

Dear Friends,

Happy Friday!! It is hard to believe that we are already over halfway through the month of February! I'm amazed at how quickly this year is going by but very thankful for each moment of it so far. Today as we talked about peace in Chapel, I pray that you experience it in the midst of academic, relational, or emotional craziness. Peace is available to each of you and I hope that peace carries you through the rest of this semester.
