young people out to their house for a couple of weeks and teach them about the Bible."

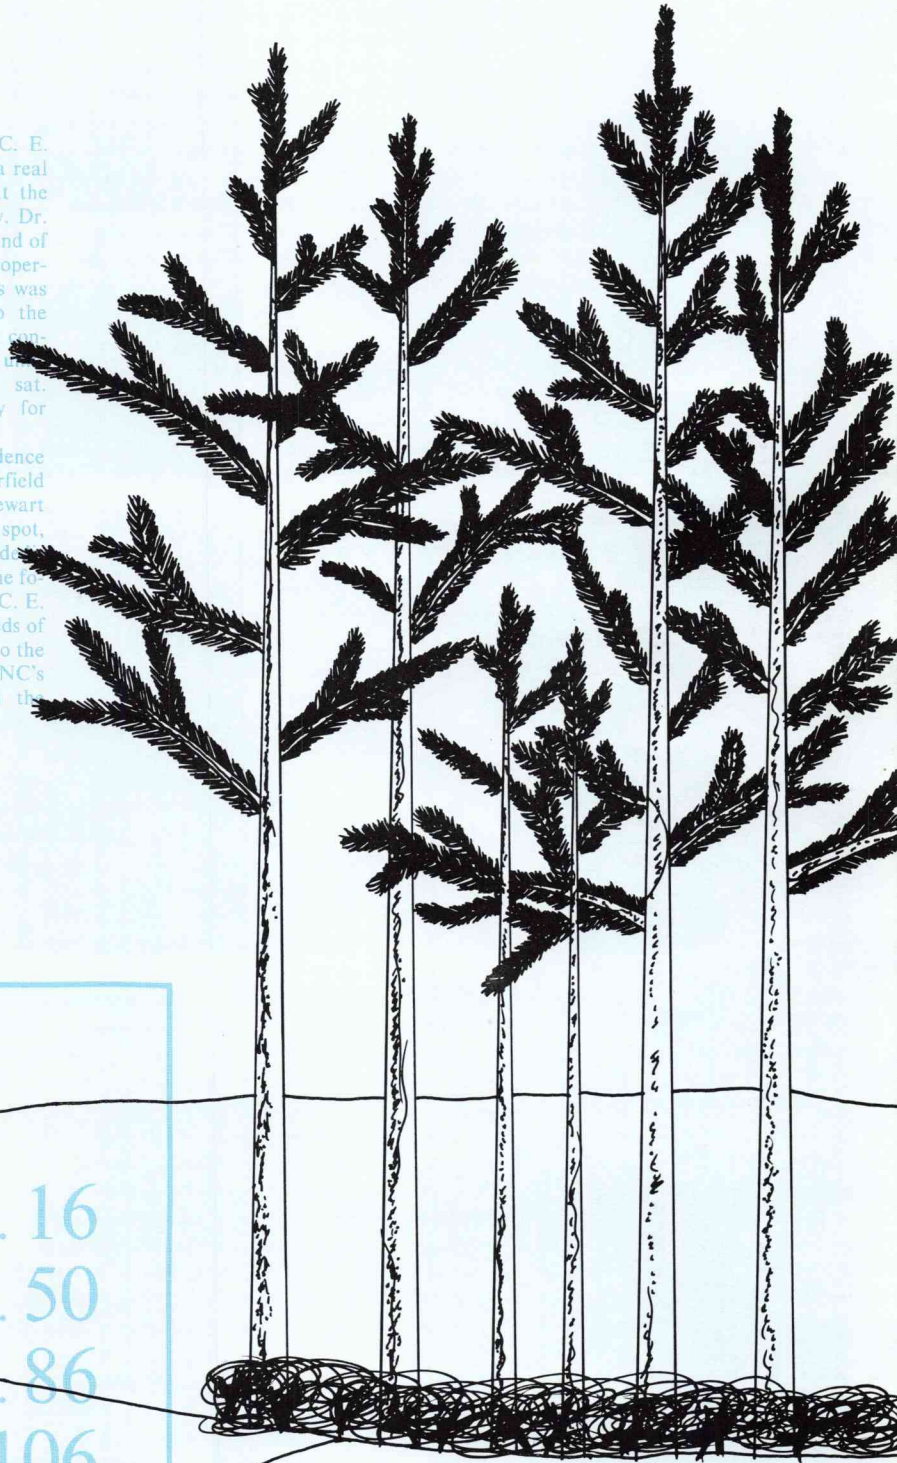

It was the desire and prayer of the Stewart sisters that someday the government would put streets and sewers in that area and that many more young people would find their way to their house to learn about the Word of God. Their ambitions for their home went beyond the ordinary. They had a yearning that someday it would have something to do with training young people in the ways of God. "Indoctrination" was the term that Mr. Jackman used. This was in 1934. During the same year, across Lake Washington, in Seattle, Northwest Bible Institute was founded.

Seven years later in 1941, the U. S. Government purchased the property around and including the Stewart house to build housing for the people working in the shipyards. They put in streets and utilities, and unknowingly prepared it for the answer to the Stewart art sister's prayer.

In the late 1950's, President C. E. Butterfield received a call from a real estate agent who had heard that the College was looking for property. Dr. Butterfield was a man of prayer and of faith. When he first viewed the property, it was clear to him that "this was God's choice." He returned to the property one day and knelt on a concrete slab on which one of the trees from the housing project had sat. There he claimed the property for God.

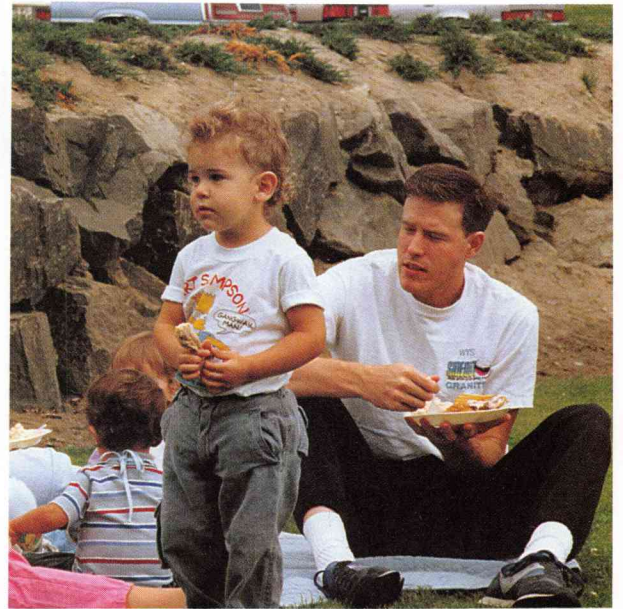

It seems more than a coincidence that the spot where Dr. Butterfield knelt was the spot where the Stewart sisters once lived. That same spot, which had been sanctified and dedicated by many prayers, became the focal point of Northwest College - C. E. Butterfield Chapel. Today hundreds of young people still find their way to the The Twin Acres in the middle of NC's campus for "indoctrination" in the Word of God.

Oh, the flames are getting hotter
As I knew someday they'd be Under the hand of a loving Savior
He is refining me - perfectly.

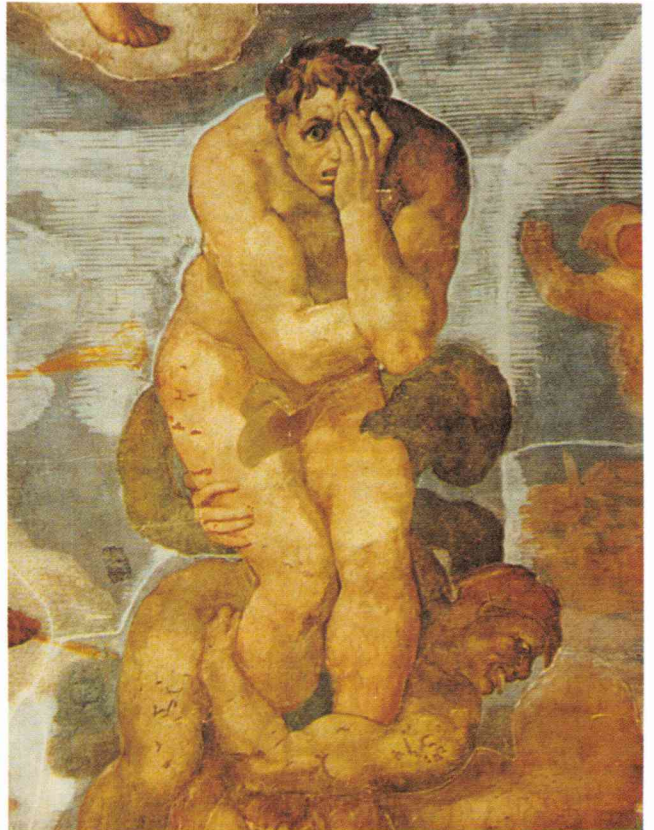

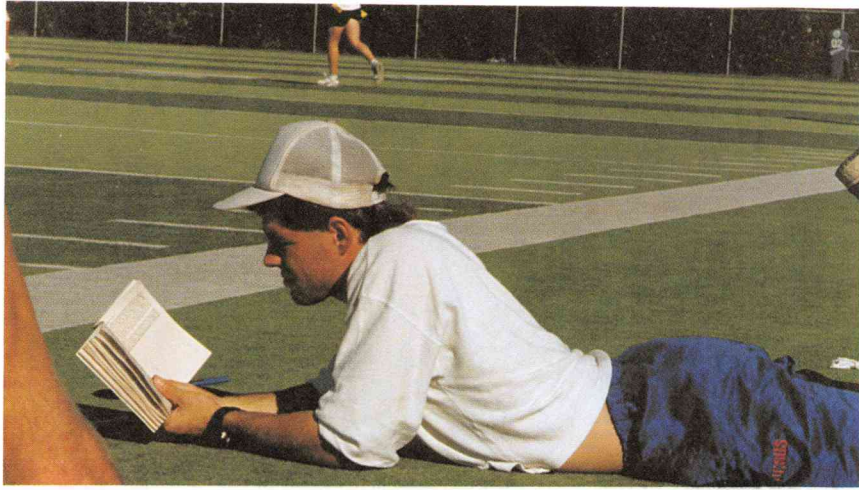

Though the flames consume not my person
They're burning away my impurities
It's His way of saying, "I love you"
But how strange it seems to me.

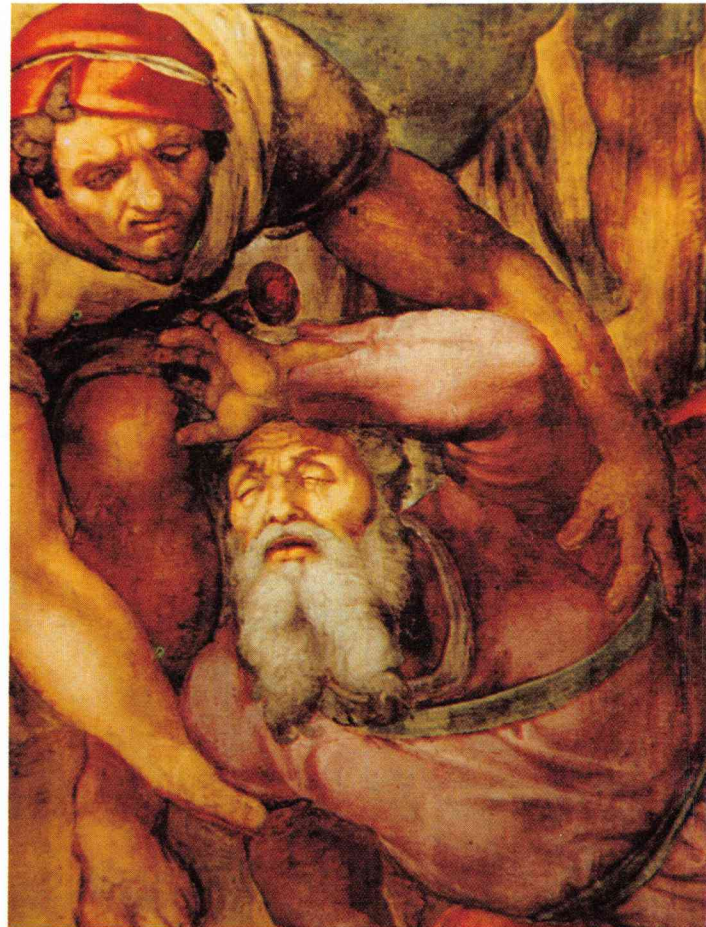

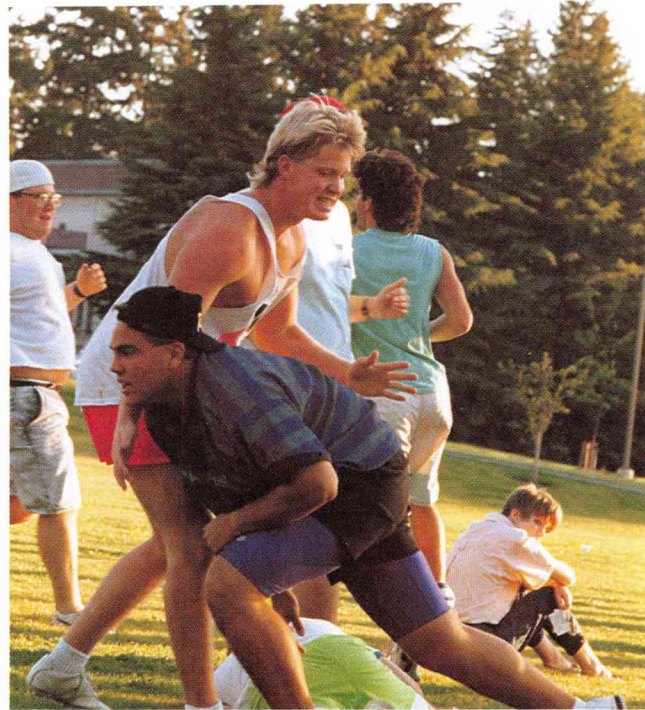

Oh, to be in the furnace once again
Where the heat is so strong, and it's so hard to stand.

I'm thirsty for some water, and hungry for a friend.
I know I'm being tested; but it feels like I'm being condemned.
In the furnace again.

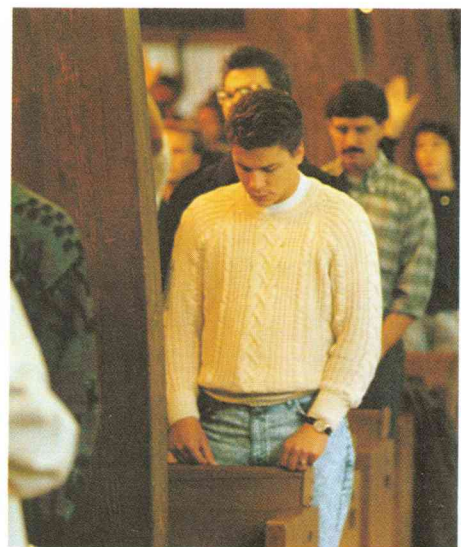

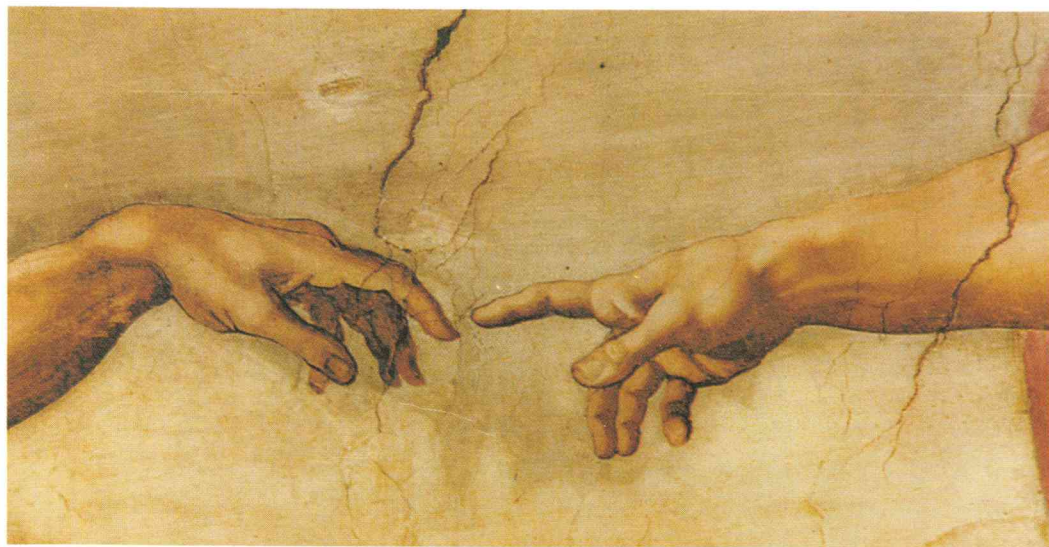

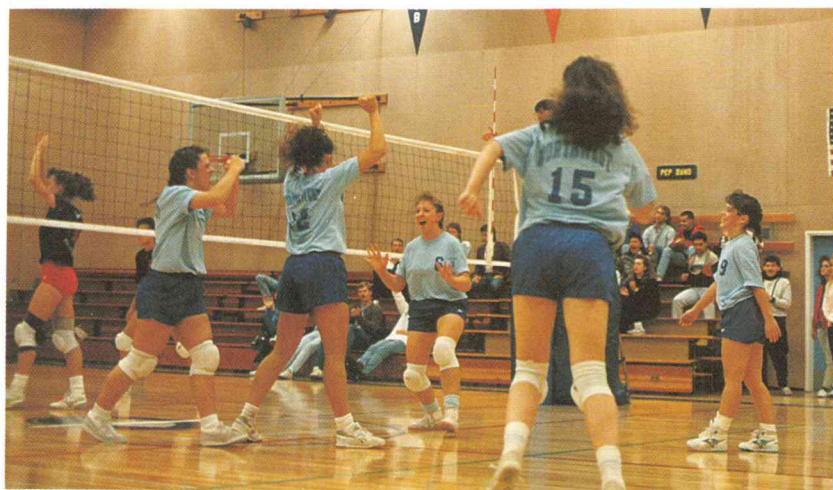

There's a bitter cup we must all learn to drink of
Let it fill you up, let it draw you closer to the Son,

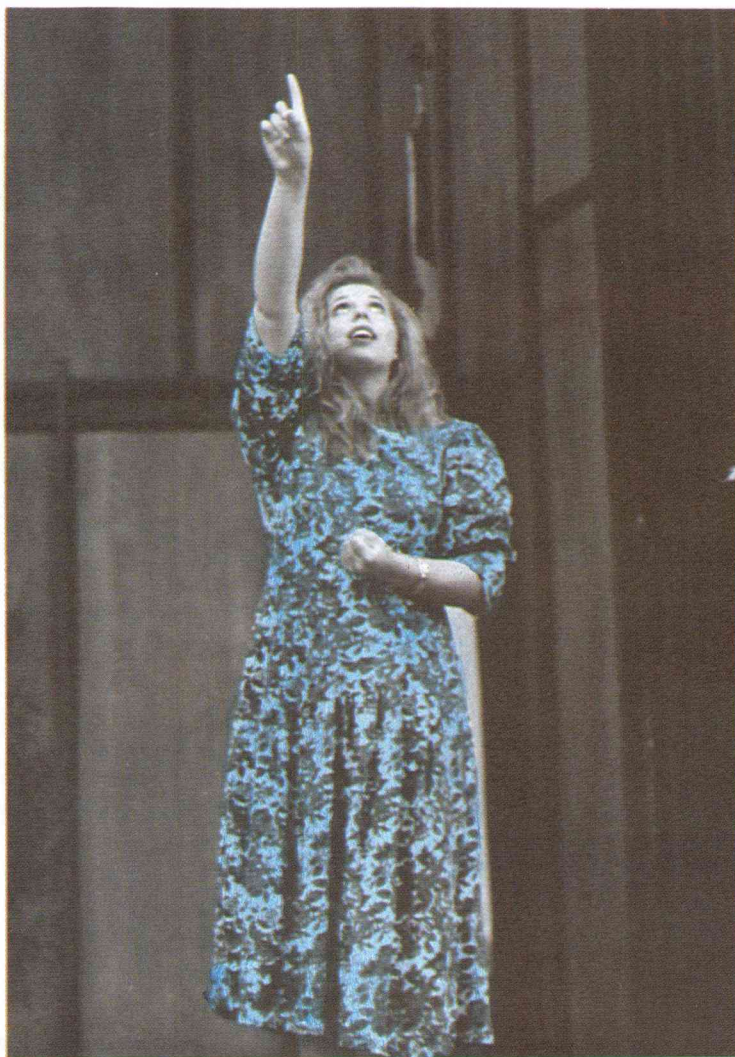

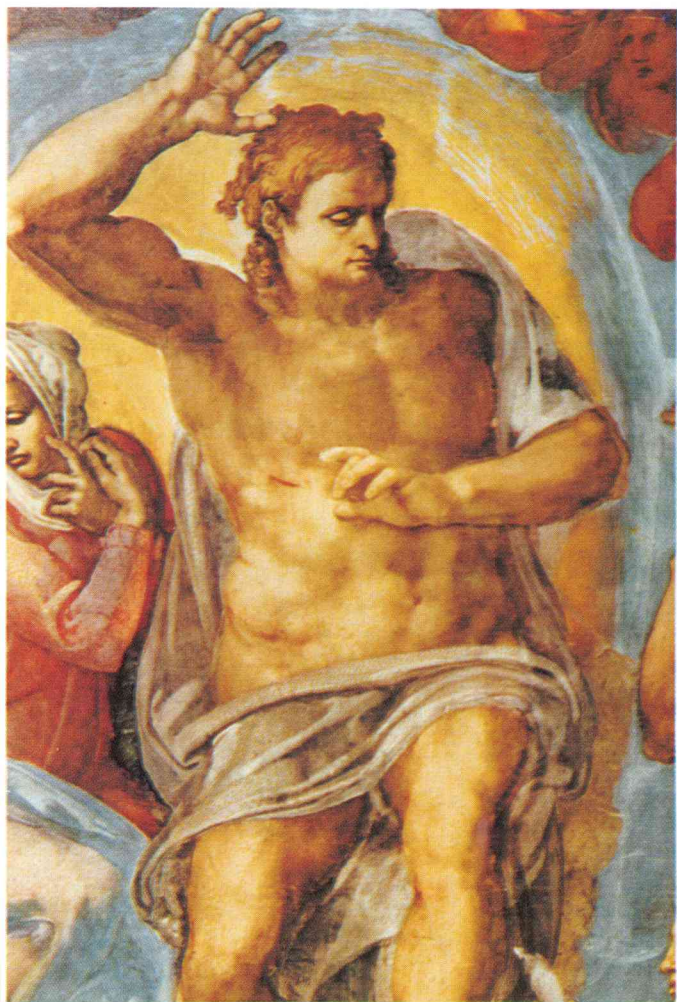

For with every drink we discover the wonder of the race He's making us ready for, it's a race that we must run!

He's breaking me of my pride
While I know deep inside
That the Father knows.
How low we can go.

I don't know why I'm in this situation
Except that God has put me here
To give strength to my salvation
And to weaken all my fears - In the furnace again ...

DEDICATION 1991

Cal and Debbie have served God as ministers of music in various ways outside of the college as well. Cal has written and arranged music for publication, and is concerned about the proper use of music for the glory of God.

In addition to his keen abilities in music and keeping track of the records of students, Cal is known for his mania for sports of all kinds. He and Debbie are fanatical U of W Husky fans, and Cal is quite a collector of sports memorabilia.

For being such an important part of the life of Northwest College, and for being a friend and directed the Northwest Sounds for fourteen years. Many are the stories in the memories of the members of the Sounds who toured with Cal in those years.

In 1988 Cal assumed the position of Director of the Office of Admissions and Records, a position which lends itself to his affinity for details and his dedication to task completion. He quickly displayed his abilities in mastering the many intricacies of that office.

WELCOME PRESIDENT DAVIS

The 1990-91 school year at Northwest College brought many changes. A phone system was installed in the Dorms, higher school bills were put into effect, and students, staff, board members, and guests witnessed the inauguration of President Dennis A. Davis.

President Davis is the product of a rich heritage of ministers. He grew up in the Northwest and attended Central Bible College in Springfield, Missouri as a Bible Major. In 1956 he graduated from Northwest College with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Theology. That same year he married Nancy Friend and in 1962 their son

Jeff, who is currently serving as a minister in Washington, was born.

President Davis has served as pastor in various locations in from 1987 to 1990. Included in his ministry, he led the completion of building and relocating a new multi-million dollar facility in Salem, Oregon. Presi-

The faculty, staff, and student body of Northwest College greatly anticipate the leadership of President Davis and wish to warmly welcome him. His positive attitude and dedication has a great impact on each student. We strive to follow his example as we open our hearts and minds and become fully committed.

California and Oregon. For nearly five years he traveled as an evangelist and crusade speaker. Most recently President Davis served as Superintendent of the Oregon District and President Davis presently is serving on the Board of Directors of many colleges and religious institutions as well as being a member of numerous secular committees.

FRAMING PLAN

PROPHECIES FOR TODAY

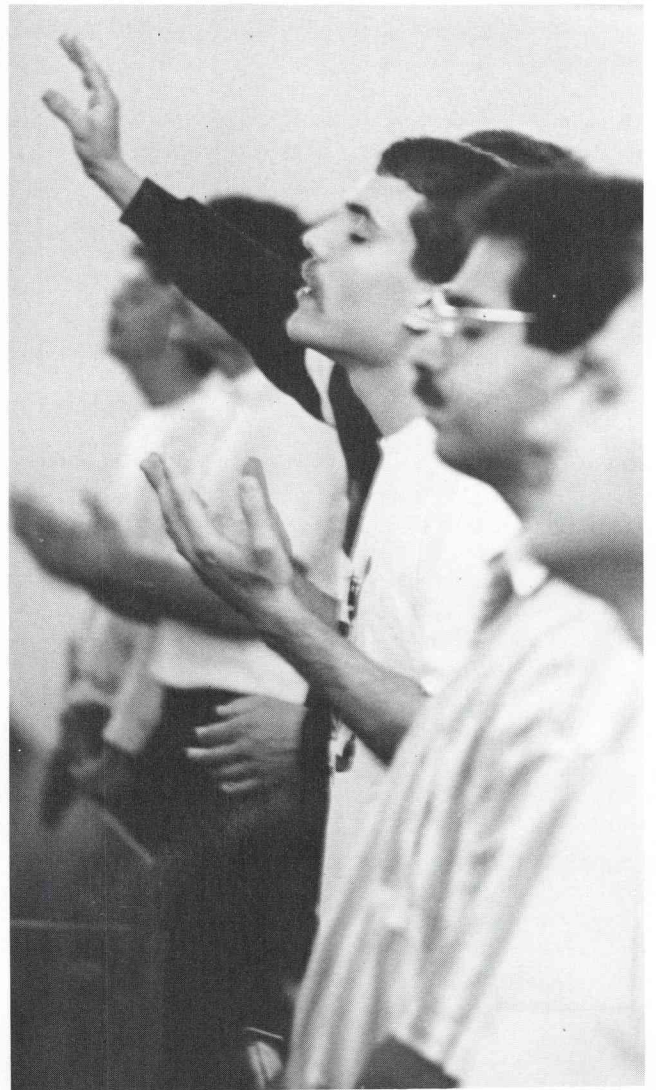

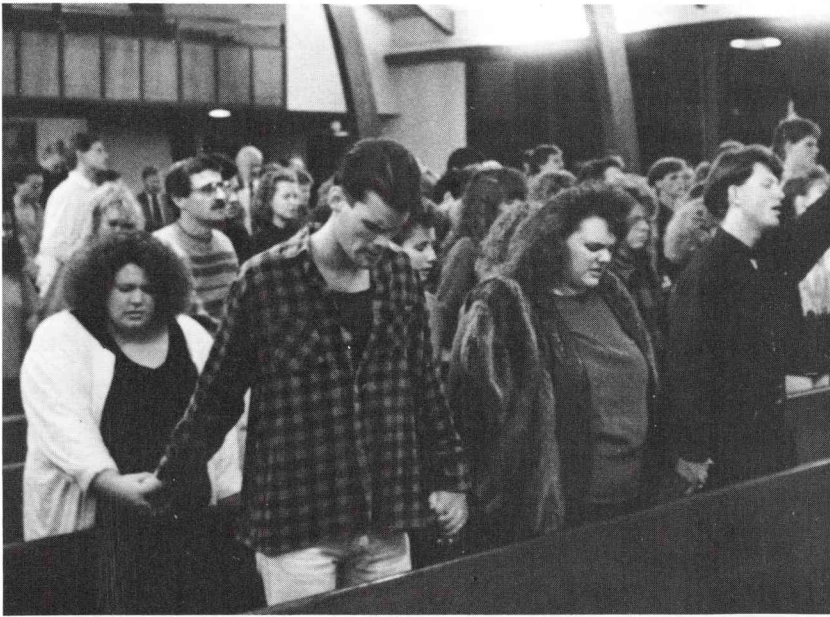

SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS WEEK

Evangelist Linfield Crowder was the speaker for the 1990 Fall Spiritual Emphasis Week. He is known as "the man of many ministries" and has been involved in world evangelism, preaching crusades, camp meetings, youth camps, and mission conventions for the last thirty-three years. These ministries have taken him into all fifty states and fifty-seven nations of the world.

Rev. Crowder is well known for preaching on the topics of Bible prophecy, science, and current events and for correlating the three. He spoke on the prophecies found in both Daniel and Revelation for the special services. It was an interesting study of God's plans for the future and brought up many important questions and issues that are arising in the world today. This time helped to emphasize to the students at N.C. just how important it is to reach out to the lost around us. We may not be here to do so much longer. Overall it was a very successful Spiritual Emphasis Week for all involved.

SENIOR DAYS 1990

Senior Days 1990 was a big success. Nearly one-hundred and fifty guests attended the many activities that were planned. A special concert featured three of the summer ministry teams, Reflection, Set Apart, and Soul Purpose. Professor Dennis Leggett was the host for the day on Friday. He led the chapel service for the visiting seniors. The effort of the student body to make the weekend a success was greatly appreciated by the people that were influenced by the consideration.

THOSE FABULOUS 50'S

"Those Fabulous 50's" was the theme of the 1990 Harvest Time Social. The Sophomore class did an excellent job in preparing and decorating the pavilion for the many activities.

Incredible amounts of time and energy contributed to gathering $400.00 in door prizes. Costumes were outstanding; everything from the Pink Ladies of Grease to greasy nerds. There were many exciting booths set up, ready for a night of fun. The dunk tank and the toilet seat ring toss were the favorite booths.

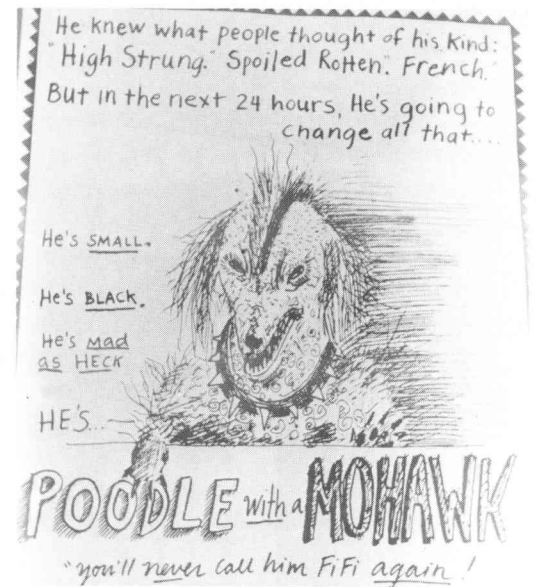

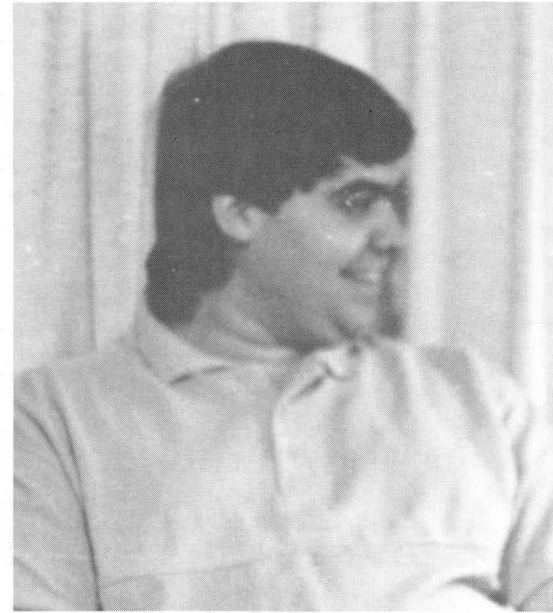

This year introduced, "The Best of the Best"; a food fair sponsored by local merchants. Hamburgers and sub sandwiches were the treat of the bopping bunch. The highlight of the evening was "Harvest Time Live" with host Bill Pritchard. Battle Cry, ACTS and various lip sync groups kept the crowd laughing. Costume winners were Courtney Johns, Kristi Landis, Mark Golden and Forrest Hillyard. This evening of fun was brought to an exciting conclusion by a local gospel group, "In Tuned to Jesus."

CHRISTMAS IN THE DORMS

Christmas is always a busy time of year. For Northwest students it is a time of final exams, research papers, and many late night study sessions. Christmas at N. C. also has a welcome side to it. It becomes a time of floor unity and cooperation in preparation for Open Dorms. Some of the themes for 1990 were "Christmas Under the Sea," "Christmas in the hospital," "Christmas in the Monastery," and others. The Gray 600 floor Monastery won the prize for the most creative decorations and theme. The winning girls floor, Perks 600, centered its decorations around the hippie era. Students, faculty, and guests were invited to visit each floor and enjoy the Christmas cheer.

Following the Open Dorms, an audience gathered for a Lip Sync contest. Unusual Christmas songs were emphasized but the floor was open to creativity and talent. Overall, the evening served as a stress release and an enjoyable way to begin the holiday season.

DRAMA CLUB'S DOUBLE FEATURE

The Northwest College Drama Club presented a double feature for their annual fall production. Both choices were comedy sketches and were met with laughter and applause.

"See You In The Funnies," the first of the two plays, was a portrayal of the life of a young comic strip writer. His romantic interests and work relationships gave the comedy a light

Joanne Sherman: Director

GROWING IN MINISTRY

One of the goals of Northwest College is to prepare every student for ministry. That may involve full-time, part-time, or a lay ministry but each is important. One of the ways to accomplish this goal is to provide ministry opportunities that will meet the needs of the students and those being ministered to. The ministry groups that are currently running at N. C. are Youth Ministry, Evangelism, Children's Ministry, Community Ministry, Prison Ministry, and Gospel Teams Ministry. Each has a unique group of people who learn through experience what it really means to minister to the children of God.

The Children's Ministry group provides children with a place to go where their parents don't have to worry about the influences of the world. Puppet shows, clowns, stories and skits keep the children laughing and smiling. Some of the children are able to hear about Jesus for the first time at these meetings.

Many older gentlemen and ladies are reached through retirement homes. The community ministry team members spend evenings with these people who are often times neglected. Through books, songs, long talks, and activities such as bowling, the message that someone cares is relayed. Without the dedicated service of the students, many people could not be reached.

Prison inmates are often overlooked as members of society and their need for salvation and Christian fellowship is often ignored. The Prison Ministry group uses Bible studies, music ministry, and simply the idea that someone cares enough to visit as a means of relating the love of a merciful and just God. Another area that students minister to prison inmates in is as pen pals.

The Gospel Teams travel throughout the school year to local churches, camps, and conventions to provide drama, special music and lead worship services. It is an area of ministry that is a continual service to children, youth and adults all over the area. This group also works with the other ministry groups when needed for special services or events.

A local detention home is one of the sights where the youth ministry is in effect. Others work with junior high and high school students in the nationally known clubs of Youth

For Christ/Campus Life and Young Life. Many troubled teenagers can be reached on a weekly basis through this ministry.

Many street people look with interest on the evenings that the Evangelism teams take to the streets. They use a variety of methods to reach those who are homeless or choose to spend their lives living in the streets. A wide age group can be reached with this ministry. Participating students are taught that people respond more to the kind of ministry that Jesus had, friendship evangelism, than to being preached at or lectured. They learn not only to express God's love but also to develop their own love for their fellow man.

FULLY COMMITTED TO THE LOST

The missions committee has had an active year. They work diligently to bring the mission field home to the students and staff at Northwest College. Each of five prayer groups emphasize a specific region or continent. Angie Gunia leads the Eurasia prayer group while Melody Benintendi leads Asia Pacific. The group focusing on Africa is lead by Robert Malcolm. North America prayer group is supervised by Dale Schaffner. Charles Grogan emphasizes missions for Latin America. The Jumaa Prayer Fellowship, led by Chris Ness, is an organization that concentrates on praying for the Muslim people.

chance to experience the process of preparing to go to the mission field this year. This sponsoring the Wycliffe Bible Translators.

The 1990-91 missions'

theme, "Fully Committed to the Lost," has been stated more by actions than by words. An example of students dedicating themselves to interceding for the lost souls in the world can be seen most vividly in events such as the two day "Center for Muslim Ministry" conference. A "Prayer Journey" through the Muslim world was set up to intensify the intercession going up for this troubled area. The prayer of the missions committee is that being "Fully Committed to the Lost" will become the goals of every student at Northwest College.

DRAMA: MINISTRY IN MEDIA

A.C.T.S., Announcing Christ Through Skits, has traveled all over Washington performing skits and ministering in youth services for many local churches. Their goal is to reach young people who are hurting and feel that they are alone in a cold, hard world. Each skit has a message for the audience, from learning to stand up for what you believe in, being a true friend, and what self-worth should be based on, to humorous interpretations of how Christians are viewed by the world.

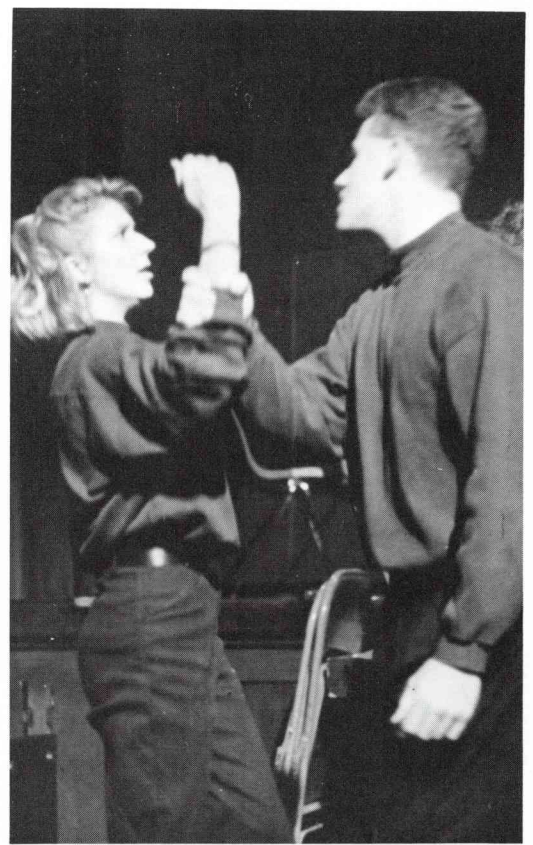

The A.C.T.S. team emphasizes the value Christ places on each life. For Annie, a song from Petra's "Never Say Die" album, is the final number in a typical service. The drama accompanying the song tells a very pointed story of a girl who doesn't feel wanted or loved and decides to take her life.

"I think everyone has a measurable amount of dramatic expression. They just have to be willing to expose it." — Kim Zellers

Many teens have responded to the message as they are encouraged to not only look to Christ for the meaning to life but also to be aware of others who might be hurting around them. God has sincerely blessed the A.C.T.S. drama team and they in turn have blessed others through Him.

COMMUNICATION

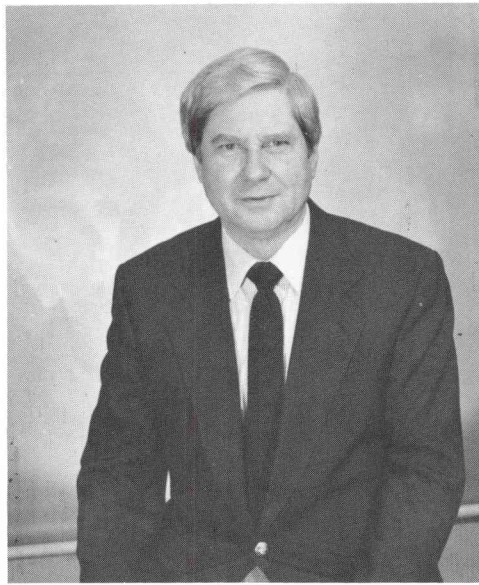

People communicate in a variety of ways. Some find it easier to use words. Others rely on body language or non-verbal clues. Regardless of the methods used, everyone needs to communicate. KCNC, the Northwest College radio station, and the speech team offer many opportunities for students to express themselves in their own ways but also to learn how to do it effectively. The speech team is an extra-curricular organization that involves speech meets at many different levels. KCNC is offered as a class with the credit applied to communication requirements. Professor Gary Gillespie is the advisor for both organizations.

The speech team had a productive year. Several students participated in finals and brought back awards. KCNC built up a lot of response from N.C. students with its special talk show, contests and entertainment. Many students benefited from the experience of working in these areas of communication.

ORGANIZATIONS

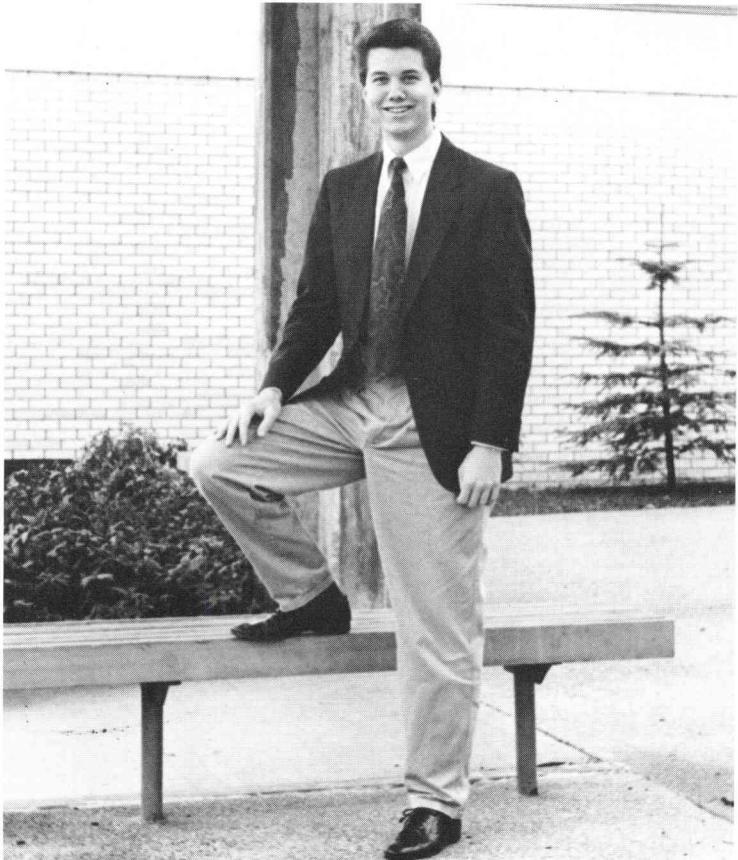

The Associated Men Students, Associated Women Students, and Married Students Association are each in charge of a specific body of students. They arrange functions during the year to involve their particular groups and make the students feel like they have a place where they belong. Some of the events sponsored are the AWS slumber party, and AMS prayer meetings, and married student potluck dinners and game nights. The officers want to be able to give students a place to be comfortable in and friends to have fun with.

RESIDENT LIFE STAFF

Where would the students of N. C. be without the Resident Assistants, Resident Counselors, and Resident Deans? They are the people working in the background to make sure the doors are locked and unlocked, the halls are quiet and everything is as it should be. They spend many extra hours above and beyond their requirements just being available. The RAs live on individual floors as a representative between the students and the other staff. The Resident Counselors are available for special counseling, late night talks, helping plan surprise parties, and cookie bakes as well as their many other duties. Without the Resident Life Staff to make residence hall living run smoothly, many first time college students would pack up and leave after the first week, so don't forget to show your appreciation for all of their hard work and dedication.

1990-91 King's Choralons

MINISTRY IN MUSIC

The King's Choralons' primary goal in ministry is to bring the message of God to people around the Northwest area. They start touring during the spring semester to local churches and special events. Spring break gave them a chance to tour out of state for a week. Although the traveling is often time consuming, the Choralons feel that they are helping to reach the lost and encourage other Christians. They share the joy of the Lord in a way that people respond to. God has blessed the ministry of Dr. Swaffield and the King's Choralons and they in turn have blessed others.

NORTHWEST SOUNDS

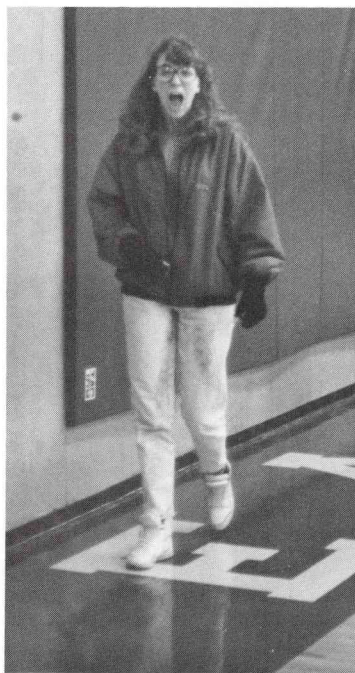

Paul Melidona joined the Northwest Sounds as their new director. He is a former Northwest College student and was a participant in the music department and summer ministry during his college career. He met the challenge of the ensemble with enthusiasm and energy.

The Northwest Sounds continued in their previous pattern of ministry and entertainment. Traveling throughout the Northwest gave them an opportunity to reach people of all types and ages. During the spring break and summer vacation the Sounds enjoyed the experience of traveling and performing in campus, convention and other special events. Their God given ability to minister the Gospel through song develops servanthood and growth not only for the members but also for the audience.

PLAYING TOUGH

The Northwest College volleyball team had a tough year in which they worked hard and strong. Any team sport is dependent on the players being unified and working together. Coach Kristi Brodin encouraged the team to work hard not only during games but also during practices. They ran drills, such as "sweet sixteens," ran laps and did strengthening exercises. Another part of their practice program involved skill development. Drills that trained players for dives, bumping, setting, and spiking were a common part of the daily practice. Although the team experienced setbacks when key players were injured, they didn't give up and showed a positive attitude in the face of difficulty.

SOCCER

The soccer team was joined by a new coach at the beginning of the season. Coach Doug Clark, a former N. C. student, took over the team with enthusiasm. The players worked hard both before and after the season. Their games were mostly held in Washington and Oregon. Learning how to play together as a team was one of the main goals for the season. Another important emphasis was having a positive attitude no matter what happened. Although it was hard to be positive with the set backs that are sometimes experienced in sports, the team had a lot of support from the student body who was very proud of its team.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The women of the Northwest College basketball team are a determined group. They worked hard in practice and on the court. For several players, 1991 was the final basketball season before graduation. Coach Kristi Brodin worked with this team as she has with previous teams. She gave them her best and encouraged them to put their best into the game. They played tight and gained the respect of the teams they played against for their attitude and determination.

MINISTRY IN SERVICE

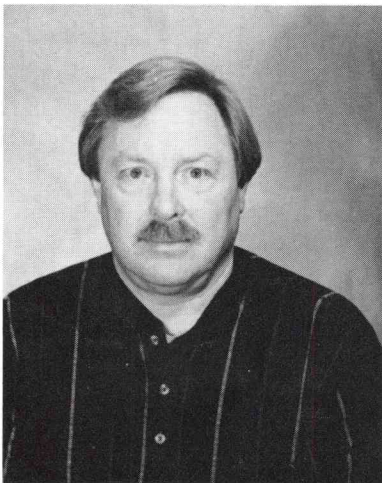

Northwest College would not be in existence today if it were not for the staff and personnel that keep it running. Some have been here for a number of years and many have recently joined the college. The offices that employ such valuable workers are the Financial Aid Office, the Office of Admissions and Records, the Cashier and the Accounting Department, the Dean of Students Office, and many others. Their dedication to their jobs may sometimes appear to go unnoticed but they are greatly appreciated.

One of the staff members to recently join the N. C. team is the Head of Security, Rev. Ernest Enget. Ernie pastored in Montana for most of his thirty-eight years in the ministry. Although he is now retired, his ministry continues on the Northwest campus. when asked what he enjoyed most about working at N. C. he answered, "I love working with young people; it helps me stay young!" Ernie's commitment to the students at Northwest is evident and he can be found almost any time of the day or night visiting with students and catching up on the latest news. Ernie is only one of many college employees that have turned their jobs into a ministry.

Anyone who has ever visited the Administration building has probably had the privilege of meeting Mrs. Nola Braddy. Mrs. Braddy, wife of Dr. Braddy, is an all around wonder woman. She has a way of knowing just what to do for any emergency. Nola is officially part of the Business office but her involvement in student affairs extends her well beyond the realm of duty.

Mrs. Braddy was unable to be around for several months at the end of 1990 due to illness. Although she left capable employees, her presence was sorely missed. Northwest students and staff were more than convinced that no one can take Nola's place. In May of 1990 Nola won the ASB Appreciation award for her dedication. Without Nola at N. C., many homesick, discouraged, and lonely people would miss out on knowing how it feels to be loved by such a wonderful example of a woman of God.

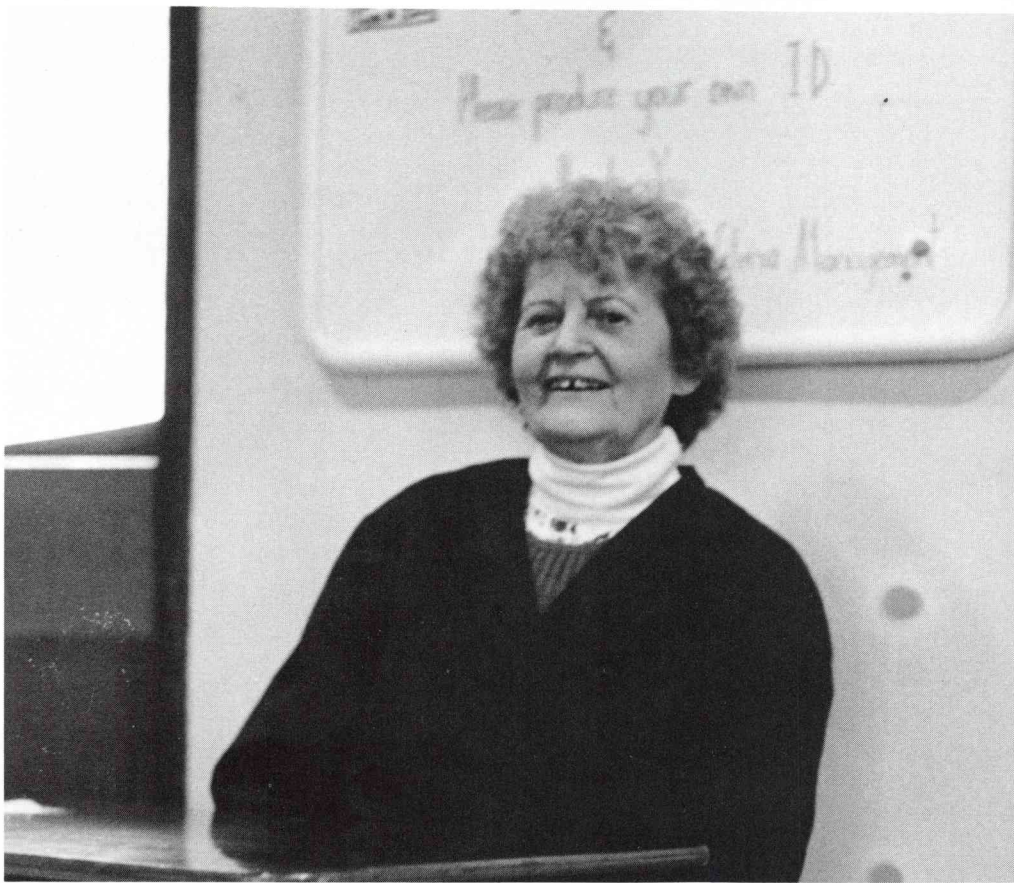

WHAT WOULD NORTHWEST COLLEGE BE LIKE

"God BLESS you my brothers and sisters!" Stanley Cecil has encouraged every person at Northwest College in some way at least once. His writing can be found on many chalkboards all over campus in time for first period classes. His favorite quotes come straight from the Bible and he adds his own blessings on the class and the day. Stanley can also be found in the cafeteria cooking, washing dishes and tables, and of course singing his praises to God. Nothing seems to get Stanley down, and if he can help it, nothing will get anyone else down either. He adds new meaning to the act of "serving soup." "May I bless you with some hot, hot soup?" is a question he delights in asking each person in line.

Stanley is a hard worker and as a student, he gives one-hundred and ten percent. He takes the scripture verse, Colossians 3:23-24a, "Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men, since you know that you will receive an inheritance from the Lord as a reward," (NIV) seriously. He will always be a very dear part of the lives of students and faculty during his college years. It is hard to imagine what N.C. will be like without Stanley Cecil.

What would Northwest College be like without Alice? She comes in contact with almost everyone on campus, and amazingly enough keeps them all straight. While taking meal tickets in the cafeteria, Alice not only learns names and faces but also numbers. It is nearly impossible to estimate how many student meal ticket numbers Alice must know, but, although she will still ask to see I. D. cards the majority of the time, has the ability to automatically put your face with your name and your number.

Throughout the years, many things have changed around N. C. Many faces have come and gone, some never to come again. Alice has been a wonderful sight for hungry eyes, especially in the lunch line. Northwest students hope that Alice's face is one that will be around for many years to come.

WITH- OUT...

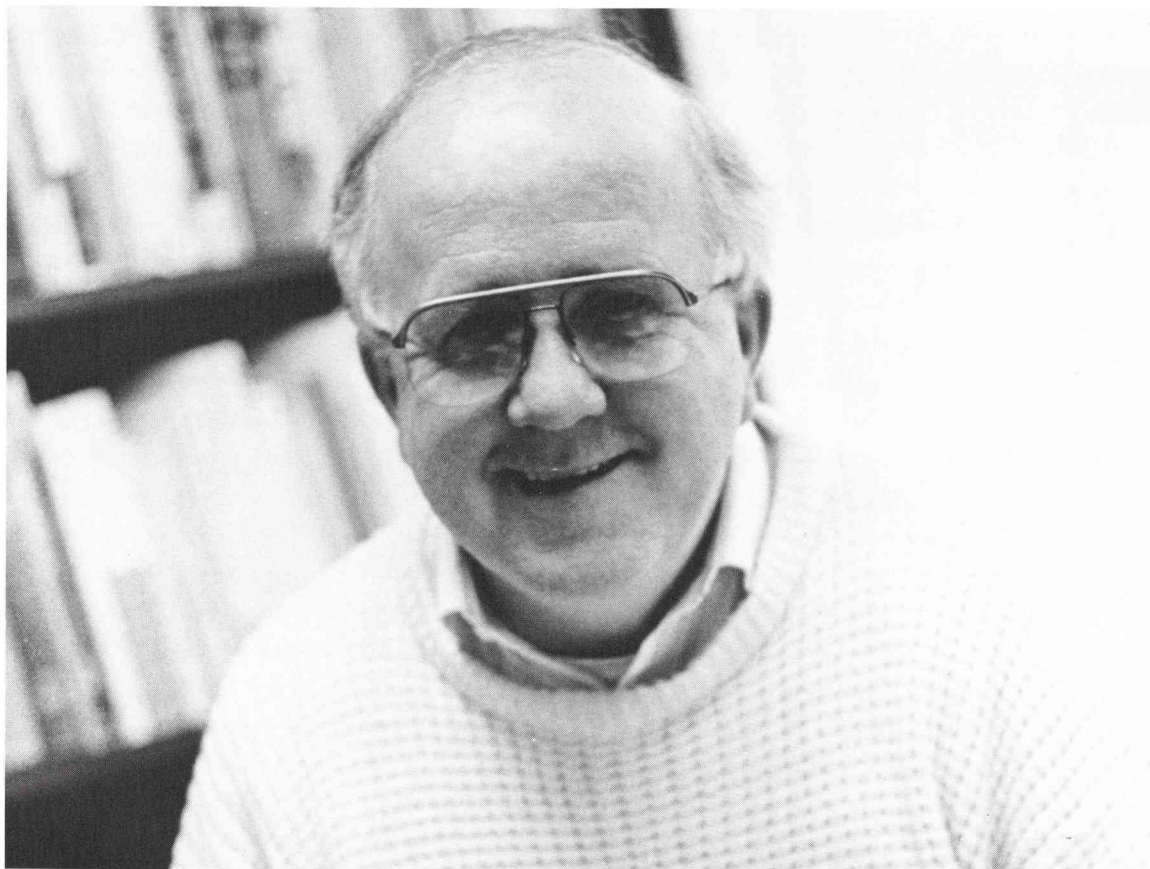

Dave "Praise the Lord" McIntosh has been a blessing to have at Northwest College the past few years. Probably the most admirable quality that he possesses is his ability to find the positive side of everything and keep praising the Lord. Times have not always been easy for Dave but he is confident that God will always see him through.

Dave has been active in his involvement in student ministries, and his friendliness makes him a willing servant in God's service. His smile can light up a room with its warmth and his laugh cheers up even the worst mood. "Brother Dave" has the type of spirit that encourages and uplifts and will be sorely missed when he has departed from Northwest College.

Handling all the calls, questions, and generally being aware of everything that is happening everywhere all the time is a big job, but somebody has to do it. One of the friendliest and most energetic of these super-receptionists is Denise Masters. (Rumor has it that she was trained by Nola Braddy). Not only can she handle the business end of her job, but she always seems to have time to talk, laugh, and create a warm atmosphere around the front desk.

Denise has been working in the Administration building since her freshman year. Although she is often given the responsibility of soothing frustrated students, calming jittery nerves, and answering the phone and three other questions at the same time, Denise has the attitude of a person who not only enjoys her job, but also is willing to serve others. Her light-hearted laugh goes a long way in helping people to relax. Without students like Denise Masters, N. C. would be a very dull place.

Dr. LeRoy Johnson was honored with the distinction of becoming a "Full Professor" in 1991. In truth, he has always been more than just a professor to the students at Northwest College. Dr. Johnson teaches history and political science and has a way of making it come alive. His humor is an asset that can lighten the mood of just about any situation.

When it comes to loving students, Dr. Johnson goes the extra mile. He freely expresses his concern and support or even a stern word when it is needed. This means even more because it is coming from a man who never asks more of others than he expects from himself. He is well known for being tough but fair and has gained a lot of respect for his sincerity and desire to be "human." We hope that we will not have to find out what N. C. would be like without Dr. Johnson for many years to come.

Lei Van Schoiack has been a student at Northwest College for four years. She has been actively involved in the music department during her college years. Many times she can be found deated at the piano in the chapel or a practice room playing and singing for the pure enjoyment of the music. Lei has used her God-given talent for his glory by accompanying the worship teams in chapel, and assisting with special music.

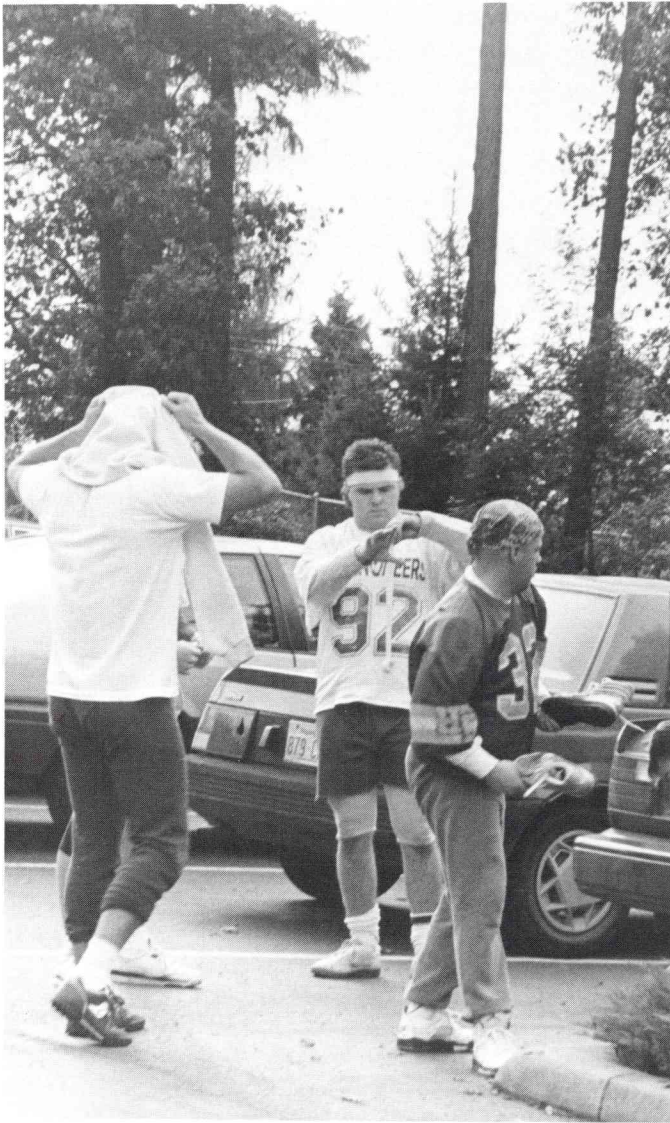

As a member of the King's Choralons, Lei has helped promote a positive image of Christianity and of Northwest College in their ministry opportunities. She also has toured for the college Public Relations department during the summer ministry season. Lei's vitality and enthusiasm for life has made her special to all who are privileged to know her. She is a part of N. C. that we would all be sorry to be without.

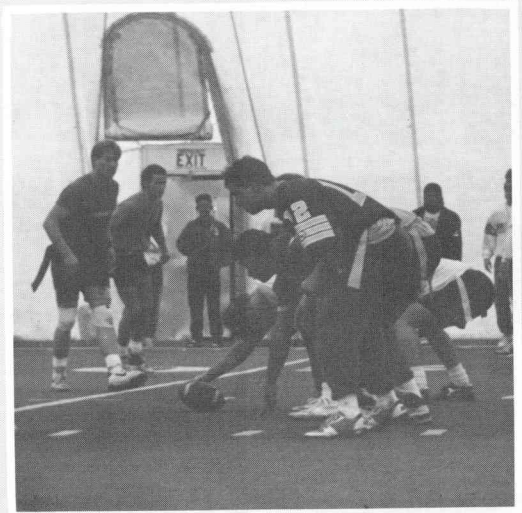

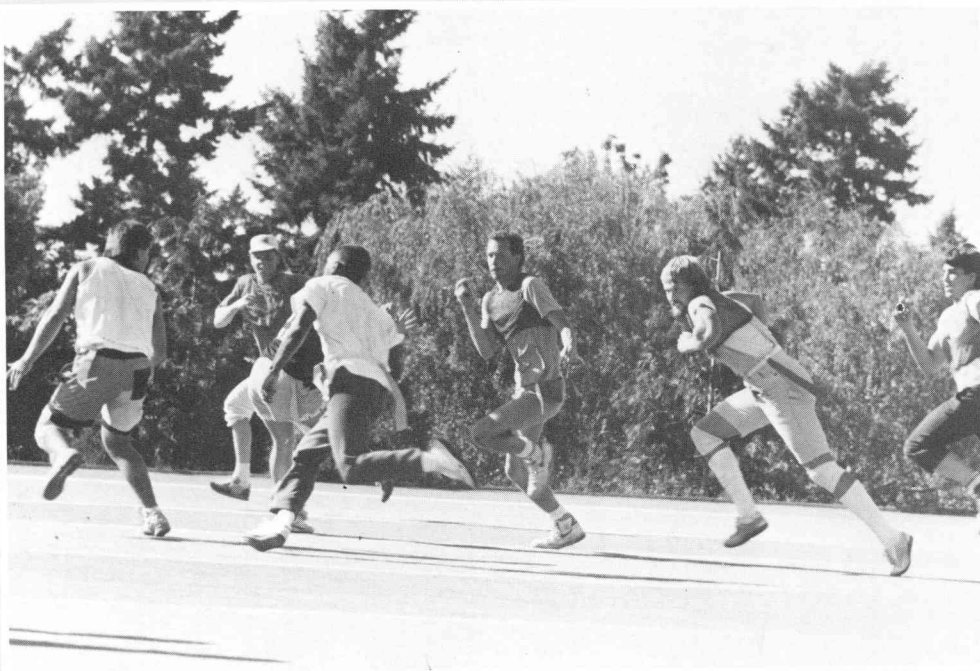

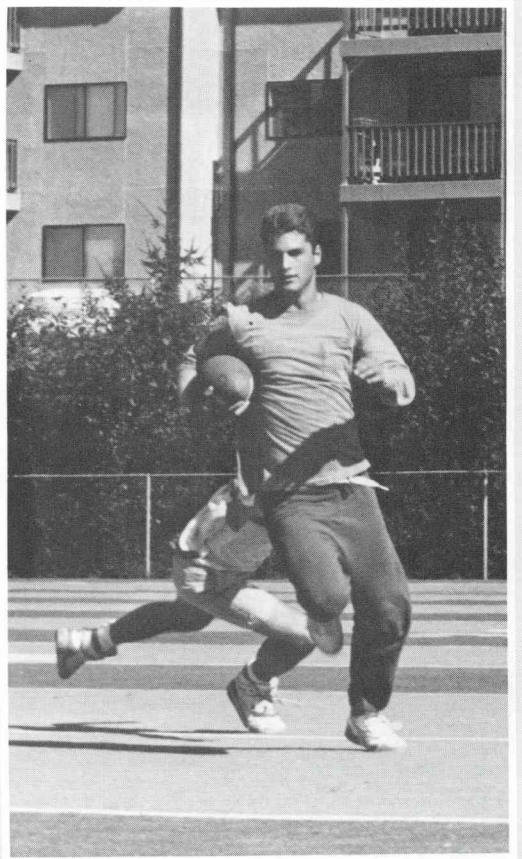

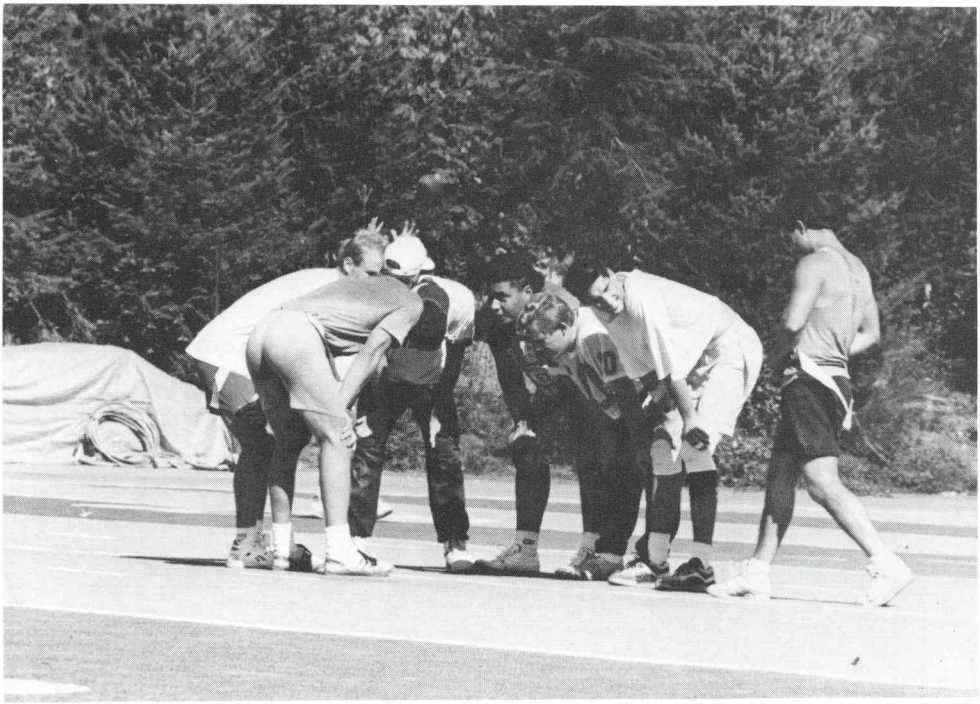

Mrs. Jean Clark always has a ready smile when it is really needed. Although she usually only has contact with the students at N. C. when they are sick, Nurse Clark is positive about her insight into the lives of her patients. It is a rare occasion that she does not remember a name or forgets to inquire into the lives and well-being of all students she meets.

Nurse Clark's tireless efforts to keep Northwest College healthy must sometimes interfere with her own needs but she never seems to mind. On her off hours, she often joins her husband, Professor Orville Clark, at school sponsored events. She has blessed more people than can be counted with her loving attitude and motherly attention to those who are feeling under the weather. Next time you see Mrs. Clark, let her know how much she means to you and that Northwest just wouldn't be the same without her.

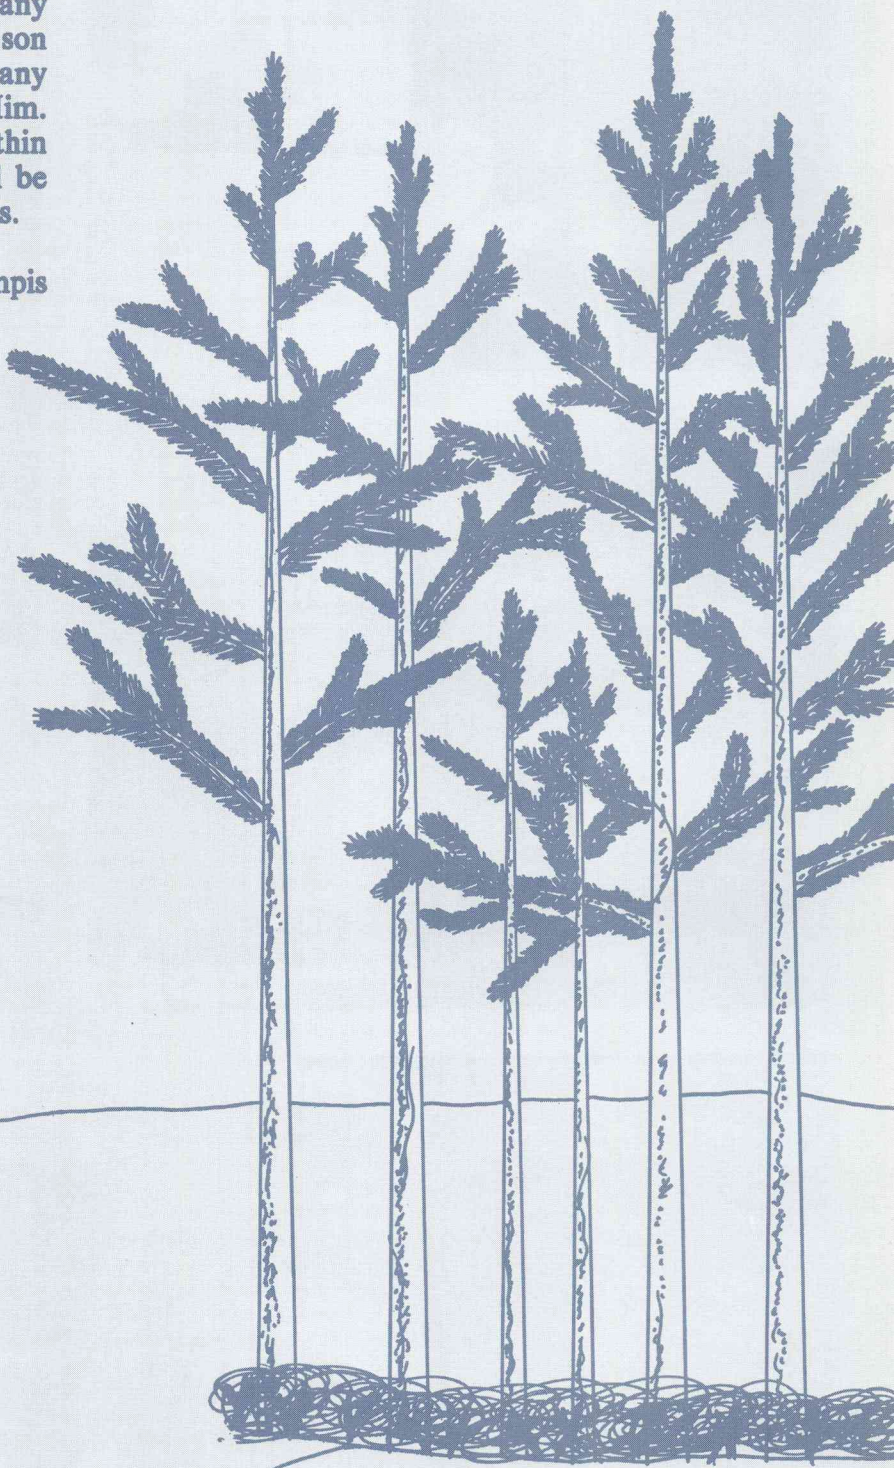

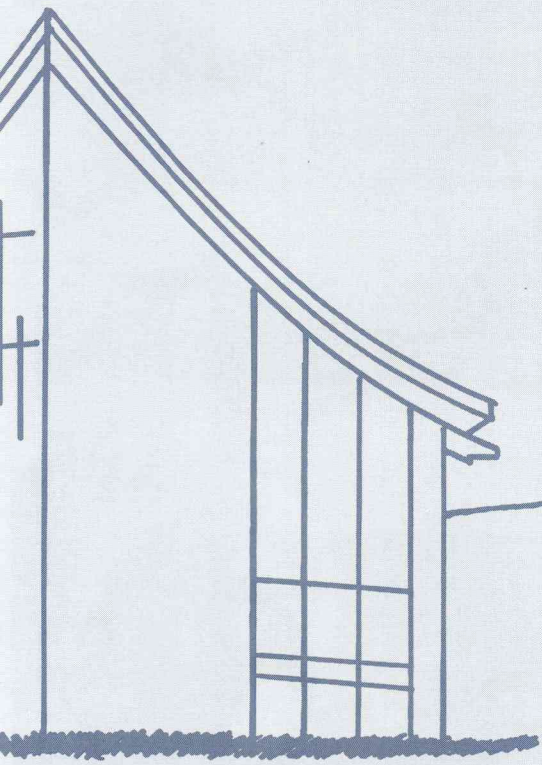

“Jesus hath now many lovers of His heavenly kingdom, but few bearers of His cross. He hath many desirous of consolation, but few of tribulation. He findeth many companions of His table, but few of His abstinence. All desire to rejoice with Him, few are willing to endure anything for Him. Many follow Jesus unto the breaking of bread; but few to the drinking of the cup of His passion. Many reverence His miracles, few follow the ignominy of His cross. Many love Jesus so long as no adversities befall them. Many praise and bless Him so long as they receive any consolation from Him. Few be the lovers within His painting, few will be the lovers of His cross.

In January of 1991, war was declared in the Middle East. The United States strategically conducted an air attack upon Iraq starting the fight to free Kuwait from its oppressing enemy. Still in shock our nation, students, and faculty anxiously stood by awaiting news to hear any news about our troops.

The soldiers were never far from our thoughts. A yellow ribbon affixed to one of the chapel pillars as a reminder of our beloved soldiers and our duty to pray for them. The ribbon will remain until their return.

“Lord, may your peace come quickly.”

“The Lord is my light and my salvation- whom shall I fear? The Lord is the stronghold of my life- of whom shall I be afraid? When evil men advance against me to devour my flesh, when my enemies and my foes attack me, they will stumble and fall. Though army besiege me, my heart will not fear, though war break out against me, I will be confident.” Psalm 27:1-3, NIV.

THE CAPTAIN DEPARTS

Northwest College is very sorry to lose one of its valued faculty members. Dennis Laggett will be difficult to replace, not only was he a good teacher but his genuine love for kids made him dear to the hearts of the student body. Professor Leggett was the head of the Youth Ministries Department. In his seven years here, Professor Leggett took the Youth

Ministries Department to a level of excellence that is unsurpassed in the Assemblies of God Colleges.

“You will be loved, missed, and prayed for, ‘O’ Captain.”

Professor Leggett followed the will of God for his life to become a pastor at Calvary Temple in Seattle. Professor Leggett will be sorely missed, but we know that he will be blessed as he follows Gods will. The time he spent with the Northwest College community will have an impact that will be felt for years to come.
