

Program Highlights

The MAML provides graduate students the opportunity to cultivate an academically informed biblical and theoretical approach for ministry leadership. This degree is concerned especially with developing and refining informed ministry practice and allows participants to develop ministry leadership skills helpful in their contexts. With the understanding that each set of ministry giftings and the varieties of settings in which ministry takes place are unique, this degree can provide a significant amount of elective space for students to explore their interests and develop their skills and perspectives.

For a full-time student, this program can take as little as two years, with courses scheduled across three annual terms (Fall, Spring, and Summer). The program delivery includes courses meeting for single four-day intensives and as a set of three Friday/Saturday weekend intensives. In some situations, students may elect to complete courses via an online delivery model or via the traditional semester model (classes meeting weekly or more often). This flexible delivery format is designed to accommodate the diverse needs of our graduate students.

Admissions

Admission into the Master of Arts in Ministry Leadership requires the completion of a Bachelor of Arts or Science (or an equivalent degree) from a regionally accredited college or university. The Master in Ministry (MIM) is a totally online graduate degree offered by the College of Ministry at Northwest University. It is designed to prepare students—intellectually, spiritually, and functionally—for vocational or lay ministry in a variety of contexts. This program provides a foundational education to anyone seeking entry into ministry, and is specifically designed for students seeking their ministerial credentials.

Program Highlights

The MIM is designed with a delivery system enabling students to complete this degree in sixteen months or (four semesters). Thus, working professionals can remain fully engaged within their profession while furthering their education. Students participate in an online learning community providing a supportive, engaging environment that empowers and reinforces Christian leadership formation. The MIM degree program is specifically targeted for individuals who evidence a divine call on their life and wish to pursue lay or vocational ministry and who already possess an undergraduate degree in a field other than Bible, Theology, Christian Education, or Ministry.

The MIM program seeks to equip Christian leaders intellectually, spiritually, and functionally to successfully serve as leaders in a variety of Christian leadership contexts including local and para-church ministries. Participants engage in biblical and theological reflection especially as it relates to one's ministry context. Significantly, the MIM provides individuals wishing to transition into ministry from a lay background by providing the academic foundation needed to obtain ministerial credentials. It also serves as an academic foundation for those wishing to pursue further graduate theological training.

Note: The General Council of the Assemblies of God will accept any graduate theological program offered by the College of Ministry at Northwest University as meeting the academic requirements for ministerial credentials. Students from other denominations will need to check with their respective denominational offices as to the applicability of the MIM for meeting ministerial credential requirements.

Admissions

Admission into the Master in Ministry requires the completion of a Bachelor of Arts or Science (or an equivalent degree) from a regionally accredited college or university.

Allowances may be made for degrees accredited by the Association for Biblical Higher Education (ABHE). Students also complete the application and acceptance process.

Credit Transfer

MIM students may transfer up to 15 credit hours of eligible graduate level coursework (subject to Program Director's approval) from an accredited institution towards their degree requirements.

Program Outcomes

In addition to achieving the goals of the University and the College of Ministry, the Master in Ministry results in the following learning outcomes:

1. Understand significant content of the Old and New Testaments.
2. Analyze Scripture using appropriate hermeneutical principles.
3. Explain theologically the essential public tasks of the minister.
4. Develop effective administrative skills for the work of ministry.
5. Create effective preaching presentations suitable for ministry contexts.

Dual Degree

Purpose of Dual Degrees

Northwest University, having recognized the possibility of shared features between certain of our graduate programs, has created dual degree programs that will serve a select constituency of students wishing to embrace a broader academic experience.

The College of Ministry in conjunction with the College of Education and the College of Business has created the following dual degree programs:

- Master of Arts in Ministry Leadership with Master of Business Administration
- Master of Arts in Ministry Leadership with Master in Teaching
- Master of Arts in Ministry Leadership with Master of Education

Moreover, we recognize that individual degree programs undergo episodic curricular revision and so both academic departments involved in the delivery of a specific dual degree program will remain in close communication with each other when either individual degree program is undergoing curricular changes that could affect the program and delivery of the dual degrees.

Programmatic Distinctive of Dual Degrees

There are some distinct differences in the nomenclature of "dual" vs. "joint" degrees that require clarification. Here are some of the essential programmatic features of a dual degree should be viewed:

- A dual degree is a combined program whereby at the completion, a student will earn two master's degrees (not one).
- Students enrolled in a dual degree program must complete the entire prescribed program as stated in order to earn the dual degrees.
- Students wishing to enroll in the dual degree program must meet all programmatic

Prerequisites as well as gain admission to both degree programs.

- Students will be expected to pay all the respective tuition and fees corresponding to both degree programs unless otherwise indicated.
- Each program will determine whether or not they wish to have their own thesis or action research, or whether they choose to allow an interdisciplinary capstone experience.
- The curriculum and delivery of each distinct degree remains under the sole jurisdiction of its respective academic unit.
- The individual programs are pursued seriatim, meaning that a student will pursue the prescribed requirements of one program and complete them in their entirety before moving on to the other program. Essentially, we are using a "stackable" delivery format.

Dual Degree Program, MAML/MBA

Jointly sponsored by the College of Ministry and the College of Business, the Master of Arts in Ministry Leadership (MAML) and the Master of Business Administration (MBA) can be earned as a dual degree whereby students will enroll in both programs and at the completion of the dual degree program the student will be awarded two degrees. The following conditions apply to the MAML/MBA dual degree program:

- Students must be accepted into both degree programs in order to qualify for the dual degree.
- Students enrolled in the dual degree program must take courses in a specified order and sequence in order to complete the requirements of both degree programs in a timely fashion.
- Students enrolling in the dual degree program must pay the appropriate tuition and fees corresponding to each degree program.
- Students enrolled in the dual degree program must complete both programs in order to receive their degrees.
- Students who decide to withdraw from one of the programs have the option of completing the entire remaining degree program with no course reductions.
- Students enrolling in the dual degree program have a curricular overlap that reduces the dual degree credit hours by taking the program Concurrently.

- Students who follow the prescribed program of study may be able to complete the program in as little as 36 months.

The dual degree completion will be as follows:

- Students will subsequently enroll in the MBA program and take the program in its entirety.

Potential Audience:

The MAML/MBA degree may be attractive to lead pastors, executive pastors, church administrators, as well as leaders in parachurch, or faith-based non-profit organizations who may benefit from the coupling of business and organizational management with the distinctive philosophical undergirding of ministry leadership.

Dual Degree Program, MAML/MIT

Jointly sponsored by the College of Ministry (COM) and the College of Education (COE), the Master of Arts in Ministry Leadership (MAML) and the Master of Arts in Teaching (MIT) can be earned as a dual degree whereby students will enroll in both programs and at the completion of the dual degree program the student will be awarded two degrees. The following conditions apply to the MAML/MIT dual degree program:

- Students must be accepted into both degree programs in order to qualify for the dual degree. This includes passing the two state examinations: the Washington Educator Standards Test-Basic (WEST-B) and the Washington Educator Standards Test-Endorsement (WEST-E) in their respective areas as a Prerequisite to admission to the dual degree program.
- Students enrolled in the dual degree program must take courses in the specified order and sequence in order to complete the requirements of both degree programs in a timely fashion. Students wishing to "reverse the order" of the program sequence by beginning with the MIT program first will need to gain written approval from the Deans of both programs.
- Students enrolling in the dual degree program must pay the appropriate tuition and fees corresponding to each degree program.

- Students enrolled in the dual degree program must complete both programs in order to receive their degrees.
- Because of faculty staffing, the COM and the COE reserve the right to impose limits on the numbers of dual degree candidates that can be accommodated at any one time.
- Students enrolling in the dual degree program have a curricular overlap that reduces the dual degree credit hours by taking the program in dual degree configuration.
- Students who follow the prescribed program of study may be able to complete the program in as little as 27 months.
- Students who decide to withdraw from one of the programs have the option of completing the entire remaining degree program with no course reductions.

The dual degree completion will be as follows:

- Students will subsequently enroll in the MIT program and complete the degree program in its entirety.

Potential Audience:

The MAML/MIT degree may be desirable for individuals wishing to teach in a Christian school in the K-12 sector and incorporate a Christian world view and ministry mindset into the educational setting. Alternatively, church leaders could gain a more sophisticated understanding of educational formation that could be then incorporated into the ministry setting.

Dual Degree Program, MAML/M.Ed.

Jointly sponsored by the College of Ministry (COM) and the College of Education (COE), the Master of Arts in Ministry Leadership (MAML) and the Master of Education degree (M.Ed.) can be earned as a dual degree whereby students will enroll in both programs and at the completion of the dual degree program the student will be awarded two degrees. The following conditions apply to the MAML/M.Ed. dual degree program:

- Students must be accepted into both degree programs in order to qualify for the dual degree.

- Students enrolled in the dual degree program must take courses in the specified order and sequence in order to complete the requirements of both degree programs in a timely fashion. Students wishing to "reverse the order" of the program sequence by beginning with the M.Ed. program first will need to gain written approval from the Deans of both programs.
- Students enrolling in the dual degree program must pay the appropriate tuition and fees corresponding to each degree program.
- Students enrolled in the dual degree program must complete both programs in order to receive their degrees.
- Because of faculty staffing, the COM and the COE reserve the right to impose limits on the numbers of dual degree candidates that can be accommodated at any one time.
- Students enrolling in the dual degree program have a curricular overlap that reduces the dual degree credit hours by taking the program in dual degree configuration.
- Students who follow the prescribed program of study may be able to complete the program in as little as 39 months.
- Students who decide to withdraw from one of the programs have the option of completing the entire remaining degree program with no course reductions.

The dual degree completion will be as follows:

- Students will subsequently enroll in the M.Ed. program and complete the degree program in its entirety.
- Students will do an action research project that is interdisciplinary in scope but that meets the requirements of both the MAML and the M.Ed. program. In this case, the action research chair must be drawn from approved faculty from the COE. An additional committee member will be drawn from the COM. The COM faculty member is subject to the approval of the COE action research chair.

Potential Audience:

The MAML/M.Ed. may be desirable for individuals wishing to teach in a Christian school in the K-12 sector and incorporate a Christian world view and ministry mindset into the educational setting.

The master's degree in nursing program at Northwest University is pursuing initial accreditation by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (<http://www.ccnaccreditation.org>). Applying for accreditation does not guarantee that accreditation will be granted.

Mark and Huldah Buntain College of Nursing

Mission Statement: The Buntain College of Nursing of Northwest University prepares graduates to answer their call to serve God throughout the world and lead others by using their professional expertise as nurses.

The Buntain College of Nursing's Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) degree emphasizes leadership, nursing education, policy development and regulatory practice, program evaluation, nursing research, quality improvement, cross-cultural practice and spiritual appreciation. You will gain specialized experience and knowledge with the design and implementation of a scholarly project aligned with your nursing interests. There is also the opportunity for a unique global and educational travel experience and. Graduates of the MSN program are prepared to tackle the changing healthcare landscape as the next generation of change agents, innovators, and leaders.

Program Learning Outcomes

Scholarly Inquiry

1. Research Methodology: Formulate research questions and hypotheses and determine appropriate research methods that support reliable findings and valid conclusions.
2. Informatics as a lens: Search available data sets for trends and associations that guide the formulation of effective and efficient health care initiatives.

3. Focused clinical exploration: Demonstrate clinical competence rooted in study of the assessment, physiology, pathophysiology, research, and clinical guidelines of a nursing clinical area of focus.

Servant Leadership

4. Ethical debate: Write and provide a scholarly defense for a set of personal ethical and spiritual guidelines for servant leadership in an array of settings and moral dilemmas.
5. Cultural humility: Integrate cultural understanding and sensitivity into health communications, assessments, interventions, programs, and policy in order to lead diverse groups toward the achievement of optimal health outcomes.
6. Educational expertise: Lead others toward wellness and social good through the employment of curriculum development and pedagogical approaches that are sensitive to the developmental, cultural, and motivational characteristics of the target audience.
7. Policy and advocacy: Conceptualize and lead efforts to enhance health-related, public policy.

Outcome Orientation

8. Quality and Safety Improvement: Identify opportunities for quality improvement, safety promotion, and risk management and propose systematic approaches to implement continuous quality improvement efforts.
9. Evidence-based practice: Be adept at finding evidence and applying research recommendations that produce healthy outcomes.

Innovation

10. Research utilization: Apply research recommendations to health care delivery situations and subsequent research agendas.
11. Concept adaptation: Assess the applicability of innovations from different settings and disciplines to current health care delivery opportunities and propose means by which to adapt innovations to new health care settings.
12. Technology utilization: Apply and evaluate the efficacy of technology to the achievement of health goals.

Admission Requirements

All students complete an application to Northwest University as part of the admission requirements to the Buntain College of Nursing (BCON).

- Graduate of an accredited Baccalaureate Degree in Nursing program.
- Clinical RN nursing practice is current within two (2) years of application to the MSN Online Program.
- Current and unencumbered RN license in Washington, Oregon, or Montana.

Transfer Credits

- All RNs are required to have formal nursing and post high school level education transcripts evaluated by NU transcript evaluation services to determine acceptable transfer credits.
- Students may transfer a successfully completed 3-semester credit or equivalent college level course in statistics from an accredited institution towards their degree requirements.
- (MATH 1313 Introduction to Statistics is available through NU Online courses)

Progression

Students who do not achieve an 80% (B- or 2.70) in each nursing course and an overall 3.00 GPA throughout the sequence of nursing courses may progress but are placed on academic probation. Prior to entering NURS 4664, all courses with a grade less than a B- (2.7) must be repeated.

Academic Probation

Students who fail to maintain satisfactory academic progress towards graduation are placed on Academic Probation. Probation is a temporary status intended to help focus students' efforts while concentrating the program's resources to address and remedy the causes of insufficient academic progress. Probation is not intended as a punitive measure but as a warning and a time for necessary improvement. Probation, however, could lead to further academic penalties and financial aid restrictions as deemed necessary by the program or federal guidelines.

A student may be placed on probation for one of the following reasons:

1. A student fails to maintain a grade of B- or higher in all courses and/or a minimum 3.0 cumulative GPA. In addition, the student must retake the course with less than a B- within a time period determined by the Faculty Lead.
2. A student fails to meet the criteria of professional behavioral standards, including, but not limited to: emotional stability, interpersonal skills, maturity, and ethical conduct.

Program administrators and faculty will continue to provide guidance and support in helping the student to assume responsibility for his or her academic success.

A student will be taken off of probation when:

1. A grade of B- or higher in all courses the following semester and a minimum of a 3.0 cumulative GPA are achieved.
2. The student meets the criteria of professional behavioral standards, including, but not limited to: emotional stability, interpersonal skills, maturity, and ethical conduct according to the student's yearly evaluation as assessed by faculty.

Withdrawal

Students who do not achieve a 3.0 GPA will not be allowed to progress into the final course NURS 5913 Scholarly Project. On occasion students are faced with major health problems or changes in personal circumstances that make progression in the nursing program difficult. Students are encouraged to seek faculty counsel or advice early so that there is opportunity to plan how to best meet their educational goals. In the event that dismissal/withdrawal is recommended by faculty or requested by students, the Buntain College of Nursing Student Affairs Committee will seek to assure that appropriate policies have been followed and that concerns of both student and faculty have been adequately considered.

Practice Experiences

The MSN program includes 230 practice experience hours that are completed in various immersive activities with the guidance of preceptors, mentors, or faculty. Practice experiences can typically be completed near the student's area of residence.

- Practice experience hours are integrated into eight of the twelve MSN courses and range from 15-60 hours per semester.

- Some courses offer more than one practice experience opportunity where students may choose the experience most beneficial for their learning and adaptable to their life schedule.
- Students are encouraged to take advantage of the optional faculty-led global educational experience.
- Fees associated with elective educational travel experiences are determined relative to the on-site costs of these experience. Students make their own travel arrangements and payments in order to arrive and depart from a designated city in a timeframe enabling students to participate in all faculty-led educational experiences.

Additional Practice Experience Requirements

Practice experiences in the nursing program require applicants to submit the following records to an online data collection service.

1. Health history and physical examination that includes immunization and vaccination documentation and titer levels, conducted and signed by a licensed healthcare practitioner:
2. Immunizations
 - DPT series and any subsequent Boosters.
 - One booster after age 19 must be a Tdap (Tetanus, Diphtheria, and Pertussis) vaccine.
 - Hepatitis B series & proof of positive titer
 - MMR series or proof of positive titer
 - Polio series
 - Varicella series or proof of positive titer
 - Influenza (annual requirement)
3. A two-step TB test or TB IGRA done at the time of entry into the program according to instructions provided by the College of Nursing.
 - Documentation of an annual TB screening is conducted each year to demonstrate eligibility to participate in practice experiences;
4. Current American Heart Association (AHA) provider-level CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) card;
5. A national background check, OIG, GSA, and Washington State WATCH are required. Students seeking admission to the nursing program must be aware a record of criminal conviction may impact admission. Students should discuss this matter with the Dean before making final application to the nursing program. Any criminal incidences occurring during the nursing program must be reviewed immediately with the Dean.

6. Proof of health insurance.
7. Proof of malpractice insurance.
8. RN license.
9. The following records are optional but may be required if the student chooses to participate in international travel as part of NURS 5383.
 1. Hepatitis A series
 2. A current and valid passport

Scholarly Project

A key outcome of the MSN program at Northwest University is the completion of a scholarly project that results in a scholarly capstone or thesis over the course of six semesters. Examples of acceptable scholarly capstones are a quality improvement project, an educational intervention project, assessment of a curriculum gap and a proposed intervention, or program or educational evaluation project. A thesis is generally a qualitative or quantitative research study carried out in a designated setting. Acceptable thesis study designs for completion in the BCON MSN program are a pilot study, case study, or descriptive study.

Both scholarly capstone and thesis options require systematic review and analysis of the literature on a topic of relevance to the student's intended specialty focus as an advanced practice nurse. Both options require supervision by a faculty committee and involve an in-depth exploration of a topic with the expectation that the quality of the student work is at a level suitable for submission for publication in the scientific literature.

College of Social and Behavioral Sciences

College of Social and Behavioral Sciences

The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences at Northwest University educates individuals to serve within the mental health and human service professions both locally and internationally. Our four graduate programs, the Master of Arts in Clinical Mental Health Counseling (CMHC), the Doctorate of Psychology in Counseling Psychology (Psy.D.), the Master of Arts in International Community Development (ICD), and Master of Science in Data Analysis and Research Psychology (MSDARP) are built upon the integration of themes such as psychology, counseling, culture, and social justice. Additionally, all programs place a strong emphasis on integrating the curriculum with a Christian worldview.

Students enrolled in the Psy.D. Program will learn to integrate a strong theoretical knowledge base with practical, evidence-based skills to provide psychological services in a globally relevant and socially conscious manner. This APA accredited program specifically prepares students to qualify for licensure as a Psychologist in Washington State.

Students involved in the CMHC Programs prepare to serve individuals from different backgrounds with a variety of needs. These programs have a unique multicultural focus with an emphasis on social justice and prepare students to qualify for a master's level state license.

Students participating in the ICD Program are equipped to identify, analyze, and understand cultural differences in contexts of need, and to develop holistic responses that are sensitive to the particular constraints and opportunities presented in those settings. This program prepares students for context-sensitive, strategic leadership in meeting the needs of the poor and oppressed, both in the U.S. and overseas. A certificate in Outcomes-Oriented Program Management, which can be taken either as a part of the MA in International Community Development program or as a stand-alone certificate, prepares students to manage those aspects of organizational operations which are both critical and unique to nonprofit organizations.

Students in the MSDARP Program are prepared to employ rigorous empirical methods to study complex issues in modern society and business practice.

Students in the Psy.D., CMHC, and ICD programs have the opportunity to participate in a wide variety of cultural immersion experiences both locally and internationally. Past immersion experiences include Morocco, Brazil, India, China, El Salvador, Jamaica, Israel, and many other locations. These opportunities provide students with the chance to connect theory to praxis and heed Christ's call to love, serve, and care for those who are hurting.

Whether serving locally or internationally, graduates of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences are prepared to respond to the call of Christ through excellent theory development and advanced applied skills to provide care in a rapidly globalizing world. We hope that you will consider joining us!

- Matt Nelson, Ph.D.

Dean, College of Social & Behavioral Sciences

College of Social and Behavioral Sciences General Policies

Application Deadlines

- Psy.D. – December 15
- CMHC – January 31 (Priority Application), & April 1 (Main application)
- MAICD – October 15, December 1, March 1, and May 1
- MSDARP - Continuous Admissions

Academic Progress towards Graduation

Courses taken from the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (CSBS), including electives, must earn a grade of B- or above. In addition, students must maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.000.

Furthermore, Psy.D. students must also pass qualifying exams, write, defend, and disseminate a dissertation, fulfill all practica requirements, and reach a professional standard as outlined in the Psy.D. Student Handbook.

Academic Probation

For the Probation policy specifically applying to the Doctor of Psychology program, please see that program's policies.

Probation is not intended as a punitive measure, but as a warning that improvement is needed for continuation in the program. Program administrators and faculty will continue to provide guidance and support in helping the student to assume responsibility for his or her academic success. The Program Director or Advisor will provide support and monitoring of the student's progress. Documentation regarding the student's probationary status will be placed in his or her file. Probation may, however, lead to further academic penalties as deemed necessary by the director or chair of the academic program concerned.

A student may be placed on probation for one of the following reasons:

1. The student's academic history prior to entry into the program reflects a GPA of below a 3.000 ("B" level), or submits an otherwise weak application, yet the application review board deemed him or her a worthy candidate for admission into the program. Such a student's academic performance will be reviewed at the end of the first semester to determine whether he or she may continue in the program.
2. The student fails to maintain a grade B- of higher in all courses.
3. A student fails to meet the criteria of professional behavioral standards, including, but not limited to: academic honesty, emotional stability, interpersonal skills, maturity, and ethical conduct.

If a student is placed on probation a second time, the student may be dismissed from the program.

A student will be taken off of probation when:

1. A grade of B- or higher is achieved in all coursework the following semester.
2. The student meets the criteria of professional behavioral standards, including, but not limited to: emotional stability, interpersonal skills, maturity, and ethical conduct according to the student's yearly evaluation as assessed by faculty.

In addition, any College of Social and Behavioral Sciences student who obtains a grade of less than B- must retake the course and obtain a grade of B- or above within a time period determined by the program Director or Advisor. A student retaking a course will be responsible for additional tuition, course and independent study fees.

Ethical Obligations Regarding Student Enrollment

The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences must meet its ethical obligation as a professional training institution by reserving the right to determine the suitability of each student for professional practice. Therefore, the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences may refuse admission to any applicant and may discontinue education to any student based on the Dean's discretion.

Re-Entry Policy

The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences has specific policies and requirements for students who wish to reenter the program after previously withdrawing. Students who withdraw from a semester and return to the program the following semester do not need to reapply. Students who withdraw from a semester and are not enrolled for one or more succeeding semesters are required to complete the entire reapplication process. They will then be reviewed by the respective Review Board Committee and are not guaranteed re-admittance. In addition, it is up to the discretion of the Review Board Committee if the applicant will return to his or her cohort or be placed in a new cohort. Also, the applicant will need to meet with his or her respective Program Director to create a course completion plan, which may include the need to complete missed courses via independent study.

Data Analysis and Research Psychology, MS (Online)

College	Social and Behavioral Sciences; Adult and Professional Studies
Academic Award	Master of Science
Credits Required	36 semester credits
Faculty Lead	Rachel Partsch
CIP Code	42.2813

The MS in Data Analysis and Research Psychology is a 36-credit, fully online graduate degree offered by the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences at Northwest University. The program prepares students to develop knowledge through the application of social science research methodologies to social and workplace problems faced by communities and organizations. Students select from three concentrations depending on the student's professional goals: (1) research analytics, (2) program evaluation, or (3) doctoral-preparation.

Program Outcomes

The MSDARP program equips students with the knowledge and abilities to fulfill this aim by preparing student to:

1. Design and implement empirical investigations in communities and organizations.
2. Analyze data using appropriate quantitative and qualitative techniques and generate appropriate conclusions based on analysis results.
3. Create professional reports and presentations detailing investigation procedures, data analyses, findings, and conclusions in APA format.
4. Adhere to the ethical code and standards of the American Psychological Association for psychological research.

5. Articulate how a Christian worldview informs their understanding of data analysis and interpretation.

Admission Criteria

- BA/BS degree in Psychology, Sociology, Social Science, or closely related field
 - If not – need to complete Prerequisite courses: (1) Statistics and (2) General Psychology.
- Undergraduate CGPA 3.0
- Completed online application
- Letter of interest – highlighting research interests and professional goals

School of Counseling and Psychology

Clinical Mental Health Counseling, MA

College	Social and Behavioral Sciences
Academic Award	Master of Arts
Credits Required	60 semester credits
Faculty Lead	Robert Campbell
CIP Code	51.1508

The Master of Arts in Clinical Mental Health Counseling is designed to prepare students to serve their communities as licensed Mental Health Counselors in the State of Washington as well as in other capacities. The professors draw from their academic studies and professional experiences to provide students with the background they will need to be successful in the field of clinical mental health counseling. Students learn through lecture, discussion, and research, and then put their new knowledge to work in their internship or thesis, all guided by their professors. Instructors seek to equip students to serve individuals from different backgrounds with widely different needs. The program has a unique multicultural focus with an emphasis on social justice. Additionally, the program places a strong emphasis on integrating the curriculum with Christian worldview.

Program Outcomes

Upon completion of the Master of Arts in Clinical Mental Health Counseling program students will achieve competence in the following areas:

Professional Counseling Orientation and Ethical Practice

- Develop comprehensive understanding of the identity of the professional counselor including history, roles, advocacy, credentialing, and ethical practice in a variety of private, inter-organizational, and interdisciplinary settings.

Socio-Cultural Diversity and Social Justice

- Demonstrate culturally competent socially aware counseling skills through the integration of scholarly research, application of multicultural counseling theories, and the examination of the concepts of social justice and privilege.

Scientific Foundations

- Integrate knowledge of biological, cognitive, emotional, personality, and social development across the lifespan into the diagnosis, assessment, and treatment of mental health issues.

Counseling Theories, Skills and Helping Relationships

- Incorporate knowledge of counseling skills, case conceptualization, suicide prevention, and treatment planning into counseling practice in both in-person and technology assisted settings for general populations and those in crisis.
- Integrate theories and research of career development, assessment, and planning into the practice of career guidance for diverse people groups in wide range of vocational fields.
- Apply group counseling theory in the creation, recruitment, and facilitation of culturally relevant groups.
- Utilize differential diagnostic processes and systems.

Assessment and Testing

- Apply basic statistical concepts, principles of test design and selection, interpretation of psychological reports, and demonstrate ability to select appropriate assessments relevant to education, employment, and personal situations.

Research and Program Evaluation

- Evaluate counseling interventions and counselor education programs and develop outcome measures by utilizing knowledge of the principles of statistics, research methods and design, and current models of evidence-based practices.

First Year Psychotherapy

CMHC students are required to participate in 10 hours of individual psychotherapy within the first year of the program and to provide written verification of the completion of these hours from their psychotherapist (see CMHC Student Handbook for specific requirements and appropriate forms).

Masters Level Counseling State Licensure

Students must complete an internship during the program to be eligible for Washington State licensure. Since licensure requirements differ slightly from state to state, the required course sequence may not fulfill all educational licensure requirements for every state. Given this, it is the student's responsibility to determine the licensure requirements for the state through which he or she desires to become licensed and to determine whether or not the required course sequence meets those requirements. The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences may be able to offer electives to students in order to meet licensure requirements not met by the required course sequence; however, students must work in conjunction with the Director of Academic Programs and Dean and have their expressed permission in order to enroll in electives for the purpose of meeting licensure requirements.

Program Delivery Models and Curriculum

Applicants to the MA in Clinical Mental Health Counseling choose between Online and On Campus program delivery models. Both versions of the CMHC program are identical in terms of their programmatic requirements and learning outcomes. The program is designed to prepare students for state licensure as professional counselors.

The CMHC online program is a 36-month, 9-semester, year-round online program with three required on-campus residency experiences (one in the first semester, one in the first summer, and one in the second summer of the program). The program enrolls students in fall and spring. It takes 3 years of full-time enrollment to complete the CMHC online program across three annual terms (fall, spring, and summer semesters). Enrolling in the program part-time will extend the program to 48 or more months as every course is not offered every semester.

The CMHC on campus program is a two-year program that meets twice a week and on occasional weekends.

Admission Criteria

- A baccalaureate degree of arts or science (or an equivalent degree) from a regionally accredited college or university is required to qualify for admission to the program. A major in counseling, psychology, social science, or a closely related field is preferred, but not required.
- Grade point average (GPA) of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale.
- Complete application online
- Current resume or curriculum vita
- Three references
- Participate in an individual interview and group interview
- In addition to program-specific admission requirements, international students must meet the criteria stated in the international student admissions requirements section if this catalog.
- Letter of Interest

Interest Letter Prompts and Instructions

Potential students provide a typed response to each of the following essay questions. Typical responses for each question are approximately 250 to 300 words:

1. Provide a brief introduction to you and why the Clinical Mental Health Counseling program at Northwest University interests you.
2. Describe your future career goals in the counseling field, and how you see the Clinical Mental Health Counseling Program at Northwest University preparing you to meet those goals.
3. Describe experiences that have led you to a career as a counseling professional. Include a how these experiences have prepared you for the Clinical Mental Health Counseling Program and what strengths you bring with you to the program.
4. Describe cross-cultural experiences that have shaped your awareness of cultural differences and how those differences may be represented in the counseling setting.

Applicants who meet or exceed the above criteria must also exhibit qualities consistent with the ethos of the counseling profession. Students must be committed to personal responsibility, time management, professional ethics, interpersonal integrity, and social justice to be successful in the program. It is the responsibility and authority of the admissions review board to determine an applicant's degree of compatibility with the program.

The Doctor of Psychology (Psy.D.) in Counseling Psychology program is designed to prepare individuals to become licensed counseling psychologists in the state of Washington. At the completion of the program, the successful Psy.D. student will be equipped professionally in the following ways:

1. Research

1. Demonstrate the substantially independent ability to formulate research or other scholarly activities (e.g., critical literature reviews, dissertation, efficacy studies, clinical case studies, theoretical papers, program development and/or evaluation projects) of sufficient quality and rigor to have the potential to contribute to the scientific, psychological, or professional knowledge base.
2. Conduct research or other scholarly activities.
3. Critically evaluate and disseminate research or other scholarly activity via professional publication and presentation at the local (including Northwest University), regional, or national level.

2. Ethical and legal standards

1. Be knowledgeable of and act in accordance with each of the following:
 1. The current APA Ethical Principles of Psychologists and Code of Conduct;
 2. Relevant laws, regulations, rules, and policies governing health service psychology at the organizational, local, state, regional, and federal levels; and,
 3. Relevant professional standards and guidelines.
2. Recognize ethical dilemmas as they arise and apply ethical decision-making processes in order to resolve the dilemmas.
3. Conduct self in an ethical manner in all professional activities.

3. Individual and cultural diversity

1. Demonstrate an understanding of how their own personal/cultural history, attitudes, and biases may affect how they understand and interact with people different from themselves.
2. Display knowledge of the current theoretical and empirical knowledge base as it relates to addressing diversity in all professional activities including research, training, supervision/consultation, and service.
3. Show the ability to integrate awareness and knowledge of individual and cultural differences in the conduct of professional roles (e.g., research, services, and other professional activities), including (a) the ability to apply a framework for working effectively with areas of individual and cultural diversity not previously encountered, and (b) the ability to work effectively with individuals whose group membership, demographic characteristics, or worldviews create conflict with their own.
4. Demonstrate the requisite knowledge base, ability to articulate an approach to working effectively with diverse individuals and groups, and apply this approach effectively in their professional work.

4. Professional values and attitudes

1. Behave in ways that reflect the values and attitudes of psychology, including integrity, deportment, professional identity, accountability, lifelong learning, and concern for the welfare of others.
2. Engage in (a) self-reflection regarding one's personal and professional functioning, and (b) activities to maintain and improve performance,

- well-being, and professional effectiveness.
3. Actively seek and demonstrate openness and responsiveness to feedback and supervision.
 4. Respond professionally in increasingly complex situations with a greater degree of independence as they progress across levels of training.
5. Communication and interpersonal skills
1. Develop and maintain effective relationships with a wide range of individuals, including colleagues, communities, organizations, supervisors, supervisees, and those receiving professional services.
 2. Produce and comprehend oral, nonverbal and written communications that are informative and well-integrated, demonstrating a thorough grasp of professional language and concepts.
 3. Demonstrate effective interpersonal skills and the ability to manage difficult communication well.
6. Assessment
1. Demonstrate current knowledge of diagnostic classification systems, functional and dysfunctional behaviors, including consideration of client strengths and psychopathology.
 2. Demonstrate understanding of human behavior within its context (e.g., family, social, societal and cultural).
 3. Demonstrate the ability to apply knowledge of functional and dysfunctional behaviors including context to the assessment and/or diagnostic process.
 4. Select and apply assessment methods that draw from the best available empirical literature and that reflect the science of measurement and psychometrics, collecting relevant data using multiple sources and methods appropriate to the identified goals and questions of the assessment, as well as relevant diversity characteristics of the service recipient.
 5. Interpret assessment results, following current research and professional standards and guidelines, to inform case conceptualization, classification, and recommendations, while guarding

- against decision-making biases, distinguishing the aspects of assessment that are subjective from those that are objective.
6. Communicate orally and in written documents the findings and implications of the assessment in an accurate and effective manner sensitive to a range of audiences.
7. Intervention
1. Establish and maintain effective relationships with recipients of psychological services.
 2. Develop evidence-based intervention plans specific to the service delivery goals.
 3. Implement interventions informed by the current scientific literature, assessment findings, diversity characteristics, and contextual variables.
 4. Demonstrate the ability to apply the relevant research literature to clinical decision making.
 5. Modify and adapt evidence-based approaches effectively when a clear evidence-base is lacking.
 6. Evaluate intervention effectiveness, and adapt intervention goals and methods consistent with ongoing evaluation.
8. Supervision
1. Demonstrate knowledge of supervision models and practices.
 2. Apply this knowledge in simulated practice with psychology trainees or other health trainees or professionals.
9. Consultation and interprofessional/interdisciplinary skills
1. Demonstrate knowledge and respect for the roles and perspectives of other professions.
 2. Demonstrate knowledge of consultation models and practices.

Admission Requirements

- Bachelor of Arts or Science (or an equivalent) degree from a regionally accredited college of university with a 3.0 (out of 4.0) GPA. It is preferred that students have a major in psychology.
- If an applicant does not have previous degree in psychology, he or she must of have completed:

(a) General Psychology, (b) Theories of Personality or Theories of Psychotherapy, (c) Abnormal Psychology or Psychopathology, (d) Developmental or Lifespan Psychology, (e) History and Systems, and (f) Statistics. (In addition, a Research Methods course is preferred.)

- Online application including references.
- Graduate Record Exam (GRE) General Test.
- An interview with program faculty.
- A national background check and Washington State Patrol criminal background check are required upon matriculation.
- For details about the application process, see the Psy.D. program webpage.

State Licensure as a Psychologist

Because licensure requirements differ slightly from state to state, the required course sequence may not fulfill all educational licensure requirements for every state. See the Psy.D. program website for a table that outlines the licensure requirements for each U.S. state and territory and respective alignment of with the Psy.D. program.

Program Curriculum

Overview

The Psy.D. degree is a five-year post-bachelor's program designed to prepare the doctoral student to serve in diverse community settings as a counseling psychologist. The program focuses on theoretical and applied evidence-based scholarly literature and research. Emphasis is placed on international, multicultural, and social justice issues. Students build on their critical thinking skills and their understanding of diversity while acquiring, refining, and demonstrating doctorate-level skills as practitioners, researchers, and academics.

The program is organized as a year-round cohort system, with 119 credits required for graduation. Classroom instruction is the focus of the first three years, along with a requirement for cultural immersion and a practicum. Clinical training is the focus of the last two years. The fourth covers fewer courses, dissertation work and advanced practicum or a pre-internship. The fifth year is a yearlong internship.

To aid in the development of students' professional identities, students are encouraged to gain exposure to professional psychology during the first two years of the program. This may be accomplished by shadowing and interviewing licensed psychologists, conducting research, and volunteering or working part-time within the field.

Research Policy

Consistent with the practitioner-scholar model on which our training is based, the PsyD program attaches a high value to scholarship that contributes to the field of psychology. In particular, we strive to carry out original, empirical research that extends the knowledge base of psychological science. We also pursue testing of innovative therapeutic approaches that address a variety of human needs. Moreover, we value the exploration of how individuals conduct making sense of their world, experiences and culture.

Our scholarship is driven by the pursuit of truth, that is, to expand psychological science as an authority source of knowledge about the world. However, we also recognize additional sources that offer facets of truth from alternate lenses. Brown's (2004) resonance model asserts five domains of authority: experience, traditions, rationality, scripture, and science. These authority sources are viewed as bodies of information that together offer greater resonance of truth, by complementing what is offered through a single source. Understanding of a phenomenon is therefore fine-tuned through information from multiple domains, with more harmonious resonance suggestive of a closer intersection toward truth.

Viewing science through the resonance model aligns well with our Judeo-Christian heritage. Whereas research is a critical endeavor in the pursuit of truth, it does not preclude the importance of sacred authority that the biblical text holds for us. Our reasoning, logic, and ethical decision-making are essential tools for evaluating truth. Furthermore, human traditions and experience are greatly valued as truths for individuals, communities, and cultures.

The PsyD program, faculty, and student researchers are afforded a measure of academic freedom to conduct research that meets the expectations of rigor and ethics of psychological science. Yet as our pursuit of scholarship occurs within an institutional context, Northwest University's mission serves as an important guiding principle that eclipses individual academic freedom (Ostrander, 2018). Our research is designed to contribute to engaging with human need while remaining grounded in the Christian beliefs that define who we are as a university—a body of Christ-followers joined in a learning community to seek truth and yield the next generation of citizens, professionals, and contributors to our society.

Credit Transfer Procedure for New Incoming Psy.D. Students

After receiving notification of acceptance into the Psy.D. program, incoming Psy.D. students may submit a written request to the Director of Psy.D. Student Services to transfer up to 20 credits from an APA-accredited doctoral program. Only courses in which the student earned a B or higher will be considered for transfer.

Transfer credit is not allowed toward practicum or internship requirements. Credits may be transferred into the Psy.D. program at the sole discretion of the Director of the Psy.D. Program and the Director of Psy.D. Student Services. To be eligible for transfer, a course must match the Northwest University Psy.D. course in content and credit number. The process for transferring credits is as follows:

Step 1. The accepted student submits a written request to the Director of Psy.D. Student Services proposing that previous credit(s) earned from another institution be substituted for required course(s).

Step 2. The student must obtain an official transcript and a copy of course(s) descriptions and syllabi obtained from the other school's published catalog and submit all items to the Director of Psy.D. Student Services.

Step 3. The Director of Psy.D. Student Services will cross-check the proposal and submit a completed proposal form to the Director of the Psy.D. Program.

Step 4. The Director of Psy.D. Student Services and the Director of the Psy.D. Program will audit the proposal. A list of accepted credit substitutions will be marked on the proposal form and returned to the Director of Psy.D. Student Services.

Step 5. The Director of Psy.D. Student Services will inform the student of the accepted credit substitutions.

Step 6. The student will accept or deny the accepted proposal, at which time the student will inform the Director of Psy.D. Student Services whether he or she plans to pursue enrollment at NU.

Step 7. If the student agrees to the accepted substitution of credits, then the Director of Psy.D. Student Services submits a Degree Requirement Substitution / Waiver form to the Registrar's office.

APA Proficiency Requirement

Before enrolling into PSYC 7000-level courses, students must show APA writing proficiency by passing an APA assessment test which will be provided to incoming students before they begin the program.

Professional Standards

The student's academic progress, clinical competency, emotional stability, interpersonal skills, maturity, and ethical conduct will be evaluated annually by Psy.D. Program faculty. Faculty reserve the right to request a student to engage in psychotherapeutic counseling (at the student's own expense) and may require counseling as a condition for remediation or readmittance in the program. Students are expected to adhere to:

- American Psychological Association (APA) Ethics Codes: (<http://www.apa.org/ethics>)
- Laws of the Washington State Board of Examiners of Psychologists: (<http://apps.leg.wa.gov/WAC>)

The student's academic and/or professional conduct failings will be considered by a committee of program administrators and faculty of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences. Failure to adhere to the above standards may be cause for dismissal from the program at any time (see Dismissal from the Program).

Probation

Probation serves as a warning that improvement is needed for continuation in the program. Program administrators and faculty will continue to provide guidance and support in helping the student to assume responsibility for his or her academic success and professional growth. Documentation of the student's probationary status and progress monitoring will be placed in his or her file.

A student may be placed on probation for one of the following reasons:

1. The student's academic history prior to entry into the Psy.D. Program reflects a GPA below a 3.000 ("B" level), yet the application review board deemed him or her a worthy candidate for admission into the program.
2. A student fails to maintain a grade of B- or higher in all courses and/or a minimum 3.000 cumulative GPA. In addition, the student must retake the course with less than a B- within a time period determined by the Program Director.
3. A student fails to meet the criteria of professional behavioral standards, including, but not limited to: emotional stability, interpersonal skills, maturity, and professional and ethical conduct.
4. If a student is placed on probation a second time, the student may be dismissed from the program.

A student will be taken off of probation when:

1. A grade of B- or higher in all courses the following semester and a minimum of a 3.000 cumulative GPA are achieved.
2. The student meets the criteria of professional behavioral standards, including, but not limited to: emotional stability, interpersonal skills, maturity, and professional and ethical conduct after a predetermined period of time as assessed by faculty.

Dismissal from the Program

A student may be dismissed from the Psy.D. Program due to any one of the following factors:

- Continual Poor Performance in the classroom or in applied settings. Should the student be unable to achieve a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.000 and/or earn a grade of B- or higher in all courses the semester following being placed on probation, the student may be dismissed from the program. Furthermore, if a student fails to retake the course within a time period determined by the Program Director, he or she may be dismissed from the program.
- In addition, if a student is placed on probation more than once throughout the course of the program, he or she may be dismissed from the program.
- Professional Conduct. Students are expected to comply with the behavioral standards of Northwest University, the ethical code of the American Psychological Association and laws established by Washington State or local government bodies. Should a student fail to meet the criteria of professional behavioral standards (including, but not limited to emotional stability, interpersonal skills, maturity, and professional and ethical conduct), the student may be dismissed from the program.

Students dismissed from the Psy.D. Program by the program leadership may appeal the decision to the Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, and further appeal could be made to the Provost of the university. The reviewing personnel will be provided with all relevant information regarding the student's academic performance and professional and ethical conduct.

MA in Counseling Psychology en Route to Psy.D.

Students have the option of applying for a Master of Arts in Counseling Psychology (MACP), non-licensable degree en route to the Psy.D. degree after completing the second year of the program. Students must submit a completed application to the Psy.D. Program Coordinator at the beginning of the third year. The Coordinator will then present the application to a committee of Psy.D. faculty and staff for review. In order to qualify, the student must have successfully completed all requirements and courses for the first two years of the program.

Process of Submitting/Disseminating Doctoral Dissertation

As a requirement of the Psy.D. Program, each student will complete and disseminate a doctoral dissertation. The dissertation is intended to provide the student with the opportunity to produce a significant piece of scholarly work that represents the culmination of both the student's acquisition of knowledge in the field of psychology as well as his or her professional development and area of specialization. In addition, the student is required to have the dissertation bound and published through an online database as specified by the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences. Lastly, the student must successfully defend and disseminate his or her dissertation.

Psy.D. Candidacy Status

A Psy.D. student achieves candidacy after completing all academic course work (with the exception of internship courses), passing the qualifying exams, and successfully defending his or her dissertation proposal. The term Psy.D. candidate is strictly an academic status and must not be used in association with clinical work.

Program Timeframe

Students are required to complete the Psy.D. Program requirements of 119 semester credit hours of the prescribed coursework, an original dissertation, an organized, sequential and coordinated practicum, pre-internship, and internship within seven years of beginning the program. Extra fees related to additional dissertation credits, practicum, pre-internship and/or internship credits and program continuation fees may be applied within the fourth through seventh year.

- Students are expected to be continuously registered during continuation; however, should a student not register for a semester (or more), when the student chooses to register once again, he or she will be assessed the full tuition he or she should have paid during the previous semesters that he or she was not registered. For example, if a student does not register for Fall or Spring continuation, but does register in Summer semester, the student would be charged tuition for all three semesters, Fall, Spring and Summer during the Summer term.
- Students would need to complete the university re-admittance form to re-enroll after a leave of absence (form processed by CSBS).
- Students are responsible for managing and paying back loans if loans come due while students are not registered.
- If students request to register half-way through a semester, students will not be given permission to register until the following semester thus eliminating the need for the Registrar's Office to manually enroll these students.

Primary Requirements for the Psy.D. Degree:

1. 119 semester hours of prescribed coursework.
2. At their own expense, Psy.D. students are required to participate in 10 hours of individual psychotherapy with a licensed psychologist within the first year of the doctoral program. Written verification of completion from the student's psychotherapist must be provided to the program (see current Psy.D. Student Handbook for specific requirements).
3. Doctoral Student Progress Assessment – Obtain minimal levels of achievement on all program competencies. Assessment includes annual reviews at the end of Years One, Two, and Three.
4. Cultural Immersion Experience, as part of PSYC 7662 International Field Study – during Year One.
5. Qualifying Examination – Year Three.
6. Doctoral Dissertation – Year Four (and further, if needed). The dissertation is comprised of faculty-guided, original quantitative or qualitative research. The process will include: a dissertation proposal, proposal defense, and dissertation defense to the respective dissertation committee. Dissemination of the dissertation is also required (e.g., publication, speaking engagement, formal report to a clinic or other agency).
7. An approved Doctoral Practicum that meets Washington State and program requirements.
8. An approved Pre-Internship or an Advanced Practicum that meets Washington State and program requirements.
9. An approved Internship that meets Washington State and program requirements.
10. In order to graduate and participate in the Northwest University Spring Commencement Ceremony, the student must complete all requirements as noted in the Psy.D. Student Handbook. The student will receive the diploma at the next regularly scheduled graduation period. (May, August, and December)

School of Global Studies

International Community Development, MA

College	Social and Behavioral Science
Academic Award	Master of Arts
Credits Required	36 semester credits
Faculty Lead	Forrest Inslee
CIP Code	30.2001

The International Community Development Master's degree is designed to prepare men and women for context-sensitive, strategic leadership for advocacy and social change, both in the US and overseas. The degree highlights core issues of global-cultural awareness and social justice and places special emphasis on the needs of the poor, the marginalized, and the oppressed. Students will be equipped to identify, analyze, and understand cultural differences in contexts of need, and to develop holistic responses that are sensitive to the particular constraints and opportunities presented in those settings. Students will, in the course of study, explore career options in relief and development contexts, including leadership, sustainable funding, and social entrepreneurship, as well as project design and program evaluation.

Program Outcomes

Upon completion of the MAICD program, graduates will be able to:

1. Assess the particularities of culture contexts as they are relevant to the design and implementation of community development interventions;
2. Engage qualitative research methods to identify a community's core challenges and inherent resources;
3. Collaborate with community stakeholders and external agencies to create contextualized responses to social challenges;
4. Define a personal theological/philosophical framework for a vocation of service;
5. Develop lifelong, habitual practices of authentic self-assessment and personal transformation;
6. Strategize for effective program implementation and management;
7. Analyze relief and development outcomes to assess program impact.

Program Delivery Models and Curriculum

Applicants to the MA in International Community Development choose between on-campus and online global hybrid program delivery models. The online global hybrid MAICD begins with a week in Oxford, England, and ends with another international trip for integrative project presentations. The on-campus MAICD typically meets one evening per week. While every semester of the on-campus program features on-campus courses, certain courses are only offered online. Both versions of the MAICD are identical in terms of their programmatic requirements, learning outcomes, and course sequence. Students take 36 credits over a period of 20-24 months. Two-credit classes typically last 15 weeks, whereas three-credit classes may be either consecutive (lasting for eight weeks each) or Concurrent (lasting a total of 16 weeks). Theoretical grounding, the development of practical skills, and experiential learning are critical values for the program. Fieldwork is designed by each student with input from ICD faculty members and consists of 80 hours of service which will provide a relevant context for research. Students are expected to complete their fieldwork by the end of summer semester. Prior to graduation, students complete an integrative project which they present at the end of the program.

Transfer Credits

College of Social and Behavioral Sciences Master's students may transfer up to 6 credit hours of eligible graduate level coursework (subject to Program Director's approval) from an accredited institution towards their degree requirements. This must done prior to beginning the program and students interested in transferring graduate credits should contact the MA Director of Student Services.

Courses may be taught in a different semester sequence.

Outcomes-Oriented Program Management

College	Social and Behavioral Sciences
Academic Award	Certificate
Credits Required	6 semester credits
Faculty Lead	Forrest Inslee
CIP Code	30.2001

This short-term certificate is designed for those with a bachelor's degree who want to acquire some core skill sets for managing programs. The Outcomes-Oriented Program Management Certificate may be taken as part of the MA in International Community Development degree program or separately.

Certificate Outcomes:

Completion of the Graduate Certificate in Outcomes-Oriented Program Management requires the student to demonstrate competencies in:

- Designing and managing projects and programs;
- Evaluating programs;
- Writing grants for non-profit organizations;
- Articulating the needs and funding strategies of projects, programs, and organizations.

Outcomes-Oriented Project Management Certificate: 6

- GLST 5932 - Project Management for Development 2 credits
- GLST 5942 - Funding and Grant Writing 2 credits
- GLST 5952 - Program Evaluation 2 credits

Five-Year Bachelor's and Master's Program

College Business, Education, Ministry, Social & Behavioral Sciences
Academic Awards Master of Arts, Masters in Science, Master of Business Administration, Master of Education, Master in Teaching, Master in Ministry, Bachelor of Arts

The five-year approach to completing Bachelor's and Master's degrees are accelerated programs that allow a student to begin taking graduate courses during their junior and senior years, applying those credits to both their undergraduate major and the graduate degree. The student is then able to complete the remainder of the graduate program in the following 12 to 18 months, thus eliminating approximately one year of college tuition.

Students will have the opportunity to complete up to 18 graduate level credits as part of this program. Depending on individual graduate program requirements, students may be limited to completion of 12 graduate credits as an undergraduate. In addition, students will be limited to 6 graduate credits each semester.

In order to be prepared for graduate level work, students will need to have previously demonstrated a high level of academic capacity. Due to differences in delivery models, students will need to work closely with their undergraduate academic advisor and the graduate program to select courses and ensure degree requirements are satisfied.

Program Offerings

The following graduate programs will be available for students to choose from:

College of Business: Master of Business Administration

College of Education: Master of Education or Master in Teaching (with approved endorsement-related bachelor's degrees: Biology, English, Environmental Science, History, Interdisciplinary Studies, Math, Music, Music Ministry, Pastoral Ministry, Psychology)

College of Ministry: Master of Arts in Bible and Theology, Master of Arts in Ministry Leadership, or Master in Ministry

College of Social and Behavioral Sciences: Master of Arts in International Community Development, Master of Science in Data Analysis and Research Psychology

Notes:

- A minimum of 12 elective credits within an undergraduate degree is typically necessary for completing bachelor's and master's degrees within five years.
- Undergraduate students are limited to one online course each semester.
- Students transferring credit will require individual evaluation based on credits completed and degrees pursued.

Requirements

The requirements and expectations for students include (please also see specific program application):

- Apply to the program at the end of sophomore year or beginning of junior year with a cumulative GPA of at least 3.3 or above. Application includes an essay describing interest in program.
- Applicants will be required to meet the eligibility requirements for the graduate program.

- Generally, students will take 3-6 graduate level credits and 6-9 undergraduate credits each semester (second semester junior, fall and spring senior years). The junior and senior year credits are charged at the undergraduate tuition rate. All remaining undergraduate credits must be completed at Northwest.
- No more than 18 graduate level credits may be taken while still an undergraduate.
- No more than 6 graduate level credits may be taken during one semester.
- Once students complete all undergraduate courses, they will be charged at the graduate tuition rate for their program.
- Maintain 3.3 GPA during junior and senior year.
- Students take all required courses for graduate program.
- This program is not available to students enrolled in CAPS programs.
- Students will need to replace undergraduate requirements or elective credits with graduate course work. Students can substitute courses for their undergraduate major by taking equivalent graduate level courses listed in the following equivalency tables below.
- Transfer students must complete one semester at NU before applying to this program.

Overview of Degree Requirements

Course Descriptions Information

Special Courses

Independent Study Courses - Identified with an "IS" and a code of x80x – x83x (if not a catalogued course). An IS course is specifically formatted to be delivered by a professor according to the individual student's needs and learning style outside of a regular classroom setting. The IS course topic, requirements, and expectations are communicated through a course syllabus/contract between the student and instructor that specifies the nature and extent of interaction between the student and instructor and the expectations for satisfactory course completion. This syllabus along with the Request for Independent Study form must be submitted to the dean responsible for the department in which the course is offered. Based on the nature of the course and the student, the instructor of an IS course may require a number of face-to-face meetings. (A special Independent Study Fee is charged for Independent Study courses.)

Special Topic Courses - Identified with a "TOP" (unless the title includes the type of course) and a code of x84x – x88x. TOP courses are periodically included in the semester schedule to enrich the curriculum and are not listed specifically in the catalog. A professor instructs a semester-length structured class regarding a specific topic. These may be repeated for credit on different subjects.

Travel Courses - Identified with a "TVL" (unless the title includes the type of course) and a code of x89x – x91x. Travel courses are faculty-led experiences that combine classroom-based preparatory teaching with on-site instruction in selected locals. Travel courses are periodically included in the semester schedule and are not listed specifically in the catalog. Special fees to cover course expenses may be charged.

Internship and Practicum Courses - Identified with an "INT" (unless the title includes the type of course) and a code of x9xx – x9xx. These allow the student a length of time at a specific location(s) where he/she makes application of the broad-range of theoretical learning while under the direct supervision of a professional in the discipline. (A special Internship or Practicum Fee may be required.)

Field Experience Courses - Identified with a "FLD" (unless the title includes the type of course) and a code of x97x. Students do short-term, on-site observations and evaluations in a discipline. Field experience courses may be repeated for credit. (A special Field Experience Fee may be required.)

Certified Prior Learning Courses - Credits awarded for learning obtained via sources that have been previously identified are identified with a "CPL" on the transcript.

Portfolio Courses - Credits awarded for learning verified through faculty assessment of students' portfolios are identified with a "PRT" on the transcript. (A special Portfolio Assessment Fee is required.)

Graduate Student Instructor - A graduate student contracted to teach one or more courses and who is responsible for reporting grades in his/her own name. An individual engaged in this capacity must be enrolled in an academic program of the university.

Graduate Assistant - A graduate student of the university contracted on a part-time, temporary basis for the performance of academic services including research or general assistance with academic programs. An individual engaged in this capacity must be enrolled in an academic program of the university.

Graduate Teaching Assistant - A graduate student contracted on a part-time, temporary basis to carry out instructional activities or lab supervision. The primary responsibility of this position is to assist faculty members in performing instructional tasks. An individual engaged in this capacity must be enrolled in an academic program of the university.

Topics covered include consensus building, conflict management, results-oriented leadership, program design, and assessment.

EDMA 7443 - Teaching, Learning, and Assessment in Higher Education

3 credits This course explores the practice and literature of teaching and learning along with the role of assessment at the individual, course, program, and university levels. Emphasis will be placed on curriculum design, student learning and program outcomes, teaching methodologies, evaluation, assessment strategies, and reporting results.

EDMA 7463 - Resource Management For School Improvement

3 credits This course prepares administrators to strategically plan, manage and evaluate core programs and systems for the safe and efficient operation of schools. Course content includes the processes by which financial decisions are made at the school level. Students will acquire techniques of constructing, managing and analyzing a school budget, while simultaneously addressing issues of educational efficiency, equity and results within the school community. Operational domains examined include information systems, management systems, curriculum, instruction, student behavior and school security systems.

EDMA 7513 - Student Development Theory and Research

3 credits This course will introduce students to the development of student development theory, with a focus on related research. Students will examine foundational theory and emerging trends, and practice applying principles to practice.

EDMA 7533 - Leading Change and Innovation in Higher Education

3 credits This course addresses leadership, organizational development, and change theories and their relation to higher education environments. Students will evaluate organizational needs, identify challenges, and develop proposed solutions for current challenges experienced within the higher education environment. Additionally, students will explore the rapidly changing nature of higher education along with emerging innovative models and structures.

EDMA 7553 - Adult Learning Theory

3 credits This course will introduce students to adult learning and development theory, including supporting research. Students will examine foundational theory and emerging trends, and practice applying principles to practice.

EDUC 3901 - Content Assessment Seminar

1 credit This seminar is a practical guide to prepare students to take the WEST-E/NES content assessment required for Washington State teacher certification. During this course, students will study the assessment structure, will set goals, and gain general and content-specific test-taking strategies.

PEDU 5423 - Health and Fitness Methods

3 credits Students select one methods course specific to subject area and certificate endorsement. Emphasizes curriculum design, instructional planning, technology, and resources. Focuses on special needs, cultural diversity, and Washington State learning goals, EARLs and GLEs. Application in assigned classroom setting.

SPED 5043 - Introduction to Special Education

3 credits The course explores the philosophical, historical, and legal foundations of special education. Furthermore, candidates will analyze the roles of inclusion and collaboration when working with students with exceptionalities.

SPED 5163 - Collaboration and IEP Teams

3 credits This course instills the collaboration skills need for working with general education teachers, specialists, paraprofessionals, families, and community members to promote the students receiving special education support services.

SPED 5433 - Teaching Students with Mild to Severe Disabilities

SPED 5443 - Teaching Students with Autism Spectrum Disorder

3 credits This course examines methods for effective instruction to students with Autism Spectrum Disorders.

SPED 5453 - Teaching Students with Behavioral Disabilities

3 credits This course provides methods for effective instruction to students with behavioral disabilities.

SPED 5533 - Classroom Assessment

3 credits This course helps candidates to plan for and incorporate classroom assessment, both formative and summative when teaching students receiving special education support services.

ENGL 5423 - English/Language Arts Methods

GLST 590X - Research Laboratory

[Offered for variable credit] An application course which provides students with hands-on experience in research methods. Emphasis is placed, depending on the semester, on different aspects of the research process including study design, methodology, literature review, data collection, data coding and analysis and writing. Students meet regularly with the instructor and spend most of their time participating in the various elements of the research process. (Grade Pass/No Credit) Prerequisite: Instructors permission.

GLST 5153 - Research for Social Change

3 credits This course assumes that community development practitioners must first learn from and about context before imposing predetermined programs and processes. To that end, students learn practical inquiry skills grounded in principles of humility, curiosity, and respect for local wisdom and resources. The course focuses primarily on the design and implementation of multiple forms of qualitative or mixed method (qualitative and quantitative) studies. Students will create a proposal for their own future fieldwork and thesis research.

GLST 5313 - Community and Economic Development

3 credits This course explores the broad practice of community development, the economic and political systems in which that development takes place, and the various ways the field is defined and expressed in both global and local contexts. Students will examine both the dominant and competing paradigms to development and poverty alleviation, the shift in these paradigms over time, and recurrent themes of social change. The course also explores theological and philosophical underpinnings of social change, the practices of transformational leadership in contexts of development, and the value of collaborative, mutually-empowering approaches to working with individuals and communities.

GLST 5503 - Culture Studies in A Globalized Context

3 credits This course will consider issues of both local and global culture as they impact the contexts of relief, advocacy, and community development. Students learn to respect and work with the diversity of cultures and worldviews in an increasingly globalized world.

GLST 5923 - Fieldwork

3 credits In this course, students complete their individualized fieldwork requirements, engaging primarily in an online format with the cohort community from diverse sites around the world. This typically includes specialized research and service with one or more organizations germane to the student's interests. The goals of the course include preparation for the upcoming thesis, exploration of vocational possibilities, and formation of leadership skills relevant to development work.

GLST 5932 - Project Management for Development

2 credits This course provides an introduction to the paradigm of Project Management, with a specific focus on the community development environment. Students learn by designing projects for actual organizations, and acquire skills for the initiation, planning, and presentation of project designs. In this course students earn a Certificate in Project Management for Development Professionals (PMD Pro).

GLST 5942 - Funding and Grant Writing

2 credits This course equips students with strategies for sustainable resource development for nonprofits and social businesses. Students explore spiritual foundations and practical strategies for resource development, and apply their skills to the needs of actual organizations.

GLST 5952 - Program Evaluation

2 credits In this course, students acquire foundational concepts of outcomes-based evaluation, and practice core skills to design and conduct program evaluations. This hands-on course challenges students to evaluate real programs in their local contexts, thus making them more impactful and efficient in achieving social transformation.

GLST 5963 - Integrative Project I

3 credits In this course students process lessons learned from the fieldwork research experience and draw conclusions from their field data as they begin their integrative project work. The course focuses on building a foundation for the project through self-directed literature research, as well as the holistic application and integration of ICD program content. In this course, students process lessons learned from fieldwork, and integrate that data as they begin their thesis work. Students may choose either a full academic thesis option, or a practical project option. The course focuses on building a foundation for the thesis through self-directed literature research and the holistic review and integration of ICD program content.

GLST 5973 - Integrative Project II

3 credits This course supports the student in completing the integrative project. It also provides opportunities for the comprehensive review of ICD principles and practices, and for the affirmation of individual vocational strengths and goals. At the end of the course, students present and defend their integrative project work before an audience of peers, professors, and practitioners.

GLST 6343 - Social Entrepreneurship and Design Thinking

3 credits In this course students consider and engage in collaborative, innovative approaches to addressing social need. This course assumes that anyone interested in challenging the status quo practices of development must learn to think like an entrepreneur, and must learn to cultivate collaborative creativity in the communities where they work.

GLST 6383 - Peacemaking and Reconciliation

3 credits This course assumes that peace-making is often a core aspect of community development, and will focus on strategies for bringing conflicting parties into agreement through nonviolent means. Students engage some of the underlying causes of hostility—such as racism, sexism, oppression, economic disparity, ethnic animosity, and ethnocentrism—and consider both faith-based and secular approaches to fostering individual healing, reconciliation, and social justice. Students are encouraged to explore their own personal, spiritual, and theological/philosophical foundations for service and social justice work.

GLST 6423 - Social and Environmental Justice in Development

3 credits This course considers issues of justice between people, and between people and the rest of creation. Students explore the politics of transformation, and grapple with core areas of injustice such as sexual slavery, economic inequality, globalization, political oppression, war and peace issues, indigenous rights, and gender inequality. The course also considers the historical roots of environmental problems, some contemporary approaches to ecological challenges, and the ways in which environmental justice values must influence the practices of community development. These issues are positioned in the larger context of global systems—economic, cultural, and geopolitical—and students are challenged to examine the ethical and spiritual foundations of their own roles as responsible global citizens.

GLST 6573 - Children, Poverty, And Development

3 credits Prevention and advocacy for children at risk and the creation of healthy environments and communities for children are the two main foci of this course. Students will explore a child-focused perspective on poverty and development, including a consideration of the cultural, social, political and spiritual determinants that impact children, and transformative, community-based approaches to improving child well-being.

GLST 6593 - Disaster Relief, Development, and Resilience

3 credits This course provides the critical concepts, principles, and tools for holistic humanitarian assistance, and explores the relationship between disaster relief and long-term community development.

Special attention is paid to capacity development, disaster risk reduction (including climate change adaptation), and resilience (including the role of religious faith as an element of psycho-social resilience). In this course students may choose to earn the Certificate in Humanitarian Action under the Professionals in Humanitarian Assistance and Protection (PHAP) Credentialing Program.

HIST 5423 - Secondary Social Studies Methods

INCS 7163 - Current Issues in Missiology

3 credits In this course, students will explore the major issues involved in the theory and practice of contemporary Missiology. The goal of the course is to sensitize students to inter-cultural perspectives, positive leadership responses to diversity, and prepare them for advanced research and theory generation on this topic.

LANG 5013 - Survey of Linguistics

3 credits Surveys the study of linguistics followed by in depth treatment of phonology, phonetics, morphology, and syntax. Students will interpret linguistic data in each area.

LANG 5033 - SLA Theory

3 credits Introduces core theories of how second and foreign languages are learned after a first language has already been acquired. Students will focus on cognitive theories and the historical framework of the field.

LANG 5133 - Sociolinguistics

3 credits Investigates the relationship between language and culture. Students will examine how societal factors impact linguistic choices.

LANG 5233 - SLA Research Methods

3 credits Introduces action research methodology as applied in English language education. Students will review basic statistical analysis. Introduces American Psychological Association (APA) format for professional writing.

LANG 5323 - Methods of TESOL

3 credits Examines approaches and methods for teaching English language. Students will focus on producing unit plans for specific demographics, and on developing appropriate activities for various skill areas.

LANG 5373 - Literacy

3 credits Explores the developmental stages in the process of reading and writing, as well as teaching literacy pedagogy.

LANG 5423 - English As A Second Language Methods

LANG 5443 - Syntax and Grammar Pedagogy

3 credits Explores the theoretical treatment of syntax to understand modern theories of grammar, followed by pedagogical applications of the theory for teaching grammar in an ESL/EFL context.

LANG 5603 - Assessment

3 credits Practices constructing and administering tests in ESOL classes. Evaluation tools for assessing second language proficiency are studied.

LANG 6263 - Language, Culture, And Power

3 credits Examines critical connections between language and culture through the exploration of communities of practice, identity, heteroglossia, and power.

LANG 6413 - Hebrew I

3 credits A beginning study of biblical Hebrew that enables participants to read simple narrative passages and some poetry. Through a variety of learning activities participants learn to speak Hebrew as they progress together from simple vocabulary through fundamental grammatical forms and sentence structure to the point of reading several chapters of the Bible. Appeals to visual, aural, and kinesthetic learners who desire to read and translate Hebrew as well as to use their skills to better interpret the Bible and make use of commentaries and other tools of biblical study.

LANG 6423 - Hebrew II

3 credits Building on LANG 6413, Hebrew 2 develops further proficiency with the forms and uses of the Hebrew verbal system. Through continued use of spoken Hebrew, participants read many chapters of Hebrew narrative and a few psalms as they gain experience not only in translating Hebrew but also in understanding Hebrew style and idiomatic expressions. The pedagogical approach focuses on the functions of language in context, gradually building vocabulary and familiarity with the verbal system through repeated yet creative exposure to large passages of biblical text.

LANG 6513 - Greek I

3 credits An introduction to the basic grammar, syntax and vocabulary of New Testament Greek combining both deductive and inductive approaches and emphasizing reading in the Greek New Testament.

LANG 6523 - Greek II

3 credits A continuation of Greek I that introduces basic grammar, syntax and vocabulary of New Testament Greek combining both deductive and inductive approaches and emphasizing reading in the Greek New Testament. Note: Greek I and Greek II must be taken sequentially.

LANG 6943 - Internship

3 credits This course melds theory with practice through onsite teaching, teaching observation, and applied research at a site selected in consultation with a program advisor. The research done in the internship directly supports the development of the thesis, an action research article suitable for conference presentation.

LANG 6963 - Research Thesis

3 credits Develops a research article for publication based on international internship teaching and researching.

LANG 6973 - Research Thesis Continuation

3 credits Continuation of research article for publication based on international internship teaching and researching.

LDRS 5173 - Leadership Theory

3 credits This course provides an overview of prominent leadership theories along with their respective implications and applications. Students will evaluate current leadership skills and develop a comprehensive philosophy of leadership and growth plan.

LDRS 5283 - Group Dynamics and Personnel Development

3 credits A study of various models and methods to foster healthy work environments, develop collaborative team capabilities, and promote professional development. 3 credits The annual conference of the International Leadership Association (or its equivalent) is the vehicle for this field-based course. Ph.D. students are required to attend the conference under the supervision of a professor of record to process the content of the conference, to present their own research, and to be integrated into the community of practitioners who make up the discipline of Organizational Leadership.

LDRS 7453 - Critical Inquiry

3 credits In this course, students will develop the foundational skills that are necessary for conceptualizing and conduct research. Topics of the course will include epistemology and the impact of individual worldviews on critical inquiry. Additionally, the course provides an introduction to research design, including quantitative and qualitative methods, developing research questions, and evaluating ethical considerations

LDRS 7473 - Quantitative Research and Statistics

3 credits This course introduces the critical elements of quantitative research methods. Students will explore the topics of statistics, research design, and types of statistical analyses. The course will focus on the practice of statistics and applied research methods. Prerequisite: LDRS 7453 Critical Inquiry.

LDRS 7483 - Qualitative Research

3 credits In this course students will be introduced to qualitative research. The focus will be on gaining understanding related to theories, issues, and problems in qualitative research. Additionally, students will develop critical skills of qualitative research, including conducting interviews, data analysis, and writing results. Prerequisite: LDRS 7453 Critical Inquiry.

LDRS 7573 - Advanced Quantitative Research Methods

3 credits This course focuses on the theory and practice of advanced quantitative research with an emphasis on the application of advanced quantitative data analysis methods. Prerequisite: LDRS 7473 Quantitative Research and Statistics.

LDRS 7583 - Advanced Qualitative Research Methods

3 credits This course focuses on theory and practice of advanced qualitative research with an emphasis on the application of advanced qualitative data analysis methods. Students will develop skills of sampling, conducting interviews, managing data, data analysis, and presentation of findings. Prerequisite: LDRS 7473 Qualitative Research and Statistics.

LDRS 7773 - Faith, Ethics and Leadership

LDRS 8021 - Dissertation Completion

1 credit Continuing enrollment in the Dissertation phase of the program beyond LDRS 8963 Dissertation Writing. (Grade Pass/No Credit)

LDRS 8731 - Research Seminars

1 credit This course provides the opportunity for conducting research with an approved faculty manner. (Grade Pass/No Credit)

LDRS 8732 - Research Seminars

2 credits This course provides the opportunity for conducting research with an approved faculty manner.

LDRS 8733 - Research Seminars

3 credits This course provides the opportunity for conducting research with an approved faculty manner.

LDRS 8741 - Research Seminars

1 credit This course provides the opportunity for conducting research with an approved faculty manner.

LDRS 8742 - Research Seminars

2 credits This course provides the opportunity for conducting research with an approved faculty manner.

LDRS 8743 - Research Seminars

LDRS 8903 - Guided Reading

3 credits In this course, students will focus on an approved literature topic that is related to dissertation research. Students will develop a significant portion of the literature review as part of the course. The topic(s) selected must be approved by the faculty advisor.

LDRS 8923 - Dissertation Proposal

3 credits Students will develop a research plan and design for their dissertation. Completion of this course will result in a finalized dissertation proposal. Students must have successfully completed comprehensive exams prior to enrolling

LDRS 8943 - Dissertation Research

3 credits Students will conduct dissertation research.

LDRS 8963 - Dissertation Writing

3 credits Students will write the presentation of research findings.

MATH 5423 - Secondary Mathematics Methods

NURS 5043 - Leadership: Introduction to Advanced Nursing Roles

3 credits Introduces the diverse roles of the advanced nurse as a leader and member of interprofessional healthcare teams. Provides an overview of leadership concepts, theories, and processes in healthcare organizations. Utilizes self-reflection to select an advanced nursing role, population or community focus, and scholarly project direction.

NURS 5063 - Advanced Pathophysiology and Health Assessment

3 credits Builds on concepts from nursing science and professional practice in a systematic approach to health assessment of clients across the lifespan with common pathophysiological conditions. Explores theoretical and clinical principles of common diseases and health disparities resulting from genetic, environmental, and stress related causes. Prepares advanced nurses to perform a systematic physical assessment considering a client's diverse needs. Analyzes health assessment methods to identify best practices for developing a population-focused approach to health promotion and disease prevention.

NURS 5083 - Advanced Pharmacology

3 credits Builds on concepts from biological and nursing sciences to develop advanced knowledge and skills in the therapeutic use of pharmacologic agents, herbals, and supplements in common disorders across the lifespans. Utilizes a case-based approach to study major categories of pharmacologic agents. Integrates policy and research that impacts the use of pharmacologic agents across the lifespan.

NURS 5133 - Scholarly Project I

3 credits Builds on the scholarly project design and personalized plan for master's level nursing education completed in NURS 5143 Leadership: Introduction to Advanced Nursing Roles. Provides an overview of research designs, human subjects and institutional review board policies and procedures.

NURS 5213 - Leadership: Ethical, Spiritual, and Cultural Considerations

3 credits Analyzes ethical, spiritual, and cultural dimensions of health care leadership from historical, technological, theoretical, entrepreneurial, and nursing perspectives. Compares ethical, spiritual, and cultural values that impact health disparities, health care systems, and leadership styles. Establishes the groundwork for the development of creative designs and new patterns of leadership with diverse populations in a global community.

NURS 5223 - Leadership: Health Policy Development and Implementation

3 credits Examines historical and contemporary methods of successful health care policy implementation. Explores current challenges of nursing leadership and management in health policy. Considers the parameters and constraints of current health care policies and focuses on nursing perspectives that advocate for improved health care outcomes.

NURS 5293 - Curriculum Design, Implementation, and Evaluation in Nursing

3 credits Focuses on building the constructs and structure of a nursing curriculum that promotes situated learning for professional nursing practice. Covers educational philosophies and learning theories utilized in nursing education. Discusses nursing curriculum design based on content set by professional regulatory bodies and within the context of an organizational mission and philosophy of a parent institution. Examines program outcomes, cost feasibility, and curriculum evaluation methods in curricular design.

NURS 5333 - Scholarly Project II

3 credits Builds on the scholarly project design in NURS 5243 Scholarly Project I. Provides guidance on the application of ethical research, data collection, and data analysis methods.

NURS 5383 - Entrepreneurship: Nursing in Health Care Future

3 credits Introduces processes of generating new ideas and ways to address challenges in healthcare through independent nursing practice as a business model. Provides a beginning infrastructure on which to build, test, and complete a new health care venture. Includes components of legal, regulatory, financial, and ethical considerations of entrepreneurship.

NURS 5403 - Healthcare Organizations and Outcomes

3 credits Presents major types of healthcare organizations and their role in health care delivery. Explores current leadership and management challenges in the health care industry. Analyzes organizational behavior and interdisciplinary health care delivery from historical, cultural, ethical, technological, economical, theoretical, entrepreneurial, and nursing perspectives. Compares approaches to information sharing, resource allocation, collaboration, planning, and leadership.

NURS 5423 - Advanced Concentration: Integrating Specialty Focus in Field Work

3 credits Expands on theories of nursing interventions to affect improvement of health care outcomes by actively engaging the learner with their selected focus population and systems. Allows for leadership, policy, and research activities in collaborative partnerships and interprofessional care teams during field work. Provides synthesis of learning and achievement of competent master's level nursing practice.

NURS 5913 - Scholarly Project Dissemination

3 credits Provides a framework for a dissemination plan and formal defense for completed scholarly project or thesis. Reflects on the impact of the program, curriculum, and scholarly project upon personal life-long learning goals.

NURS 5991 - Scholarly Project Continuation

1 credit Continuing enrollment in Scholarly Project past NURS 5913 Scholarly Project. Special Fee involved. (Grade Pass/No Credit)

THEO 5163 - Jesus and Discipleship

3 credits This course examines the person, teaching, and work of Jesus in light of the entire biblical story. It explains the nature and practice of Christian discipleship in the context of the New Covenant, which brings the divine grace, promises, and demands of previous covenants to their fullest expression. It considers the substance and scope of the "Good News" which lies at the heart of New Testament proclamation about Jesus. In these ways, the course offers an expansive view of Jesus as the central and defining figure of Christian faith, life, ministry, and mission. (Same as BIBL 5163)

THEO 5173 - Fasting, Prayer, and Spiritual Warfare

3 credits A course in the spiritual disciplines of prayer and fasting in view of a theology of spiritual warfare. Taught from a Pentecostal perspective, this course in the theory and praxis of prayer and fasting will primarily explore the scriptural basis for fasting and prayer as means to express a militant spirituality and resolve spiritual conflict. Different Christian traditions over the history of the church will be addressed with an emphasis on important theologian practitioners, finally moving towards a synthesis with a goal of putting a biblical theology of spiritual warfare into practice. (Same as BIBL 5173)

THEO 5213 - Christian Theology: An Introduction

3 credits A foundational overview of basic systematic theology as articulated in the evangelical expression of the Church with which the Assemblies of God in broad perspective identifies itself. This course will also give specific attention to the theological formation of classical Pentecostal doctrine as articulated by the Statement of Fundamental Truths of the Assemblies of God.

THEO 5223 - Systematic Theology

3 credits This course provides a holistic picture of the major topics in systematic theology from a broadly orthodox approach rooted in the Pentecostal-Charismatic tradition. As such it sets a strong foundation for ministry and future theological studies. Topics include the following: the tasks and methods of theology, the attributes and nature of the triune God, the nature and condition of humanity and creation, the person and work of Jesus Christ, the person and work of the Holy Spirit, the nature and tasks of the Church, and the doctrine of last things.

THEO 5243 - Systematic Theology I: First and Last Things

3 credits Grounded in the biblical witness, this course focuses on the doctrines of God, Creation, the Kingdom of God, and the eschatological hope.

THEO 5253 - Systematic Theology II: Life in Christ, Life in the Spirit

3 credits Grounded in the biblical witness, this course focuses on the person and redemptive work of Christ, the person, witness and empowerment of the Spirit, and the identity and purposes of the Church.

THEO 5533 - A Theology of Vocation

3 credits Participants examine biblical teaching and theological reflection on the concept of vocation. Developments in the understanding of the nature and purpose of work and perspectives on the role of human participation in the divine activity of creation and redemption are reviewed and assessed. Students construct a suitable theological framework from which to evaluate their own calling and explore ways in which faith communities can better assist members to discover and cultivate working lives that are worthwhile and meaningful.

THEO 6423 - Historical Theology

3 credits This course invites the student to consider the development of orthodox Christian theology and reflect on its significance for current expressions of Pentecostal-charismatic communities in a global context. There exists an ongoing need to provide a rationale for the historic creeds and confessions of the Christian church. The aim is to provide the student the skills necessary for critical, loyal engagement with their own confessional tradition. (Same as CHIS 6423)

THEO 6990 - Thesis Continuation

0 credits Students who need additional time to finish their thesis after completing the THEO 6943 Thesis course, must register for this course each term through completion. No student can enroll in this course for more than three years (six terms) without the approval of the Dean of the College of Ministry. A Continuation Fee applies to this course.

THEO 7563 - A Theology of Christian Organizations

3 credits This course introduces students to biblical and theological themes that contribute to a foundational theology for Christian leadership. An emphasis will be placed on applying biblical and theological views to leadership theories and current challenges. Students will develop a theological perspective for the practice of leadership in the organizational context.
