NEW DIMENSIONS

Construction and landscaping have changed the appearance of the campus at Northwest College. The entrance is the first change encountered. By moving it down the street, students were given more convenient access to the grounds and buildings and many traffic problems have been eliminated. More parking spaces have been added and new sidewalks and stairs have created a new look. A face lift completed the remodeled Student Union Building. The big grass field located next to Guy hall has been leveled and seeded. A beautiful, grassy athletic field for intramural sports and activities is the goal. The remodeling and construction has been well worth the time and expense.

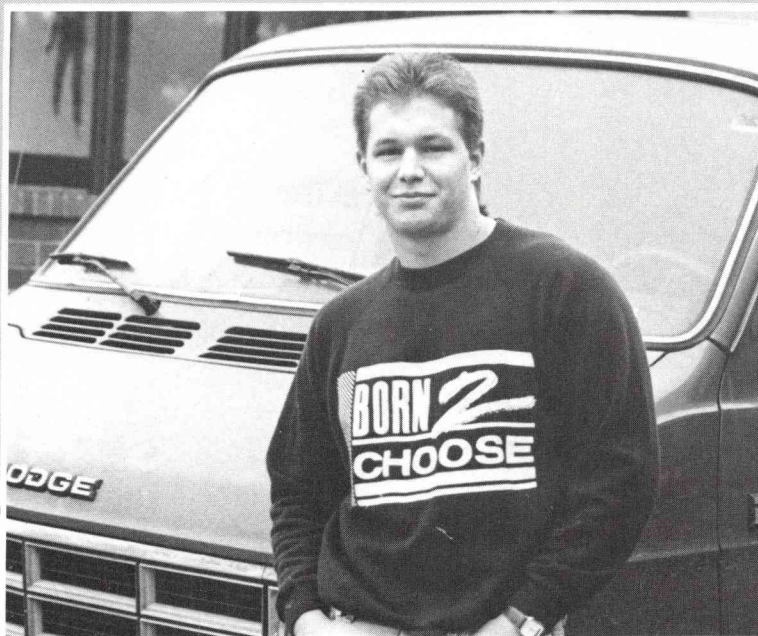

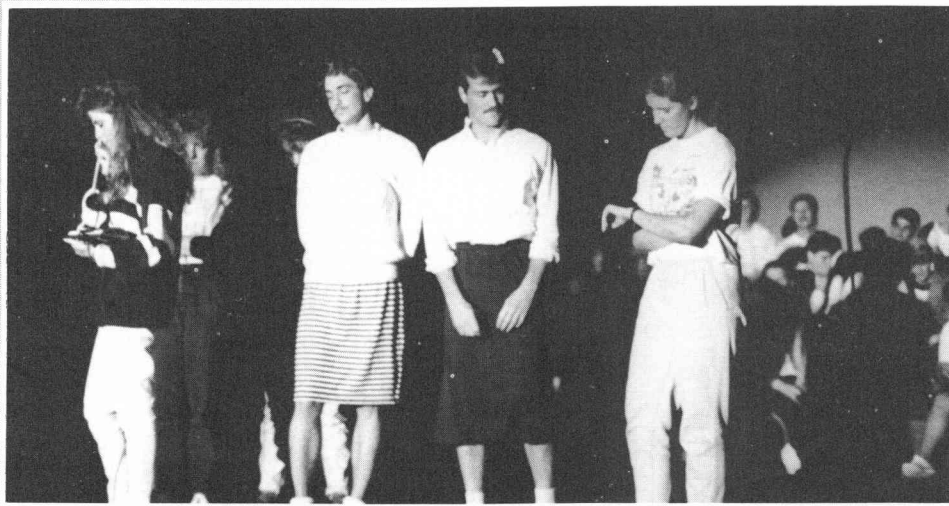

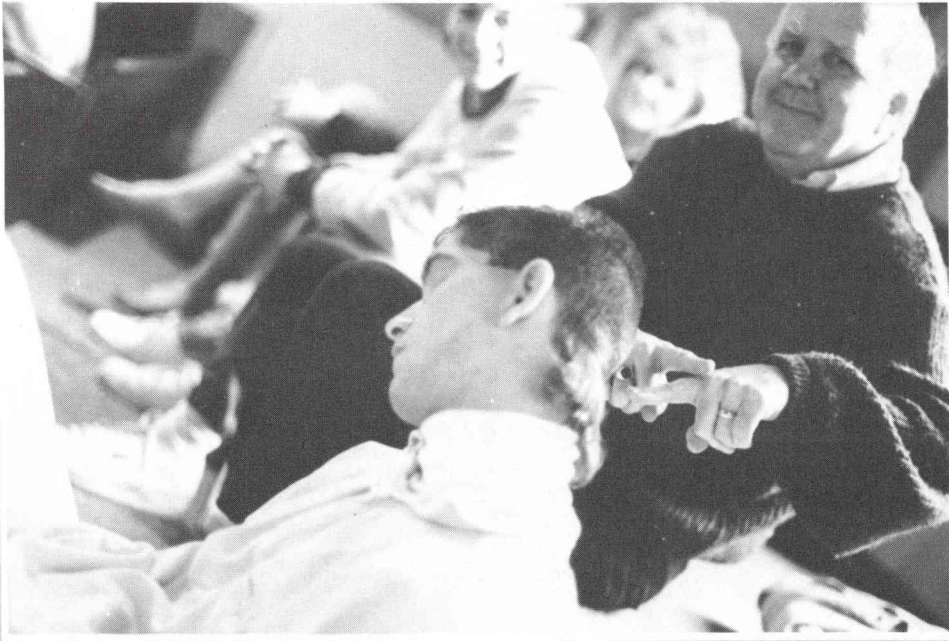

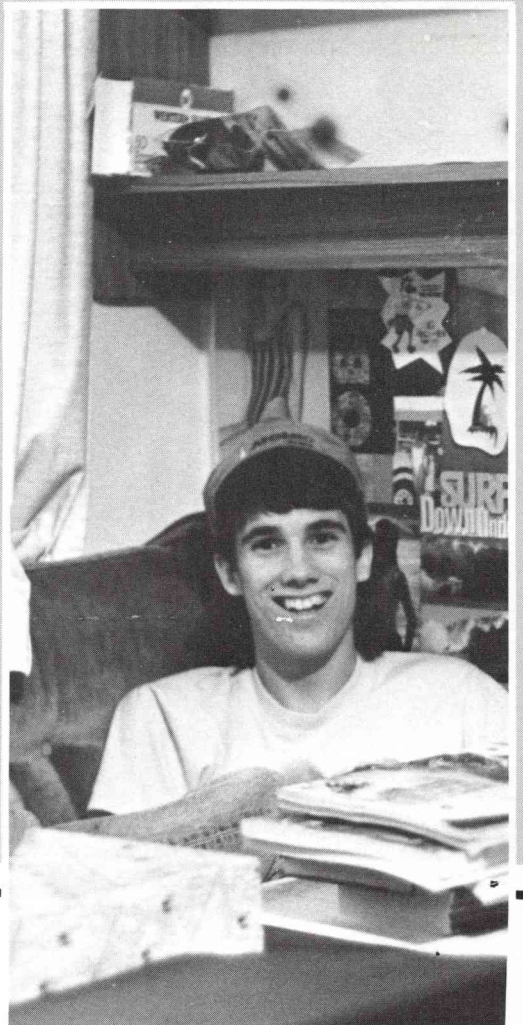

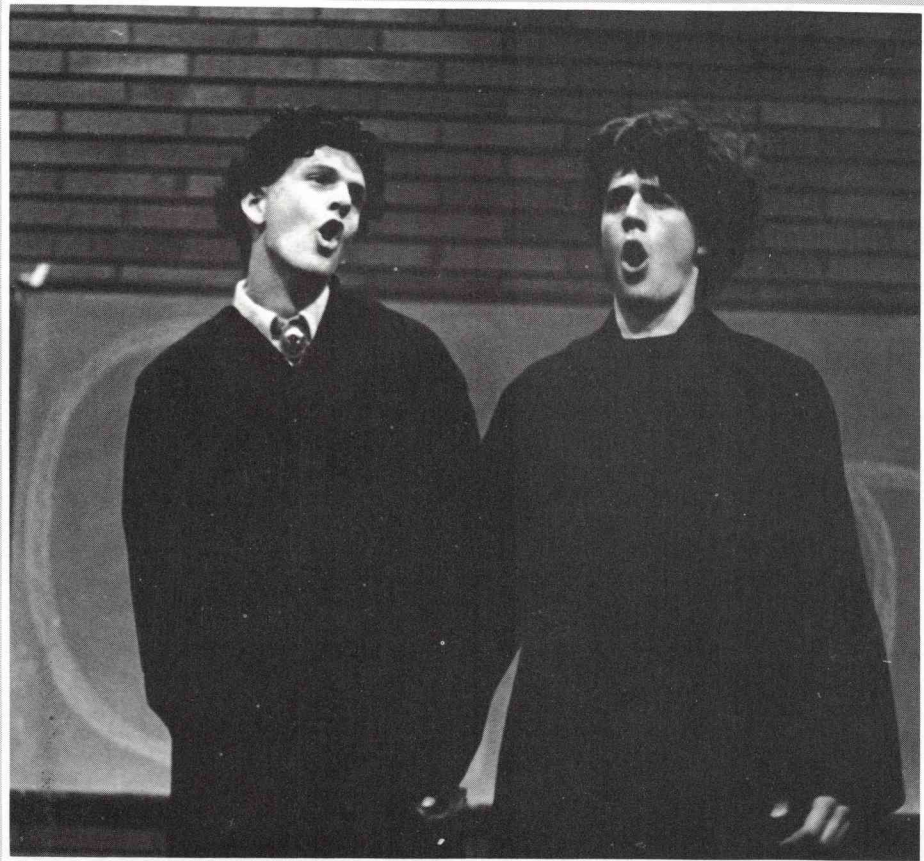

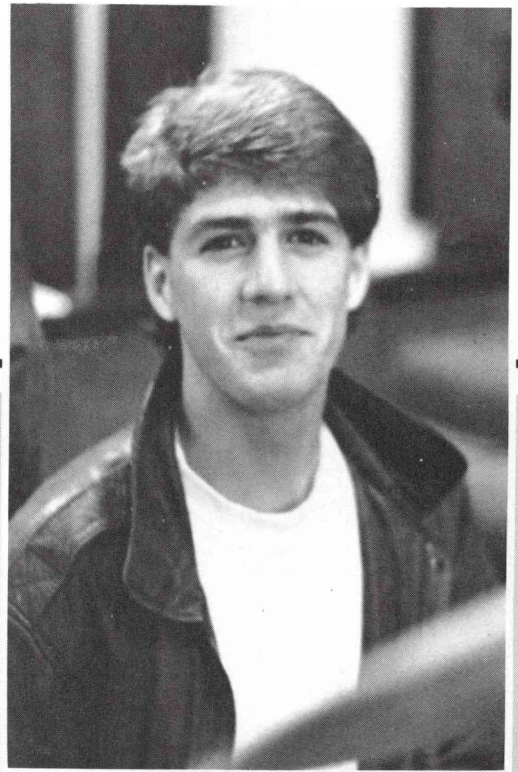

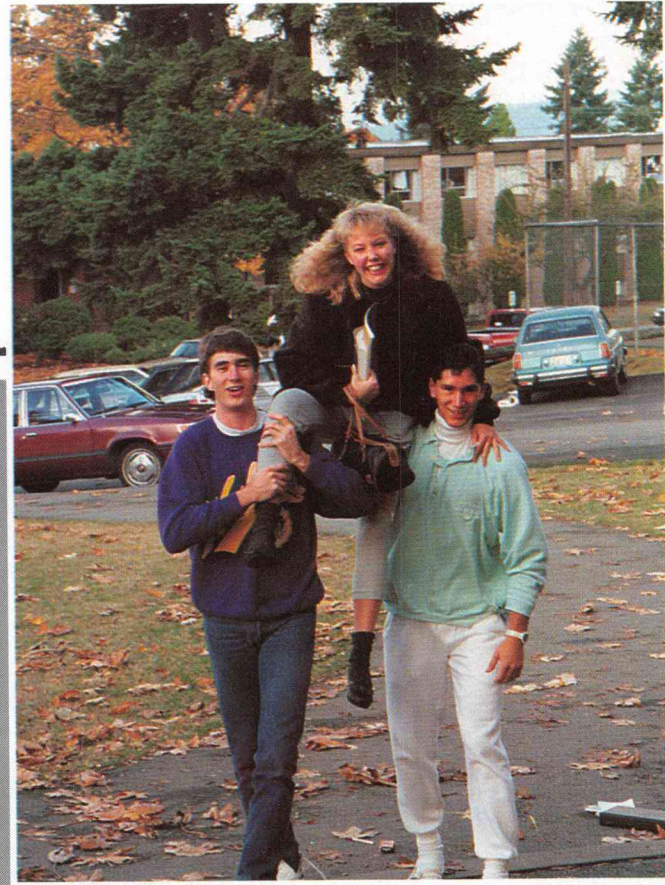

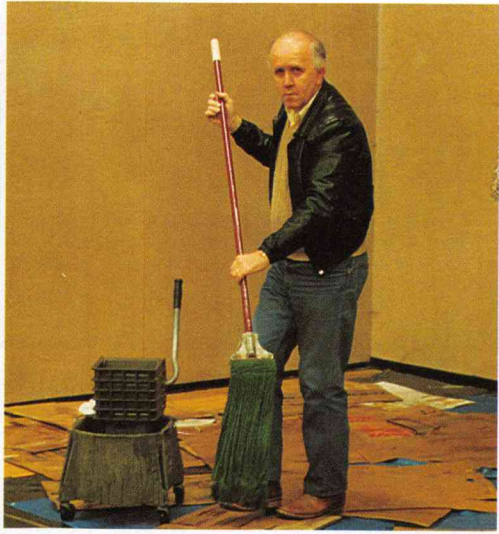

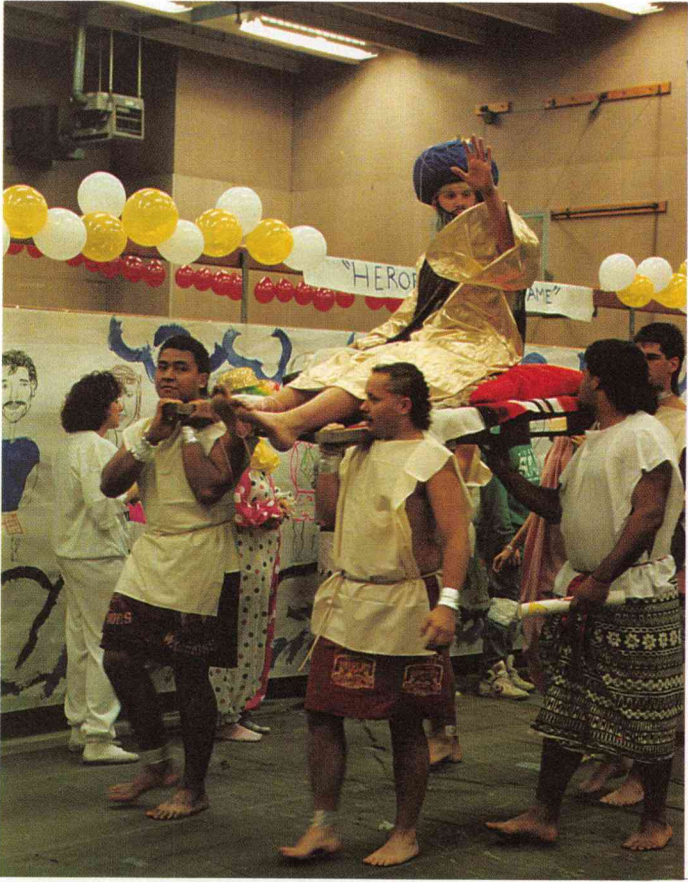

Mrs. Marjorie Stewart

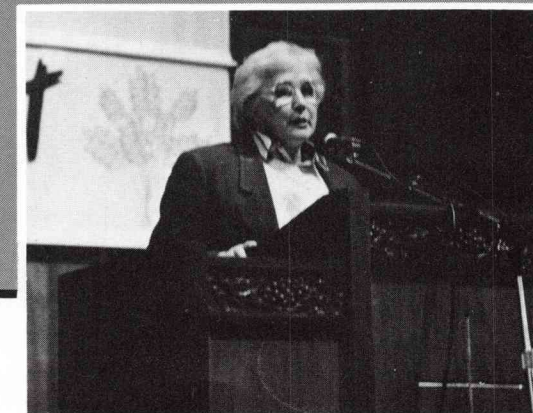

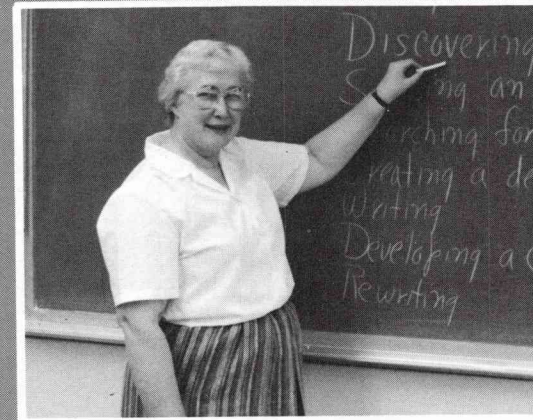

The call of God on a person's life may mean different things to different people. For many, the call of God appears to come early in their lives, as a one time experience. For others the working out of God's call may be a much longer process, and that was true in the life of Professor Marge Stewart.

Professor Stewart's first relationship with Northwest College was during the years of 1943-46, when she completed the Diploma program. In the late 1960's Professor Stewart's husband, Bob, was supervisor of grounds at N. C. and her contact with the college continued. She completed the Bachelor's degree in English from the University of Washington in 1975, and began teaching English part-time at Northwest in 1976. Beginning in 1980, Professor Stewart became a fulltime instructor and continued her education at the University of Washington, completing the Master's degree in 1982.

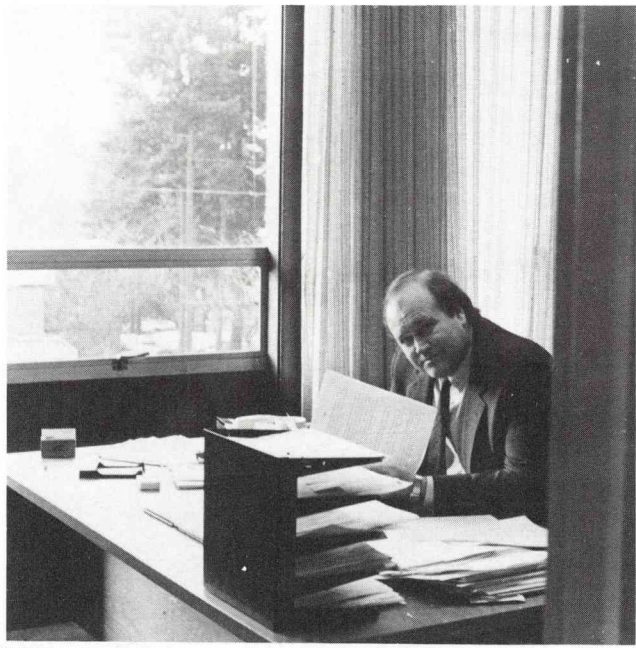

Professor Stewart feels that God called her to help produce Christian writers who could have an impact for God on their world. With two books and numerous articles published in a variety of magazines, she knows what is required to be a good writer, and pours herself into her students to help them improve. This is evidenced by her meetings with a writers group of past and present N. C. students apart from her regular teaching duties.

Professor Stewart has been a leader in the area of writing and teaching home Bible studies. This interest led her to teach a seminar on home Bible studies at a meeting of one of the General Councils of the Assemblies of God, as well as in many other places. She has traveled to Taiwan several times to do writers' workshops and do research for a biography she is writing about the life of the Director of Overseas Radio and Television.

In addition to all these accomplishments, Professor Stewart has been a full-time wife to her husband, Bob, and the mother to four children. For all these things and many more, we salute Professor Marjorie Stewart and proudly dedicate the 1989-90 KARISMA to her.

Dedication

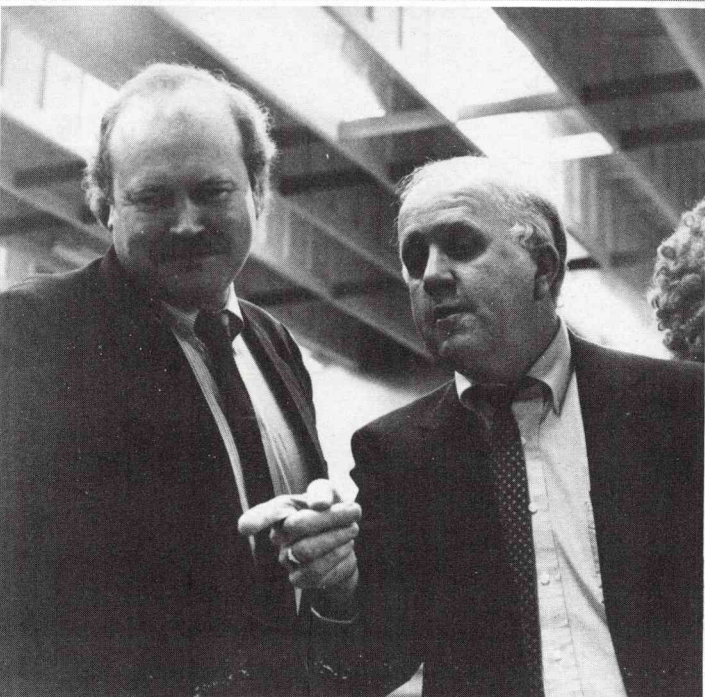

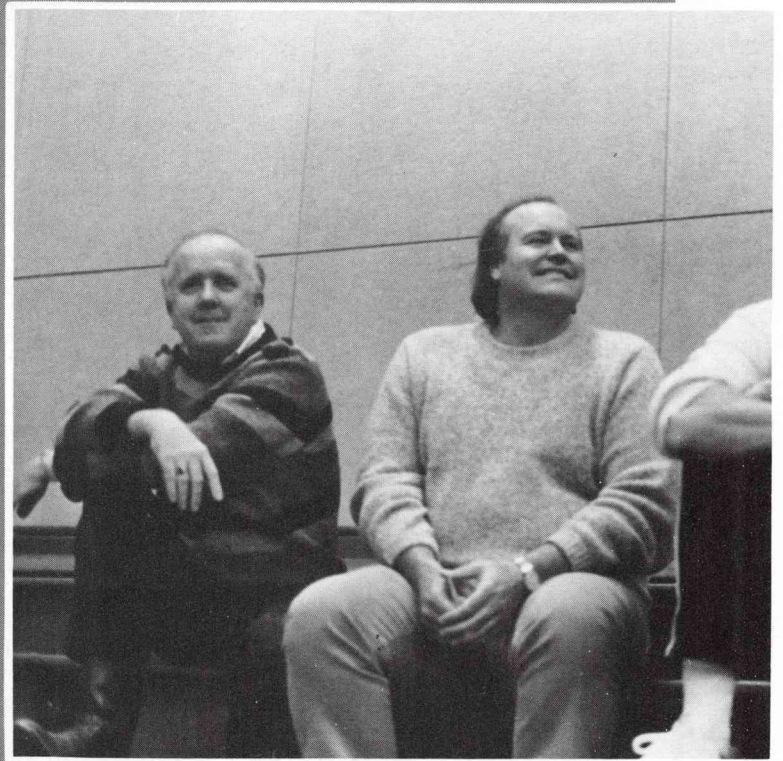

Rev. Richard Garrison

"Hi, I'm Dick Garrison." Hundreds of Northwest college Students have been met with this friendly greeting in the last three years. Students found the man behind the greeting to be as friendly and helpful as those words would suggest.

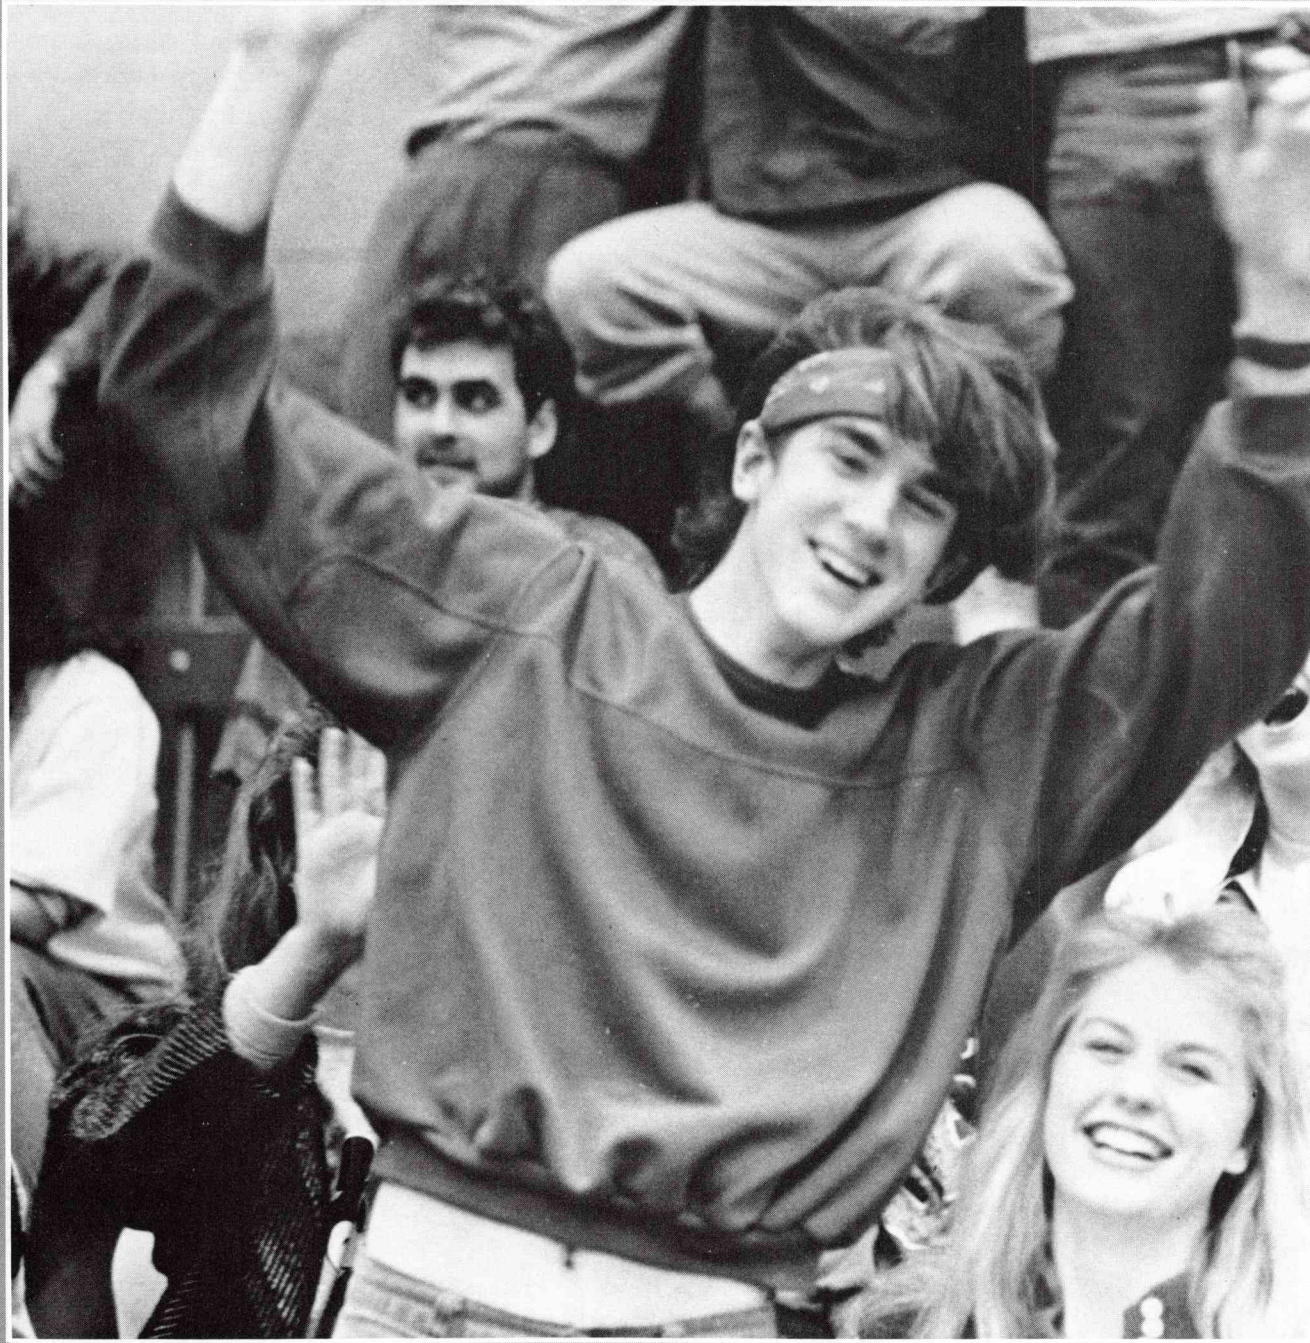

Few people have made such an impact on the NC community in as short a time as has Dick Garrison. His open personality, and his open office, endeared him to students and faculty alike.

Dick's short tenure at NC was indicative of his desire to do God's will. He came to the college from a career in banking to lend his expertise to the office of Vice President for Business Affairs. He always viewed this position as a stepping stone to his ultimate goal of vocational ministry, and he is now stepping into that calling.

As he leaves we wish him God's blessing and would like to say to him in his own words, "Dick, thank you very much."

SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS

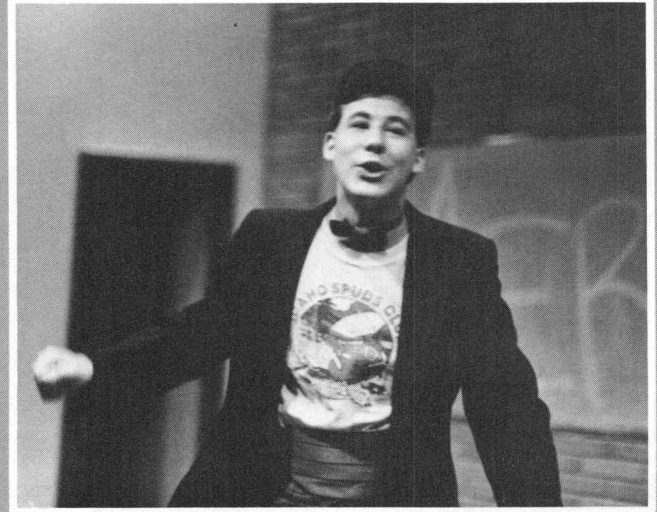

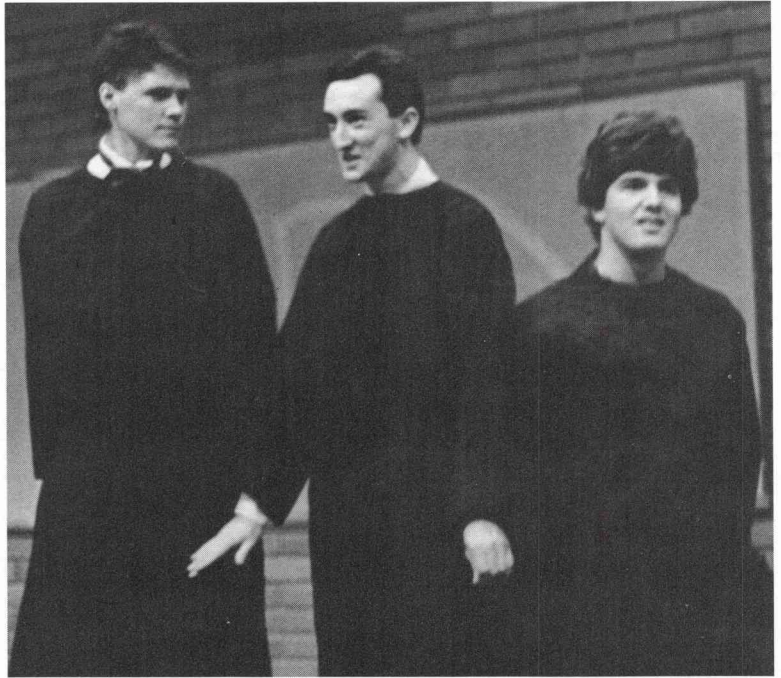

Campus Days

"Heroes" was the theme of the 1989 Harvest Time Social. Entertainment for the evening included a skit performed by ACTS, a short devotion and worship service led by the sponsoring sophomore class, and a mini-concert by the featured singer, Carrie Kay. Approximately 250 students and faculty attended in a variety of costumed heroes ranging from King Solomon and his court to favorite faculty members. A popular activity for the evening was a visit to the dunk tank where Dean Steve Emerson, Professor Johnson, and Dr. Pecota took turns dropping into the icy waters. Overall, it was a very enjoyable evening.

The Girlz - "Christmas in the Alps."

This fall's open dorms activities included the usual dorm floor contest and lip sync contest. A tour through various floors could take you through anything from an outhouse to a "Kiss and Confess booth," to a wrath stricken Bible college, to an alpine hot tub. If you went to the lip sync, you got a taste of everything from the Lenin Sisters, to Mexican Monks, to lame Ducks, and Santa stuck up in the chimney.

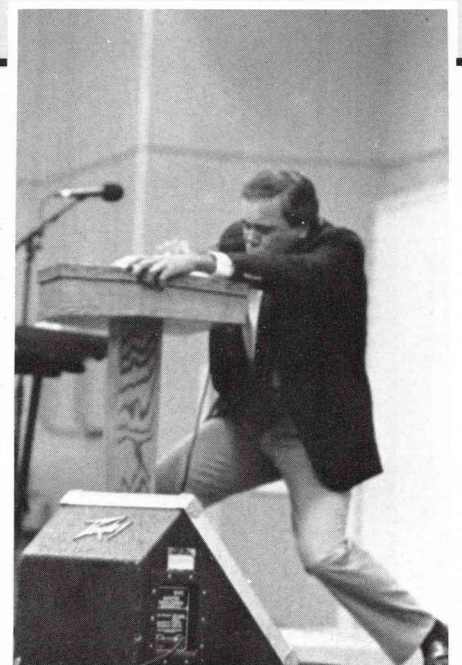

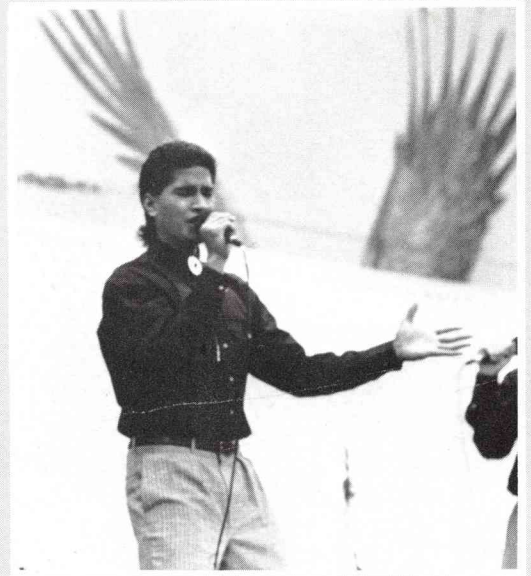

Best boys dorm floor: Gray 600, The Monastery - "Christmas with the Monks."

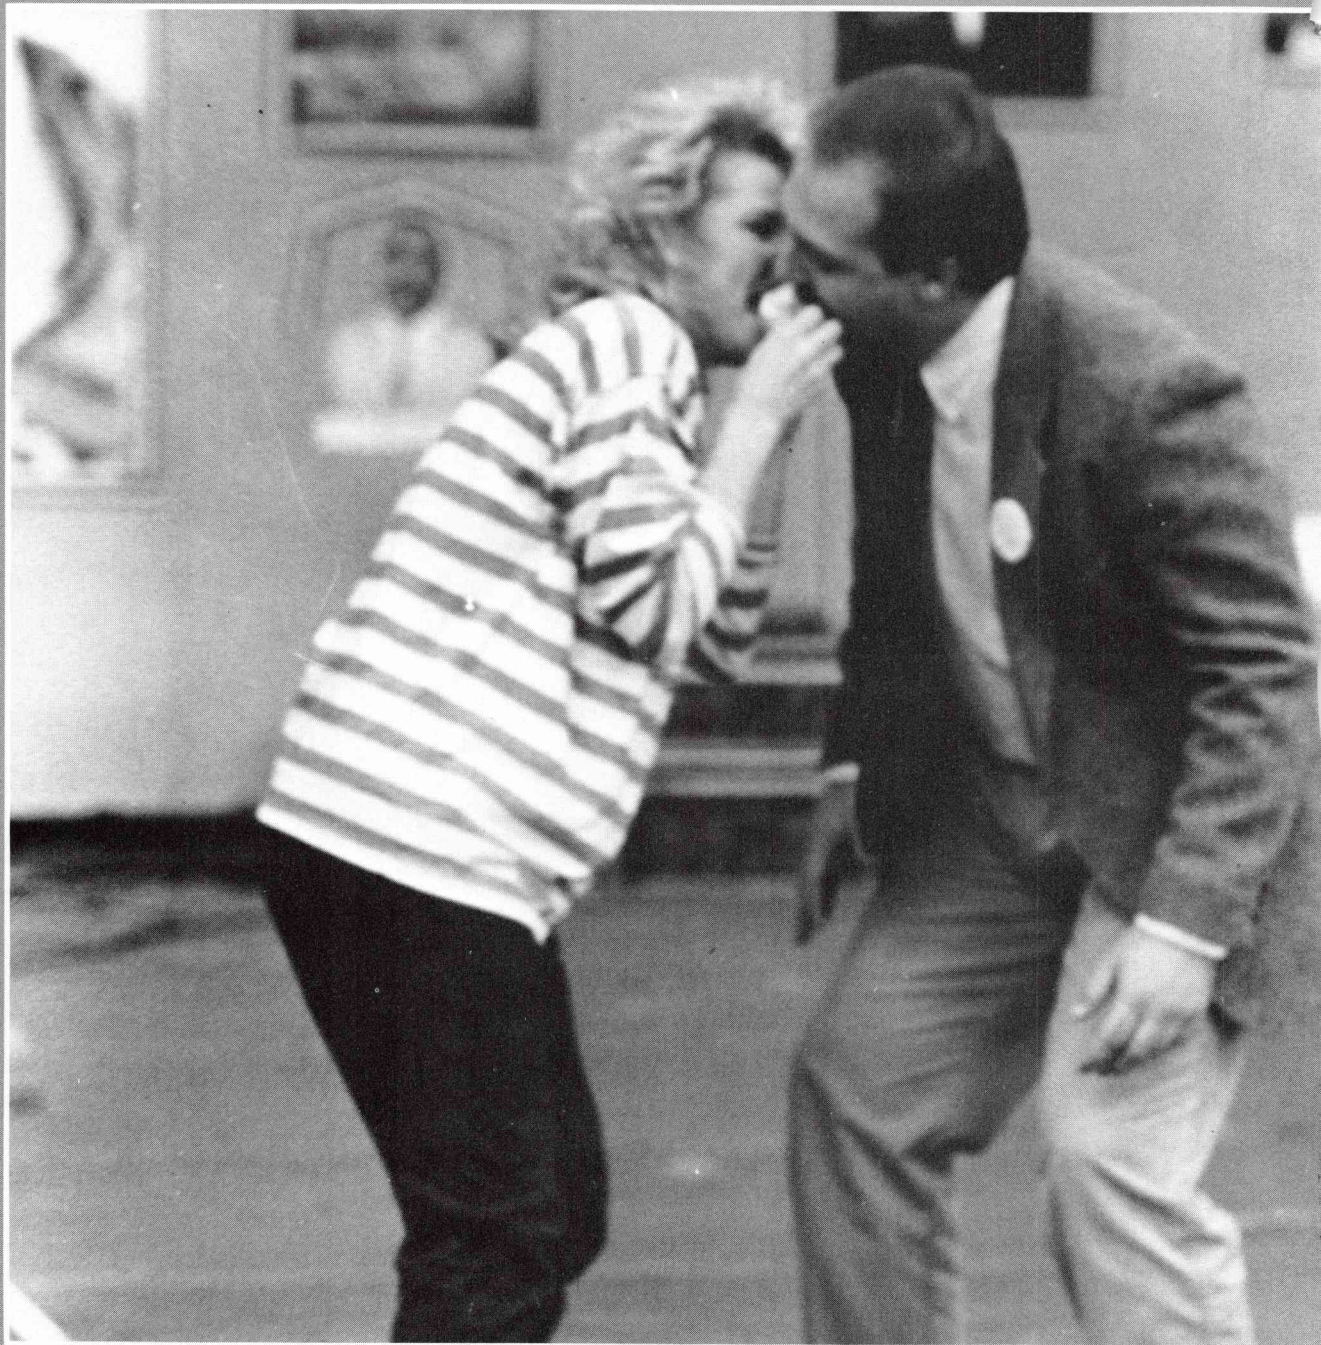

Fall Open Dorms & Lip Sync

Denny Duron, a former football star, traveled to Northwest College from Shreveport, LA to be our main speaker for the Spiritual Emphasis Week services on October 2-6, 1989. Because these special services coincided with the Northwest Leadership Conference, October 3-5, N. C. students were given a unique opportunity to learn the dynamics of church leadership in a tangible way. Josh McDowell, Charles Crabtree, Rich Wilkerson, and Denny Duron, the speakers for the general sessions, were joined by 24 workshop leaders. One hundred sixty-three church workers attended the conference along with the student body. The week was a great success and boosted the morale of many people through the wonderful ministry of the men and women involved.

Insuring the effectiveness, success and quality of the ASB programs requires student leaders to give unselfishly of themselves in time and effort.

The ASB executive officers provide guidance and leadership in the area of student ministry. Their true student leadership shows through in the quality of character in their lives. The conviction that the work of Jesus is of great importance kindles a desire to serve Him diligently through serving the student body.

The purpose of the Married Students Association is to help meet the needs of ministry and fellowship. We attempt to meet these needs through a ladies Bible study, small support groups, and large group activities. An emergency food bank, designed to help keep food costs down during financially challenging times, is another ministry of the MSA. This association complements other student groups by meeting the unique needs of married life.

The goal of AMS this year is to do more than ever before. The bi-monthly meetings continued to bring in a variety of informative and inspirational speakers. Some activities included Seahawk football nights, and Sonics basketball nights. AMS also sponsored a clothing drive for the needy during the Christmas season.

The purpose of AWS is to bring all the wonderful NC ladies together in a casual, relaxed atmosphere. It provides a chance for the ladies to get acquainted outside of the classroom setting and invest in lifelong friendships. Our main goal as AWS officers is to help create a balance for the women here at NC. Our time together is sometimes filled with laughter as well as prayer and worship. James 5:13 is what AWS is all about. "Is any one of you in trouble? He should pray. Is anyone of you happy? Let Him sing songs of praise."

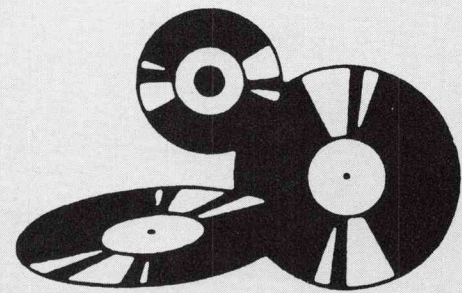

"The vision of the AWS officers is to be a source of prayer and love to each lady at NC."

KCNC, the Northwest College radio station, provides students with a unique opportunity to put techniques learned in communication classes into practice. Student Disc Jockeys take turns planning programs and selecting music. Broadcasting methods and voice control are developed during the countless hours of work that each one puts in at the station. It is their efforts and those of Steven Brasier, the station manager, that allow KCNC to be heard on campus.

Coach Gary Gillespie, Tracy Zook, Dawn Forbes, and Barbara Bryden

The year 1989-90 was another successful one for the speech team. N. C. students competed against twenty-seven other colleges and universities throughout the region. Tournaments were held at Seattle Pacific University, Lower Columbia College, Clark College, Pacific Lutheran University, Western Washington University, and the University of Puget Sound. Barbara Bryden was recognized as best speaker of the season, winning several first place awards. Other speech team members represented the college with distinction. The year was one of growth as each individual was challenged to excel. N. C. students were consistent as they took their places among the best.

Children's Ministry

The Children's Ministry group is helping several local churches build their Sunday School programs. Through songs, games, stories and clown acts, the members are able to reach out to the surrounding community as well as those in the church.

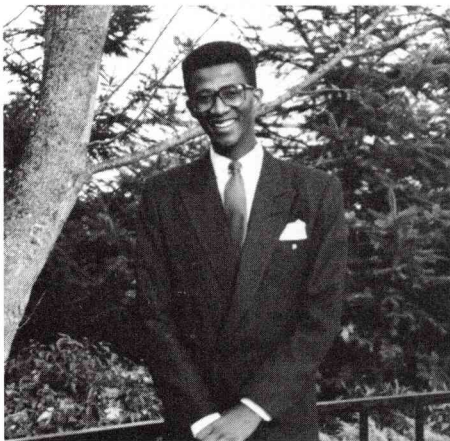

Bruce Murphy

Community Ministry

The Community Ministry group is a team of individuals who are concerned about the needs of our community. The main goal of this group is to take the Gospel to those who are lonely, hurting and lost. God has allowed us to see many lives touched.

James Boyd

Evangelism Ministry

Jesus said, "Go!" The Evangelism Ministry is a response to that command. Friday and Saturday have been set aside to feed and clothe the homeless, pray with hurting people and lead them to Christ. So far, we have been most effective in giving students at NC perspective.

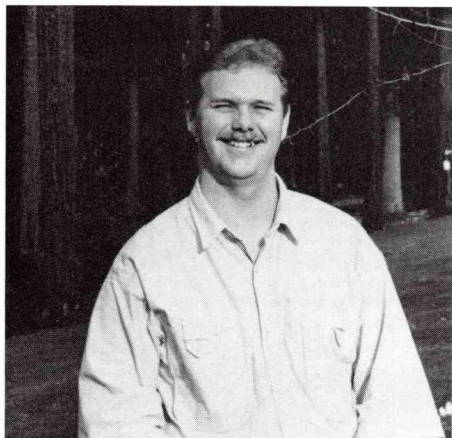

Atapana Mamea

Youth Ministry

The four Youth Ministry organizations are Echo Glen, Youth for Christ, Young Life, and the Youth Chaplaincy program. The focus of each group is on the unchurched youth. It involves guidance and counseling to troubled teens in an effort to direct them to Christ.

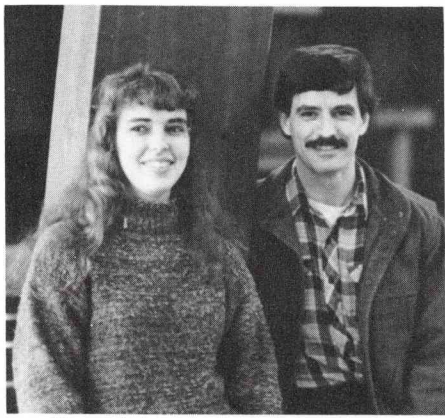

John Clampitt

Prison Ministry

The Prison Ministry function is to express Christ's love for Washington State inmates through active student participation. By this involvement Northwest College students receive ministry experience, and the prisoners at the very least see new faces. At the most, however, they glimpse the Lord's saving grace and become Christians. Whether through Bible study, music ministry, being a pen pal, or simply by our presence, we want to cause the saved and unsaved behind bars to remember Northwest College as having really cared.

Tim Buckley

Campus Ministry

Campus Ministry is a group that focuses on the prayer and unity of the student body. Thursday evening at 9:30, each floor meets for prayer and intercession. The needs of the school and the world are lifted up in obedience to the Lord. The desire of the ministry group leaders is to see Northwest College completely united as brothers and sisters in Christ.

Shannon Hockett

Gospel Teams

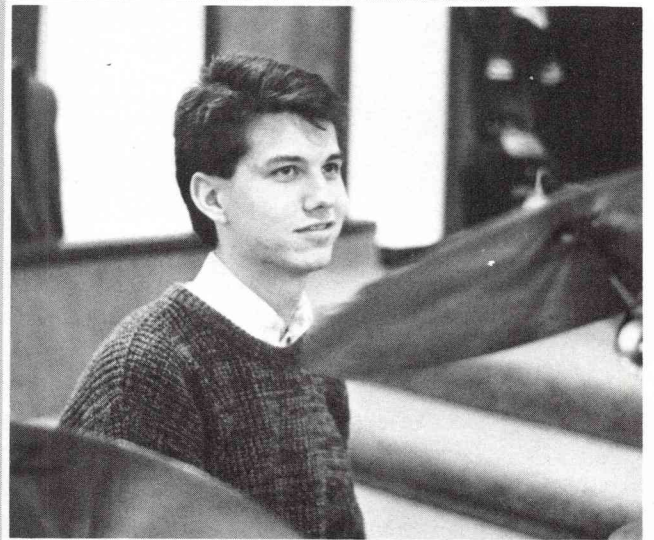

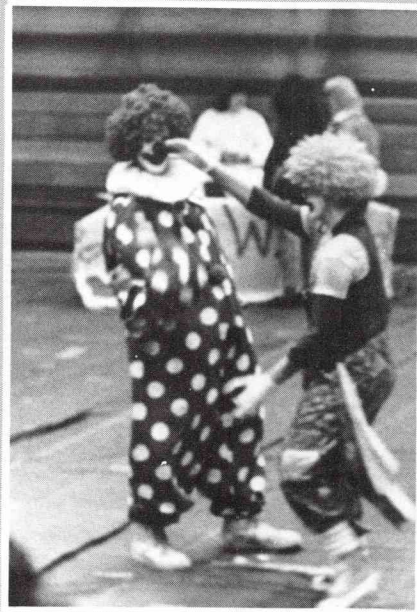

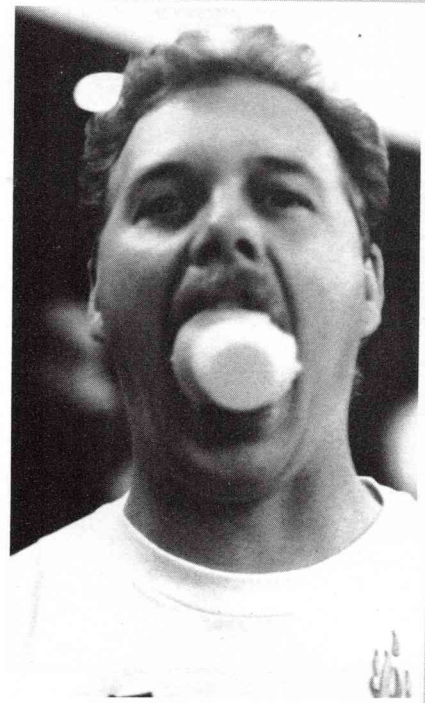

Gospel Teams Ministry was established for students to use the talents God has given them. It requires a lot of hard work, but the results make it worthwhile. The teams minister in local churches, prisons, evangelism outreaches, and many other areas in the community. The people involved in the teams have found that as they minister they are blessed as much as or more than those they are ministering to.

Students In Ministry

The Student Missions Program serves many purposes. The goals of the Student Missions Committee are to provide information, encourage commitment to intercessory prayer, provide an opportunity for financial involvement in missions, and to make opportunities available for students to become actively involved in mission work.

Weekly missions services are held in chapel to make the student body aware of the needs and opportunities for service. Specialized prayer groups are also sponsored by the Missions Committee. Funds that are raised during the year help support such causes as broadcasting the Gospel over China Radio, assisting overseas Bible schools, and other evangelistic outreaches. The highlight of the year is the Missions Convention. These events effectively portray the missions theme, "CARRY THE LIGHT," and help each student to develop a conviction about their commitment to the Great Commission.

“Announcing Christ Through Skits” is the primary goal of the ACTS team. People many times respond to drama when nothing else seems to reach them. The members of ACTS travel throughout the state of Washington during the school year in an effort to share the message of salvation with those people. Their programs contain many entertaining and many serious scenes to provide the audience with variety.

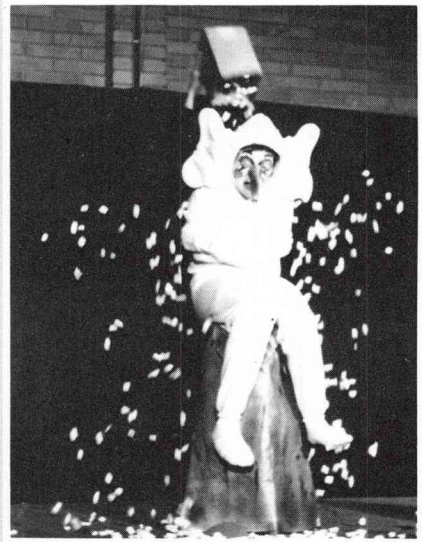

Doug Gentry

ACTS

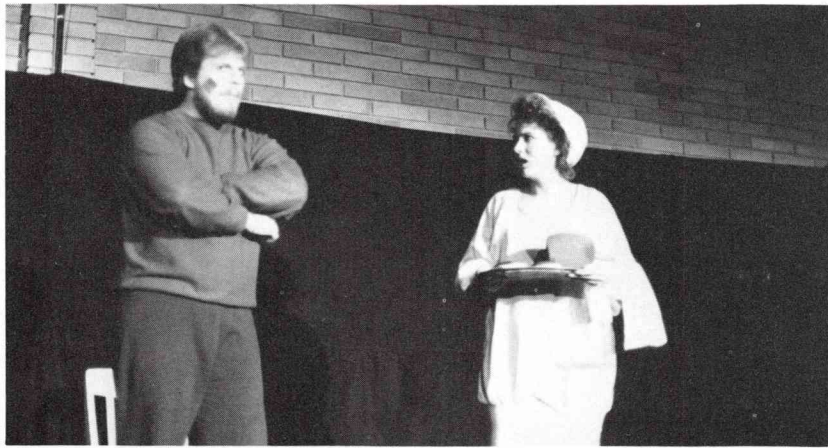

Drama Club Officers: Gina Butz, Debbie Lamm, Dan Russell

Drama Club

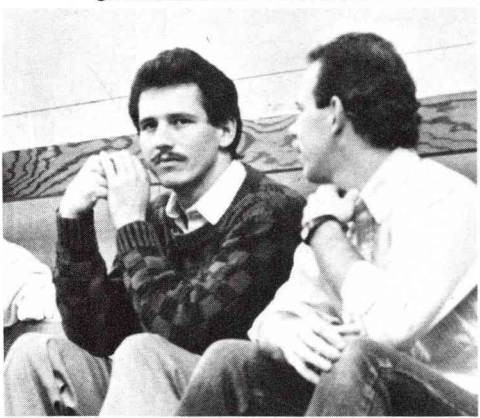

This year the Drama Club members have again sought to expand their horizons. They began the year with a fall production of a Dr. Seuss revue, making everyone's childhood literary memories come to life on the stage. This was followed by a clinic in improvisation. Spring events included the production of a full-length play and Improv Nights.

Drama Club seeks to provide an outlet for students' creative talents. They also give an opportunity for talents and skills to be developed and sharpened, thus equipping people to serve in various aspects of ministry using the powerfully communicative medium of drama. We involve most of the school in our activities whether as an actor, a technician, manager, director or audience member. And . . . we have a lot of fun along the way!!!

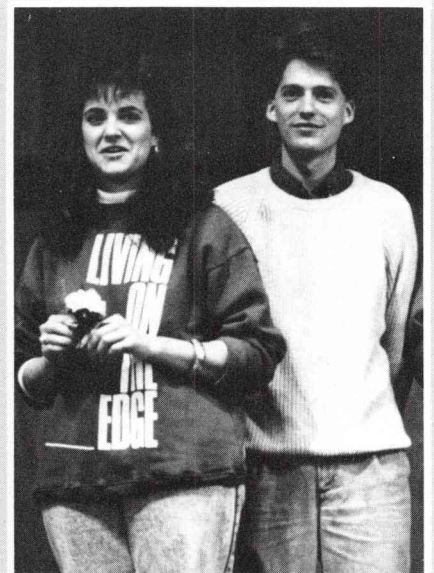

Those involved with Drama Club learn through countless hours of hard work to work and communicate with others.

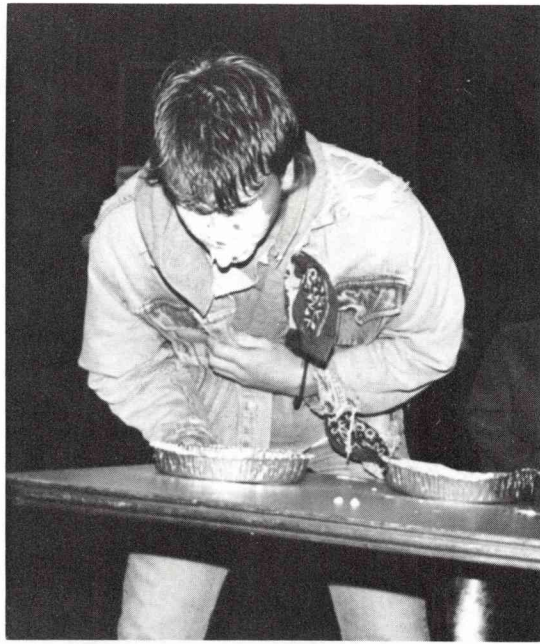

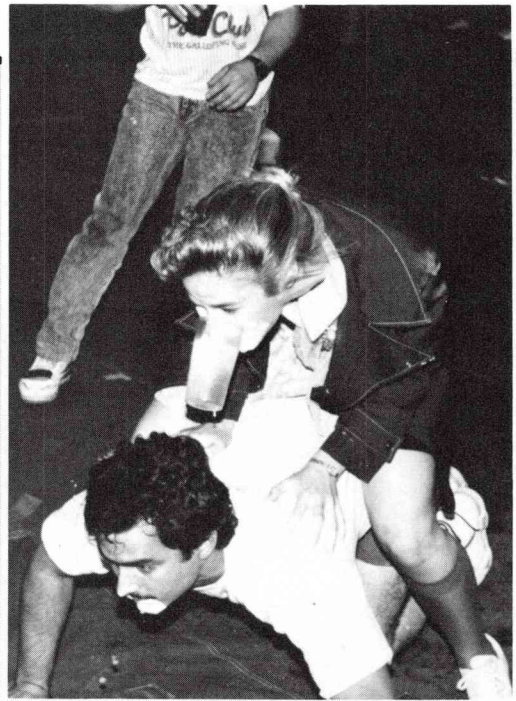

Living in the residence halls is a vital aspect in the total development of Northwest College students. The Resident Life Staff performs an important part in the daily routine of residents. Each of the Resident Deans, Resident Counselors, and Resident Assistants have accepted the challenge of making dorm life a positive experience for the N. C. students. They work countless hours and often put their own activities aside to insure their availability to students in need. The Resident Life Staff members all deserve special tribute for being examples of true servant leadership in action.

Resident Life Staff

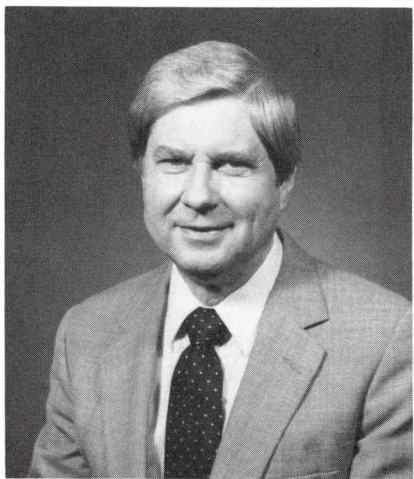

The Olympics, sponsored jointly by the Associated Men Students and the Associated Women Students, was a big success. Representatives from each floor of the residence halls competed in a variety of activities. Events included a piggy-back race, searching for Hershey Kisses in whipped cream, and a race requiring each participant to push miniature cars around with his or her nose. Costumes were also part of the evening as the Monks from the 600 floor Monastery traded their robes for those worn by nuns.

Cheerleading

We're O-N-E,
We're S-P-I-R-I-T,
We're #1 in spirit!

Promoting a positive school spirit through encouraging and supporting the NC athletes is what the cheerleading program is all about. The cheerleaders accomplish this purpose through cheering at games, advertising with posters, and providing support through encouraging notes. Rachel Stewart, Advisor.

HEROES DO IT AGAIN!

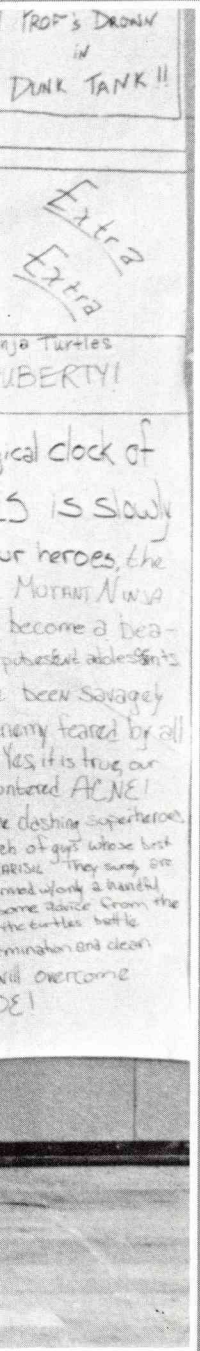

BUCKWHEAT takes TIJUANA!!!

Early on the morning of Friday Oct 13, 1989 at approx. 12:01-30 pm the world's famous BUCKWHEAT, after digesting massive quantities of anabolic steroids and gummy vitamins, attacked the sleepy, dope boarder town of Tijuana, Mexico. Bredally kicking rats, cats and dogs he made his way through the center of town overturning cars along the way. Arriving on top of a tall hill, with teddy bear in his conchita peeks + apple cores in his hair, he loudly proclaimed, "D'oh!" Suddenly over the mountains of and scurrying rats came DARL with brown in the hand and hose the other sex cleaned up the town, and got BUCKWHEAT a well-deserved bath, thus all sleepy rats from certain streets.

GREETINGS, CLASS OF 1990

YOU ARE CALLED TO SERVE

NO EXEMPTIONS

It is a fact of modern academic life. You can almost see the bill collector standing next in line as the college president hands out diplomas. All those college loans that were so helpful have suddenly come due.

We too stand in line. First to join the college president in offering our congratulations to each member of the Class of 1990. But we stand as well to remind you of a debt. As a particularly privileged Christian you are called to minister, to serve. Our church—indeed, the Kingdom of God—needs you and your skills.

The same dedication that put you through college is what we must have to meet the challenge of the Decade of Harvest, a decade in which we will, by God's help, reach out as never before. It is the Lord of the harvest who calls you. It is His Spirit that will enable you.

Historically and spiritually, Northwest College was born in the cradle of a Pentecostal revival that came to the Pacific Northwest. The story is filled with brilliance that emanates from the outpouring of the Holy Spirit in a sovereign way. At the same time, God was preparing a young man in the Midwest for a special part in that movement. D.V. Hurst has lead the college as its third president for nearly twenty-five years of significant growth and development.

Dr. D. V. Hurst was born the son of a godly Pentecostal pastor. He has often said that he “cut his teeth on a Pentecostal church bench.” A godly heritage undergirded him and shaped the direction of his life and ministry. When Dr. Hurst came to Northwest College in 1965, two streams of history emerging from he springs of revival came together — one in the life of a Bible College, and one in the life of a man.

Perhaps it can be said that the crown jewel of President Hurst’s colorful and varied ministry is the college. The beauty of the campus and the refinements of organization and programs at the college all have statistical and historical stories of their own, but their eternal links with the mind and purposes of God gives them a permanence and brilliance transcending all else. Thank you President Hurst, for being a “man sent from God” to Northwest College!
